John Donaker Died Friday; Buried Sat.

Prominent Farmer and Republican Committeeman Succumbed to Illness Which Laid Him Low Some Weeks Ago.

John Henry Donaker, one of the best known farmers in the Kirksville community died at his home Friday.

He had suffered a paralytic stroke some weeks ago. He rallied for a time but then went into a decline terminated by death.

He was born in this county, October 2, 1885 and lived his entire lifetime near Kirksville.

In 1909 he was united in marriage with Essie Marie Howe. This union was blessed with seven children six of whom survive their father. Mrs. Donaker also survives him. The children are Rex in Springfield, Henry, Robert, Richard, Mary Lou and Doris at home. One daughter died in infancy.

FIFTEEN MEN AT BOTTOM OF LAKE

Fifteen men with shovels were laboring in the bottom of Wyman Lake Thursday, scooping out dirt and piling it into five dump wagons. The water was recently drained out of the lake and the bottom is being given a thorough cleaning. When the job is done, the bathing beaches gravelled and the diving tower and piers rebuilt, the lake filled with fresh water and restocked with game fish, Sullivan will have more cause than ever to be proud of this famous amusement resort. The cleaning of the lake is a community project. Money is being raised by donations.

SPEAKING OF SPORTS

By Jim Scott Bill Davenport the Arthur youth who captured Sullivan's annual golf tourney a few weeks ago covered the Arthur-Sullivan homecoming game for his local paper. Bill graduated from high school at the early age of 17.

Despite his frail physique, Harold Bouck the Arthur Quarterback is quite an athlete. In basketball Harold is a hot-shot forward and as a trackman he runs the dashes but specializes at Broadjumping. A broken collar bone kept him out of basketball most of last season. That the boy can take it was shown by his dogged efforts throughout the game. He exhibits versatility, handling practically all the punting, passing, punt returning or what have you. Although often smeared by the fast charging Sullivan line he nevertheless continued to battle like a Trojan and it was with utmost difficulty that the locals thwarted his touchdown threats.

Sullivan borrowed Illinois' shift and then went them one better by executing their plays in a manner wholly unlike the Illini's feeble offensive antics. The shift which is fashioned after a Notre Dame formation has 5 men on the line of scrimmage and directly behind

Dennis Reds Romp All Over Arthur Friday

Home-Coming Game Results in 51-0 Victory for Sullivan. Monticello Here Saturday in Crucial Conference Tilt.

A warlike band of Sullivan Redskins massacred the neighboring Arthur Eleven 51 to 0 as a special treat to a galaxy of old grads who had returned for homecoming ceremonies. It was the third consecutive conference victory for Coach Dennis' undefeated Okaw champions and the second time within a fortnight that the Reds have rung up a 50 point total.

It was a vociferous, partisan crowd that stormed Victory Field—a typical Homecoming through boasting its share of drunks and over zealous supporters of the respective teams. The eastern sideline in particular proved a sore spot consisting of rival fans who on becoming irritated, smoked at the collar, fussed a few phrases, then following through with ineffective pugilistic passes in the general direction of their opposing devotee.

The imposing Red victory margin smacks of a complete rout however, it was far from that—Arthur fought stubbornly and proved a much tougher foe than the score indicates. It seemed as though their prime motive was the stopping of adroit Bill Dwyer and in that quest they met with some success, and mind you to eclipse Mr. Dwyer a tiny bit is some feat. Bouck in particular was a thorn in Bill's flanks. Several times did he stop the Big Boy when he appeared headed for a certain touchdown.

Elmer Dunscomb, Captain Pete McDavid and Hugh Grote were exceptionally efficient Red workmen. Aside from his duties as field general in whose capacity he was instrumental in capitalizing on the breaks converting a minimum of effort into a maximum of counters. Dunk also contributed an assortment of long runs which originated from punt returns and intercepted passes. McDavid opened the scoring with a 70 yard touchdown romp and was Sullivan's most consistent ground gainer throughout the fray. Grote played his customary stellar defensive Special Notice To The Voters Of Moultrie Co.

INCOME TAX HELD UNCONSTITUTIONAL

The Illinois Income tax which was so strongly urged by the agricultural interest of the state, that it was passed by the Legislature last year, has been held unconstitutional by the Illinois Supreme Court.

The court based its opinion on the theory that income is property and under Illinois laws, tax on property must be uniform and no special tax can be levied on any certain type of property.

Tues., Nov. 1 Last Day To Register

If You Are in Doubt as to Whether Your Name Has Been Placed on Registration Lists, Report to Headquarters.

Tuesday is final registration day. If not registered on election day, you will have to be sworn in before voting. Workers are endeavoring to see that all voters entitled to register are on the registration lists.

There are many new voters in Sullivan. For their benefit we give herewith the voting district divisions. This does not define the boundaries in the country parts of these voting districts but only that part within the city.

If you live East of Main street (the street running north and south on West side of Square) you are in Precinct No. 1. The Democratic committeeman in that district is Clarence Miller.

The Republican committeeman is Col. W. B. Hopper. The registration and polling place is in the Dedman Harness shop on East side of the square.

District No. 2

If you live north of Harrison street (the street running from the depots, east through the central part of the city) and West of Main street you are in District No. 2. The registration and polling place is in Doner's garage. Ed C. Brandenburger, editor of The Progress is the Democratic committeeman and Col. E. A. McKenzie is the Republican chieftain.

District No. 3

If you live south of Harrison street and west of Main street you are in voting district No. 3. The registration and polling place is in the Armory. The Democratic committeeman is O. C. Worsham and the Republican committeeman is Roy Fitzgerald.

The Democrats (and we presume the Republicans also) request that the new voters, either moved in, or those who have attained a voting age, if they are not certain as to whether or not they are registered, report to headquarters and the matter will be referred to the proper parties for their attention.

You can vote, if you are entitled to do so, if you are not registered, but it is far better to be registered, as there will be no inconvenience or delay on election day.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

By Elmina Scheer

Well, Homecoming was a big day, but it was over too quickly and now we must settle down to regular work. The Pep meeting Friday morning was enjoyed by all who managed to be present but many were obliged to spend the morning finishing the decorations on floats or putting up red and white and black and white streamers on the football field.

Carl Hill and Don Butler each gave a short pep talk and the cheer leaders led the group through their repertoire of yells. The parade was well organized and quite worth seeing. The Senior Class was awarded the prize for the best float.

Our gridiron heroes defeated Arthur 51-0 which added another victory to their march for the Okaw Valley Championship.

After a highly successful banquet in the gymnasium the all school play "Merely Mary Ann" was presented. The cast handled the rather difficult play exceptionally well in spite of the annoyance caused by the lights going off and forcing them to finish the last few minutes of the play in darkness.

Patty Dennis Killed Tues. In Accident

Heavy Cabinet Fell on Coach and Mrs. Dennis' Little Daughter While Playing in High School Corridors; Funeral Thursday.

This entire community was shocked with grief and pain Tuesday night when the report spread that little Patty Dennis had met sudden death.

As was their custom, she and her mother went to the Township High School that night to ride home with the husband and father, Clarke E. Dennis, at the close of his day's work. Patty played in the corridors of the basement as she had done many other times.

A large switch-board cabinet in one of the corridors attracted her attention. This cabinet had been taken out of one of the rooms last spring and placed in the corridor until such time as it would be convenient to move it out of the building. There was never an intimation that it constituted a source of danger. It was leaning against the wall, with the lower part about 18 inches out from the wall. It has a weight of near 400 pounds.

Just before the accident, John-son Kelly, janitor, saw Patty play-

CHICAGO POLITICIANS BETTING ON HORNER

One of the questions of the day politically is this: "Who will have the bigger vote in Illinois, Judge Horner for governor, or Franklin D. Roosevelt for president?"

Many agree that Gov. Roosevelt will run ahead of Judge Horner downstate, but that Chicago will give Horner a big lead.

On Thursday of this week Chicago gamblers were offering bets at 2 to 1 that Judge Horner would be elected governor. The Horner vote in Chicago is expected to be of avalanche proportions.

He that hath pity upon the poor lendeth unto the Lord; and that which he hath given will he pay him again. —Proverbs

A little more kindness and a little less creed;
A little more giving and a little less greed;
A little more smile and a little less frown;
A little less kicking a man when he's down;
A little more "we" and a little less "I";
A little more laughs and a little less cry;
A little more flowers on the pathway of life;
And fewer on graves at the end of the strife. —Anon.

They talk about a woman's sphere,
As though it had a limit;
There's not a place in earth or heaven,
There's not a task to mankind given;
There's not a blessing or a woe,
There's not a whispered yes or no;
There's not a life, there's not a birth,
That has a feather's weight of worth—
Without a woman in it! —Selected.

Thomas Benton Shoaff

A leader has fallen. He has departed from the ranks of men, and his soul has been called to its reward for a life well spent.

Thomas Benton Shoaff of Shelbyville in his 86th year met with an accident Thursday night that caused his death a few minutes later.

He was the editor of the Shelby County Leader, truly a leader in the field of journalism. He had devoted his life to the enlightenment of his fellow men.

Able and fearless, he was always found fighting on the fore front of the line of battle which sought to dispel darkness and ignorance. His battle cry was a clarion call of hope and encouragement to those seeking for better things, for more full and complete life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

His was a lovable personality. Jovial and friendly, he enjoyed the acquaintance of all the worth-while men who have lived and labored in Illinois during the past half century or more. Among his newspaper friends he was "Uncle Tom" and his cheery words of counsel backed by experience and an unusually well developed quality of common sense always received the close attention of his hearers.

Politically Mr. Shoaff was a Democrat. His nature was such that he could not very well have been otherwise. He was the champion of Jeffersonian principles and based his faith and hope for a better America always in the common people. His profound belief throughout a lifetime of usefulness was that the rights of man always transcend the rights of property or accumulated wealth. He cast his first vote for president for Horace Greeley and with that action took up the banner of Democracy and nailed it firmly to the mast of those newspapers with which he was associated and which he directed.

Nearly four score and six years did his Creator give him and he used them wonderfully well. There was only one Thomas Benton Shoaff. Naturally he will be missed. Active to the last in his editorial duties, loving nothing better than to sit at his "case" and set in type the ideas which his brain had evolved, when his time came he was ready. No sickness, no suffering, no agony of parting from his loved ones—who knows, but that if he had been given his choice, he would have thanked his God for calling him thus when life was still so sweet and so filled with many interesting things.

We have lost a friend. But his memory and his kindly ways we will cherish forever.

The Theft of Four Billions.

Under the administration of President Herbert Hoover and his predecessor in office, Calvin Coolidge, a total of approximately $4,000,000,000 in tax money already paid to the government was handed back to those who had paid it.

The man in charge of making these tax refunds was Andrew Mellon, then secretary of the treasury. Practically all of these tax refunds were to the multi-millionaires and the bloated corporations.

These taxes were paid into the United States treasury after the best legal talent available had decided that such amounts were due and payable.

When, however, the kindly and affectionate attitude of the Republican administration toward the immensely rich, prompted Mr. Mellon to start paying this money back on flimsy and unwarranted pretense, all of the war profiteers fell in line and found reasons why the government should return their money.

When the history of 1920-32 is written by a candid and fearless historian he will brand this financial piracy as the most dastardly betrayal ever perpetrated on what we presume to be an intelligent people. It has come close to bankrupting the nation.

At the close of the fiscal year in June this nation was approximately $4,000,000,000 in the hole. Much new legislation was needed to balance the budget. Every man, woman and child is being taxed through increased postage and in other ways to again raise this $4,000,000,000 which Andrew Mellon so graciously and freely re-distributed among his friends.

But there is another angle to this situation. The recipients of these liberal tax refunds were not ungrateful. Facts and figures show that 24 men who contributed $477,000 to the Republican national campaign chest in 1928 received tax refunds amounting to $114,655,279.

For example, Harvey Firestone paid $25,000 to Hoover's campaign fund and received a $2,960,000 tax refund. The Rockefellers, John Sr., and John Jr., gave the campaign chest $25,000 and received a tax refund of $8,545,209. To George F. Baker a Wall Street banker, Andrew Mellon returned about $100,000,000 in taxes and Mr. Baker gave $20,000 to help elect Herbert Hoover president. The Aluminum Co. of America owned by Andrew Mellon and his brothers received back from brother Andy's U. S. treasury $1,287,426.64.

Here is one that will interest you farmers who have Prudential loans. Andrew Mellon refunded to the Prudential Insurance Company $1,471,143.54. Did he give any of your tax money back so that you could meet interest payments on your loans and taxes on your farms?

Is it any wonder that with Andrew Mellon's hand in the money coffers of the United States, handing out these gift refunds to all his wealthy friends and associates, that this nation has been drifting toward the brink of ruin?

And kindly remember that all of this burglary (for what else can you call it?) took place while Herbert Hoover and Calvin Coolidge were presidents.

What do you think—is it or is it not time to make a change? A vote for Herbert Hoover is a vote of approval of what has been done. Do you approve it?

Sterling--Reason For A Change.

Lieutenant Governor Fred Sterling of Rockford is seeking re-election. He has lately taken up the cause of President Hoover and heads the "fear brigade" which is urging re-election of the President on the theory of "Hell or Hoover". A local wit has remarked "Why we've got both now."

This man Sterling is one of the outstanding reasons why Illinois needs a complete change of administration at Springfield.

He has been on the payroll as an official for many years. He succeeded Len Small in the state treasurer's office and then kept Len on the payroll at $6,000 a year as a "securities expert." Fred and Len were playing the game hand in hand to fleece the state of its earned interest on state funds.

Here is a fact not generally known: Since 1921 Fred Sterling has been under indictment in Sangamon county on charges growing out of mishandling of state funds. He was indicted at the same time Len Small was. After the fiasco of the Small trial at Waukegan, no move was made to bring Sterling to trial. But the indictment still stands. It never has been dismissed. Republican prosecuting officials in Sangamon county and in the office of the Attorney General have never brought Sterling to trial, but they have not dared to dismiss the charges against him.

In the meantime this doddering old spoils-politician has been elected and re-elected to the office of Lieutenant Governor.

And at this time he has the nerve to attack Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt and to tell the people of Illinois that "Hell" will ensue if Roosevelt is elected to the presidency.

True, there will be "Hell" but it will be for Sterling and Len Small, Big Bill Thompson, Frank Insull Smith, Bill Lorimer, Oscar DePriest and all of the rest of these leeches who have bled the state white and seek to again fasten their clutches on the State House at Springfield.

If you have any love or respect for your state government, think seriously before you vote to turn it over to these free-booters. The record is so plain that every thinking man and woman can understand it.

It is time for a change. Opportunity offers such a change.

Betrayed Farmers Facing Ruin.

In order to prevent additional expenses and "deficiency decrees" in foreclosure suits farmers are giving loan companies warranty deeds to their farms. This means that the farmers have no equity in such farms. The loan is often more than the farm is worth.

Neighbors and friends right here in Moultrie county are losing their farms. Taxes may be high but that is only a relative condition. It is not so much the high taxes, as it is the low price of farm products that is ruining the farmers.

When Herbert Hoover wanted the farmers of the country to join in making him President of the United States, he declared that the first problem to be solved by his administration was that of Agriculture. He pledged himself to a program of farm relief. The farmers believed him and voted for him.

We firmly believe that the inception of the present world-wide depression started that instant when Calvin Coolidge, as president of the United States, vetoed the farm relief bill that Congress had passed and placed on his desk for his signature. This bill embodied the best thought of Agricultural leaders. It may not have been perfect, but it was a beginning for a better day for Agriculture.

Herbert Hoover as president, followed in the footsteps of his New England successor. He denied the farmers the relief they wanted and in turn gave them the silly and futile Federal Farm Board. He encouraged government in business and his Farm Board members and other organizations, financed in part or wholly by taxpayers money, fostered the idea that all retailers dealing with the farmers were dishonest and that only through co-operative buying and selling could the farmers' salvation be achieved. The course of such folly is apparent. It is impractical and un-American.

Blundering along through nearly four years, the Hoover Agricultural policy, the Smoot-Hawley tariff and other imbecilities of the administration have resulted in ruin for Agriculture. The National Grange has compiled figures showing that since 1926 title to 682,850 farms has been transferred as a result of foreclosure. Many more face that fate. Grain prices are the lowest in many, many years. Farmers are taxed directly and indirectly to make up the deficit in the government's operating expense, caused by Andrew Mellon's $4,000,000,000 tax refund gift to the capitalists of the nation.

Are the farmers in a frame of mind to continue an administration in power that has forfeited all claims to truthfulness; that has betrayed them time and again and now with honeyed phrases and hypocritical promises asks for their votes on a promise of better behavior if retained in power?

Pres's Column

Mrs. John Ferguson of New York, who has been going about the country speaking for Herbert Hoover, made a speech in St. Louis recently. Among other things she said, as quoted by the St. Louis Globe-Democrat: "I am convinced that few people are going hungry anywhere. There has been less sickness in the United States in the last seven years than in any former period, according to the doctors. PEOPLE DO NOT HAVE SO MUCH TO EAT AND THEIR HEALTH IS BETTER."

We wonder how the school children who have only cold mush in their lunch pails, because their fathers are out of work, will feel about such statements. The lady's attempt to make people believe that Hoover prosperity is good for them will not stem the protest against the Republican administration.

The Democratic State candidates have all finished their tours downstate, but the people are still getting good speakers. This week Bruce Campbell and Scott Lucas, downstate favorite sons, are making two or three speeches a day, whooping it up for the ticket.

Len Small won't take up the hard roads under his arm and pack them away, because he did not give them to the people. As a matter of fact, few of them are paid for, and the state will take a long time to pay off the bonds for the roads which Small says he gave away.

Two Court Records
Judge Henry Horner has a good court record. For seventeen years he has presided over the largest probate court in the world, administering it with honesty, justice, and efficiency. Len Small also has a court record, somewhat different in character, as a reading of the Illinois Supreme Court reports will show. In volume 319 of these records Small is referred to as a "conspirator," as a "spoiler of public records." The court advises that there was "intentional wrongdoing"; that he was "required by the settled law of this state to turn such interest into the public treasury."

In a straw vote taken recently in Jackson County, Otis Glenn's home county, Congressman William H. Dieterich, his opponent for the Senatorship, led by a vote of more than 2 to 1. Apparently Mr. Hoover's "yes man" isn't even popular in his own stamping ground.

If there is anything in the world that Illinois needs, it needs good and efficient State government, economically administered. This is just the kind of government that WON'T get if Len Small and his allies are elected.

About Bond Issues
The only bond issue in recent years which will decrease general taxes instead of raising them, is the bond issue on the ballot this election. If passed it will require all counties which used state funds for unemployment relief to pay them back. If it does not pass, the state as a whole must pay for the relief of a few counties. The Democratic party is solidly behind the bond issue. Judge Henry Horner is urging its passage. So is Mayor Cermak of Chicago, although most of the load will fall on his own city. He feels that it is simply a matter of justice and honor.

Edward J. Hughes, candidate for secretary of state, is one of the most qualified men to run for that office. With long business experience and service in the State Senate, he is perfectly familiar with the office and will administer it well.

A great deal of the most active support the Democrats are getting this year is from Republicans, both in the State and the Nation. United States Senators Norris of Nebraska, LaFollette of Wisconsin and Johnson of California have bolted their party. In Illinois thousands of prominent Republi-

He's working hard for Adkins in the hope that the Congressman will come across; the other fellows are also working for Adkins because they hope he won't. That's playing politics!

TRY A PLANK FENCE WEDDING ANNOUNCEMENT
A merchant once upon a time (Just to make this ditty rhyme) Started business in his prime And saved up every lonesome dime

The printer asked him for an ad But no, his business was too bad, And there was nothing to be had— (Printer sad; saving tradesman glad.)

And the merchant thought perchance He'd keep his money in his pants By advertising on a fence At no cost at all forever hence.

And so it thus did come about; A painter was at once rushed out To make it plain beyond a doubt The printer had been routed out.

Time passed on; they went ahead; The merchant's daughter wed— About nothing much was read; 'Twas a secret, so they said.

More time passed by lap and lop, And saw the merchant one day stop Upon the threshold of the shop And with a kerchief, brow did mop.

"I wish that you would publish soon That on a day away last June Under spell of witching moon, My daughter wed a common loon."

The printer knitted up a brow, And thought it well enough To say: "That's fine, I do allow; Paint it on the fence, and how!" —Charleston Daily News

Tariff and Unemployment
More than 70 nations struck back at our 46 per cent jump in tariff rates by raising their tariff bars to shut out our trade. In 1929 our foreign shipments of automobiles were enough to give two months work to every man employed in that industry. Today the export of automobiles has practically stopped because of the retaliatory tariffs of our former customers abroad. We Need a Change.

Despite the fact that the average balance during his term of office has been smaller than that of his predecessors, Edward J. Barrett, state treasurer, has earned and TURNED OVER TO THE STATE more interest than any previous holder of that office in a similar period of time. He will be as efficient in the performance of the duties of Auditor of Public Accounts, which office he now seeks.

Following Mr. Hoover's speech in Des Moines, telling how he had saved the country from unseen perils, the stock market took a sharp decline. It looks as though every time Mr. Hoover makes a speech the market goes down and every time Gov. Roosevelt makes one it goes up.

Horner Pays Judges to Hold Court For Him

Returning to Chicago from several weeks of downstate campaigning, Judge Henry Horner, Democratic candidate for governor, found that the routine of the Cook county probate court, of which he is the head, had functioned smoothly in his absence, owing to the system which the judge worked out before starting out on his rural campaign tour.

Under that system, various county judges from downstate sections, each selected by Judge Horner for his expert knowledge of probate matters, have taken turns in presiding over Judge Horner's court in his absence and seeing that the routine procedure of the court goes on without interruption. These judges obtain leave of absence from their county supervisors in order to sit in Chicago, and their salaries are paid personally by Judge Horner from his private means for the period they serve.

While campaigning downstate, Judge Horner kept in constant touch with the judge temporarily in charge, both by letter and telephone, and exercised a general supervision over the court's activities and decided all disputed points that called for his judgment.

Incidentally he proved that a man can do two things at one time, and do them well, provided that he properly organizes his activities.

Three downstate judges thus far have served in Judge Horner's place during his absence, each being paid personally by the Democratic candidate. They are Judge Richard V. Carpenter, of Belvidere, county judge of Boone county; Judge Harry W. McEwen of DeKalb, county judge of DeKalb county and Judge Ray Sessler of Pontiac, county judge of Livingston county.

"When I was first confronted with the necessity of leaving my duties, and campaigning downstate," Judge Horner said today, "I felt something like dismay, for I realized that my first duty was to the job I hold, a job that I have held for 18 years, and one that I've taken very few vacations from. When it became certain that I would have to campaign downstate, I determined on two things. One was that not until I had arranged for proper and adequate substitutes would I leave the duties of my court, and the other was that I would pay any such substitutes out of my own pocket. I felt that any other course would be unfair to people of Cook County who elected me to my job.

"I am happy to state that the method we worked out has proved satisfactory. Not a single item of probate business has been neglected in my absence, and not a single cent of added expense has been caused to the taxpayers."

The system has worked so well that Judge Horner will continue it for the balance of the campaign, calling in additional downstate judges for the purpose.

NOW JOYOUSLY HAPPY
While all his family looked on in astonishment and all his friends were amazed, one man took the pain, swelling and agony from his tortured joints in 48 hours and did it with that famous rheumatic prescription known to pharmacists as Allenu—you may do the same. This powerful yet safe remedy is wonderful—its action is almost magical. Excess uric acid poison—the cause of most rheumatic agony—starts to leave your body in 24 hours.

Just get one 85 cent bottle of Allenu from any live druggist—take it as directed and if in 48 hours your pains haven't left you get your money back.

"Madison Square Garden"

There's a dandy show on the way for Sunday and Monday. They call it Madison Square Garden and it's full of action, color and romance. Besides some very good actors there appear in the play the old-time athletes whom you will want to see. There is Jack Johnson, Tom Sharkey, Tod Sloan, Mike Donlin, Billy Papke, Stanislaus Zbyszko, Tom Kennedy, Spike Robinson and Tammany Young. There are famous sports writers and managers.

The hot stuff is done by Jack Oakie, Marion Nixon, Thomas Meighan, William Boyd, Zazu Pitts, Lew Cody, William Collier, Sr., Warren Hymer and what do you know about this—old Lou Magnolia in person will be the referee. Don't get the idea that this is a picture of pugilistic slaughter—far from it. You'll get a thrill of bravery and a throb of love—for didn't we tell you that Marian Nixon was one of the stars?

Remember the "Two Black Crows", Moran and Mack? The Grand shows their first short comedy "As the Crow Flies"; there will also be cartoon and news features.

Everybody Loves "Lena Rivers"

This Mary J. Holmes novel was one of our youthful favorites and we like it still. It's coming to The Grand November 1st and 2nd and ought to draw capacity audiences every evening.

Manager Hays writes as follows: Dear Mr. Editor:

In response to many requests we will show on Tuesday and Wednesday, Nov. 1-2 Lena Rivers, founded on Mary J. Holmes' famous novel of the same name.

This story as you know has been read by millions and has been immensely popular for over ninety years.

To prove the picture's entertainment value to all classes of people both old and young I am attaching a letter from the Better Films Secretary of the National Board of Review of Motion Pictures.

The story's locale is Old Kentucky and several exciting race track scenes in the picture are well handled. There is a good share of comedy supplied by several colored lads seen in the paddock and about the stables.

Charlotte Henry, a newcomer to the screen has the leading role and she is ably supported by as fine a cast including Beryl Mercer, James Kirkwood, Joyce Compton and others. It's a fine picture that every one will enjoy.

Bring 'em Back Alive!

There's a hot title for a picture, but the picture measures up to the title. It is another one of the fascinating animal pictures. Frank Buck is one of the world's foremost wild animal trappers. He goes into the jungle for his tigers, snakes and other wild jungle inhabitants. It is easy enough to kill wild beasts but Mr. Buck is not a killer. He "Brings 'em Back Alive" on orders from zoos throughout the world. The movie people, ever seeking something new, heard about Frank Buck and when he went into the jungle where only savage beasts dwell, he was accompanied by the movie man, who filmed all he saw—and he say aplenty. This picture is thrilling, instructive and entertaining.

On Thursday and Friday nights of next week when this big picture will be shown, there will also be News, comedy and Screen Souvenir.

KIWANIS MAY DISBAND

For some time members of the local Kiwanis club have had under consideration the matter of disbanding and surrendering their charter.

This is due to the fact that a number of members have dropped out and those belonging do not attend the meetings in large numbers to do much good.

Secretary George Roney in his weekly notice to members this week states that this matter will be definitely decided at Friday's meeting at the regular noon hour at the National Inn.

THAT GOLD SCARE

President Hoover in his Des Moines speech took the people of the U. S. into his confidence to the extent of telling them that at one time the U. S. was about to go off the Gold Standard and that had it not been for his efforts this might have happened. President Hoover did not explain to the people just how he prevented this horrible calamity but the following story might throw some light on the situation. When Andy Mellon was appointed Secretary of the Treasury by President Harding, he being a Multi-Millionaire and not wishing to leave his money in Pennsylvania exposed to Vore machine, he transferred his money from Pennsylvania to Washington where it was placed in the U. S. Treasury Vaults. Owing to the carelessness in handling the money of the U. S. during the last twelve years of Republican rule, Andy's money got mixed with the Gold belonging to the U. S. and when President Hoover appointed Andy ambassador to the Court of St. James Andy not being able to note the difference between his money and that belonging to the U. S. and not wishing to cheat himself just played safe and took it all. Now Mr. Ogden L. Mills, Andy's successor, being very busy at this time guessing each day on how much the deficit would really be, did not disclose Andy's error until Andy had departed for Europe. Mr. Mills rushed to President Hoover with the sad tidings. Pres. Hoover immediately appointed a commission to go to London and bring back the Gold belonging to the U. S. which had been inadvertently taken by Andy.

This Commission on arriving in London and locating Andy found that there was no marks to identify Andy's gold from that belonging to the U. S. and were at loss at first to separate the gold. They finally agreed to allow Andy to keep all the gold that smelled like him and as a result of this smelling the U. S. got back their gold and averted the U. S. going off the Gold Standard.

This accounts for the unprecipitated flow of gold to Europe and

What Illinois Needs

Illinois Needs Good and Efficient Government, economically administered. It has had enough of waste and extravagance, inefficient employees, and political favoritism. Illinois will not get the kind of government it needs if Len Small and his political friends are elected.

Illinois Needs Lower Cost of Government. The ordinary running expenses of the state government, exclusive of roads, pension funds, soldiers' bonus and other expenses not derived directly from taxation, increased from $35,855,739.71 in 1920 to $72,639,917.99 in 1928. This is an increase of 102% during Small's administration.

Illinois Needs Few Payrollers. The number of state employees increased from 7,371 in 1920 to 11,395 in 1928. Again a tremendous increase under Small's administration. Many of these were simply payrollers, who did no useful work for the state.

Illinois Needs Lower Taxes . . . The comparative tax rate was 50% higher when Small left office than when he went in. All kinds of taxes, local, county and state have increased out of all proportion. Every Democratic candidate, from Judge Henry Horner to the last man on the ticket, has pledged himself to cut the cost of government, reduce taxes, eliminate unnecessary employees and to give the state the best possible government at the least possible cost.

ILLINOIS NEEDS FAIR TREATMENT. The Democratic party in Illinois is against reapportionment under the present constitution. It believes, as advocated by Judge Horner, in a plan whereby downstate will be given perpetual control of one house of the General Assembly. The Republican candidate, while Governor, sought to have the state reapportioned under the present constitution, which would give Cook County control of both houses.

ILLINOIS NEEDS A NEW DEAL FOR THE FARMER. The Democratic party, in the State and the Nation, has pledged itself and its leaders to sit down with practical farmers, not theoretical agriculturists, and devise a sane and workable plan whereby the farmer's buying dollar and his selling dollar may be equalized.

ILLINOIS NEEDS A DEMOCRATIC ADMINISTRATION, in the state and Nation. It has enough of Hooverism, Mellonism and Smallism.

If you are for Franklin D. Roosevelt for President, it will be to your advantage to vote the straight Democratic ticket. He needs a complete Democratic administration in Illinois to carry out his policies; a Democratic Senator from Illinois and Democratic congressman. Without the co-operation that they alone can give, he is handicapped from the start.

A VOTE FOR THE ENTIRE DEMOCRATIC TICKET IN NOVEMBER IS A VOTE FOR A NEW DEAL FOR ILLINOIS

ing with this cabinet. She was tugging at one of its doors. A few minutes later the thing fell and the life of the child was crushed out under it. Her parents were nearby when it happened. The little crushed body was hurried to medical attention, but life had fled.

The daughter of Clarke E. and Virginia Randolph Dennis, Patty, or Virginia Rae Dennis, as she had been named, was born in a hospital in Decatur April 29, 1928. She was an only child. The father has for six years past been on the teaching staff of the Sullivan Township High school and during that time has served as athletic coach.

Patty spent her entire life time in Sullivan. She was a bright, happy child and a joy to all who knew her. Her untimely death has saddened the hearts of many.

Little Patty was a member of the Beginners class of the Christian church Sunday school and regular in her attendance. This fall she entered Mrs. George's kindergarten.

The remains were taken to the McMullin funeral home and prepared for burial. An inquest was held Wednesday morning by Coroner Lawson. The verdict was accidental death.

Wednesday afternoon the body was taken home and reposed there until Thursday afternoon at three o'clock when funeral services were held in the Christian church, in charge of Rev. C. E. Barnett. Interment was in Greenhill cemetery.

Pall bearers were Johnson Kelly, Pete McDavid, Bill Dwyer and Harris Wood. High school girls were in charge of the flowers. The High School was dismissed to give all the pupils the opportunity of attending the last sad rites.

CORN HUSKING CONTEST SATURDAY, OCTOBER 29TH

(Con. from page 1)

Adviser J. H. Hughes at Saturday nights meeting.

Those who will take part in this event are as follows:

Frank Traxler, LaPlace.
Sam Helmuth, Arthur.
Elvin Yoder, Arthur.
Louie Pedigo, Lovington.
Zeke Clow, Lake City.
Wade Clow, Lake City.
Wm. Shaffer, Bethany.
Price Morrison, Bethany.
Orval Hale, Lovington.
Vern Waddell, Lake City.
George Bone, Bethany.

Vern Waddell and George Bone have both had the honor of shucking in the state contests on former occasions. It will be remembered that last year these two men tied in the county contest. Each shucking exactly the same amount in one hour and 20 minutes after all deductions were made for gleanings and husks.

Farm Adviser Hughes reports that there is much more interest than common in this event which is made possible by Prairie Farmer and the various county Farm Bureaus throughout the state. Prairie Farmer has for several years sponsored the state contest and in the meantime other states have taken up this form of diversion for farm folks.

The state contest will be of particular interest to Moultrie county people this year since it will be held in the neighboring county of Piatt. Usually from 25 to 40 thousand people attend the state husking contest.

The local contest Saturday will begin promptly at 10:30. It is expected that several hundred people will turn out to witness this event. Lunch will be served by the local church and every one can get plenty to eat at noon time.

4-H CLUB NEWS

Wins Highest Honor

A New York 4-H club boy has won the highest honor which can come to a baby beef club member. He is Harold Hamilton of Millerton. The distinction was to win the championship in the baby beef show for club members at the Eastern States Exposition at Springfield, Mass., and on a calf which he bred as well as fitted.

The Hamilton boy won the championship in competition with about 100 prize winners at local fairs which had come to the show. It was pronounced by the judge, W. J. Kennedy of St. Joseph, Mo., as one of the best calves he had seen in the many club shows he had judged.

An interesting story is back of the champion calf and its owner. Back in 1927, young Hamilton fitted and showed a beef calf at the Springfield exposition. All of his year's hopes came true when it was made a champion of that show. One of the prizes he received was a purebred beef heifer from the herd of Angus maintained at Briarcliff Farms, Pine Plains, New York. The calf was a fine specimen, as the owner of the farm, Mr. Oakleigh Thorne, a retired business man, is greatly interested in rebuilding the beef cattle industry of New England.

Harold took the prize heifer home and raised it, also its calves as they came. They developed into fine animals because the prize heifer was "bred in the purple", and blood will tell if you give it a chance. This year's champion steer is a calf of the prize heifer. A granddaughter of the prize heifer which Harold showed also won a fifth prize.

Harold is getting a fine start in cattle raising, and is on the way to a sound system of farming, thanks to the practical interest of friends of club work and his club training.

FEAR-CRAZED MOTHER KILLS THREE CHILDREN

Mrs. Inez Carrell a 29-year old Chicago widow killed her three small children Friday night or early Saturday morning in a room in the Byers hotel in Mattoon. She had taken this room late Friday night and paid for it in advance. The tragedy was discovered the next morning. She had poisoned the children and then drowned them in the bath tub.

She attempted suicide by poisoning, but will recover. Her husband died five years ago. She invested his life insurance, about $3,500 in Insull securities which have lately lost all worth. Utterly despondent after losing her job, she saw no other way out but death for her babes and herself.

Please note the full sleeve with its dolman tendencies, puffed at the wrist too, and insuring com-

Of particular importance, however, is the white collar which buttons on and makes for no end of freshening up by having various colored collars for changes.

Montone woolsens of great variety are being shown with interesting surface patterns, as well as varied weaves of rough silk, any one of which may be used in creating this chic school frock.

FIRST LOVES

BY FELIX RIESENBERG

"Here, this way," and in a moment John Breen stood close to Almon Strauss. Harboard had arranged the meeting.

"I want to shake hands with John Breen."

Harboard had managed to steer them into a corner near the stair. Almon Strauss was leaning toward John, holding his hand. What a homely human being he was!

"John I am so glad to see you. Very glad." Almon Strauss was short, of stocky build, almost humpbacked.

"Let us go upstairs. I have the key. You know more about the way than I," he said: "suppose you lead."

Josephine Lambert had just sped by them, bareheaded, her dinner wrap resplendent, her face animated, beautiful. She was on her way to dinner at one of the fine old homes.

As they followed John up to the offices of Colfax, up the dust-covered landing and into the inner room, a strong emotion came to John, a sense of loss overpowering. He switched on the light and was agreeably surprised to find the place in excellent order. John had had an idea that the Bureau must have vanished, like so much of the past.

"I had them clean up and air the rooms," Almon Strauss explained. "I expected you soon, would have called for you, on my return from Paris, but this is better." Along the wall the familiar cases of drawings seemed intact. The filing cabinets were as before, the bookcases had not been disturbed. It seemed as if only an hour had gone since the times when he and Colfax worked late into the night, when he looked forward to the week-end, to the Sunday afternoon.

"I have been back a few weeks. Have some chairs. I will not say what is happening in Europe, the world is reforming, through the staple years are still a long way off. But my heart is here, gentlemen, always here," Almon Strauss waved his thin hand around, embracing all beyond the rooms, all over the crowded millions about them in the city. "I have been re-reading the final report of Colfax," he said, "and your notations, your very excellent engineering figures, Mr. Breen. These papers have all been kept for me here. No—John; I may call you that. I credit you both." John had started in protest. "The facts are so startling no one now would heed. In an election it would be mud-throwing. In the year after election we are too busy to pay serious attention to such things. But, the plan, the real working plan, must be ready for use some day. We hear so much of the transportation problem. I have read carefully what you say. We have too much transportation already, too much crowding from the outskirts into the congested city. But what can stop it?"

"Your sewer report astonished me." Almon Strauss found and drew the bulky blue-covered document from a desk. "Colfax often told me of the conditions, but I had no idea."

"An island completely surrounded by sewage," Harboard remarked. "Where boys bathe and rats run wild at night."

"New York and vicinity dumping its waste material into its front yard, converting its narrow rivers into immense open cesspools; it's a crime." Almon Strauss paused and thumbed the pages.

"The greatest danger, sir," John interposed, "lies in the absolutely inadequate sewer system of the lower portion of the city. Old brick conduits fifty and seventy-five years old, running to the river. The problem of drainage on Manhattan is simple, but the fact that drainage should all be into disposal works, into scientific plants for the recovery of the magnesia, potash, phosphoric acid, chlorine, oxide of iron and nitrogen, all combined in almost ideal proportion for use as fertilizer. This seems to place the problem beyond the ability of our civic talent. A spoonful may be dipped out here and there and screened, but the great works that would yield a fortune to the city, these are only part of the plan."

"Yes, John, the plan." Almon Strauss seemed to waken up from a study. "After all, the plan must come first. Let us get the plan."

"I have had a theory," Almon Strauss went on, "a theory that the city will work its way out of the mire." He stopped, paused for a moment.

"They say that my people are naturally dwellers in cities. It may be so. But the Hebrews are an ancient race, a race that has held its tenets, has kept its faith for centuries. If we are to be dwellers in cities, we must look to our houses, to our future habitations. I have lived in the slums—I know the

ARRESTED FOR DRIVING WHILE INTOXICATED

Officer Hochstetler Friday arrested Edward Lowell Seitz and Dennis Dillon of Arthur. These boys are charged with being drunk and disorderly. Seitz is charged with driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated. He has given bond and his case will be heard in the January term of the county court.

Courts are quite generally too lenient with drunken drivers. They are a menace to all others who drive cars. A man driving a car while drunk ought to be barred from using the highways of the state for a long period of time, besides any other punishment that the court may deem just.

—Mr. and Mrs. George Monroe entertained several relatives to a pot luck dinner Tuesday evening the occasion being the birthday anniversary of their daughter Leful. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Ortha Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hostetter of near Gays, Mr. and Mrs. Mrs. Chris Monroe and Wayne, Mrs. Elvira Stricklan, Miss Marie Venter, Mrs. Telva Kilmer and Art Moore of Campaign and Obie Baker.

—Beldon Briscoe of Chicago was a week end visitor with Sullivan relatives and friends.

They passed on the sharp oasis south of Twenty-fifth Street between Fifth Avenue and Broadway. A smoking churning rush of cars and busses hemmed them in. Across the way the old Amen Corner had ended its career. On the broad stretch of the Avenue, toward the park, arches of triumph and of victory once reared their fragile forms and only photographs remain. Dewey returned from the victory at Manila. Great hosts of men marched by in 17—men with set faces, young and tense—drafted from the youth of the Metropolis, tramping onward in the falling snow.

A great void of doubt had come to Harboard and to John, a sickening doubt. To the east, they saw the great clock hands of the tower pointing to seven, and back on Fifth Avenue the rush of motor cars came to a sudden stop with a screech of brakes when the high red light flashed on the traffic towers above the gas-charged street.

John Breen stood, as men have stood in the twilight of thick tropic jungles, gazing at the beauty of the cobra, unaware of its significance. Harboard struck his cane on the concrete walk, a loud tap. John looked at him, and smiled, smiled with uncertainty.

Josephine Lambert had just sped by them, bareheaded, her dinner wrap resplendent, her face animated, beautiful. She was already far to the south, on her way to dinner in one of the fine old surviving homes of Washington Square.

Thomas Hetherington, the great editor, had pieced together much of the crazy mosaic history of the city. He knew and deduced, and imagined, and held in the files of his little office bundles of surprising information. Once when talking with Judge Kelly, an agreeable old gentleman, himself asking more than he imparted. Thomas Hetherington was prepared to submit a certain train of circumstances, and to ask for the few places where time had failed to fill in facts. He was on the verge of springing one of the really great sensations of the city.

"My dear Mr. Hetherington, what you say may be so. And then again it may not. You say you have talked with Mr. Breen. What did he say?"

"He called it a lot of interesting conjecture."
"But I believe it's so," I insisted.
"Well, if it's so, why don't I go out and claim my own?" he asked.
"Well, why don't he?" Judge Kelly looked puzzled.

October Musings

Monday night is Hallowe'en. We Sullivan folks have spent our money in lake cleaning and other affairs, and so far as we know, there will be no annual party and hilarious festivities.

This has been a week of sorrow. My oldest friend—Mr. Shoaff and my youngest and dearest little friend—Patty Dennis, have been called from earthly joys and activities to the reward that awaits them in the bosom of The Father.

Fall is more or less a season of sadness. The trees are divesting themselves of their gaily colored leaves. They are pattering down and covering the ground, presaging that colder and more disagreeable weather is near at hand. Busy housewives rake the leaves and make the evening air pungent and stifling with their smoldering fires. The falling of the leaves, the death of friends and of flowers show how true it is that "All that is born must die."

Wintry blasts have been blowing over these Illinois prairies this week. Much needed rain has fallen, for many wells were reported failing. Thursday morning there was a shower of sleet—the ice particles being almost of hail-like size. Grey clouds are driving through the sky. The sun at times sheds its brightness over the earth, but not for long.

Farmers are busily husking corn. In some parts of the county soybeans are being threshed. Tom Sallee of Arthur told us last week of threshing fields that yielded 30 to 40 bushels per acre. The price for good yellow beans has been better than 40c. Wheat fields are showing an emerald green, but the acreage here is small.

The morale of the country is low—or perhaps that's only the way I'm feeling—but prospects for an early change are not very bright. Farmers have plenty to eat. In that respect they face a brighter future than the city laboring people.

Ye gods, what's wrong with this country? Plenty of foodstuffs and people are hungry; immense wealth, but the wheels of industry have stopped; plenty of houses but people living in Hovertown shacks; plenty of fuel, but much suffering through cold. There seems to be plenty of everything, but Americans, individually and collectively have given up—they are sitting on their haunches and howling at the moon—they are wallowing about depression—they are gibbering like a conglomeration of idiots—they have everything in greater quantity than the Creator ever endowed any other nation with, but they lack the sense and leadership to use it. They are encompassing their own ruin. This depression is the craziest development that the history of mankind has ever experienced.

"The world is full of wind" wrote a school girl after looking out of the schoolhouse window. Never was that more true than now, when political orators are spreading the bunk far and near across this wide land. This campaign is practically over. You can discount by 99% any charge, any political dirt, that is put into circulation between now and election day. If you hear a whisper, shout it from the house top so that it may be known for its vicious, slandering poison. That applies to arguments of both parties. Last minute campaign charges are usually lies, if not, they would be made in time so they could be answered.

This is not a campaign to take the public offices from the Republicans and turn them over to the Democrats—it is a campaign to effect a needed change in government—and if the Democrats should they be entrusted with political power—make no better job of it than the Republicans have done, turn them out when the opportunity arises, and let's try Socialism, or some other Ism that will prove responsive to the will of the people, rather than to the will of political cliques and entrenched wealth.

Cowardice, favoritism, and treasury looting have brought our nation to the precipice where it may plunge to chaos and despair. Are we going to be cowardly enough to sit by and let false leaders scare us from finding a way out? Hardly! In the fearless and staunch heart of America, there dwells a spirit that will strike out and demand the rights and happiness that are the heritage of the America of Washing-

ST. COLUMBA'S CHURCH

Church services will be held at St. Columba's Catholic church on Sunday morning at 8 a. m.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH

C. E. Barnett, pastor

"Pressing into the Kingdom" and "Imagination and Reality" will be the sermon subjects next Sunday. The hours for delivery of these messages will be 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. The folk attending the morning services appreciate the earlier beginning as it permits of dismissal at 11:40. This does not mean the omission or curtailment of any part of the service, but is accomplished by the conservation of hitherto wasted time. We respectfully urge attendance of all resident members and invite all others who desire to worship with us, morning and evening.

The "How's and What's" of a month's discussion of the liquor problem will be brought to a close in the Christian Endeavor meeting, at 6:30 p. m. The final question for discussion will be "What Shall Our Group Do About Prohibition?"

Supt. Ed Brandenburger will name a special committee next Sunday to present plans for the betterment of the Sunday school. Each Sunday's session, beginning at 9:30 a. m. is an opportunity for systematic and concerted study of God's word. There is a joy in congregational singing and in the fellowship of the hour. There is an added joy in the hour of worship at the church hour 10:30.

Come to Sunday school and stay for church. Be a repeater at the evening service 7:30.

GOSPEL MISSION

Over the Post Office

Time of services the same. Brother Martin is preaching some good sermons, come and hear him.

Jer. 7:19 — "Do they provoke me to anger, saith the Lord: do they not provoke themselves to the confusion of their own faces?"

In our language of today God is saying "Are you telling me" Israel was not putting anything over on God. They just thought they were. He tells Israel that which they are doing is not going to provoke him to anger, but it will act to their own confusion.

The world today may think it is putting something over on the Lord, but God is not mocked. The wickedness of the people now, will react under the reign of the anti-Christ to the overthrow of the whole world. The world little realizes that it is playing right into the hand of the man of sin, and that as a people, our doing shall be our undoing. The world is in its present state of fear and unrest because in trying to provoke the Almighty God to anger it has provoked itself into a mighty confusion.

It was a sorry day for Israel when God turned a deaf ear to their cry for help. It will be a sorry awakening for the world when it realizes that God's Spirit has ceased to strive.

ton and Jefferson, of Lincoln, Roosevelt and Wilson.

Most of the fore-going has nothing much to do with weather or October—Colder weather is on the way—most of the corn will be out of the fields by Thanksgiving and on many farms it will be stored in cribs built besides those in which last year's crop still reposes.

HERE'S A HOT ONE

One over-zealous Republican worker this week has been peddling the story that Red Cross flour which was being distributed to the needy was a Republican gift and that no more flour would be available if Gov. Roosevelt were elected president. She failed to state that one of the few congressmen who voted against using government-owned wheat for flour

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Rev. G. M. Garber, Minister

It has been said that religion is an elective of life. If that is true, religion is one of the most essential electives in the whole curriculum of life. However, it has been the experience of the human race that religion is more than an elective. It is required if the highest way of living is to be found. For religion couples the resources of the spiritual realm with man's abilities. Left to live within the limits of his own resources, man shortly betrays his weaknesses. Coupled with the resources of religion, man rises to a perfection and success of life that attests to his divine origin. The Church is the exponent of religion. You are invited to worship at the First Presbyterian church.

ERROR IN NAMES EVOKES WRATH OF CECIL COVENTRY

Because his name appeared by mistake in connection with criminal proceedings reported in The Moultrie County News, Cecil Coventry of Findlay came to this city very wroth and threatening to have Editor Chapin arrested, sued and otherwise put in jeopardy.

Mistakes happen in the best-regulated newspaper offices, as they do in all other lines of business. It was unfortunate that Mr. Coventry's name was mentioned in the way it was, but it certainly was not done with malicious intent and we are quite sure that Editor Chapin will make full amends in explaining to his readers, so that no reflection or stigma will attach to the Findlay man's reputation. In fact, it will give Mr. Chapin an opportunity of telling the world how excellent a citizen Mr. Coventry is.

Because of the many, many ways in which unintentional mistakes may occur in newspapers, the law protects publishers against prosecution, by permitting them to remedy the harm done through retraction, explanation and apology.

While always carefully guarded against, newspaper "bulls" will creep in and the man who never expects to make a mistake has no business running a newspaper, for he is expecting the impossible.

Though we are butting into something that may not be our business at all, we cannot help but volunteer a helping hand to a worthy competitor. Malicious libel or other misrepresentation is simply not in Mr. Chapin's make-up. We are sure that he will fully make amends for any unintentional wrong done to Mr. Coventry and we hope and trust that such action will close the case, as it rightfully should.

is the Hon. James Vause of Mattoon. Mr. Vause is one of the old Democratic warhorses of this part of the state. He has always kept in close touch with political affairs. He recently told C. R. Patterson of this city that he had another "real good Democratic speech" in him and would like to deliver it before the close of the campaign. When this was reported at headquarters efforts were immediately made to book that speech for Moultrie county.
