LEADERS

Some leaders lead too far ahead,
High visioned, unafraid;
Yet, ages after they are dead,
We tread the paths they made.

Some leaders lead too far behind,
Nor seem to keep the track,
Yet they bring on the deaf and blind,
Who else would hold us back.

And some seem not to lead at all,
Slow moving on the way,
Yet help the weary feel and small
Of those who else would stray.

Lead on, O leaders of the race!
Your work is long and wide;
We need your help in every place—
Before, behind, beside.

No Payroll Paradise Under Horner

In the hurry and bustle of a campaign many promises are made. A promise is only as good as the man who makes it.

If a Democratic governor is elected in Illinois November 8th, it will not be because of the jobs, hard roads and other favors promised, but it will be because the people prefer the past record of Judge Horner to the record of Len Small.

Judge Horner is not promising jobs. His promise is not to the job-seekers but it is to the taxpayers—the people who furnish the money used in conducting the business of the state of Illinois. To them he makes one promise and one only—to conduct the affairs of the state government efficiently and economically.

If Judge Horner is elected, he will do just that. He will not tax his mind to find useless jobs for those who suddenly have taken an interest in politics and are seeking to curry favor with the candidate and the state organization.

When Judge Horner visited Sullivan last summer, he spoke plainly to the assembled committeemen when he told them: "When I say that I will cut out all of the dead wood on the state payroll, I mean just that. If I am elected governor, I will abolish all of the easy political jobs with which the payroll is now padded. This means that if a county now has as many as 40 people on the state payroll, under the Horner administration it will not have more than 30."

That does not look so good to prospective payrollers. But it is what the people of Illinois want. They want less easy jobs in the T. B. eradication department; they want less of rabbit shepherds and fish nurses; they want less men cluttering up the highways at public expense; they want many of the useless inspector jobs abolished. As things are now the state has inspectors; then there are inspectors to inspect other inspectors, etc. Judge Horner puts this proposition in a pat way when he says: "It seems that in the highway department the employes are so numerous that some must plant thistles alongside the roads so that others have the task of cutting them down."

The politician who expects the Horner administration—if the Judge is elected—to be a pork barrel for hungry office and job seekers, will be disappointed though there may be many deserving Democrats clamoring for jobs.

Judge Horner, if elected Governor, will keep in mind first of all the best interests of the people of the state—political jobs will be handed out on merit and ability to serve. There will be no easy jobs; there will not be any mere political reward jobs on the payroll.

The people of Illinois have faith in Judge Horner. His chances of election are growing brighter from day to day. They expect much of him. Based on his past record they have a right to expect much. His enemies have scanned his record very closely and found nothing to his discredit. In the closing weeks of the campaign they have stooped into the gutter of political infamy as they canvass from house to house with the query, "Haven't you about got enough of that Chicago Jew?"

We despise that sort of political propaganda. It is rotten—it touches the very depths of ignorant intolerance. It is not making votes for Len Small.

Radio Speeches Change No Votes

"Did you hear President Hoover's speech last night?" is a question often asked me. In reply I say: "I did not."

I know President Hoover's record in office the past four years. I know that the Republican party has been in power for nearly twelve years and times have been getting steadily worse.

Why should I use valuable time listening to any excuses President Hoover may have to make? The big headlines in the daily papers I read tell me that President Hoover is getting indignant. That is nothing in his favor. When a man sputters with indignation it is proof that he has no calm, deliberate facts in his favor that he can present.

I do not believe that Herbert Hoover is changing any votes with his speeches. The Republicans who are drifting back into the fold would have done so anyway—speech or no speech.

At this stage of the game political speeches do not change any votes—empty bellies and idleness do. In fact these physical discomforts have already telegraphed their misery to the head and the head will guide the pencil in the hands of the voters as they make a cross in the circle at the head of the Democratic ticket November 8th.

No sir, I have not heard Hoover, nor Curtis, nor Garner, nor Reed, nor Norris. I read digests of their important talks in the newspapers and magazines. Radio oratory has no appeal for a busy editor. The printed word is his stock in trade and upon the printed word he relies for his information. Most of these radio talks are nothing more than an irritation of the air. They are a part of the amusement features of a campaign. A really busy newspaper man has no time to listen.

The Incubus of Len

Republican leaders are fearful over the handicap President Hoover is under with Len Small running for governor in Illinois, and Frank L. Smith managing Len's campaign. Leading Republican newspapers in that state have come out for Len's Democratic opponent. The situation was bad before the primary, as far as the national ticket is concerned, and it is growing steadily worse. Illinois Republicans, except those tied up with the state machine, give notice they will place the welfare of the state and its reputation, before party victory. In a presidential campaign thousands will vote the entire opposition ticket to get rid of one objectionable candidate, rather than risk possible loss of their vote by scratching. That bodes ill for Mr. Hoover, who is innocent of any association with Small.

So much for party standards that accept such leadership. Len might have been beaten for the governorship nomination if national Republican leaders and leaders in the state had come out openly and told voters what they were in for with Len heading the ticket. The feeble opposition of Governor Emmerson, who knew the inevitable effect of such a situation, was worthless where a direct public appeal might have turned the primary vote the other way. It is inconceivable that Republican voters of Illinois, under a plea to save the reputation of their state, would not have responded and nominated someone else.

The party organization has brought this situation on itself. The episode of state funds loaned to Chicago meat packers through a bank that existed only on paper, and of Len Small's scandalous trial, have not been forgotten by the public. Neither has the utility financing of Frank L. Smith's senatorial campaign. The Republican party in Illinois ceases to justify its existence in such hands, and nobody recognizes that more readily than Illinois Republicans of the better type.—St. Louis Star.

Politics And Farm Problems

America had about 10,000,000 more horses and mules ten years ago than it has today. They have been replaced by tractors and trucks.

Now just imagine what would happen if you could turn those ten million mouths loose on the corn and oats and hay surplus!

Power machinery may make farming more convenient—it helps in growing greater crops, but it displaces the farmers best customer for his products. Through feeding to horses and mules the farmers turned part of their crops into power to cultivate the farm and into fertilizer to replenish the soil.

Tractors and trucks eat no grain. Oil producers buy no farm products in great quantity.

The farm problems are not entirely political. Even though the Democrats may win, that will not provide a market for the super-abundance of corn in this country. Horses and mules will not return to farms unless a revolution in farming methods should ensue and that does not seem likely.

Young America on the farm, as elsewhere, wants speed and quantity in production and fails to consider the question—what will we do with it after we have raised it?

Let us not become confused and reach the conclusion that a political change in administration will work miracles. If we do, we are going to be sadly disappointed. Some of our farm problems and other problems are economic and not political. It will take common sense and hard work and not votes to find a satisfactory solution.

Ten Years Ago

(October 20, 1922)

A marriage license was issued to Clifton Goodwin 32 and Grace M. Conwell 21.

The D. R. Roadman family left Wednesday for Florida to take up their residence.

A family reunion was held at the home of George Isaacs Sunday.

Wm. Sentel was injured in an accident at railroad crossing south of Sullivan.

Mrs. A. A. Corbin and son John were getting ready to leave for Florida to spend the winter.

Miss Margery Bupp entertained a number of high school friends at a wiener roast Monday evening.

Ray Martin of this place and Miss Dorothy Roberts of near Charleston were married Sunday.

Willard Linder died Friday.

Miss Edna Millizen formerly of this city and Norman Dawson of Chicago were married Sept. 29th, according to announcement in this week's Progress.

Miss Bernice Lawson entertained with a farewell party Wednesday night in honor of Marguerite Roadman.

Young man—remember this: A wink takes only one-sixth of a second and it may lead to a life time of trouble.

In Chicago this week betting odds went to 17 to 10 on Horner for Governor; they are offering 2 to 1 on Roosevelt for president. Reports say that there is no Hoover or Small money offered this year and the fellows who want to win some money on the Democratic candidates may have to boost their odds some more.

"It says here in the paper" remarked Hiram Hokem of Brushy Bend, "that fellows robbed a bank on Sunday."
"Well, it do beat all" said Miranda, his wife "and what's the world coming to, men robbin' banks on the Lord's day."

Pres's Column

Fred Sterling, Republican candidate for Lieutenant Governor, has been talking about Governor Roosevelt's physical condition, insinuating that he is not a strong man. Governor Roosevelt recently took out $500,000 worth of life insurance, being charged the regular rate for a man of his age. We wonder how much life insurance Fred Sterling, or Len Small for that matter, could get. Anyone who sees either of them knows the answer.

There never was such harmony among Democrats in Illinois. Bruce Campbell, who was defeated by Judge Horner in the primary, is working like a Trojan for the Judge and the rest of the ticket. He is the downstate campaign manager and is also making speeches all over the state. Mike Igoe, the other defeated candidate starts this week on a state wide speaking tour, pulling for Judge Horner and all the others. Scott W. Lucas, who was defeated by Judge Dieterich is head of the speakers bureau for the state, and is boosting his former opponent. And John Stelle, director of organization, working with Campbell and Lucas, has a compact Democratic organization in practically every precinct in Illinois, something that has never been done before.

Who Was He Talking About?
One of the workers in the Democratic organization overheard just this much of a conversation: "Well, if he had a right to take it, why did he pay back $650,000 to the state?" Wonder who they were talking about.

People everywhere are asking if Harry Wright ought to have acted as receiver for five banks while he was a member of the State Senate, at the same time aspiring to the office of State Auditor, who has supervision over banks?

Judge Horner, if general sentiment can be taken for any value, will sweep the state. Not only are all the Democrats for him, but thousands of Republicans all over the state are making public announcements that they will support him. Most of these are the substantial business men in their communities who know that the Judge will keep his pledge to reduce taxes, which are crushing everyone.

Why no Earlier?
If Mr. Hoover has so many schemes to bring back prosperity, as he claimed in his Des Moines speech, why did he wait until five weeks before election to spring them. It looks as though some of them might have been put into effect at some time within the last four years.

On the straw ballots being taken throughout the state it is noticeable that there is lots of scratching for John C. Martin, candidate for State Treasurer on the Democratic ticket. This is as it should be. Mr. Martin is one of the best known bankers in Southern Illinois and is qualified for the office.

Former Judge Claire C. Edwards of Lake County, a Republican who presided at the trial of Len Small for conspiracy to defraud the state of interest on state funds, has announced that he will support Judge Horner. "I do not regard Len Small as having the qualifications needed for Governor," Judge Edwards says in a statement.

They're Behind Dieterich
Both labor and agriculture are lined up behind William H. Dieterich, present congressman at large, who is a candidate for United States Senator. Judge Dieterich has always been on the right side of both these questions, and has not hesitated to vote in Congress, as contrasted with Otis Glenn, who failed to vote most of the time.

Martin A. Brennan, Democratic candidate for Congressman at Large, has some interesting figures on tax refunds received either individually or through their corporations by large contributors to the Republican campaign fund in 1928. For instance: The Rockefeller gave $50,000 to the campaign fund. They got back $8,545,000. Harvey Firestone gave $25,000 and got back $2,960,000. Charles Hayden gave $25,000 and got back $1,876,000. But George F. Baker, now deceased, did the best. He gave $20,000. His refund was $97,388,000. We've had enough of Mellonism and Hooverism.

The Farmer's Plight
The farmer's average yearly earnings are $730; average of all other workers is $1,415. The farm population is 22% of the total population. Its income is 7% of the national income. Farm taxes have risen from an average of $100 in 1914 to $266 in 1932.

Now that Calvin Coolidge is advocating Hoover's election, it might be well to remark that his own administration was not so wonderful, from the standpoint of the common good. He kept in office some of those mixed up in the Teapot Dome scandal, and it was under Coolidge's administration that the nefarious Mellon policies were put into effect. As Senator Hull of Tennessee said: "Hoover is reaping where Coolidge sowed."

Horner has forced Uncle Len Small off the front porch, and Roosevelt has forced Hoover to give up his fishing camp at Rapi-dan and take the stump, much against his will. Herbert will have to answer more questions on his trip than he ever did before in his life.

VISITOR GETS HEARTY DEMOCRATIC SURPRISE

Michael Dunn of Ohio Station, Illinois near Dixon was a visitor at the home of F. Doggett and family over the week end. Mr. Dunn came to this city from a Republican hotbed. He is a conscientious Democrat and likes to associate with Democratic brethren. He had been told that this part of Illinois was staunchly and irredeemably Republican. After he came here he took a walk. Wherever he looked he saw the valiant emblem of democracy—the lowly jackass. He rubbed his eyes. Was he seeing things? Then he began to notice the Horner for Governor stickers on nearly all windshields and Roosevelt pictures and banners. "Is this town trying to kid me?" thought Mr. Dunn. He hurried to the Doggett home. "What sort of town is this anyway?" he demanded. "I was told it was Republican and wherever I look I see tokens of Democracy flaunting themselves in my face." "You were misinformed" his host told him. "You have come to one of the banner Democratic cities of the universe. Are we Democratic? November 8th will show that this community is about 90 per cent that way."

And Mr. Dunn went out and walked around the square some more, enjoying the atmosphere and the political emblems. It seemed to him that the donkeys were laughing at him because of the mistake he had made.

CHINA AT FIRST HAND NOT SO VERY ALLURING

The Kiwanis club heard one of the most instructive lectures since its organization Friday when F. M. Ross told some things about China. Mr. Ross, a Standard Oil representative spent ten years in China and had a lot of first hand information not found in school text books. Peculiar Chinese customs were explained by the speaker. After his address several members asked for further information on matters in which they were interested.

A trio of ladies, constituting a musical organization, en route to the Masonic Home for a concert that evening, furnished a delightful entertainment.

The farmer looked the hired man over carefully. "And another thing Boob" said he, "don't walk behind the grey mare. She might kick you in the head and I don't want you to go to doctor."

Brandy Sauce

President Hoover says we Democrats are "pink"; well, we'd rather be "pink" than "punk" any day.

A Kentucky paper reports a social as follows: "The evening was spent in an infernal way, a radio program being the main diversion."—and how that hits the nail on the head.

IN SULLIVAN NO. 2
"Are you going to vote for Hoover?" we asked a young man recently as we made up our poll list. "No, I'm not" said he. "Will you vote for Roosevelt?" The man looked puzzled as he asked, "Did he really get nominated? If he did I'll vote for him." Orville Worsham says that could not have happened in his 3rd precinct as his voters are all highly educated and up to date.

Professor: "Statistics show that married men live longer than bachelors. Can any student suggest a reason why?"

Bright Student: "They really don't live longer, sir. It only seems that way."

"Where in hell have I seen you before?" an enthusiastic voter asked Judge Horner the other day. "I don't know" said the Judge. "What part of hell are you from?"

Draining Wyman Lake last week did not show up as many liars as we thought it would. There really were some big fish in it.

Political speaker: "And now my good people I wish to tax your memory."

Bob Hudson: "Good heavens! And has it come to that?"

Sullivan shopper: (suspiciously) Huh, I see you've placed all the big apples on top of the basket."

Clerk: "Yes ma'am. We do that to keep you women folks from pawing over all of them."

They tell this story about a Sullivan barber and Frank L. Smith. Mr. Smith, one of the best known Republican politicians was in Sullivan for a speech. He got a shave. Of course, none of the boys in the shop know him. While reclining in a barber's chair some one walked in and asked: "You boys going to the rally tonight?" "Well, I should say not," said the busy barber. "Do you think I'd go down there to hear a fellow like Frank Insull Smith talk?"

And it so happened that the fellow he was shaving was Mr. Smith in person.—No sir, he didn't tip the barber.

An old lady went into a store to buy her young nephew a football. The clerk asked her what kind of football she would like. She replied:

"Well, I don't know. The one I saw him playing with was tan, oval shaped, and laced up the side, but I don't believe he liked it very well, because he was just kicking it around."—Standoind.

Young Lady: (entering store) "I'd like to try on that beautiful dress in the window."

Lester: "We can't allow that. But you can try it on in the back room if you wish."

Guy Conklin has a good illustration of the present day conditions. Guy sells men's suits. The other day over in Macon county he took three orders, requiring three envelopes and three 3-cent stamps to send to his firm. "Where will you get enough money for postage?" a friend asked him. "Why that's easy" said Guy. "On my way to town, I'll pick a bushel of fine corn and as it is worth about 9c a bushel, I'll just trade it to the Postmaster for three 3-cent stamps."

Old Uncle Sam is a lucky guy. He can raise prices even if corn does sell for almost nothing. He increased his postal rate 50% and you've got to pay it, if you want to do business with him.

Lady of the House (to tramp): "I can let you have this old coat, but there are several buttons missing."

Hoover travelling man: "That's all right lady. I'm in no hurry. I'll just sit here and wait until you get them sewed on."

The other evening a "Speaker from California" took the hide off the Democrats and tacked it to the walls of the local G. O. P. headquarters. He sure showed them up for what they are—or what he thinks they are. With conditions as they are in California why should a spell-binder from that state be bothering us Illinois voters? If a California Republican can do any good at all, he'd better stay home and work in his own state to soften the blow the home folks are getting ready to administer to Herbert.

At the THEATRE

"Chandu the Magician" with Edmond Lowe playing the leading role is the Thursday and Friday night attraction this week.

Saturday — Buck Jones
Everybody likes Buck Jones. His stuff has plenty of zip and thrill to it. Saturday's show is "Hello Trouble" and Buck is ably assisted by Lina Basquette, Wallace McDonald and Ruth Warren. This is another one of the great outdoors Westerns. There are thundering hoofs, rangers, ranchers, desperadoes and romance. To a certain extent westerns are all alike, but they are the favorite form of amusement of many theatre goers. If you do not believe it, come and see a Saturday night crowd at The Grand. Manager Hays has several good short reels of comedy and Fables on Saturday's matinee and night programs.

The Grand Hotel
Perhaps the first time ever shown at an admission of only 25c—here Sunday, Monday and Tuesday—the picture sensation of the decade! Greta Garbo, John Barrymore, Joan Crawford, Wallace Beery, Lionel Barrymore, Lewis Stone and Jean Hersholt at their best. This is easily the top-notch film of today. Your friends may have seen in the bigger cities; perhaps you have read reviews of it in the daily papers. We're not going to tell you the story of this wonderful play. "Grand Hotel" was a sensational novel and stage success before being filmed. It has been an instantaneous success. Besides this big feature film, the Grand will show regular News and Cartoon features.

(Leo Horn and lady are invited to see a show at The Grand some time soon as guests of The Progress).

Some Lighter Diet
After three smashing nights of "Grand Hotel" it's time for something a little lighter—but also good, if the performers are any criterion. Ginger Rogers, Ben Lyon and Sally Eilers ably assisted by Monroe Owsley appear Wednesday night only in "Hat Check Girl." Checking hats in a night club may not be a very elevated type of occupation, but it's a job—and you'd be surprised how many interesting developments the author of "Hat Check Girl" has built around this theme.

Added pleasures are "Honey-moon Beads" and the Magic Carpet.

Another Big One
Have you read the "Washington Merry-Go-Round?" It's made a big hit as a story and now it is on the screen. Just at a time when everybody is taking some interest in the coming election, and the eyes of the nation are turned on Washington, along comes Manager Hays and announces this big feature to be shown here Thursday and Friday nights of next week. It comes here at popular prices, hot off the bat, and before it can be shown in many of the big cities. See what happens to the young southern congressman who comes to Washington as the result of crooked politics in his home state. See what he butts up against when he decides to be a self-sacrificing patriot, working only for the good of his country and defying the crooked political bosses who seek to dictate to him.

Also, there will be a comedy, a screen song and News.

JAMES RAY LAYING OUT FINE IN JAIL

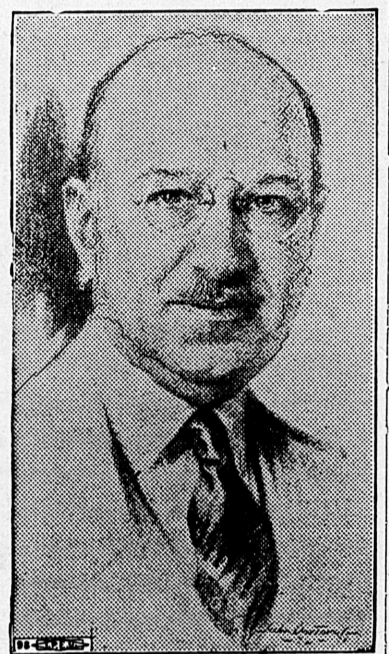

James Ray of Lovington necked his wife, that is to say, he nearly choked her, not as a manifestation of affection, but because he was angry with her. He also threatened to do her dire harm. As a consequence of such ungentlemanly actions, he was arrested Saturday and brought into the court of Judge Edwards of this city. The Judge fined him $25 and costs—total $42.00. Not having the wherewithal to meet the demands of justice, Mr. Ray was taken to the county bastille where he is boarding on the county and laying out his fine. It seems that Mr. Ray will be all the gainer and the county the loser, but such is the law and the law must be enforced.

—Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Filson and Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Kingrey motored to Taylorville Sunday where they visited Harry Filson and family.
—Ed Batman who has been ill for some months is slowly gaining strength. He is able to sit up some every day and is living in hope of being able to go to the polls to vote for Roosevelt on November 8th.

Polls Show Horner Wins All Illinois

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 19.—(Special)—Judge Henry Horner, Democratic candidate for governor, will be virtually as strong downstate as he is conceded to be in Cook county, making his election certain by a state-wide majority, analysis of the various straw polls in Illinois show. In formerly strong Republican districts Judge Horner is running far ahead of his Republican opponent.

Twenty counties, in key sections of the Northern, Northwestern, Central, Western and Southern parts of the state are covered by the polls. In nineteen of the counties, both Judge Horner and Governor Roosevelt have distinct majorities, generally given about 60 per cent of the votes cast.

Judge Henry Horner

Of great significance is the fact that these polls in the main are taken in counties which have been overwhelmingly Republican. For example, Boone, Carroll, DeKalb, Joe Daviess, Lee, McHenry, Ogle, Stephenson, Whiteside and Winnebago counties gave Hoover a combined plurality of more than 70,000 votes in the 1928 election. These counties, in the northern part of the state, obviously have been strongly Republican territory, yet both Judge Horner and Roosevelt are receiving 60 per cent of the votes in a poll being taken by the Rockford daily papers.

A poll taken in Sangamon county, which gave Hoover a plurality of almost 11,000 in 1928 now indicates that Roosevelt will receive a much greater plurality, while Judge Horner held a 5 to 4 lead in this usually strong Republican section.

Judge Horner likewise leads in a poll taken in Macon County, while Roosevelt was given a lead of better than two to one. Piatt county, which likewise went to Hoover in 1928, gives both Roosevelt and Horner comfortable margins in a poll taken at Monticello.

Equally significant to the dopesters is the situation in Rock Island, Henry and Mercer counties as revealed by a poll taken jointly by the Rock Island Argus and the Moline Dispatch. In 1928, these counties gave Hoover a combined plurality of more than 25,000, but the newspaper poll shows: 2,270 for Roosevelt against 1,546 for Hoover and 2,304 for Horner against 1,560 for Small. These counties are in Western Illinois, always heretofore counted on by the G. O. P.

The same story is revealed in a poll taken in Vermillion County, which includes Danville. This county gave Hoover a plurality of 8,888 in 1928, but Roosevelt was given a 3-to-1 lead in the poll, 4,200 persons having voted. Judge Horner received 60 per cent of the votes. The city of Danville is shown to be particularly pro-Roosevelt and pro-Horner.

In most of the places polled Congressman William H. Dieterich Democratic candidate for United States Senator, leads Senator Otis F. Glenn, Republican, by the same per centages as Judge Horner and Governor Roosevelt. In several, Congressman Dieterich has even bigger leads.

COL. WILSON HERE

Col. Charles B. Wilson, former editor and owner of the Tuscola Review was a visitor in The Progress office Friday. Mr. Wilson had come to this city to see the Tuscola-Sullivan football game. He is a pioneer publisher and during his active management of the Review it was conceded to be one of the very best papers of this part of the country. The present management is living up to the Wilson ideals.

—Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Sampson, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sampson and daughter Lyanne and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sampson and son Richard of Mattoon spent Thursday evening with the Misses Helen and Lorene Sampson of this city.

CHURCH SERVICES IN JAIL SUNDAY

The four inmates of the county jail observed Sunday with appropriate religious services. Icel Reedy of Findlay, arrested on a charge of burning a house 8 years ago, is a preacher. He says that since he "got" religion he has reformed and cut loose from his evil associates. He led Sunday's services and the other men in jail joined in.

Reedy contends that he is a victim of his former associates. They fear him, so he says. Before he became religious he occasionally did the dirty work for some prominent people in Findlay. After getting religion a man came to him with an offer of $200 for burning a building. He refused. Another man did the job and later bragged about it.

This other man is under indictment in Shelby county. His trial may involve some fellows higher up. Since Reedy has "gone straight" his former employers in illegal transactions have been afraid of any testimony he might give.

As a consequence, so Reedy charges, they have dug up the old 8-year old charge and had him indicted in order to discredit any testimony he might be called upon to give. Mr. Reedy feels that his getting religious and trying to lead a right life and support his wife and family honestly, has gotten him into his present troubles.

MISSED FIRST DAY AT OFFICE IN 47 YEARS

Thursday of last week Dr. Stonewall J. Johnson was not at his office, neither did he spend the afternoon at the country club. He was ill and remained home.

Now it is nothing out of the ordinary for a doctor to get ill occasionally and stay home for recuperation and repairs. But it was something out of the ordinary for Dr. Johnson to do that. He says that it was the first time in 47 years that sickness kept him away from his office. He has been away on vacations and trips out of town for days at a time, but never until last Thursday did the word go out that "Doc Johnson is home sick."

At that, the Doctor takes pride in the fact that in just twenty-four hours he rallied, recovered and convalesced and Friday morning was back on the job. Sunday afternoon he played his usual game of golf. In this matter of golf the doctor is developing a "Believe it or Not" complex. He's shooting them right-handed or left-handed these days. Even Bobby Jones can't do that.

Dalton City

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Cowger of this city was a Decatur caller on Friday.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Earl Shadows a boy Tuesday, Oct. 11. The P. T. A. of the Dalton City school was held Monday, Oct. 17.

The ladies aid of the U. B. church will hold a jitney supper in the basement Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Stolle and son and Lois and Lorene Cowger spent Sunday near Mt. Zion.

Mrs. Earl Woolums of this city was in Decatur Saturday.

Henry Ruff will open up a restaurant.

Miss Diamond Stocks was a caller in Decatur Saturday.

Miss Lorene Bradford of Decatur spent the week end with Mrs. Lovell.

Rev. and Mrs. Maneval were Decatur callers Friday.

Mrs. Lovell of this place is visiting in Mattoon.

—Honeymoon Special—Mr. and Mrs. Truman White are invited to see a show at the Grand theatre soon as guests of The Progress.

Sullivan Country Club Will Have Trophy Banquet

Thursday of last week the Country club had a tournament at which various prizes were offered, one of which was a pair of men's shoes, given by Supt. Kohlhauff of the Brown Shoe factory.

Following the tournament a banquet was served in the club house, with chef Joe Waggoner in charge. A number of guests were present among them being Wm. Kohlhauff, Luther Lang, A. Knoblauch and Walter Wehmeyer of the shoe factory.

As an entertainment feature Eugene Catteau of Lovington gave a number of selections on his piano accordion, which elicited great applause. He was accompanied by his father Emanuel Catteau.

A. E. McCorvie presided over the business session of the club at which it was voted to have an annual trophy banquet. The women members of the club are to be consulted as to the date and place for holding this banquet. Trophies won by various contestants in the tournaments this summer will be awarded at that time.

Mr. McCorvie named the following committees: Banquet and tickets—Dr. Lawson, Dr. Butler and O. F. Cochran; Program and arrangements—C. R. Patterson, R. B. Foster and Lute Hudson.

We Need a Change

Vote ⊗ DEMOCRATIC

ILLINOIS needs a "new deal." The coming four years will be the toughest in the state's history. Unemployment, financial depression and other ills make it imperative for us to "man" our government with clear-headed and practical men, equipped to meet a crisis and trained to stand up under a grueling strain.

Such men comprise the Democratic ticket. Only by electing this entire ticket can Illinois effect the necessary change. Speaking frankly and unequivocally on every issue, as its candidates have done, the Democratic party in Illinois and the Nation can and will adopt certain and definite measures toward helping its citizens in every walk of life.

For example: Illinois Democracy is squarely against reapportionment under the present constitution. It suggests a plan whereby Downstate will have perpetual control of one house of the General Assembly, and Chicago representation in the other House proportionate to its population. The Republican candidate for Governor, while holding that office, sought to have the State reapportioned under the present constitution, which would give Cook County control of both houses.

Under a Democratic administration expenses of government will be reduced and taxes will be slashed—a godly part of the tax burden must be shifted from the land. In addition to reducing the farmer's tax burden, the Democratic candidates promise to further voluntary co-operative movements, good roads, and nation-wide farm relief.

With the repeal of the eighteenth amendment, all will benefit. Needed revenue will be produced; lower taxes will result; new markets will be opened for the farmer's grain; employment for thousands of men will be created. The Democratic party believes in real temperance and State's Rights, but is positively against the return of the old saloon.

You must choose Roosevelt or Hoover and Mellon. And you must choose between Horner and Small, who is backed by Big Bill Thompson, Frank L. Smith and William Lorimer, whose political records are known to every citizen.

VOTE (X) DEMOCRATIC.

If you are for Franklin D. Roosevelt for President it will be to your advantage to vote the straight Democratic ticket. He needs a complete Democratic administration in Illinois to carry out his policies; a Democratic Senator from Illinois and Democratic Congressmen. Without the co-operation that they alone can give, he is handicapped from the start.

A VOTE FOR THE ENTIRE DEMOCRATIC TICKET IN NOVEMBER IS A VOTE FOR A NEW DEAL FOR ILLINOIS

4-H CLUB NEWS

WORKING FOR HEALTH
 Four-H club members all over the country are working to improve their health, and working hard at it. Sounds funny, doesn't it. Funny that boys and girls living in the country, with plenty of food and literally soaked up with fresh air and sunshine should have to strive to be healthy. But they do, and there are many good reasons. Mainly they are defects a child inherits from ancestors. Also that health habits, with respect to the care of human bodies, have been greatly neglected.

When the 26 county health champions in Virginia were gathered together for the state contest this fall they looked the picture of health. And they were a wonderful lot—Strength and poise and cheerfulness simply radiated from the group. Yet the examiners found defect. They did not rate high on eyes. There was only one good pair of feet. It was mainly due to wearing improper shoes. The girls wore too high heels and the boys shoes were short.

Only one had good posture. This was a girl. In other words, she sat well, stood well and walked well. She had exercised for two years to remove objectionable curves in her spine. With her improved posture had come greater confidence in herself. That was worth all it cost, she said, to say nothing of what it would mean in better health the rest of her life.

Teeth were pretty good, and all members showed the value of care and eating the right kind of foods. Every one got 8 to 10 hours of sleep at nights, although they liked good times as well as anyone. Ten o'clock was the time most "hit the hay." Every one gained from 2 to 13 pounds in the year. Not one was too fat.

What did they eat? Listen to this! Plenty of bread and potatoes, cereals, plenty of milk and water, but only a few used tea or coffee.

EDITORS TO MEET IN URBANA NOVEMBER 10-12

Urbana-Champaign, Oct. 18—Several hundred Illinois newspaper publishers and editors will meet on the University of Illinois campus, Nov. 10-12, to attend the Sixty-seventh annual meeting of the Illinois Press Association.

Here the editors will hear discussions of problems confronting newspaper publishers everywhere; here they will receive renewed vigor; here they will have an opportunity of visiting the State's highest educational institution.

During the same week-end thousands of Dads of Illini students will also be here, the guests of their children. Part of the program is to be the Indiana-Illinois game Saturday afternoon.

On the Press meeting program are such speakers as K. F. Baldrige, director of the National Editorial Association; Prof. C. M. Kneier of the University's political science department; Irving Dilgard of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch; Arthur H. Brayton, editor of the Dry Goods Trade Journal; Frank L. Swigert of N. W. Ayer & Son, Philadelphia; C. A. Baumgart, editor, Newspaper Advertising Service, G. V. Lowrie, McCann Erickson, Inc., Chicago; John L. Meyer, Secretary Inland Press Association; and President Harry Woodburn Chase of the University.

Also on the program are many talks and discussions which will be given by Illinois editors, themselves. "Swapping" ideas is one of the high-lights of the meetings.

The opening session of the Press meeting is scheduled for Thursday afternoon, but early arrivals will hold a golf tournament in the morning on the Urbana Country Club course.

Sessions Thursday afternoon, Friday morning and afternoon will be given over to speakers and discussions of newspaper problems. A Past President's Dinner will be held Thursday evening and the annual banquet of the association will be held Friday evening. Saturday morning the association will end its meeting with a business session.

CLOVER SEEDED ON UNTESTED LAND IS ONE TO SEVEN RISK

Urbana, Ill., Oct. 19—Farmers are taking a one to seven chance when they seed clover without testing the land for acidity and phosphorus, and in times like this cash is too scarce to be gambled away like this, says C. M. Linsley, soils extension specialist of the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois. Some farmers have thrown away as much as $150 in the past three years on clover seed that didn't have a chance on acid or low-phosphorus land, he reported.

"Even this year farmer after farmer seeded clover on land that will not grow clover except in the most favorable season when the rains come just at the right time. These favorable seasons are few and far between. On much of the acid and low-phosphorus land good clover years can not often be more than one in eight. The chances are one to seven that the farmer will get a stand of clover. It is the height of optimism to continue sowing clover seed in the face of these odds.

"A common practice throughout the central and northern part of the state is illustrated in the case of one central Illinois farmer. This past spring he seeded 40 acres of wheat to red clover. This was the third year the land had been in wheat and the third attempt of the farmer to get a catch of clover. All three clover seedings, costing about $150, were doomed to failure even before seeding, because of acidity and a lack of phosphorus in the land.

"Some farmers may say that the failures were caused by unfavorable weather conditions and not by the condition of the soil. This couldn't be true, because there were 10 acres of excellent clover on this farm which had gone through the same unfavorable weather conditions. A test of the soil where the good clover crop was growing would have shown that soil contained more lime and available phosphorus.

"Unless the farmer has money to throw away, he should test and map his soil for acidity and available phosphorus to find out where the soil is adapted to grow clover and then seed the crop only where it has a chance to succeed. Soil testing is sponsored by the extension service of the agricultural college and is carried on throughout the state by country farm advisers."

GREEN FEED FOR LAYING HENS

Feeding the laying hens green feed tends to keep them in good health and to promote egg production, says the United States Department of Agriculture. Green feeds are one of the best sources of vitamins for poultry. Mangels and turnips provide some succulence, but very little green feed. When cabbages are available at reasonable cost some may be fed, but good quality alfalfa also should be supplied. Alfalfa is valuable, not so much because of its protein content, as formerly believed, but because alfalfa leaves are rich in minerals and vitamins, which are lacking in the mash ration. Alfalfa leaf meal is a good substitute for fresh green feed and is much better than germinated oats.

The American Legion Auxiliary held a card party in the club room on the east side of the square Friday night. In a contest between the republicans and the Democrats the republicans were victorious.

Young Democrats Organize To Aid In The Campaign

A young people's branch of the Moultrie county Jeffersonian club was organized at Democratic headquarters here Friday night of last week. All parts of the county were represented. J. L. McLaughlin, president of the Jeffersonian club made an address.

Ivan Wood, R. W. Martin and L. W. McMullin, county candidates, were present and were introduced to the audience.

It was decided to have a meeting Saturday night of this week at headquarters at which time Judge Charles Evans Bliss of Hillsboro will be the speaker. A special invitation is extended to the young voters to attend this meeting.

Arrangements are being made for a dance to be given in Fraeland Grove auditorium October 26th.

The young people's movement within the Democratic party is sponsored by state headquarters and one office at headquarters is devoted entirely to this work. The Republicans have similar organization work within their ranks. The object is to interest young people in politics and invite their enthusiastic support for the candidates of their party.

The work of the new organization will be under auspices of the Jeffersonian club, which in turn is co-operating with the Moultrie county Democratic Central committee of which H. M. Rigney of Arthur is the chairman.

The officers elected at Friday night's meeting are:

President—L. L. Roughton.
 Vice Presidents:—
 Glen Fabert, Lowe township.
