76TH YEAR NO. 40

Keen Bros. In Jail After Stealing Spree

Young Men Carted Loot to Abandoned House Near Coles. Some Things Restored to Owners. Had Worked as Farm Hands.

Last week Sheriff Lansden was requested to come to Whitley township where a farmer reported that some thieves were stripping his threshing outfit. It had been done some time recently. When the officers got to the scene the thieves had made their get-away. Reports had come in from many parts of Moultrie county and Coles county that a thief or gang of thieves were operating. Officers Cunningham and Clark of Mattoon had been working on the case and two young men living in a house on the Crit Pierce farm near Coles were under suspicion. The officers investigated this place and found a great variety of things. The Keene brothers, Claude 25 and Elrie 21 were arrested. They have confessed doing all the stealing and are now in the county jail.

Claude at one time worked for Millard Shasteen. At this place west of this city tools, grease and oil and some other things were taken; at the county farm several bushels of potatoes, a half sack of salt, oil and other things disappeared. At the Opha Yarnell home a 5-gallon can of milk had been stolen. Some things were taken from the G. W. Freese place. At the Wickiser place south of the Masonic Home a car had been stripped of three tires; John Purvis' car was stripped and battery taken. About a dozen other deprivations were committed by the two men. The contractors on Route 132 complained that their tools were disappearing.

They did not rent the Pierce house, but finding it vacant took possession and brought all their stolen loot there. Among other things was a rocking chair stolen from the porch of a home on West Jackson street here in Sullivan.

The young men give no special reason for embarking in the business of taking things that did not belong to them. The cases are before the grand jury which is now in session. Officers say that the thieves are ready to enter pleas of guilty.

Gregory Named By Wamsley

Present Receiver of M. & F. Bank Also Named Receiver for Stockholders Liability. Other Court Action Thursday.

In the circuit court Thursday morning Charles A. Gregory was named receiver for stockholders' liability for the Merchants & Farmers State bank. This bank is in liquidation and Charles A. Gregory has been serving as receiver. The appointment of receiver for stockholders liability has been held up for some months. All stockholders are liable for the face value of the stock they hold and payment can be made to Mr. Gregory.

Receiver Gregory this week filed a report in court showing that he has a balance of $15,629.42 on hand as of July 30th.

In the Schable appeal cases the defendants, Oliver Schable and Ruby Schable, through their attorney C. R. Patterson have filed a motion to dismiss the appeal filed by Mrs. Myrtle Schable. It is contended that the $500 appeal bond is insufficient. The cases will be argued on motion October 11th.

In the Pickle vs. Cadwell alienation case a demurrer to declaration was filed.

The Judge entered orders in several partition suits, some of which were referred to the Master in chancery.

"Pro confesso" decrees were entered in a number of divorce cases. Oda C. Everett was given a divorce from Claude Everett and may resume her maiden name of Oda Freeman. In the divorce suit of Harry E. Wright against his wife, she asks for temporary alimony and solicitor's fees.

Court adjourned to October 11. Petit jurors are not to report until October 12th.

SULLIVAN BROWNS WON FROM BEMENT LEGION

The third game of a series between the Sullivan Browns and the Bement American Legion team was played here Sunday afternoon and resulted in victory for the home boys by a score of 3 to 2.

The hero of the game was Pete Chippis. He left the earth in a leaping catch and when he struck terra firma he turned a flip-flop but held to the ball until he had regained his perpendicular, after which he sent it by special speed dispatch to the home plate, putting out the Bement man and shattering the Legion's hopes for victory.

TWO-MILE PUPILS AND TEACHER VISIT PROGRESS

Mrs. Vera Bolin and her pupils in 2-Mile school east of this city visited Sullivan Wednesday afternoon. While here they visited the shoe factory, The Progress and various other business establishments. They were accompanied by Mrs. Victor Landers.

Bethany Man Foreman Of Grand Jury

Circuit Court Opened Here Monday. Judge Wamsley Entered Many Orders on Docket and then Adjourned. Trial Cases on October 11th.

Moultrie county circuit court opened Monday with Judge Wamsley presiding. The grand jury was impaneled. Abner Leroy Ward of Bethany was named foreman. Glen Fabert of Cadwell and Amos O. Bankson of Bethany are clerks. After ruling on various motions brought before him, Judge Wamsley adjourned court until Thursday of this week.

Three Trial Cases
Three common law cases were set for trial October 11th. They are the two cases of Oliver H. Schable and Ruby M. Schable against Myrtle Schable, their stepmother and administratrix of the estate of the late G. C. Schable of Lowe township. This case comes to the circuit court on an appeal from the county court. The widow is appealing. Both Oliver Schable and Ruby Schable hold notes for $10,000 each against the estate of their father. These notes will take practically all of the estate and leave nothing to the widow and her son by the second marriage. Judge Jennings held these notes to be a valid claim against the estate. Because of the stake involved this case will doubtless be hard fought.

The other case set for trial October 11th is that of Joe Pickle against Lortn Cadwell. He charges alienation of affections and wants to be compensated in the sum of $10,000 for loss of his wife's love. J. L. McLaughlin is attorney for Mr. Pickle and C. R. Patterson represents Mr. Cadwell.

In the case of Virgil H. Knutzen of Lovington vs. William Perry Harwick and others of Mattoon, a continuance was granted

PAVING ON ROUTE 132 HAS BEEN COMPLETED

The paving on route 132 between this city and Mattoon was completed Monday. The road has for some time been open for traffic with the exception of the last mile, from Lipsey switch into Mattoon.

All the paving is now done. Work on the river bridge north of Allenville is progressing rapidly and the bridge will soon be ready for traffic. In the meantime, there is a good detour over the old bridge.

W. R. Titus Passes Away; Buried Sat.

Prominent Farmer and Business Man a Victim of Complications Following an Attack of Flu. Life Time Was Spent Here.

William R. Titus, for many years one of this city's most prominent citizens, passed away at his home on West Monroe street on Thursday afternoon, September 23rd at 12:30 o'clock. About six years ago he suffered an attack of flu from which he never fully recovered. Complications developed which resulted in failing health. The six months preceding his death he was confined to his home. While his condition was known to hold but little hope for his recovery, his many friends did not realize that death was near and the summons came as a sad surprise for many.

Mr. Titus was a son of Joseph B. and Mary Ellen Titus. He first saw the light of day on the 13th day of December, 1861 in Cincinnati, Ohio. When he was nine months of age, the Titus family moved to Sullivan and his entire life was spent here. He attended Bastion seminary which flourished in his younger days in the southeastern part of this city. After finishing his education in the public schools and seminary here, he sought higher education at Depaw University, Greencastle, Indiana, which was then known as Asbury University. He also attended and graduated from Jacksonville Business College.

On the 1st day of January, 1891 he was united in marriage with Miss Mary E. Liener of Wooster, Ohio. She and one son George L. Titus survive him. He also leaves one sister, Mrs. Winifred Sentel.

Mr. Titus owned a big farm north of this city and considerable city property. Before ill-health prevented, he was always interested in the progress and betterment of this community, contributing liberally of his time and money to projects which he felt would prove beneficial to the future of this city. Not only was he interested in the affairs of his home city, but he read extensively and kept informed as to the affairs throughout the world. He was an interesting conversationalist, as he had the faculty of gleaming and retaining the facts from things he read.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the McMullin funeral home. Rev. Leland Lawrence of the M. E. church was in charge. Interment was in Greenhill cemetery. The pall bearers were Matt Dedman, Sam B. Hall, G. S. Thompson, E. O. Dunscomb, J. B. Tabor and H. C. Shirey.

SPEAKING OF SPORTS

(By Jim Scott)

Last Friday in an extemporaneous combat at Taylorville, Sullivan high annexed victory no. 2 by a 6-0 count. This impromptu conflict waged in the heart of the striking area came as a surprise to a good many local enthusiasts. The Scarlet's margin of victory was provided by their notorious Bogey-man, Bill Dwyer, who in the opening quarter skirted an enemy flank in a 35 yard touchdown sally. The local goal line was never threatened while the Red-

Davenport of Arthur Is Golf Champion

Young Golf Enthusiast Defeated Gerald Elder in Finals for the Country Club's Most Coveted Trophy, 7 Up and 6 to Play.

Lanky young Bill Davenport of Arthur won the Sullivan Country Club championship cup this year. He defeated Gerald Elder in the final 36-hole match Sunday 7 up and 6 to play.

Both boys shot a good game. Elder finished with a 78 and an 80 for a total of 158; Davenport had a 79 and a 74 for a 153.

Elder lost the game on the first nine holes of play. Davenport took the first eight holes. Elder took the 9th, making Davenport 7 up on the first round. On the second round the contestants halved four holes, Elder took 3 and Davenport 2.

On the third round they halved 3; Elder took two and Davenport 4. On the fourth and final round Elder took the first hole with a par. They halved 2 and 3. With only six holes to play, Davenport was now 7 up and winner. He is the first Arthur man who has lifted this cup since it was offered in championship play.

The score of the championship match was:

Out
Elder	555	455	553	42
Davenport	445	344	547	38—89
	444	344	444	35
	444	445	554	39—74

In
Elder	454	354	545	39
Davenport	454	346	544	39—78
	444	445	444	37
	554	455	554	42—79

Totals
Elder	42	38	39	39	158
Davenport	35	39	37	42	153

Davenport shot a perfect par score on his first nine holes. Elder did not shoot as good a game as some of his performances during the past summer. Davenport last year played in the finals with Carl Wolf and lost. This year he romped through all his opponents and won the championship by a wide margin. He is the club's youngest member and is employed as janitor in the Arthur schools.

The husband and wife tournament is narrowing down to a few more matches. Mr. and Mrs. Fleming play Mr. and Mrs. Hill and the winner plays Mr. and Mrs. Bud Hankla. The survivor then plays Mr. and Mrs. Getz, and after this match has been played the winner will meet the winner of a match between Dr. and Mrs. But-

AUTOIST PAYS FOR RUNNING DOWN GIRL

R. A. Smith of Decatur has settled with David B. Ekiss who lives northwest of Bethany for injuries sustained by his daughter Frances F. Ekiss recently when the Smith car struck her and inflicted some injuries.

The amount of settlement was $480.65. Report says the girl was fully recovered and will suffer no permanent disability.

In order to negotiate the settlement David B. Ekiss, father of the girl applied for appointment as her guardian. Such appointment was made by Judge Jennings in the local county court. The guardian gave bond in the sum of $1,000.

J. M. Cummins Died Friday; Buried Sun.

Aged Hardware Merchant Had Been a Resident of Sullivan Since 1875. Served a term as County Treasurer in the 90's.

Matt Cummins one of Sullivan's oldest active business men died Friday morning. He had been ill about one month. Due to his age, he failed to rally and was ready when his Maker called him home.

He was a Kentuckian by birth, his parents being Mr. and Mrs. David Cummins. His birthday was March 30, 1851. The family home was south of Louisville. He was a small lad when his parents both died. He became what was called a "ward of the state." As such, he was sent to the Jacob Seass home in Jonathan Creek township and worked there a few years after which he returned to Kentucky. He there learned his trade of blacksmith. He liked this part of Illinois and in 1875 came here to make it his home. He opened a blacksmith shop on the corner where the Lambrecht shop is now located. He was united in marriage with Miss Amanda Wright, October 19, 1881.

The young Kentuckian was of a likable disposition and made many friends. He was, even then, a stalwart Democrat and in 1892 was his party's successful candidate for county treasurer.

After filling the duties of that office, he decided to go into business. With J. Milt David as partner he entered the hardware business on the northeast corner of the square, where the poolroom is now located. The partnership continued for some years.

F. I. C. Club Meets Monday At Isaac Home

Interesting Program on Robert Browning Poems Constitutes Main Part of Afternoon's Entertainment.

"Pippa Passes" a drama—one of the most charming of the poems of Robert Browning will be read next Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ray Isaacs for the Friends in Council meeting by Mrs. Geo. R. Bacon of Decatur with musical interpolations by Miss Anna McNabb pianist and Mrs. Myrtle Lingle, soloist.

Brief Explanation

"Pippa Passes" represents a day in the life of Pippa on her one holiday in the year. Pippa upon awakening planning her holiday. The other divisions are "Morning," "Noon," "Afternoon" and "Evening." The four episodes are Ottima and her lover; Jules, a French student; Luigi and his mother; and The Bishop. As Pippa passes her beautiful song arrests each of these four as he or she goes about bent upon a special evil deed, and cause a diversion of purpose.

The music by Miss McNabb, pianist, will show four moods of Browning: "Morning at Asolo"; "Ottima's Regret"; "The King's Dancer"; and "Heartsease."

Mrs. Lingle's songs will include the well loved and familiar "The Year's at the Spring"; "Give Her But the Least Excuse To Love Me"; "A King Lived Long Ago"; "You'll Love Me Yet"; and "Overhead the Treetops Meet." Two new songs lately composed by Prof. Olds will be added to this group.

Mrs. Bacon is a past state president of Illinois Federated Women's Clubs and has been prominent in the intellectual life of Decatur for a number of years.

For the nation and the Kingdom that will not serve thee shall perish; yea, those nations shall be utterly wasted. —Isaiah LX—12

Are you trying to climb where the chosen are,
Where the feet of men are few?
Do you long for "a job that's worth one's while?"
Well, here's a thought for you—
The pots of gold at the rainbow's end
Are sought by the teeming mob,
But the fairies who guard them choose as friend
The man who loves his job.
It isn't the kick, it's not the pull,
That brings the strong man out;
But it's long time work, and it's all time will,
And the cheerful heart and stout.
Have you faith in yourself? Do you want to win?
Is your heart for success athrob?
There's just one thing that can bring you in
With the winners—love your job!

Democracy's Friends In G. O. P. Ranks

The millions of Republicans who will vote for Franklin D. Roosevelt this fall are not necessarily leaving their party. They are repudiating their party's leadership. They are charging such leadership with not having lived up to the ideals of government held by the rank and file of that party. They are going to vote for a man who, in their opinion, more nearly measures up to their standard of what a president should be.

"Republican" and "Democratic" are just party labels. In our system of government two major parties are necessary. They provide what might be termed the "balance of power" between the politicians and the voters. When the leaders of one party fail to measure up to what is expected of them, the independent voters of that party swing over to the other party, effect a change in government and then watch for improvements.

After a man has held office for a number of years, he gets a sort of office complex. He feels that he is indispensable and that no matter how selfish or inefficient he may be, his party will keep him on the job. In order to assist his party in doing so, he builds himself a political machine, through disposal of patronage and public funds. Thus in time he loses sight of his main duties — to work for the people who have elected him — and devotes all of his time and talents to perpetuating himself in office.

The average party voter may be loyal for a time. But there comes a time when his own interests, the welfare of his family and the future of his children, becomes of far greater concern to him, than the matter of what men or set of men with some particular party label, hold office and steer the destiny of his country.

The independent Republican voters on November 8th will vote with two thoughts in mind—First—they want a change and to secure it they are ready and willing to turn the reins of government over, temporarily, to the Democrats; Second—they want to rid their party of the leadership which more nearly measures up to their ideals. That is why they will vote against Herbert Hoover. They regard him as the figure-head of the Republican party today, dominated by such men as Mellon, Hyde, Hurley, Moses, Glenn et al. They feel that this leadership has misled the country; it has out-lived its usefulness, if it ever had any.

— and in Illinois

In Illinois the independent Republicans are not proud of their party leadership. It is of a different calibre than their national leadership, but even less desirable. They see no future of usefulness for the Republican party in Illinois while Len Small, Big Bill Thompson and Frank L. Smith are its dominating characters. The better class of leadership in Illinois has been suppressed. A powerful clique at the state house, consisting of Gov. Emmerson, Bill Stratton, Oscar Carlstrom, Oscar Nelson, Harry Wright and others, is no improvement over the Len Small element. They have all been in the same boat and are tarred with the same stick. They may fall out at times and give hope for better things but such hopes are usually dashed to the ground. Independent Republicans in Illinois will perform a duty to their party if they rid it of the men who have brought it into disrepute throughout the nation.

— and in Congress

Coming closer home, let us take a look at our representative in Congress — the Honorable Charles Adkins. He is not popular with his party leaders. He is simply tolerated by the voters. On his own personality and reputation he secures no votes, but as a dispenser of Post Offices he has built himself a machine which functions in his behalf. He is not a credit to this large and important district in the national Congress. Long service has given him some seniority rights, but he has neither the ability nor the common sense to use them to the advantage of the people he represents.

To a certain extent the Democrats of this district are to blame for the Adkins-in-Congress farce. They have had candidates in past elections, but these candidates never made much of a campaign. The district was too overwhelmingly Republican. The Democratic candidate had no appeal for the independent Republican voters. And so, through the Hoover-Coolidge landlides, through Democratic carelessness and Republican inefficiency, this man Adkins has had an easy time staying on the Congressional payroll.

There will be a change this year. Independent Republicans, —not Post Masters and their families, of course,—are deserting Charley Adkins. They feel that he is part and parcel of the discredited Hoover administration. Though he may sputter and explain, the voters are not in a frame of mind to listen to explanations. Not only the independent Republicans but also the more influential party leaders will not grieve over losing Adkins.

It is not merely a case of getting rid of Adkins, however. For the first time in many years the Democrats have in D. C. Dobbins that type of candidate who appeals to all voters. He is making a thorough campaign. He is meeting with assurances of success wherever he goes. The Republicans who will vote for Franklin D. Roosevelt are doing so because they want him to accomplish something worthwhile for the country. To do that he needs a big Democratic majority in Congress. He needs men of the Dobbins type. We confidently predict that the next Congressman from the 19th district will be D. C. Dobbins of Champaign.

If the Democratic party is successful its leaders must make good. We believe they will. We feel that at this time they sense the needs of the country better than do the Republican leaders. But if the Democracy in years to come sinks to the same low level of inefficiency that is prevalent in national administration now, then it will become the duty of the Independent Democrats to turn to the Grand Old Party and its leadership. We know they will do this, because history shows that the Independent Democrats are not as closely wedded to party ties as are their brethren of the opposition party.

A great house-cleaning is pending. It is time for a change.

There Is Employment In Sullivan.

Men and women hurrying to work—this is the beginning of day for Sullivan.

Men and women hurrying home after their day's work. This is what can be seen here every evening after the hour of six.

Five thousand to seven thousand pairs of shoes are made here daily—this furnishes footing for many, many people.

Sullivan is fortunate. Its people are employed. Very few are now or have during the past year been out of employment. Between 600 and 700 people are on the factory payroll. Some may not earn very much, but all earn a living in a day and age when jobs are scarce and few factories are producing.

Empty houses in Sullivan are scarce. There are not more than 3 or 4 vacant houses in town. There are big houses in which 3 and even 4 families live. The population of Sullivan is near the 3000 mark. This is one city in which new business ventures are started. New people are coming in. None of those now here are getting rich, but in a general way our merchants, who really make an effort to secure trade, are doing fairly well.

The other day a salesman was in The Progress office. We showed him a picture. The west front window furnished a nice frame. "See that," we told him "as a plume of black smoke wafted away from the top of the tall factory chimney, 'that's a picture that cost The Progress $500. It was worth every cent of it. No picture that an artist might paint would give us greater joy, more satisfaction. That plume of smoke means that hundreds of our people are gainfully employed. They are not feeling very much of the effects of the depression. They are earning enough for their families to live comfortably." The salesman remarked, "That is a darn good picture, easily worth what you paid for it." But The Progress was only one of many who contributed to the fund to make this shoe factory a possibility for Sullivan. It is a monument to Sullivan enterprise and achievement.

Better days are coming. With their coming will come more prosperous days for Sullivan. This city is a good place in which to live, in which to be in business. Today there is no other city of its size in the midwest that can compare favorably with it.

Men and women are working. It would do your heart good to see them swarming toward the factory these brisk crisp mornings of early fall. It would make you feel more confident of the future, could you see them hurrying home after their day's work.

Pres's Column

Now that the malodorous Insull scandal is being broadcast by the daily press, with its tales of how thousands of investors lost every cent they had in Insull stocks, it might be well to remember that Frank L. Smith, Small's campaign manager, was barred from the Senate because of his relations with Insull and that William Hale Thompson, Small's Chicago manager, was another Insull friend.

The huge Democratic victory in Maine—the election of a Democratic Governor and two Democratic Congressmen—was only possible because thousands of men and women in the Pine Tree State who have heretofore voted the Republican ticket joined with the Democrats in repudiation of the Hoover Administration.

Judge Henry Horner, candidate for Governor, is urging the passage of the referendum proposition to issue bonds to take up the tax anticipation warrants issued for relief last winter. This is necessary, Judge Horner says, so that all the counties will not be forced to pay for the relief of a few, and so that the State tax rate next year will not be greatly increased.

The whispering campaign that is going over the state at the instigation of the Republican party is not getting any place. They are quietly telling the people that Governor Roosevelt is physically unable to perform the duties of the President of the United States were he elected. Let us see what the most eminent doctors and surgeons of New York have to say. Here it is: "We have carefully examined Governor Roosevelt. We believe that his health and powers of his endurance are such as to allow him to meet any demand of private and public life." This article is signed by Dr. Samuel W. Lambert, A. B. Ph. B. and A. M., Yale, Dean of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, 1904-1919; personal physician of ex-President Theodore Roosevelt up to the day of his death, one of the most eminent diagnosticians in New York City, Dr. Russell A. Hibbs, noted surgeon, and Dr. Foster Kenneset, most eminent nerve specialist in New York. Ten of the largest Life Insurance Companies in the country have recently written a $500,000 policy on Governor Roosevelt's life. Just another lie nailed.

A fact not generally known is that more than half of the counties in Illinois, 54 to be exact, produce coal.

The Republicans are making a big blow about Len Small's labor record, but we haven't heard of any of them calling attention to his Court Record.

In 1920, before Small was governor, there were 7,371 state employees. In 1928, after eight years of Small, the number had grown to 11,232. These do not include the National Guard or any men working for the division of highways. It's an increase of nearly 4,000—mostly payrollers.

Thomas F. Donovan, candidate for Lieutenant Governor, tells of a farmer he overheard the other day. The talk was about roads. "Well," said the farmer, "ten years ago I had a good farm and no road. Now I have a good road and no farm."

There will be thousands of absentee voters this year. Each one must remember that he cannot vote unless he notifies his party organization so that a ballot may be forwarded to him.

Robert L. Sherman sends the following slogan: "Of all the sad words of tongue or pen The saddest are these, we might have Len."

Newspaper polls pretty accurately forecast the sentiment of the voters. Here are the results of some of those taken:

Illinois State Journal, Springfield—Roosevelt 6,777, Hoover, 2,494; Horner 5,235, Small, 3,995; Dieterich 5,743, Glenn 3,301.

Illinois State Register, Springfield—Roosevelt 2,410, Hoover 710; Horner 1,870, Small 1,212; Dieterich 2,132, Glenn 895.

East St. Louis Journal—Roosevelt 469, Hoover 147; Horner 307, Small 279.

Peoria Free Press—Roosevelt, 350; Hoover 234; Horner 298, Small 284.

Chicago Herald-Examiner state wide poll on President only—Roosevelt 8,542, Hoover 5,636.

There may have been other straw votes taken but they have not come to our attention. It will be noticed that the Democratic candidates are in the lead in every instance, although most of the cities polled are normally Republican.

Thomas Donovan, chairman of the Democratic State Central committee and Democratic candidate for Lieutenant Governor, is one of the best lawyers in the state. His home is in Joliet, and for many years he has been the chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee. He is a man above reproach and fitted in every way for the office that he seeks.

Maine, which was in the zone of totality during the sun's eclipse, now enters the zone of Democratic majority during the Republican eclipse.

Andy Gough Offers To Sell Remains of Grand Old Party

Andrew Gough of Bethany who seeks Democratic success and a fair deal for all, being one of the free and independent stockholders in what is known as the government of America, offers to the public the following bill of sale.

CLOSING OUT SALE
We, the Democrat party having decided to take over the national government, with all its branches, will sell all the following described property, belonging to the Republican party, in order to make room for new and better machinery, commencing at 6 o'clock a. m. on November 8th, 1932.

One elephant, somewhat aged, but a real performer and knows many cunning tricks.

One steamroller, fresh oiled and ready to go. This is the same roller that flattened the farmer's hopes at the K. C. convention in '28 and has kept him close to the earth for the past nearly 12 years.

One high tariff law, a handicap to all the common people, better known as the "manufacturers' pet"

One farm depression, old enough to wean.

One $160,000,000 income tax law cut, termed a Christmas gift to the nation, but resembles more a favor to the extremely rich.

Millions of empty dinner pails. One dry law in bad working order, served its purpose well in '28 as a vote getter, but is now being very much straddled or practically ignored with apparently the same object in view.

One farm board, made to conform with the Hoover idea of farm relief. It consists of nine payrollers, drawing $12,000 a year each, capable of reducing the price of wheat from $1.30 per bushel to around the 35c mark.

Hundreds of soup houses, located in all the different parts of the United States, including stock of soup bones on hand, probably enough to last through the remaining months of the Hoover administration. These are the soup bones we have been warned about many times in case of Democratic success, but are strictly G. O. P. property (elephant bones) and anyone wishing goods with that brand on them should not overlook this opportunity.

Several bags of hot air, highly inflated, due to explode at regular intervals between now and election day.

No bootleggers, allowed on the grounds. Women especially invited to attend.

A big free lunch will be served at noon, consisting of roast crow, wild parsnips and Johnny cakes. Owing to the serious financial condition of the country, long time notes without interest can be arranged. Don't forget the date.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, Auct. John N. Garner, Clerk. Democratic National Committee, Managers.

When Your Child Is Coming Home

(By H. S. Butler)
The Hillsboro Poet
Have you ever had the pleasure
(Or we better call it joy)
Of counting all the hours,
Till the coming of your boy?
Have you ever had a daughter
That has been gone a while?
And when you heard she's coming home,
How it made you smile.

Dads and mothers may not say much

To show just how they feel,
But their hearts are all a flutter,
When a letter they unseal.

That tells about a visit
Son or daughter soon will give,
Back to the good old home town
Where still the parents live.

The children will soon grow up
And sometimes move away,
But the parents don't forget
The child a single day.

So when some one is coming
That has been gone for years,
You need not be surprised at all,
If mother's moved to tears.

For when a woman's happy
Often times she cries,
She just can't keep the tears back
They will fill up her eyes.

So think of all the joy
All over our broad land,
Because so many visits
Each day are being planned.

Brandy Sauce

A local girl walked into the Post Office. She placed $1.00 on the window and told Howard Wood, "I want a dollar's worth of stamps."

"What denomination, Anna?" asked Mr. Wood.

"Why I'm a Methodist, Howard, I thought you knew. I think it is so sweet of you Post Office folks to taken an interest in a person's religion."

Often the simple and lowly show the greatest faith as is exemplified in the following story. An old colored man was at work in the field. An airplane passed high overhead. He did not hear it. A passenger left the plane for a parachute landing. It so happened that this strange visitor dropped in the field where the old dorky was at work. He gazed in bewilderment at his visitor, who was clothed about with the roomy folds of the parachute.

Remembering his manners, he took off his ragged cap and approached. Making a low bow, he said "How do, Lord Jesus and how am youh Pa?"

Trader to boy: "Say kid, who owns this cow and calf?"

Boy: "I don't know who owns the cow but I guess I know whose calf it is."

Trader: "Whose?"

Boy: "Why the cow's."

A father had taken his small son to see a football game. He greatly enjoyed the class cheering. That evening his mother was surprised to hear the following prayer: "God bless Pa, God bless Maw, God bless me, Rah! Rah! Rah! —Homelife for Children.

Since Mahatma Gandhi has given up passive resistance, the only fellow practicing it is Al Smith. Al bids fair to be the champion sore-head of all time.

Murphy got rich quick, didn't he?"

"Yeah, he can't pick up a golf club without first spitting on his hands."—Exchange.

Blessed are the poor for when they die their children do not have any fights in dividing the remains of big estates.

The Democratic speaker here on Saturday night said that if Charley Adkins gets beat this fall, he'll be given a job at Chanute Field, Rantoul to blow up the gas bags for the big balloons. It seems that every man has some natural gift which can be used to advantage by his fellow men.

To be real truthful about the matter—most of these fellows around this town who are criticizing President Hoover wouldn't have made such great presidents themselves.

In another week or so we'll be driving over East Jackson street, all the way past the Masonic Home, Allenville, Coles and into Mattoon. We welcome all of these residents on this rather lengthy Jackson street extension. We hope to see that day when happy homes will connect up all of these new suburbs of Sullivan.

Some experiences are embarrassing, but it must be admitted that others are even more so.

The country station-master did not wear a uniform, and one day when a train came in he stood at the platform gate to take the passenger's tickets.

A pretty girl came up to him, and when he held out his hand for her ticket she seized it, gave it a tight squeeze, and followed by giving him a hearty kiss.

The station-master was surprised, but managed to say: "That is all very well, miss, but I want your ticket."

"Oh," replied the girl, with a blush, "aren't you Uncle John?" —Exchange.

Aimee McPherson went out on the streets of a strange town to "drum up trade." She knew the value of suspense and unsatisfied curiosity. She stood on a chair at the street corner, silent, motionless, with closed eyes—praying.

Footsteps, approaching, stopping. Voices, murmuring, questioning, debating as to "what was the matter with her," suggesting a cataleptic trance. When the crowd had attained sufficient proportions, Aimee's quick eyes snapped open. "Quick," she cried, "follow me!"

She snatched up her chair and ran down the street. Of course, the crowd ran pell-mell in pursuit. The instant she had them corralled inside the mission hall to which she dashed, she shot an order to the usher. "Shut the doors. Don't let anyone out."

In another minute she was on the platform. She had her crowd. —Mavity, Sister Aimee.

At the THEATRE

Mad mystery, creeping thrills—you'll get a whole of a kick out of seeing "By Whose Hand" at the Grand Thursday or Friday nights of this week. Manager Hays says "It is something different." It will be. You can rely on that.

Saturday's Show

When Jimmie Durante was born his mother took one look at his big nose and remarked "My poor boy! He'll never get ahead in the world with a schnozzle like that." She was wrong. That over-size nose was the making of Jimmie. You'll see Jimmie here Saturday night with Buster Keaton in "Speak Easily," a hilarious screen comedy. We'll leave the ponies in the shed this Saturday and take a different kind of humor. There are a lot of whoops and laughter in "Speak Easily." Ruth Selwyn, Thelma Todd and Hedda Hopper are the leading hired girls who help Jimmie and Buster. People who have seen the picture say it's one of the funniest ever perpetrated on an unsuspecting public. There are also a lot of good short pictures. It's a dandy program for a Saturday.

Blondie of the Follies

The Sunday and Monday show is one of those you've heard your friends talking about. It's a sort of topline in recent releases. Did you see "Polly of the Circus?" If so, you'll remember, dainty and winsome little Marion Davies. She is the star in "Blondie of the Follies." Robert Montgomery plays the leading male role. Billie Dove an old-time favorite, James Gleason, Zazu Pitts and a good supporting cast give promise of a most excellent entertainment.

Francis Marion, who wrote "Emma" and "The Big House" is the author of "Blondie." Everything points to a good story, well portrayed. See Hollywood on Parade, Scrappy Cartoon and News events.

And then—

On Tuesday and Wednesday nights—John Gilbert, Paul Lukas, Virginia Bruce, Hedda Hopper, Reginald Owen, Olga Baclanova, Bodil Rosing, Otto Hoffman, Lucien Littlefield and Marion Lesing, present for your kindly approval "Downstairs." This fellow John Gilbert is of a marrying type. He picks 'em young and fresh. Virginia Bruce who plays the heroine in "Downstairs" is now Mrs. John Gilbert. John Gilbert wrote "Downstairs" himself. He expected to use Eric von Stroheim as the villain. For some reason Eric could not accommodate so John, the loving hero of many a heart-throb, is playing the part of the villain. The scenes for this picture are laid in the old country. Plenty of humor, intriguing situations and a continuing interest. As an extra feature you'll enjoy seeing Edgar Kennedy in "Giggie Water." The "Magic Carpet" takes you on a visit to "Incredible India."

Night Club Lady

The Night Club Lady has nothing to do with Buster Keaton's "Speak Easily" though both appear here within the same week. Did you ever hear of Mayo Methot? She has the role of heroine, or maybe it's villainess in the picture Thursday and Friday night of next week. According to her publicity Mayo has been in a good many pictures, but this is perhaps the first time she stars in Sullivan. Adolphe Menjou, the guy with a cute little mustache in the lead in the picture; Skeets Gallagher plays the wise-cracking part. A girl from Wichita, named Ruthelma Stevens is rather prominent. The title of the picture tells you about what to expect. Columbia Pictures Corp., is spending a lot of money selling this picture to the managers, so it must be good.

"You'll want to see Clark & McCullough in 'The Ice Man's Ball,' perhaps you'd like to attend that ball yourself. There will be a screen novelty and News events.

How do you folks like the short features, Manager Hays shows? We're much interested in the news events and travel pictures. They educate you, without your being aware of what would otherwise be a tiresome and painful process. We believe in "visual education." You can teach a kid more about Africa in a few minutes by letting him see a show like "Congorilla" than he can possibly grasp if he spends hours pouring over uninteresting books, maps and descriptions.

CROP LAND

Crops occupy nearly half of the tillable acreage of the United States. This includes land in harvested crops and idle or fallow crop land. Most of the arable land not used for crops is of lower natural productivity, according to the United States Department of Agriculture, and the expense of draining or clearing it would probably not be justified at present.

Horner Meets Many Voters In Campaign

Democrats Arouse Enthusiasm of Large Crowds Who Hear Next Governor of Illinois. Sweeping Victory in Prospect.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 26—Repeating his previous week's success in Northern Illinois, Judge Henry Horner last week traveled through some fourteen counties of south central Illinois, addressing large crowds of men and women who gave unmistakable evidence, by their applause and enthusiasm, that they were "one hundred percent" for the Judge and rest of the Democratic candidate, both state and national.

Although the meetings along the route were naturally arranged by the local Democratic leaders, these same leaders were astonished by the large numbers of people formerly identified with the Republican party that turned out to hear and applaud the Democratic candidate for Governor. Congressman Wm. H. Dieterich, candidate for U. S. Senator and Thomas F. Donovan, candidate for Lieutenant Governor, heading the other caravans reported the same conditions.

Democratic Candidate for State Treasurer

"After analysing the reports received from the counties visited by Judge Horner last week," said Ernest Hoover, vice-chairman of the Democratic State Managing Committee today, "We see no reason to modify in the slightest our prediction of a week ago, that Illinois will go Democratic by a large majority this year."

On Thursday the Horner party was enthusiastically received at Effingham and Fairfield, and on Friday Mt. Vernon, Governor Emerson's home and a strong Republican city, turned out to pack the Jefferson County courthouse in honor of the Democratic candidate at a noon rally. Later in the afternoon Judge Horner spoke at Nashville in Washington county to a large crowd and in the evening addressed a huge rally at Belleville, the home of Bruce A. Campbell, his opponent at the primary, but now his state campaign manager.

Judge Horner began his campaign swing last week at Macomb, in McDonough county, in the east central portion of the state, where he addressed a large and applauding audience at an afternoon rally. In the evening he spoke at Canton in Fulton county. At both meetings capacity audiences liberally sprinkled with Republicans, filled the hall and vigorously applauded Judge Horner's remarks.

He aroused particular cheers at both meetings when he declared that one of his first efforts as governor would be to do away with the "Immunity Bill" enacted by the legislature in 1927 at the bidding of Len Small, his present Republican opponent in order to protect himself from ouster by Quo Warranto proceedings for withholding state interest money to the extent of $1,200,000.

On Tuesday the Horner caravan, which included John C. Martin, candidate for State Treasurer, and Martin A. Brennan, candidate for congressman-at-large, visited Mason and Logan counties, with speeches at Havana and Lincoln. At both towns the Democratic candidates were heartily welcomed. At Havana, in particular, Judge Horner was met outside the city by a large escort of automobiles and farm wagons and escorted to the Mason county courthouse, where Scott W. Lucas, one of the opponents of the Horner slate in the primary, presided and urged Democrats of all factions to support the ticket loyally.

Lewis to Speak
Senator James Hamilton Lewis will take the stump in Illinois, speaking for the national and state tickets, it was announced yesterday by Scott W. Lucas, chairman of the speakers bureau of the Democratic State Committee. Senator Lewis will make at least nine speeches. Mr. Lucas announced, commencing October 17, when he will open at Freeport, speaking at Rock Island at night. On October 18th Senator Lewis will speak at Peru and Bloomington, at Champaign on the 19th, Robinson and Marion on the 20th, Granite City on the 21st and Jacksonville on the 22nd.

GUY BUDD'S SUSPENDERS

You folks who say that nothing new ever happens, are all wrong again. Guy Budd is wearing suspenders. For many years Guy excited interest and wonder. "What keeps 'em up?" folks would say after taking a look at Guy's breeches. But no matter whether doing a heavy moving job, hunting coons at midnight, fishing most any time or arguing about a ball game, the expected catastrophe never did happen. Some folks who had watched the situation for years finally became distraught and nervous and begged Guy to buy a pair of suspenders. He did. You'd hardly know him now. He looks at least 20 years younger.

LES ATCHISON WARNS OF BATTERY FAILURES

"With the approach of cooler weather, and the possibility of sharp temperature drops at most any time," says Les Atchison, local Exide Dealer, "car owners should consider the condition of their battery."

"Any battery in reasonably good condition," continued Mr. Atchison, "will function so long as the weather is warm. But let a real cool night come along and the heavy summer grade oil used in most cars stiffens almost unbelievably. This throws a heavy start of frosty weather we have starter is used and often results in battery failure."

"In previous years, right at the start of frosty weather, we have been called upon to render emergency battery service which, in almost all instances, could have been avoided by a timely check-up of the battery's condition. Hard summer driving bears down on a battery and oftentimes it needs only a cold snap to take it 'for the count.'"

"For the motorist who wants to avoid delays and sometimes costly repairs, we suggest that he have his battery inspected regularly and prevent cold weather battery failure," concluded Mr. Atchison.

Speaking of Sports

trickle through his digits. The Red advances were usually retarded by an assortment of penalties—all in all the locals were set back well over 200 yards. This vast yardage depreciation is critical, unless the boys can diminish their infringements they may find these penalties to be the stumbling block on the road to another valley championship.

Come Friday morning and The Sullivan Progress, you will have known the outcome of two of the World Series engagements but at this writing (Tuesday morning), we ponder hopefully. Nine out of ten experts see no hope for our Cubs but inasmuch as their discernment was similar at the start of the National League pennant chase we feel safe in saying we still like the Cubs. Let us suspect us of imbecility we cite a few reasons. In a short series pitching is of paramount importance and in that department the Cubs enjoy a distinct edge. Guy Bush, Lonnie Warneke, and Charlie Root loom strong while Mcarty can bank only on Ruffing as the fragile Gomez has been mauled late and the youthful Allen is lacking in experience. We expect Guy Bush to win over Ruffing in the opener in that the Yankees are weak on low-curve pitching. Besides excelling in this low curve delivery Guy has a well developed screw ball which he will use in the pinches. It is also admitted that the Bruin infield can cover more territory than can the Yankee inner basemen and will also commit fewer errors. A scratch hit is a hit for 'A' that and a that's so keep faith you Cub fans. The Cubs will also enter the Autumnal classic accompanied by old man Psychology. They believe themselves a super team. Since Charley Grimm assumed command Lady Luck has been constantly at their side. They play a sensational brand of ball, fearless of errors that may be committed thereby. During the past few weeks infielders and outfielders alike have taken daring but successful chances afraid and are confident their miraculous play will continue throughout the series. Mates this invisible asset—inspiration—is not to be sneezed at. What have the Yanks to offset this edge save the long distant clouting of Ruth and Gehrig?

Charley Root's control affords him an excellent opportunity of throttling the Yankee bludgeons in the second encounter. Let us suppose the Cubs drop the first two games which are to be played in Gotham—still we would like their chances. They would return to Wrigley field for the following 3 games and in their native environment they are high invincible. They would still have Lonnie Warneke as their Ace-in-the-hole and Bush and Root would be more familiar with the Yankee stick-men. But here's an important item—the Yankee Home Run peril will not be so prevalent at Wrigley field. The Cub park is recognized as the toughest park in either league for a left-handed hitter against a right-handed pitcher. Now the Cubs twirling corps consists of only right-handed regulars while the Yankee home run barrage originates on the left side of the plate. In Wrigley field a right-handed pitcher has the corner of the center field bleachers for a background which is supposed to partly obscure the spheroid as it hastens towards the platter. This was the reason offered for Howard Emke's success. Then, too, it was said that Emke's side-arm delivery permitted him to pitch further into the corner of the bleachers.

Listen folks, the Washington Senators were the only team in the American League to win a series from the Yankees in their stadium during the current season so you can see how tough it will be for the Cubs to snatch those first two games.

Rumor has it that Connie Mack is willing to trade Al Simmons for Ted Lyons. Mr. Fonseca this is your chance to grab one of the great hitters of all time!

Despite the fact that Purdue lost 13 lettermen including their entire backfield by graduation the co-champions loom as a title threat. The new backfield will probably be composed of quarterback Paul Pardonner who made good 11 out of 12 drop kicks after touchdowns last fall; halfbacks, Fred Hecker and Moore; fullback Roy Hartsman. Duane Purvis will no doubt be first alternate to this quartet.

For some unknown reason Jack Beckwith, star of last year's U. of I. freshmen, has not returned to school this fall. Beckwith, who was a team-mate of Fred Frink at Miami, Florida last fall matriculated at Michigan, his father's Alma Mater. A few weeks after school had started he came down to Illinois to spend a week end with Frink and was so impressed that he decided to change schools.

Blessed by a fine group of sophomores, Bob Zuppke expects to guide a much stronger entry this autumn but the best break of all is the return of Pete Yanuskus. Pete won letters in 1929 and 1930 and after being elected captain of the '31 team he became ineligible. That he is a splendid open field runner is illustrated by his 80 yard sally through the Army team back in 1929. Yanuskus' presence will also make a better halfback of Gil Berry as Pete is the best Illini blocker since the days of McIlwain. Last year the Illini didn't have the ball enough to give Gil many chances and when they did gain possession Berry was seldom afforded protection by his backfield mates.

In last Saturday's game against the Freshmen, the varsity employed a shift reminiscent of the Notre Dame maneuvers. Berry has developed a faster start and a nifty fake pass. The varsity squad contained several central Illinois stars including Chuck Andrews of Clinton, Forrest Cravens of Hindsboro, Frank Froehner and Chuck Bennis of Lincoln, Howard Johnson and Bob Horsey of Mattoon, Al Hall of Champaign, Crain Portman of Urbana who is out for the season due to an injury, Ack Bodman of Bement and Lin Platt of Monticello.

Many fans believe that the Dutch Master should have a good team year in, year out as he is supposed to have unlimited material. He hasn't. A majority of the Illinois prep stars shun the keen competition offered by their state U. and go elsewhere, for example Purdue has 18 Illinois boys on this year's squad while Zuppke hasn't a single Hoosier to grace his outfit. Even DePauw has numerous Illinois prep luminaries, including such men as Wayne Schroeder of Decatur fame, Beam of Mattoon, Ewing of Danville, etc. Chicago and Northwestern along with the many smaller inter state colleges sap a major portion of the stars.

Coach Leo Johnson has a nice looking Millikin squad despite the loss of a great half, George Corbett, who is now performing with the Chicago Bears. Dean Trainer of Blue Mound played well with the "B" team in scrimmage yesterday. Elephant-like George Musso, the big Blue captain is so well padded with flesh that he dons a basketball suit for practice and if he had his way would play throughout the season sans shoulder pads.

tinued for four years after which it was dissolved and with his son Dave the firm of J. M. Cummins & Son was organized. In 1899 this firm moved to its present location, where it has done business ever since.

Though a resident of Illinois by choice there were some Kentucky traits and traditions which he cherished his entire lifetime. He was an ardent derby fan and seldom missed this annual classic. Politics never lost its flavor for him. When Judge Horner visited this city several months ago, he was one of the first to greet him and assure him of his hearty support. He was ever ready to discuss politics with his friends and even though some might differ with him all respected him and his views. He was emphatic and straight forward but never argumentative or contentious.

He leaves to mourn his passing, his wife, with whom he observed their 50th wedding anniversary in October of 1931. He also leaves the five children with whom this union was blessed—Dave Cummins, Ella, wife of C. R. Edinger of Louisville, Ky., James Cummins of this city, Lucille, wife of Harry Harsh of Chicago; Edna, wife of J. H. Fitzgerald of Peoria. There are ten grandchildren.

"Uncle Matt" as many called him, was the oldest Odd Fellow in point of membership in this community. He had been a member of this lodge 56 years and on his 50th anniversary was presented with the jewel of the order by the Grand Lodge of the state. In religious affiliation he was a member of the Presbyterian church, having joined in Kentucky in his early youth.

Funeral services were held in the home Sunday afternoon. Rev. Daniel A. MacLeod, a former pastor of the local Presbyterian church and a warm personal friend of the deceased was in charge with Rev. Glenn Garber assisting. The remains were carried to their last resting place in Greenhill cemetery by John J. Gauger, Paul M. Hankla, Loren Todd, Guy S. Little, Matt Dedman and Leslie A. Atchison.

IS YOUR RADIO OLD ENOUGH TO WIN?

This is a Radio adv. somewhat out of the ordinary. Read every word of it. It may result in your winning a

$12.50 SILEX Coffee Maker
or as much as $1000 in Cash

Here's the idea--

The Tire & Battery Station, in co-operation with the manufacturers of MAJESTIC RADIO is sponsoring the local end of a big contest.

We will give the SILEX COFFE MAKER (now on display in our window) as a prize for the oldest Radio brought to our place of business before the close of the contest November 1st. This applies to any make of radio. All you need do is to bring it here, so we can check its age by Name, Model and Serial Number. Home-made sets not eligible. After November 1st, all entries will be carefully checked and the Coffee Maker goes as a prize to the owner of the oldest one.

Many Cash Prizes

But this is only part of the contest. The Makers of Majestic Radio are offering the following Cash prizes to the oldest models of the make, entered in this contest.

To the owner of the Majestic Radio of earliest model and lowest serial number of all those reported to Majestic dealers throughout the country—

BETHANY MAN FOREMAN OF THE GRAND JURY

because of there being no declaration on file. Harwick last year sued Knutzen for alienating his wife's affections. A jury found Mr. Knutzen not guilty and so he in retaliation filed a suit against his accuser and several Mattoon police officials who figured in the case.

An old chancery suit, entitled "Walter F. Roley vs. S. L. Seass and others", being a creditor's action, was dismissed.

The partition suit of Elizabeth Wood and others against Howard Wood was stricken. Similar action was taken in the case of Lillian B. Knight against Charles A. Gregory and others, partition. Another partition suit stricken was one entitled Pleta Donovan and Mildred Cole vs. Charles F. Howell Jr.

Through attorney McLaughlin, Blanche Fairbanks had her divorce action against James E. Fairbanks dismissed "without prejudice."

Final report was filed in the foreclosure action of the Prudential vs. James M. Cannoy. Report approved, cause stricken.

M. & F. Bank Cases
The first suit for appointment of receiver for stockholders liability was dismissed and stricken. A new report of Receiver Gregory was on file. No definite action was taken on the suit to have Charles A. Gregory named receiver for stockholders liability. Written appearance of Ed Adams and 93 other defendants is on file. The court entered on record that R. W. Martin, Roy Patterson, George A. Sentel, J. L. McLaughlin and F. W. Purvis are associated with J. E. Jennings in prosecution of this suit.

CUMMINS WILL
Matt Cummins, who died recently left a will made July 10, 1908. The instrument, which gives his legal name as "James M. Cummins" was witnessed by George A. Fields and Homer C. Shirey.

In this will the testator leaves all of his personal property and real estate to his wife for her natural life, she to have the benefit of any rents, profits, etc., and to pay taxes.

After the wife's death all is to go to his children, or in case of death of any one of them to their children if any.

The will, made 24 years ago, specifies that none of the estate is to be partitioned until his youngest child reaches legal age. It also provides that in case of remarriage the widow is to have only an equal share with the children, no dower, widow's award or set-off.

She is named executrix without bond. Hearing on petition to admit the will to probate will be heard Oct. 24.

ford, candidate for state senator and J. S. Mundy of Marshall a candidate for the Legislature in the neighboring district.

Saturday's Rally
There will be two big rallies at headquarters here in Sullivan Saturday night of this week Hon. W. F. Lodge of Monticello will speak. He is an independent Republican who is especially interested in the candidacy of Judge Horner for Governor. Mr. Lodge is not a politician and has never participated much in politics heretofore. He is a farmer and contractor by occupation and has always taken a great interest in the affairs of the U. of I. He comes highly recommended as an able and entertaining speaker. Headquarters can easily accommodate a crowd of as many as five hundred. There are plenty of seats. Last Saturday night's rally was well attended. Hon. William Wood of Champaign and Judge Jennings spoke. Saturday night's speaking starts at 8:15.

Dobbins Will Speak
On Thursday night the big Dobbins rally will take place. That will be perhaps the only time that the candidate for Congress will speak here during this campaign. Mr. Dobbins is a fluent speaker and his campaign has a

EGGS PAYING MORE NOW BUT TOO MANY HENS NOT LAYING

Ill., Sept. 26—Higher promise to make Illinois chickens a source of welcome cash income this fall, but hundreds of flock owners will be puzzled and complaining because they are not getting any eggs, says H. H. Alp, poultry extension specialist of the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

There are many reasons why hens don't lay, but one thing is certain, according to Alp. More attention could be given to better management on many farms where egg production is low.

"Probably the most common reason for unthrifty birds that will lay poorly this fall will be worms. In the case of infested flocks it would be advisable to treat the birds and then confine them to clean quarters to prevent reinfection. Prevention of intestinal worms in chickens is covered in the college's circular No. 44, which makes reference to the use of common lye for this purpose.

Hens won't lay their best unless their houses are kept clean, free from lice and mites, well ventilated and not overcrowded. A square foot a bird is best for results.

There also should be plenty of hopper space. Hoppers ten long which permit feeding on both sides will provide hopper space for 100. Plans for home-made feeders given in the college's circular No. 333 on poultry farm management. Plenty of fresh drinker also is important.

It should be an easy matter to feed feed mixture or ration to produce eggs. A number of mash mixtures which, most part, can be made from home-grown grains are given in the college's circular No. 275 on egg production. One mash mixture that may be made from 200 pound yellow corn, 100 pound wheat, 100 pounds oats, 50 pounds meat pounds dried milk, 25 bean oil meal, 2 1/2 lbs. meal, 2 1/2 lbs. ground and 5 pounds salt."

There's A Big Reward For The Rescue.

HOW TO TELL QUALITY EGG

There is a difference in eggs as to quality. How shall we determine the quality? We would suggest one way, and that is to break two or three eggs into a flat plate and note whether the white is thick enough to stay near the yolk and stand up around it like a layer of clear, firm jelly. If the white runs over the plate and appears very watery, the egg may be considered poor in quality, or perhaps even somewhat stale.

Invariably the quality of the eggs shows up in cooking. An egg of superior quality when properly poached should look like a picture. An egg of poor quality and slightly stale will not poach well. High-quality eggs make better omelets and make cake that is much lighter and fluffier. Quality eggs also make better custards and even scrambled eggs are better when made from this kind.

Of course, much depends upon the kind of feed the hens are getting as to whether the yolks are deep or pale yellow. Because an egg has a deep yellow yolk is no indication that it is not fresh or good, nor is it an index as to quality.

When eggs are placed in cases they should always be packed with the large end up. When the egg cools after it is laid, the contents cool and contract. This contraction causes a separation of the two membranes found immediately inside the shell and this normally occurs at the large end of the egg. If the large end is up, this serves as a cushion against rough driving. If the small end is up, the air cells break loose and become what is known as "slipped or movable air cells." These eggs are classified as lower grades.

There is much for every farmer and producer of eggs to learn about the egg business and in the handling of this product. It is the little things that count and are worth while. They spell the difference between profit and loss. Try it and see.

SEED CORN

1—Select the seed in the field and not after it reaches the crib.

2—Select the ears from stalks that produce the best.

3—Save ears from stalks free from disease.

4—Ears that droop shedding the rain should be selected.

5—Ears should be selected that are about the center of stalk.

6—Seed should be hung in a dry place the same day it is gathered.

7—Seed should be protected from severe cold weather until it is thoroughly dried out.

8—After it is dried out it should be stored in a place where it will be free from dampness and moisture.

9—It pays to exercise care because poor seed produces low yields.

10—Good seed is the cheapest seed.

11—Good seed produces the highest yields.

12—Good seed will pay the largest dividends.

13—Get acquainted with your seed corn.

14—Study your seed corn. It is worth while.

15—Set aside a week for selecting seed corn.

Both in the Same Boat

Swift & Company has more than one hundred produce plants, where poultry, eggs and dairy products are bought, prepared and shipped to far-off markets. In each plant is an ambitious, hard-working local resident—the manager. In his community that man is "Swift & Company".

He has the producer viewpoint. He rejoices when prices are satisfactory to his patrons. In this his interest is selfish. He is in the same boat with the farm producer. His advancement in business, in his own organization, depends on how much produce he purchases and how well he handles it.

Your Swift produce plant manager strives for steady operation at full capacity; only under such conditions is his plant most efficient. He wants volume and full pay-rolls. Nothing pleases him better than to pay the cash price for more and more produce.

That price is governed by demand, by what consumers can and will pay. But when the local manager is ready to ship his prepared products, demand is not awaited; is not left to chance. Swift & Company enhances demand for produce by advertising brands of high quality: Swift's Premium Milk-Fed Chickens, Golden West Fowl, Swift's Brookfield Butter, Eggs, Cheese and many other products.

An army of Swift & Company salesmen, working from 400 branch houses and along hundreds of car routes, searches daily for bigger and hungrier markets. The local manager buys to supply those markets. Thus continually expanding outlets are opened up for the producer. The same army of salesmen sells both meat and produce. The same railroad cars transport both. Thus, costs of marketing are reduced for both livestock men and produce men.

Swift & Company has developed a national sales force and a national buying organization—striving to lower costs between the farm and the retail store. The personal welfare of each man depends on how well he does that job. That's why the charges for the service are low. Profits have averaged, over a period of years, less than a half cent a pound for all products sold.

FIRST LOVES

BY FELIX RIESENBERG

Bats were swinging, chicks were being dropped, hard drumming manila falls were dropping on the deck. Many seamen were calling far away and near. "Steady there! Easy! 'Ere, sir! Right 'ere! Handsomely, men! All right. Swing aft, swing forward!"

Their voices rose amid the clamor of the steam. Boats were turning outboard over the side. The ice wall had disappeared. It was merely a precaution.

Had the great Titanic struck the ice? Was she sinking? But there had been no shock, he kept thinking, no shock. Perhaps—but the thought was untenable, impossible. Perhaps there had been a shock when he was unaware of anything but Josephine. The thought froze his mind. He must do something. Why in hell did that woman keep clinging to him? The escaping steam was deafening, it began to moderate, thank heaven. He must rouse himself; her.

"Josephine, dear, Josephine," he called, close to her ear.

"All clear, boats?" A loud rough voice of authority was shouting above the deck, calling through a megaphone.

"Stand by to lower!" "Aye, aye, sir!" A sailor was answering. He stood near Josephine and Rantoul. "A woman, sir!" he called. The boat had swung outboard and was at the level of the deck on which they stood. "Steady, now! Steady!"

"Better lift her in, sir." The words were addressed to Rantoul. "Quick, before we lower. Yes, we are sinking," Rantoul staggered to his feet. Josephine had swooned. He held her limp and heavy; half dragging her, he staggered across

The call was clear and loud. One man on the rail was pulled back. Others stepped back. Women and children first! The rule of the sea!

The boat began to fill, women were tumbled in, pell-mell. "Hold on, do you want to swamp that boat?" The rope falls began to creak as they stretched under the weight. Rantoul, pushing up thru half-clad hysterical women, tried to frame the words, "A man here! He almost said this. Josephine, rumbled, agitated, indignant, pulled him down.

"Sit down, you fool!" She jerked him with a spasmodic pull that dropped him flat beside her. The boat was lowering, lowering, a black wall of the ship's side lifting before them. They stopped with a sudden splash in the sea. The water was agitated, all about them boats were dropping into the water. Far up a band of light marked the promenade, and yellow dots spotted the rows of lighted ports. Boats capsized, men called and women cried. Then several women got out oars, Josephine among them, and they pulled awkwardly away from the dread shadow of the stricken hull. "Get an offing before the under suction gets you." A cheerful man high on the ship in brass buttons, shouted through a trumpet. Everything seemed unreal, something that could not happen; the things that often happen.

A band, high upon the deck, was playing, unreal music, a tune no one remembered. Hundreds of heads bobbed about on the black sea. "For God's sake, give me a hand!" Boats were so laden they struggled out of the human maelstrom of desperate clutching finging black monolith, a grave stone, poised for an instant. People in the boats, Josephine and Rantoul, eyes wide with horror, heard a deafening roar, a rending of heavy steel. The boilers and machinery had torn loose of their own weight and dashed downward through the resounding coffin of the hull. Frightful reverberations rumbled over the loaded boats and the people still struggling in the ice-cold water. It was a last loud protest of the dying Titanic, a horror heard for miles over the calm indifferent sea.

A pool of greenish white, throwing black wave rings, marked the spot where the high stern plunged out of sight. A huge hand, apparently, had taken it by the nose and yanked it down.

Only faint cries and a disorderly cluster of overlaid boats remained.

Much of confusion and very much of nobility and assorted and diverse stories, legends and myths came to shore with the survivors, picked up by a rescuing liner, called to the disaster by the radio.

Gilbert Van Horn, last of the Van Horns, as the papers all had it, stood forth in stories of the survivors, a figure heroic and worthy. At the very last he died a gentleman, a brave gentleman, calm and unafraid. Van Horn had placed Mrs. Wentworth in a boat, so Aunt Wen was saved. He had called along the deck for Josephine. Some one assured him she had been taken aboard a boat. Then he calmly helped lift children and old people into boats at the rail. He stripped off his own coat and waistcoat and took the outer garments of men standing near, wrapping youngsters, helping crying mothers, up from the steerage, huddled along the unaccustomed deck, white with terror.

The stories of the last moments of Gilbert Van Horn marked him a man utterly unselfish and brave!

Hundreds of others rose to the sublime in their last hour and others were blackened, and cursed and looked upon with suspicion because of their rescue. Gerrit Rantoul, among the survivors, had difficulty in explaining the cause of his being in a boat. Some very ugly stories were about. Men had been shot, trying to crowd into boats.

The story of the rescue preceded the return of the survivors.

News of the loss of Van Horn had come by radio. John Breen was at the pier when the rescuing ship came in. Great confusion prevailed. "Miss Lambert left a few minutes ago, in a taxi, with a lady and a gentleman." The steward described her and Rantoul. Come to think of it Gerrit Rantoul's name was not among those listed as saved. But it could have been no one else. John, going on board with a pass, had expected her to wait for him, at least. He felt bitterly disappointed. He telephoned the Van Horn home. "Miss Lambert is in bed. No, not seriously sick, sir, just shocked and worn out. She left no message."

Two days later, with no news of Josephine, his heart bursting with the enormity of the loss of Van Horn, John received a visit from Judge Kelly. Judge Kelly and Harbord had just left. He was looking out of his sitting room window over the shaft. John then had quarters alone. Malling and Barrow having been transferred to another section of the work.

"Come in, Judge." He was glad to see the old gentleman.

"Whew, John. I'm in need of something, a few dozen years taken off, I suppose. Walk-up houses, I think that's what they call 'em, keep the populace in good condition. Well—" He looked about, puffing and wiping his forehead.

John took his hat and stick, and the old friend was seated. "No, thanks, John. I'm going easy on the weed."

"Have you heard anything from Josephine?" John asked anxiously.

"Is she all right?"

"I came from there, John. She's all right. I saw her for a moment, privilege of an old family friend. She has been through a hell of an experience, John—she looks it. She said she wanted to get straightened out, before seeing you. It has been a terrible shock to her, to all of us. Poor Gilbert."

The Judge looked about the room, at the pictures of Van Horn, Harbord, Malone, and Josephine on the narrow mantel shelf.

"John, I came up here to speak to you plainly." The Judge settled himself. John lit a pipe and looked past him, out of the window. "Gilbert Van Horn was your father," Judge Kelly spoke plainly.

"Yes," John kept looking away. His eyes were suspiciously bright. (CONTINUED NEXT WEEK)

The Very Latest

By Mary Marshall

Despite the efforts of style designers to avoid exaggeration of fashion lines at the beginning of a new season, it is essential that their daring newness will not be overlooked. Again this has proven to be the case in the first flare for big sleeves, but already in second showings, bringing moderation in lines.

This turn to smaller sleeves had to be in dresses and frocks, because it was necessary to get sleeves under control unless all coats were to be designed along swaggy lines. Such not being the case, a distinctive turn in sleeve design is already noted, which perhaps makes for more graceful designing.

The new fall coat, shown in the sketch, is an example of moderation in the adaptation of the new style line. Full of sleeves, but not too full, the shoulder line is maintained, yet suggests newness and chicness right abreast the most popular styles. Even the fur refrains from over exaggeration, topping off a conservative styled coat which many women will choose because of its trimness. In color, it may be gay, although the darker tones appear to be favored. It is of course one of the new broadcloths—an old—yet a very new material for 1932.

Safe Pleasant Way To Lose Fat

How would you like to lose 15 pounds of fat in a month and at the same time increase your energy and improve your health?

How would you like to lose your double chin and your too prominent hips and at the same time make your skin so clean and clear that it will compel admiration?

Get on the scales today and see how much you weigh—then get a bottle of Kruschen Salts which will last you for 4 weeks and costs but a trifle. Take one-half teaspoonful in a glass of hot water before breakfast, every morning—cut down on pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—and when you have finished the contents of this first bottle weigh yourself again.

Now you will know the pleasant way to lose unsightly fat and you'll know that the 6 salts of Kruschen have presented you with glorious health.

But be sure for your health's sake that you ask for and get Kruschen Salts. Get them at Sam B. Hall's or any drugstore in the world and if the results one bottle brings do not delight you—do not joyfully satisfy you—why money back.

BOB COLLINS DENIES THAT HE DROPPED DEAD

Judge Robert A. Collins, popular peach grower and justice of the peace is not dead. He has asked The Progress to state this fact plainly so all may know.

Friday morning a rumor circulated that Bob had dropped dead. He says he did not "drop" and he is still very much alive.

When friends heard of his purported demise they hastened to the Collins home. Hank Webb, Walt Roley, Mose Price, Harold Newbould and others were among the callers. These men were all happy to know that the rumor was grossly exaggerated. Bob felt honored to know that he had friends who cared whether he was dead or alive. A pleasant visit was enjoyed by all.

THOSE FEATHERED FRIENDS OF OURS

(By Zella Wigent)

THE MEADOW LARK

Another bird which nests on the ground is the meadow lark. Its grassy home with its dome-shaped roof is almost impossible to find. Five speckled eggs are laid. Unlike the quail, the young meadow larks are helpless and it is about two weeks before they are able to follow the parent birds into the grass and search for their own food.

Every farm lad knows the meadow lark with its conspicuous black crescent on its yellow breast. When we meet it in the field it is impolite enough to turn its back to us in order to hide its showy breast.

About three-fourths of the lark's food consists of insects. Ground beetles, crickets, grasshoppers, cutworms and army worms are among its favorite food. It does a little damage to crops but not so much that farmers complain about it.

The meadow lark is one of the few birds in this country that is increasing in number. It likes the open field so that the clearing and cropping of the land have made conditions favorable for it.

The western meadow lark looks much like our eastern bird, but it is much more famous as a singer. Its song is louder and clearer, and has one more note in it than has the cheery song of our eastern friend.

Why Worry?

Columbus discovered America. It's still here. Nobody has been able to take it away from us. It is just the same size it has always been. The sun continues to shine and the rain to fall, even if at times it may look as though it were not going to rain any more. Water still runs down hill and the rivers and streams run their way to the ocean. The natural laws still function and the waters still flow over the dams and create energy and power for the use of mankind. The earth still contains coal sufficient for all our needs. The earth is still giving up her precious minerals for man's needs and glorification. Although the forests have been slashed and the trees felled by the woodman's axe, still there remains standing enough timber to supply all our wants. New trees and new forests are coming into commercial use every year. Silver and gold are still plentiful. Why worry?

We are growing the same field crops that were grown one hundred and fifty years ago. We are growing them better and more economically than our forefathers grew them. Harvests were never more bountiful than this year. There is going to be enough wheat to feed all. Corn never was more promising than at this time. There should be an ample supply of meat and milk. Eggs are produced in the same old way. Hens still cackle when they lay them. They believe in advertising. It pays. Nobody need starve if he will but work. Why worry?

There never was a better time to follow Dame Nature than now. She keeps right on working no matter what may befall her. The storms may destroy that which she has produced in part or whole. She sets about making the necessary repairs. Droughts may come and make tremendous inroads on what she has wrought. Nature continues to work and replace the damage. Floods may come and wash away much of her creation, but in due season she replaces that which was lost. No matter what devastations the heat, cold, drought or floods may have wrought, Nature never fails to continue her efforts to correct the evils done.

TEN MILLION TREES

Ten million trees a year, for planting in the national forests of Wisconsin and the upper peninsula of Michigan, will be supplied by a new nursery at Rhinelander, Wisconsin. This nursery, which was started in April, 1931, will be in full production by the fall of 1933. In planting operations in the national forests, the seedlings from the nursery are set out in furrows plowed 8 feet apart with tractor-drawn plows set just deep enough to cut and throw out a ribbon of sod, says the United States Forest Service. This furrow eliminates competition from grass, bracken, and shrubs. The seedlings are planted 8 feet apart in the rows, 700 to each acre.

NEED MORE PASTURE

The area of land in the United States in improved pasture is only one-fifth of that in hay and grain crops, say specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture, who believe that pastures should supply more of the feed for livestock. More improved pasture land would reduce need for grain crops, lessen labor for crop production, reduce soil erosion, provide pasturage during drought, save pastures now overgrazed, and preserve wood lots. Ten percent of the cultivated crop area, if sown to pasture, would add about 50 percent to the present area of improved pasture land, says the department.

"People in the boats heard a deafening roar as the boilers and machinery tore loose of their own weight and dashed downward."

the mess of ropes on deck. "This way," the seaman pushed him. His knees trembled, he bent over, passed Josephine into the boat. "Lower way lower!" The boat began to fall, Gerrit Rantoul, his head swimming, pitched forward into the boat, lying in the dark. Josephine, dropped unceremoniously, sat up beside him on the bottom boards. "Where are we, oh, where are we?" she demanded. "Hold all!" the boat was at the level of the promenade; a crowd of passengers surged to the rail, mostly in negligence; men wild-eyed, desperate; women crying. After an interval of false quiet, they suddenly began to realize that the great liner was actually sinking. The horror of it! the great floating palace sinking into the waves—it was incredible!—terrible!

"Who's in that boat?" An officer in charge of the deck had jumped on the rail; a pistol gleamed in his hand.

"A woman, sir!" The sailor failed to see Rantoul, who lay stunned in the bottom. Rantoul, coming to his senses, tried to struggle to his feet. People were crowding in on him. "Women and children!"

ers and grabbing hands. The sound of the band wafted over the cries. The black hull, suddenly looming in lofty proportions against a sky of stars, stood brilliantly alight. The graceful stern lifted from the sea. Forward compartments were filling. The sharp proud stem of steel was dipping slowly, out of sight.

The Master, captain of tragedy, after many, many years, stood high on the tilting bridge alone. The sea of ruin was slowly coming up to claim him. He made no effort to gain a life belt or strike out for a raft or boat.

The long rows of lights flickered and flared up for an instant as the dynamos took an unusual list, and then, suddenly, the band had tumbled away, the moans continued less loud, cries were lost, the lights went out. The whole scene, for a moment, was in impenetrable black. As if shaking itself, dripping off cascades of dull greenish water, the giant hull rose upright on its stem, men and fittings, like a sudden squall of rain, falling from the decks.

All atremble in the tremendous hull, stern high in the air, a tower-

To Whom It May Concern:

The Loyington Cheese Factory has been expanding very rapidly and they will be able to start making butter Sept. 28th. Just recently they have purchased the cheese factory at Kenney and Argenta and are moving one of these factories to Newman, said factory to be in operation on or about October 10 at Newman.

It became necessary to increase the capital stock in order to do these things. Therefore, it was made into a corporation known as Quality Cheese and Butter Co. In order to complete this transaction it was necessary for Mr. Otto Baganz to make a bill of sale to Quality Cheese and Butter Co. There is no change in the personnel of the factory, as Mr. Baganz is president and general manager of Quality Cheese and Butter Co., incorporated for $20,000. It can also be said that there is no stock to be sold.

We make this statement because many rumors about selling the cheese factory have been started and we want our patrons to have full particulars first hand.

Respectfully submitted.

OTTO BAGANZ, President.

GOSPEL MISSION

Over the Post Office

Time of services the same. You are always welcome.

Matt. 14:18—"Bring them hither to me."

Are you encompassed with needs at this very moment, and almost overwhelmed with difficulties, trials and emergencies? These are all divinely provided vessels for the Holy Spirit to fill, and if you but rightly understood their meaning, they would become opportunities for receiving new blessings and deliverances which you can get in no other way.

Bring these vessels to God. Hold them steadily before Him in faith and prayer. Keep still and stop your own restless working until He begins to work. Do nothing that He does not Himself command you to do. Give Him a chance to work, and he will surely do so; and the very trials that threatened to overcome you with discouragement and disaster, will become God's opportunity for the revelation of His grace and glory in your life, as you have never known Him before. Bring them (all needs) to me. What a source—"God", what a supply—"His riches in glory" What a channel—"Christ Jesus."

CHRISTIAN CHURCH

C. E. Barnett, pastor

"The Scriptures Speak" will be the subject of the morning as we enter into the "Week of the Ministry" October 2 to 9. We will read together "Where the Scriptures Speak of the Ministry" and quotations from our Lord's prayer in the garden. We quote from A. L. Cory "The one great need of the church today is morale, new vision and deep spiritual loyalty to our Lord and His Church."

In the evening sermon the pastor will speak on "The Joy of the Ministry." The Young People's choir will sing a special number and lead in songs of joy and uplift. Let us make this a great and joyous service.

At the Christian Endeavor, Amanda Tichenor will lead the meeting, the subject for which will be "How Does the Teaching of Jesus Change Business?" The Sunday school session will open at 9:30 a. m. Others hours of service are: Morning worship 10:40 o'clock, evening service 7:30. The Christian Endeavor will meet at 6:30 p. m.

The Illinois Christian Education Commission, with O. T. Mattox, state director in charge will convene in the First Christian church Monday morning, Oct. 3 at 10:00 o'clock. This is to be a Coaching Conference for ministers and their wives, children's workers and leaders of youth and adults of the East Central district. This will be a two days conference with five sessions, closing at 4 p. m. Tuesday. A headquarters representative of the United Christian Missionary Society will also be present to assist in conducting the conference. A similar conference is being held in each of the other Districts of the state. This will present a great educational program to the churches of Illinois and we are fortunate in having this one held in our church. We trust many of our leaders will attend.

S. T. H. S. NEWS

The athletic organization is making an effort to enable all high school students to attend the football games. It has been announced that if 66 2-3% of the students will purchase a season ticket these tickets will be sold for twenty-five cents. As there are four home games this season the cost per game will be 6 1-4 cents. This offer is not being made especially to put stress on football, but to emphasize school spirit and loyalty. If the organization feels that it is worth while to sell tickets at this low price surely the students should be able to buy them and help the team on to victory by their support.

The student council was organized this week. Members of last semester's council hold over with the exception of those who graduated. The new members are Evelyn Dunscomb, Home Economics club; Loye Davis from the athletic squad; Paul McDavid from Hall Patrol and Lucinda Walker, Margy Lou Scheer and James Floyd from the Freshman class. The officers are President, Beatrice Hill, Vice president Lloyd Cochran, secretary, Mary Emalyn Clark. The Student Council is organized to discuss and pass a measure of interest to the entire student body.

Although there is no game scheduled for the regular football squad this week, the second team is to play John's Hill at Decatur Saturday morning. The members of the second team are to get a good work out this week and the game should be of interest to all football fans.

Miss Dixon and Miss Coolman are planning to spend the week end at Crawfordsville and Indianapolis at the home of Miss Coolman's parents.

The Moultrie County Athletic Association held a meeting at the high school September 21st. They elected Mr. J. A. Alexander of Lovington President, J. C. Lucas of Gays vice president and R. A. Scheer of Sullivan, secretary and treasurer. They decided to hold the annual Moultrie County Basketball tournament December 28, 29 and 30th at the Sullivan High School gymnasium. Sullivan to play the first game with Dalton City, Gays drew a bye, Windsor will play Arthur and Lovington and Bethany are to oppose each other. A consolation schedule will be run parallel to the regular championship schedule. There will be four sessions to the tournament. Three games Wednesday the 28th, three Thursday, the 29th. Two Friday afternoon and two Friday night. General admission will be 25c per session but students who buy tickets in advance will be admitted for 15c.

As colder weather approaches it is necessary to make hook assignment to the pupils. The Freshmen and Sophomores will hang their wraps on the third floor, Juniors and Seniors on the second floor and pupils who bring their lunches to school are assigned to the lower floor.

Tryouts for the All School Play "Merely Mary Ann" were held after school Tuesday evening. A large group of students tried out and the following cast was selected.

Lancelot—John Pence.
Peter—Woodrow Spough.
Bronson—Billie Fleming.
Rev. Samuel Smedge—Dean Harshman.
O Gorman—Edmund Scheer.
Sister Trippett Kitty and Polly—Genevieve Wheeler and Dorothy Brumfield.
Lady Chelmer—Beatrice Hill.
Mary Ann—Mary Emalyn Clark.

NEW WHEAT DISEASE

Kansas farmers have another wheat disease to fight.

United States Department of Agriculture crop disease specialists this year discovered yellow mosaic, a mysterious new disease which completely destroys the wheat it attacks, near Salina, Kansas where a 40-acre field was a total loss. A small amount of the disease was found also near Chapman and near Manhattan, Kansas. These are the only places where the disease was found this year.

The department will begin experiments at once to find wheats resistant to this mosaic, as this has been the best method of combating the green mosaic of wheat occurring east of the Mississippi River. The wheat specialists can not tell, as yet, where the disease came from, how it spreads, nor how rapidly it may increase.

REDFERN COAT DAY

at the

Dunscomb Dry Goods Co.
Sullivan, Illinois

FRIDAY, SEPT. 30
1932

By Special arrangement, we will have with us all day Friday, September 30th, two representatives from the Redfern Factory

They will show ON THIS DAY ONLY, from 100 to 200 fine Coats, in addition to our own large and well balanced stock. Besides this, they will have about 30 models from which you may order a "Special" if you do not find your size and color, in the price range you desire.

This Will Be 'The Coat Day' For Sullivan This Season
