N. A. Heacock Died Sunday In Decatur

Remains Brought to Daughter's Home in This City. Funeral Services Held Monday with Burial in Arthur Cemetery.

Nathan Asbury Heacock, well known Moultrie resident died in Decatur Sunday morning, January 1st. He had been seriously ill several weeks.

The remains were brought to this city to the Shanks Funeral Home. After preparation for burial they were taken to the home of his daughter Mrs. Carl Hill, where funeral services were conducted Monday afternoon in charge of Rev. W. B. Hopper and Rev. C. E. Barnett. Interment was in the Arthur cemetery.

The pall bearers were W. A. Newbould, D. K. Campbell, W. E. Campbell, Howard Wood, G. R. Fleming and O. L. Hill. Flower girls were Jessie Buxton, Rose Vins, Vina Elder, Clara Fleming, Lynn Dunscomb, Charlotte Bland and Norma Jean Clark.

Mr. Heacock was born October 1854 and at the time of his death was 78 years, 2 months and 1 day of age. He was married to Mary Alice Rice who preceded him in 1921. They were the parents of seven children, three of whom died in infancy. One daughter, Lena, and one son, Wilbur, died some years ago. Only two daughters survive, Lulu, wife of A. O. Keys of Decatur and Eva, wife of Carl R. Hill of this city.

He leaves two grandchildren, William Heacock and Beatrice Hill of this city. He was the last of a family of six children. Mr. Heacock's life was spent on the farm. In early life he worked near Arthur and later of Sullivan. After his retirement from active farming he remained an interest in farms in Missouri and Arkansas. For a number of years he had made his home with his daughter, Mrs. Keys, in Decatur.

Mr. Heacock had an inventive mind and invented and patented several articles, among which was a drain-take and a hog-secuter. He was always an active member of the Republican party and took an active interest in community affairs.

Those from out of town who came to attend the funeral were: Decatur—Mr. and Mrs. Charley Auer, Mrs. John Boman, Mrs. Fay McGowan, Mr. and Mrs. E. Eymar, Mrs. H. W. Everett, Mrs. Lela Lipscomb, Mrs. John Whalen, Miss Iva Puckett, Miss Neva Greening, Mrs. Greening, Mrs. Foster, Mr. and Mrs. James Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Righter, Art Mimick, sons Don and Tobbie and daughter Mildred Deitz, Allen Miller, O. L. Hill and Miss Gertrude Hill, Mrs. Ella Heacock, Billie Maxwell, Grace Heacock, Hugh McAlpin.

Tuscola—Mr. and Mrs. Carl Heacock, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Heacock, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Heacock. Champaign—Mrs. J. D. Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Heacock and Mrs. Helen Ashbrook and son Donald.

Mr. and Mrs. Lute Reedy and children of near Bethany.

'Thrift' Theme For P-T-A Meeting To Be Held Tuesday

Thrift week is being observed over the entire nation during this month from Jan. 17 to 23rd and will be the subject discussed at P. T. A. on Tuesday evening, Jan. 10th at 7:30 in Lowe school.

An interesting program is being prepared and we urge every father and mother to be present.

Music will be by grade school children under the supervision of Mrs. Garber.

"Thrift in relationship to Health"—Dr. S. W. Johnson.

"Thrift of the School Child's Time"—Prof. R. A. Scheer.

Also a resume of a series of interesting articles recently published in McCall's Magazine on "The Effect of the Movies on the Child" will be discussed by Miss Cora Gauger.

The older boys and girls are especially invited to hear these talks as well as the parent-teacher.

SUNSHINE FRIDAY
The Sunshine club will meet on Friday afternoon of this week at 2:30 p. m. at the home of Miss Oma Baker.

NEXT MEN'S MEETING HERE JANUARY 30TH

The next meeting of the Men's S. S. association will be held in the Christian church here on the night of January 30th.

Tuesday night of this week the association met in Windsor. The following from Sullivan attended: C. R. Patterson, Rev. Barnett, D. G. Carnine, Glenn Shanks, Tobias Rhodes, Rev. Hopper, Clarence Elder, Carl McKown, Kenneth Johnson, Gerald Elder, G. R. Fleming, Albert Walker, Ed Brandenburger.

F. Furtherer Died Saturday Of Apoplexy

Former Grain Broker Was Native of New York State. Remains Laid to Rest in Greenhill Cemetery Tuesday Afternoon.

Frank W. Furtherer was found dead in his room above the Blackwell cafe Saturday morning. He was found there by Mrs. Grace Blackwell when she went to do the room work.

The remains were taken to the McMullin Funeral Home where Coroner McMullin impaneled a jury and held an inquest. The testimony showed that death was due to a stroke of apoplexy.

The funeral services were held from that funeral home Tuesday afternoon. Rev. L. L. Lawrence was in charge. At the grave the services were conducted by Sullivan Lodge 764 A. F. & A. M. The pall bearers were George Elder, Olaf McIntire, Mel Gifford, Jim Pifer, Henry Sona and Art Hoffman.

Frank Furtherer was a grain man by trade. He was a native of New York, his home before coming west, having been near Buffalo. He worked for a time in Indiana and later at Monticello, Illinois. About five years ago he came to this city and took charge of the grain brokerage office in the Arcade building. When business here slackened off he went to Mattoon and worked at the same business there for a while. Later when out of employment, he came back to Sullivan and spent most of the past year here.

He was never married. He leaves a brother in Rochester, New York and a sister in Buffalo. They were communicated with Saturday and gave orders that the body be buried here.

Mr. Furtherer was of a genial disposition and had many friends, especially among elevator men and grain dealers.

GEORGE McNEESE OBSERVED HIS 88TH ANNIVERSARY

Monday was the 88th birthday anniversary of George McNeese, who makes his home with his daughter Mrs. J. B. Evans and husband on the Fred Harmon farm north of this city. In honor of the event Joe Stearnman, Homer Logan, Robert Custer and George McNeese, Jr., of Stewardson, Mrs. Lamb and Mrs. Torrence of Vandalia and Mrs. Elizabeth Potter called at the Evans home to spend the day.

McMULLIN CHEVROLET STOLEN; RECOVERED

L. W. McMullin's 1930 Chevrolet sedan was stolen about 9 o'clock Wednesday night from in front of the funeral home.

It was recovered Thursday morning. It was sitting alongside the road west of this city and seemed none the worse for wear. It is presumed that the thief "borrowed" it for a ride and then parked it where he knew it would be found.

JOHN BROWN'S WILL FILED FOR PROBATE

The will of the late John Brown who died recently in Lovington township has been filed for probate. He leaves his entire estate to his wife, Margaret Brown, during her life time. At her death it is to be divided share and share alike among their eight children. She is named executrix. H. H. Clore and J. R. Drake as witnesses.

JOHN DENTON STILL IN DECATUR HOSPITAL

John Denton who was injured last week at the local light plant is still in the hospital at Decatur. The swellings caused by the injuries are going down and the blood from hemorrhages is being gradually absorbed. No operation has been found necessary. He will doubtless be in the hospital for another week or two.

Farm Institute To Be Held Thurs. & Fri.

Good Program of Instruction and Entertainment. Liberal Prizes Offered for Farm and Household Products.

The Moultrie County Farmers institute will be held here Thursday and Friday of next week. Good speakers and instructors have been secured. One entertainment feature is the Rural Drama and Music contest to be held on Thursday night.

The usual number of prizes are being offered for grain and farm product exhibits and an excellent array of prizes are offered in the Household Science department.

A new prize in the farm products department is a Cup offered by The Sullivan Progress for the best peck of Moultrie-grown white potatoes. The winner of the cup will keep it for a year when it again will enter competition. The object of this prize is to stimulate a greater interest among farmers to produce in Moultrie county all the potatoes needed here.

The following is the program: Thursday, Jan. 12, 1933. Entry of exhibits court house.

Sullivan Soldiers Beat All Others To Field Of Action

Three hours after a command was received here by Lieut. Campbell to bring the Headquarters company to Taylorville Wednesday, the company and officers were there to report for duty. They were two hours ahead of any of the other four companies who were ordered to the scene of action.

The call for the National Guard followed rioting Tuesday night which resulted in two dead and many wounded at the Kincaid mine near Taylorville. The Sullivan men went in five cars, by the way of Decatur.

Lieut. Campbell reports that immediately upon arrival at Taylorville the Sullivan men were sent to do patrol duty at the Langleyville and Kincaid mines.

He also reports that where the men are now stationed there are no accommodations for lady visitors and they are advised not to clutter up the scenery.

Moultrie Red Cross Sent $250 To Moweauqua

Moultrie County Chapter Red Cross sent $250 to St. Louis headquarters for use in the relief of the Moweauqua mine disaster. This amount was made up by the following branches: Sullivan $100; Lovington $100; Bethany $25; Dalton City $25.

Immediately upon receipt of the disaster call this money was sent. Contributions to the funds have been liberal in this city. Chester Horn announced Thursday morning that $96.50 had been handed to him at the bank.

Moultrie's contribution to the disaster relief compares very favorably with what other nearby branches have done.

Those who have made contributions locally are as follows: George A. Sentel, Glenn M. Garber, J. E. Krisliass, W. Titus Sentel, Louise Titus, P. K. Bryant, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Fisher, C. R. Hill, C. B. Freeland, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. McCorvie, J. B. Craig, Jr., S. W. Johnson, Goodfellow, a friend, Cutting room shoe factory, Chester Horn, A. & E. Evans, Arlo Chapin, P. F. Tabor, Orman Newbould, Don K. Campbell, Dr. and Mrs. J. F. Lawson, Charles Barclay, Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Fleming, Brandenburger, C. T. Lehman, P. M. Hankla, Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Cochran, Brown Sisters, Celia Hawkins, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde C. Harris, Francis W. Purvis, Mrs. Glenn Kilby, Glenn M. Kilby, Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Barnett, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Lilly, Wiletha Miller.

DR. MYERS, DENTIST

Dr. Harry E. Myers, dentist, announces that he has opened an office in the rooms above the Candy Kitchen on the North side of the square. He will be here all day and evenings on Monday, Wednesday and Friday of each week.

Coolidge Is Dead

Radio reports Thursday afternoon told of the sudden death of former President Calvin Coolidge. He was found dead in his home, apparently a victim of heart trouble.

Congress adjourned immediately upon hearing the report.

Judge Helm Of Tuscola Presided In Court Here

Judge Harley C. Helm of Tuscola was here Monday morning and held a short session of county court.

It was adjustment day for the William R. Titus estate.

Approval was entered on record of sale of personal property in the estate of Walter Wiser, deceased.

In the Mary E. Clark estate adjustment day was set for March 6th.

In the Shelby Devine estate permission was granted to make distribution of $4,000.

The court issued an order to J. A. Webb, guardian of Ray Alvin Waggoner, to pay Maude Carter $50 per year for his keep, said order to go into effect as of July 23, 1932. Ray Alvin is a minor heir of Owen Waggoner.

F. O. Shirey, administrator of the estate of Mrs. Ida M. Low was authorized to spend, not to exceed $200 for a monument. In the Frank Low estate he was given permission to sell the deceased's personal property.

Petition for the appointment of a conservator for Isaac Hagerman was on file and Judge Helm set January 9th at 9 a. m. as time for hearing. A venire of six jurors is to be called.

Mary E. Maddox Died Friday; Was Buried Monday

Mrs. Mary E. Maddox, past 87 years of age, died at the family home in the northwest part of this city Friday afternoon. She had long been in ill-health due to the infirmities of age and to injuries sustained in a fall some years ago. With her son Albion she lived on a farm in Jonathan Creek township until about two years ago when they came to Sullivan to live.

Her maiden name was Mary E. Bragg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Bragg and she was born July 19, 1845. On the 7th of May 1865 she was united in marriage to John Maddox. To this union three sons were born. One of these, William Foster, died when three years old. The other two survive. They are Albion who lived with his mother and Marion of Kansas City. Her husband died in 1892. She also leaves one sister, Mrs. Clara Francis of West Va. and one brother, Lewis Bragg of Kansas. Two sisters and one brother preceded her in death. There are 7 grandchildren and 13 great grandchildren.

In religious matters she was a member of the Methodist church. The remains were taken to the McMullin Funeral Home and prepared for burial. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the M. E. church in charge of Rev. Lawrence. Burial was in Greenhill cemetery.

The pall bearers were George Miller, John Bathe, Earl Campbell, Vernie Campbell, John Bragg and Jesse Reedy. Hugh Murray and Mrs. Sabin sang at the church services.

Her son Marion Maddox of Kansas City was here for the funeral. He visited his mother several times during the past year.

WALKER ELECTED TREASURER STATE SUPERINTENDENT ASS'N.

The important subject for discussion at last week's meeting of the Illinois State Teachers Association in Springfield was Legislation affecting schools and equitable measures of taxation.

At a meeting of the County Supt. Association of the State association, Albert Walker of the county was chosen treasurer. The president is W. W. Tucker and the secretary is Cora B. Ryman of Decatur.

Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Finley visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Dawson at Mattoon Sunday.

Democrats To Control State Offices Mon.

Will Have Complete Power at Springfield for Four Years at Least. Supt. Blair Lone G. O. P. Legislature Democratic.

Monday will be moving day in the state house at Springfield. Republicans will move out and Democrats will move in. One lone Republican who still has a two years' tenure in office is Francis G. Blair the state superintendent of public instruction.

The Republicans have been in control of state offices since 1916, when Gov. Dunne stepped out of office and Frank O. Lowden succeeded him.

On November 8th the Democrats won their biggest victory in the history of the state and all new officials are Democrats.

Henry Horner of Chicago is the new Governor succeeding L. L. Emmerson.

Thomas S. Donovan will be lieutenant governor, succeeding Fred Sterling of Rockford.

Edward J. Hughes of Chicago will succeed William J. Stratton of (Please turn to page 7; column 4)

Sullivan Improves Fire Department With More Men

The Sullivan Fire Department will in the future consist of 8 regular men instead of five as heretofore. The old men are Chief Blonston Crockett, Police Chief Pifer, Harry Fulk, Henry Cummins and Ralph Harris. The new men added are Wilbur Shell, Clyde Coventry and Walter Lane.

This will not add any expense to the city. These men are paid out of a tax that the insurance companies pay.

Chairman Ben Luke says that the fire department men will meet once a month for practice and organization. The city also has two new gas masks and electric torches that permit of penetrating into smoke-filled rooms.

It seems that the only handicap Sullivan might have to fight fires, are the impassable mud streets in out-lying sections. Some of these streets are so bad right now that the truck could not get within several blocks of a fire on such a street.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

By Elmina Scheer

Well we're back at school again and everyone has settled into the old routine as if there had been no Christmas vacation. The semester will soon be over and woe to those procrastinating souls whose over due book reports are not in. Teachers are giving fair warning and everybody is pretty busy making up work that had been neglected or forgotten, or "sumptin'".

We're all happy over the outcome of the tournament. Sullivan really showed the County what they could do. Of course we knew our team would win, but it was rather a surprise to defeat Windsor so definitely. Our trophy case is getting overcrowded, but this latest one deserves a place of honor. Sullivan's cheering section was too scattered to do much yelling as everybody followed their various inclinations as to seats. Bethany's red headed Yell leaders probably led the best (Continued on Page 6)

The next meeting of Moultrie County Schoolmasters will be in Lovington.

Remains Mrs. Archer Be Buried

Former Resident Died 30th in Long Beach. Had Lived Past Burial Here Friday

Mrs. Carrie Maud Archer of the late Dick Archer home in Long Beach died December 30th. Messengers reached Mr. and Harbaugh of this city day.

Following a funeral remains were shipped and are expected to arrive day (Friday) in the Services will be held at funeral homes, after which remains will be laid to rest in those of Mr. Archer in Greenhill cemetery.

Mrs. Archer was past 75 years of age and had been seriously ill for some time. A heart attack caused death.

For about forty years Mr. and Mrs. Dick Archer were among the most active residents of Sullivan. They came here from Marshall, Illinois about 1883. He engaged in mercantile business here—dealing in hardware, implements, etc. For a time he was a partner of the late Frank Craig.

They lived on Harrison street in the house now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. D. K. Campbell for many years, but in 1920 built a modern home on Hamilton street, north of the F. M. Harbaugh residence.

Mrs. Archer until the time of her death owned the business building at the northeast corner of the square.

Mr. Archer died about 11 years ago. Two years later Mrs. Archer went to California. In Long Beach she leaves two brothers, E. N. Cook and William Cook and a sister, Mrs. Richard N. Merrill. There are no near relatives in Sullivan.

Mrs. R. M. Little, a niece, residing in Des Moines, Iowa will be here to attend to the funeral arrangements. The N. N. N. club of which Mrs. Archer was a member will also participate in the last rites of their companion.

JUDGE T. J. KASTEL HOLDS COURT TODAY

County Judge J. E. Jennings is still a very sick man. His condition changed somewhat for the better, the early part of this week.

Due to his inability to hold court, Judge Kastel of Monticello will be here today (Friday) to open the January term of the Moultrie county county court.

YOU CAN PAY YOUR TAXES ABOUT JAN. 23

County treasurer Newbould says that indications are he will be able to accept tax payments Monday, January 23rd. This is two days earlier than last year. He reports that a number of property owners have already appeared at his office with the money to pay up.

Young Men's Forum To Meet At Farm Bureau

The Young Men's forum of Moultrie county will meet at the Farm Bureau office January 9th at 7:30 p. m.

Prof. R. M. Strain, principal of the Bethany high school will speak on "A Circle Tour of the Western States."

YOUNG PEOPLE WON BANNER

The Okaw Valley Christian Youth met at the Shelbyville Christian church Monday night with one hundred and forty young people present. The Sullivan group received the banner for the largest number present which was 24. The meeting for February will be held in Lovington.

P-T-A Sponsors Milk For Under Weight Children

Arrangements are being made by the P. T. A. to make it possible for every underweight child from the first through the fourth grades to have milk once a day during the months of January, February and March. The P. T. A. hopes to have the milk fund in shape to begin the distribution of milk by January 9th.

This milk will be give at a certain hour each day to the child during the morning session of school.

The milk will not be furnished from the P. T. A. fund to underweight children whose parents can afford to buy the milk. But those parents are asked to pay for milk for their children if they want them to have milk.

We ask that you get in with your child's teacher, the teachers know what your child needs whether you will use it or wish the P. T. A. used for your child.

FRIENDS IN INVITED

The Friends in Country was postponed one week and will meet Monday afternoon, Jan. 8th at the library club rooms. The club has received an invitation from the Bethany Women's club to be their guests on Monday, January 10th and will be held in the library club room. F. I. C.

glitthere is the matter of advice. Every legislator, gressman, every state and U. S. senator, gets hundrea thousands, of letters telling him what to do and what not to do. Anybody that has a pet theory of government, of farm relief, or relief for anything and everything, its down and writes his congressman, or some other official whom he feels can exercise some influence to enact his theory into law.

Courtesy demands that all letters from constituents be read and answered in some way. Often it is a sorry waste of time to read the letters and more waste of time to answer them. What with answering the advice letters and writing letters of recommendation the time and efforts of our new-lected officials are pretty well taken up and very little is left to give some serious thoughts to the duties of offices which they are to fill.

Our Democratic officials have a big task on hand. They are faced with the biggest problem that this state and this country ever had to solve. They are lected because the people thought them big enough to cope with the problems.

They were chosen because of their qualifications to give calm consideration to legislative matters that might lead to solution of some of the perplexities that confront us.

If they are to do this, office-seekers and cranks must cease to bother them. There ought to be a year's moratorium on requests for letters of recommendation and letters of advice.

Give your officials a chance to do some real constructive work. Quit pulling their coat tails and cluttering up their mails. If you are really entitled to a job, you'll be getting it, without running the officials ragged and making a nuisance of yourself.

Can it be that the miners are merely dupes of those who seek to be their leaders? It is perhaps a question of who shall control the finances of the miners; who shall collect and be custodian of the dues paid into the union treasury?

This is often the bone of contention in labor disputes. If this is not what the miners are fighting about now, what is the trouble?

If the general public knew, it might help some. For the future of the miners and their families, which side in the conflict bears promise of giving these hard-working people a square deal?

The average miner is one of our very best citizens. Can it be that all the trouble is caused by a number of rattle-brained radicals, who seek to feather their own nests by fostering and keeping alive the agitation and discord?

OPPOSE PENSION TO VOLSTEAD VETERANS

Though we heartily disapprove of the hypocrisy of the 18th Amendment and the Volstead law, these beer-seeking statesmen give us almost as much of a pain.

When they try to make heroes out of law-violators, booze hounds, bootleggers and that class of folks, we protest. And furthermore, we herewith serve notice that we will always be against any plan that may be advanced to pay compensation, bonus or other emolument to those who have suffered, bled or been incarcerated under the laws growing out of the 18th Amendment. We are against paying pensions to the victims and veterans who fought under the Volstead Act.

Our liquor platform is one of Education looking toward Temperance, Moderation and Common Sense. We have no sympathy with either the Radical Dry or the Crazy Wet. They are both silly nuisances, the breeders of hypocrisy and deceit.

What Lincoln Might Say

In the name of Abraham Lincoln—plenty of nonsense has been perpetrated.

Let us imagine if we can that we are driving with Lincoln along the "Lincoln National Memorial Highway" markers for which were placed last week.

Lincoln—"What is the object of this highway?"

Answer—"It is to honor you Mr. Lincoln."

Lincoln—"This paving has been here for some time, has it not?"

Answer—"Yes, most of it has been."

Lincoln—"The road has been properly designated by number, etc., on road maps. I see that the markers are old and have done service."

Answer—"Yes, Mr. Lincoln, but don't you see the beautiful new markers with your name on them? This is now the Lincoln National Memorial Highway."

Lincoln—"But why should it be necessary to name a Highway after me? Are the people afraid they will forget me? Have they discovered something special lately that should lead them to doing me new honor?"

Answer—"No, Mr. Lincoln. But folks just thought we had to have some road named after you and this was the one selected."

Lincoln—"These markers that I see along the roadside, about what did they cost?"

Answer—"I'm not quite sure, but I suppose they cost all of five dollars each."

Lincoln—"Five dollars each! Why there are thousands of them and the cost must have been enormous. Where is this money raised? Do my admirers pay this?"

Answer—"No, Mr. Lincoln. This is paid out of public funds. All taxpayers are thus enabled to help pay."

Lincoln—"Outrageous! There is a nigger in the woodpile somewhere. Somebody is grafting off the people, and doing it in my name. You tell me that farmers are overburdened with debt. Taxes are so high that home-owners are losing their homes. This great state of Illinois stands at Washington like a beggar asking for funds for the relief of its unemployed and distressed. And you are telling me that some asinine admirers of mine have persuaded the government to spend many thousands of dollars putting up these silly markers along a highway, to honor me! Ye Gods, what an empty honor! What a silly, jackass piece of imbecility! I would to God that people would forget my name rather than try to honor it in such criminal folly."

And we looked around us. Where Lincoln had sat—he was no more. And it was well, for there was no answer to his scathing indictment.

A Play On Words

Frank H. Viztelly, the eminent lexicographer and managing editor of the New Standard Dictionary, has been collecting specimens for more than forty years. Lecturing before a recent meeting of the New York Business Paper Editors Doctor Viztelly told of them as follows:

First borne by the stork, man in his early stages creeps and crawls, and squawks and squeaks until he becomes a little pig. Later in life he is a poor fish and a sucker, but often acquires horse-sense. Road hogs flourish, end-seat hogs obstruct and the early bird gets the worm. Some people look sheepish, act like crawfish, or they grouse and growl, or snap like turtles. Some men are bull-headed; others are cow-licked. Husbands have lived to be mere insects. Occasionally one meets a consummate ass. We have wise old owls and sly old foxes. The eagle-eyed prey upon their fellow men. Sometimes a dirty dog runs amuck. Kangaroo courts are common. Clodhoppers hop and jay walkers walk. But most of us get stung without a bee in sight.

The female of the species is more deadly than the male. Old maids get cattish, and maids that are not so old, kittenish. Men are sharks, old bears or wolves in sheep's clothing, and pull the wool over your eyes. Some folks are 100 per cent bull. We lionize heroes, and everybody knows some old crab, some dumb cow, or some silly goose. Men are lobsters; the wise ones shut up in season like oysters or claims; or, like snails, they draw back into their shells. Every county seat has its courthouse rats; every town has its chickens and old hens. The whole human world is infested with parasites.

"We develop elephantiasis, horse's neck, Charlie horse, and a whale of a lot of other things. We are land-lubbers and sea-dogs and turtle-doves and otherwise fine birds, such as lame ducks or early birds. We are dark horses, hunks of cheese, little shrimps, and mites so often wiggle out of things. We do the goose-step, the turkey trot, the camel walk while we get a hump on ourselves. We have our bear-cats, ham-actors, and jackleg lawyers. We sing like canaries, laugh like hyenas, grin like Ches-shire cats, shed crocodile tears and hound and buffalo one another. We are stubborn as mules, slick as eels, but often have to pony up. We are the biggest toad in the puddle or the smallest tadpole in the pond. We make 'em pigeon-toed, walrus-toothed, pug-nosed, monkey-faced, chicken-hearted and cockeyed; and all of us are more or less cuckoo. Finally, we sing our swan song and croak. Now isn't that the science of words, just wonderful?"

The Son: "No man ever caught anything from the germs in his sweetheart's kisses."

His Dad: "No, well I caught a life-time job."

"Them's Our Sentiments" Say Moultrie Democrats

Moultrie Democrats feel that victory in Illinois November 8th was based on three fundamental points.

First—The high character and excellent record of public service as exemplified by Judge Henry Horner.

Second—The spirit of party harmony, which placed selfish ambition in the background and stepped forth to work for success. That spirit in its finest manifestation was shown by Bruce Campbell.

Third—Faithful and conscientious leadership during the "lean" years of Democracy required courage and real ability—Thomas F. Donovan had and displayed such leadership.

Recognizing all this, the Democrats have written these three leaders as follows: Governor Henry Horner, Chicago, Illinois.

Your Excellency:

At a recent meeting of our committee its officials were instructed to forward to you this letter of congratulation and extend best wishes for a successful administration of the office to which you have been elected.

In the present hectic struggle to secure jobs on the state payroll, many Democrats appear to lose sight of the fact that the most important promise made the public in the recent campaign was that of economy and the elimination of useless jobs—the cutting out of "dead wood."

While Moultrie Democrats of course expect some jobs, the interest of the rank and file of our voters, however, is that issue of economy. You may rest assured that not only the committee but all voters in Moultrie county, regardless of political affiliation or previous condition of servitude, are solidly back of you in any economy measures that you may see fit to place into effect during your administration.

Reports which have reached us relative to surveys of state jobs with a view of eliminating some, have been very gratifying to us and elicit favorable comment from the taxpayers.

We are certain that your administration will be an outstanding success.

Wishing you the compliments of the season we are,

Yours very truly,
H. M. Rigney, Chairman.
Clarence Miller, Secretary

Hon. Bruce Campbell,
Belleville, Illinois.

Dear Mr. Campbell:
Our committee in recent meeting voted to extend to you our wishes for success in the effort being made to secure for you a cabinet position in President Roosevelt's cabinet.

We are proud of you as a son of Illinois. We appreciate your excellent generalship in the recent campaign.

We admire that spirit of sportsmanship displayed by you toward your successful opponent in the April primary. We know that by your action you set the example that led to a united and harmonious party and the victory on November 8th.

Since militant Democracy has now gained the ascendancy, we hope and trust that national leaders will bestow on you the recognition which is your due.

Wishing you and yours the compliments of the season, we are

Yours very truly,
H. M. Rigney, Chairman.
Clarence Miller, Secretary

Hon. Thomas F. Donovan
Joliet, Illinois.

Dear Mr. Donovan:
Our committee in recent meeting voted to express to you our heartfelt gratitude and appreciation for the leadership which you have given the Democratic party of Illinois.

In the flush of victory, some are apt to forget that in the many lean years preceding, the Democratic party in Illinois existed and functioned and laid the foundations on which victory made its appearance in 1930 and swept our entire ticket into office on the recent November 8th.

Mr. Donovan, we know that the Democrats of Illinois owe you a debt which they can never fully repay. We are proud to have had you as a leader. We are proud to have you as our new Lieutenant Governor and wish you a full measure of success in the administration of that office.

We hope and trust that the party's leadership in this state may rest in you for many years to come and that factional or petty strife will not be permitted to raise its ugly head in the affairs of the Democracy of Illinois.

Wishing you the compliments of the season we are,

Yours very truly,
H. M. Rigney, Chairman.

The Postal Clerk

By H. S. Butler.

I think I'd like to be
A postal clerk one day,
I'd like to hear and see What people have to say.

I think the questions some folks ask Really must sound funny. To him who has the daily task Of swapping stamps for money.

H. S. Butler

It seems to me, I cannot learn I try but still I fail, The postage I cannot discern For different kinds of mail.

I guess the stamp clerk surely thinks I'm dull as dull can be, No wonder that his eyes, he blinks As he explains to me.

But where the letters are dished out Is where I'd like to stay, To see the people stand about— Hear what they have to say.

Just a day or so ago I heard a person say, "I do not think it can be so That I've no mail today."

And then the post clerk scratched his head He did not even frown, "We cannot give out mail" he said "Unless it comes to town."

And so it goes on day by day The postal clerk keeps sweet, No matter what we do or say He's always nice to meet.

MEMORY

The days of toil were hard and long,

But quiet hours came between; And in my heart I heard a song Of lovely things my eyes had seen.

And, growing old, shall I forget What joy my youth it gave to me

Or, in my heart, shall I regret The fight for truth and liberty? O in my heart let virtue keep The grace of all those lovely things,

Which, for my words, are far too deep; But round them still sweet memory clings. —C. B.

Brandy Sauce

An Illinois politician had a dream. He dreamt he was in heaven watching St. Peter, custodian of the pearly gates.

There came a knock at the gates. "Who is there?" asked the Saint.

"It is Oscar Carlstrom, Frank L. Smith and Len Small from Illinois," was the reply.

"You fellows are doubtless at the wrong place," said the Saint, "but we will admit Mr. Carlstrom and he can speak for you all."

And so Mr. Carlstrom entered the portals of heaven to plead before the heavenly throne for the admittance of his earthly pals. He remembered the time he went to Washington and made an unsuccessful plea to the Senate. But this time he apparently put it over and the verdict was "Go to thea pearly gates and admit Len Small and Frank L. Smith."

The angel hastened away but in a short time returned without the men. "Where are these men?" was asked. "Oh, most high and mighty Judge," said he "I beg to report that the men are no longer waiting at the pearly gates. They are gone and so are the pearly gates."

At a St. Louis radio broadcasting station they have a children's hour. The announcer gives out congratulations to kiddies who have notified him of their birthdays; he reads letters from them and quite generally furnishes an entertaining time for kiddies and their fond mothers.

Recently he got into trouble. He had been through one of these jolly entertainments and thought the power had been shut off and the microphone was dead, so he remarked "Well, I guess that'll hold those lousy brats for a while." But the microphone was still on and these unseemly words reached the ears of the "brats" and their mammas. An announcer is looking for a new job.

Bill: "Who's the new gal you're running around with?"
Bob: "Huh, she ain't new. She's the old one with her 1933 coat of paint."

"We can't insure you. You are too old" said the agent patiently to the man over 90.

A lot you know about insurance" said the old man, "You look up your statistics and you'll see that very few men die past the age of 90."

ABSENT-MINDEDNESS

Four absent-minded college professors were out for a little jaunt in the motor. The driving was inferior—the road very bumpy. After a most terrific bump, during which all hands had to hold on, one of the professors in the rear seat leaned over and touched the driver on the arm.

"Pardon," he said, "But your wife is not with us."

"Good heavens!" said the driver: "Why, she must have gone out when we bumped."

He backed the car up for nearly a mile, but there was no sign of a living soul.

"Come to think of it," said one of the others, "are you sure your wife was with us?"

"To tell the truth, I don't believe she was," said the driver, doubtfully. "How stupid of me!"

"But tell me," said the professor who had not yet spoken, "I thought you got a divorce two or three years ago—didn't you?"

"Well, of all things!" said the driver, laughing heartily. "Of course I did. I must be getting absent-minded."

THE THINGS I LOVE

There are the things I love: A day in June,
The mist which veils a slowly rising moon,
The beaten batter in a yellow bowl
The earth-scent from a freshly burrowed hole,
The swish of wings as birds at dawn wheel by
In close formation 'neath a wind-tossed sky,
Dark grapes in clusters peeping from the vines,
The echo of the sea heard in the pines,
A clump of violets wet with morning dew,
These are the things I love because of you.

You taught me, thus, to see the true intent
In all of beauty. You yourself have lent
Your sweetness to my thoughts,
Now I can see
That all these joys are meant for you and me.

At the THEATRE

Well, folks, here we're right in the new year. Some folks have been busy making resolutions and some have been trying to find remedies for "my cold." Talking about remedies—the best one ever devised for any kind of illness is a hearty laugh, forgetfulness of imaginary ills and that kind of enjoyment of life which you get when you sit in with the Saturday crowd at the Grand.

You know there is this about sickness—folks like to be pitied. They like sympathy and when a few germs get in their dirty work, why the victim starts making a sour face and tells how bad he feels. After once exaggerating his bad feelings, he thinks he has to live up to them and he generally does. When people talk about their ailments they usually exaggerate and then they've got to make good. Did you ever think of sickness in that way. Never brag about how bad you feel. Brag and lie a little about how good you feel—you can't go wrong.

The Saturday Star this week is Tim McCoy. The name of the picture is "The Western Code." It's the sort of dish you like. As desert there is Andy Clyde in a comedy and Fables cartoon.

"If I Had a Million"

Nearly everybody has at some time or other wondered what he would do if he "had a million." This story is about a rich old coddler who had a million. He was dying and among those who know him there are no regrets. And around all this there is an interesting story which in pictures is well told by Gary Cooper, George Raft, Wynne Gibson, Jack Oakie, Charlie Ruggles, Alison Skipworth, Gene Raymond, Lucien Littlefield, etc.—looks like an all-star cast. This is the show Sunday and Monday. Manager Hays says he has a number of interesting short subjects.

Charles Laughton
Some months ago Charles Laughton, a great English actor received plenty of favorable comment from American picture goers. His picture "Devil and the Deep" with Tallulah Bankhead was shown here. In "Payment Deferred" showing here Tuesday night only, he stars with Maureen O'Sullivan, Dorothy Peterson and an able cast. The picture has plenty of thrills and good acting. You see a man commit the "perfect crime" and you see how a strange force prepares his doom. It is a drama that made two continents gasp. If we wanted to see something out of the ordinary we'd go see this Laughton performance. Also comedy and some short stuff.

Worthan's Showboat players were obliged to cancel their date Tuesday, January 3rd. They will be seen in the future on Wednesday nights and on that night next week will present the popular farce comedy, "The Whole Dam Family," also two vaudeville specialties.

Wednesday night's picture is a breezy production "Me and my Gal" with Spencer Tracy and Joan Bennett. This picture is chuckful of comedy, romance, action, drama or what will you have? Spencer Tracy and Joan Bennett are usually good. Among others in the cast is old Henry B. Walthall. You may have seen him in "Birth of a Nation."

"You'll enjoy 'Me and my Gal' so ask your present or prospective 'Gal' to join you in a pleasant evening.

Madame Butterfly
Thursday and Friday night the famous old play, "Madame Butterfly" will be presented. This stars Sylvia Sidney, playing opposite Cary Grant. Charlie Ruggles and Irving Pichel also play right out. "In the temple of Daibutsu, the great Buddha, kneel a strange trio. A middle-aged woman. A young, beautiful girl. And from things like this there is developed a wonderful love story, a great play. To the heroine it meant "love forever" to the hero only "Love until my ship comes back."

There will also be other good features. This is a very well-balanced and pleasing program.

The Grand Theatre, one of the most persistent and consistent advertisers in Sullivan is a community builder. It draws people to Sullivan and it royally entertains them with the best the picture world has to offer while they are here. People who come to Sullivan for entertainment also come here to buy. Confectioneries, filling stations and stores of nearly every kind get some benefit through the people that The Grand draws to Sullivan.

May it live long and prosper!

MOULTRIE ISSUED 116 MARRIAGE LICENSES

During the year 1932 county clerk Paul C. Chips issued 116 marriage licenses. The last one of the old year was that of Saturday to Andrew E. C. and 21, Hammond and Katha. License 18, Kirkville.

Job Applicants' Pleas Now On File In Springfield

Friday morning Clarence Miller, Secretary of the Moultrie county Democratic central committee motored to Springfield and delivered to Judge J. F. Fackler's Fact Finding Committee all application blanks filled in by Moultrie county people who had jobs on the state payroll. The number was 167 and the range of jobs desired was many and varied.

The Springfield committee will sort over the applications, not the endorsement or lack thereof and assign them to its various departments, from which in time will come the decisions which will place Democrats in state jobs. If ten per cent of the 167 Moultrie applicants get jobs it is all that can be expected.

Mr. Miller was accompanied to Springfield by H. P. Rigney of Arthur and L. Roughton of this city.

WHEN IS A ROBIN THE FIRST ROBIN OF SPRING?

If you see a robin about Christmas time, is that the first robin of spring or is it the last one of fall? That is a question that is bothering Emory Creech. He says that he had one in his yard about Christmas time, but he has since either frozen to death or disappeared.

If anybody can answer the above question for Emory, he will relieve his mind of a very perplexing problem.

YE GODS! HOW EASY 'TIS TO MAKE MISTAKES

Did you see in last week's Progress where "Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Crowder" entertained the Strickland relationship.

That item was all mixed up. It seems that such things will happen even in the best regulated newspaper offices. The facts in the case are that lines got mixed up.

It was Mr. and Mrs. Walter Strickland who entertained at their home on Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. Crowder spent that time with relatives in Indiana.

Of course, we are exceedingly sorry that the mistake was made, but we have a confession to make—we'll never be absolutely certain that we'll make no more mistakes until we hear clods rumbling on a box lid and we're inside the box. And if we do hear that we'll know that the undertaker made a mistake.

Mistakes will happen. That's why they put rubbers on lead pencils.

—Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hostetter and son Jimmie, George Finley of Smyser spent Tuesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Finley.

CHARLEY FITZPATRICK DIED AT COUNTY FARM

Charley Fitzpatrick, aged 63 years and 6 days, died Thursday at the county farm where he had been an inmate since September 15, 1928.

He came to this part of the country from Champaign county. His wife died many years ago. He leaves two daughters in Charleston, but their names and addresses are not known.

In his active days Charley was a farmer. In later years he worked wherever he could find it.

Funeral services were held Friday by Rev. Lawrence. The McMullin Funeral Home was in charge. Burial was in Greenhill cemetery.

MURRAY'S ARE ILL

Frank Murray is now in the Decatur & Macon county hospital and Mrs. Murray is in St. Mary's.

Mr. Murray has been suffering several months from a skin ailment supposed to have been caused by creosote poisoning. He was in Chicago hospitals for a time and a short stay at his home northwest of Windsor was taken to Decatur. Mrs. Murray now has the same sickness.

Only ONE Gasoline, SKELLY AROMAX, Gives these 3 Winter Advantages

1. HIGH TEST. Skelly Aromax is high gravity gasoline, as high as 72 degrees, depending on driving conditions. It vaporizes instantly at colder than 7 a. m. temperatures. You start at once, using the full power of your motor. No "warm-up." No battery strain.

2. HIGH ANTI-KNOCK. For the hard pulls of winter you need a gasoline that does not "kick" your pistons. Skelly Aromax Gasoline gives your pistons smooth, silent pushes, which are much more powerful and less injurious than the "broncho-bucking" kicks of ordinary gasoline.

3. TAILOR-MADE. Skelly's fleet of test cars, traveling over the middle west, have gathered facts which are the basis for tailor-making Skelly Aromax Gasoline to exactly fit the driving conditions in your state and your community.

Only Skelly Has These Facts

The facts and plant facilities for tailor-making Skelly Gasoline are available to no other oil company. No tests in a laboratory can duplicate this information. No other oil company tailor-makes its gasoline.

Skelly gives you all the qualities you want in a gasoline, all in ONE gasoline. To assure you that you get this gasoline, New Skelly Aromax is orange-colored for identification.

Winter Gravity as high as 72 Degrees—Tailor-made for local conditions.

MOST GASOLINES ARE NEITHER
HIGH TEST NOR HIGH ANTI-KNOCK
A FEW GASOLINES ARE EITHER
HIGH TEST OR HIGH ANTI-KNOCK
NEW SKELLY GASOLINE IS BOTH
HIGH TEST AND HIGH ANTI-KNOCK and TAILOR-MADE FOR YOUR STATE

Tailor-Made Because of the Facts Found Out by These Test Cars

Sullivan Reds Easily Capture Moultrie Co. Basketball Championship

Sullivan's Big Scores Swamp Opponent

By Jim Scott

Don Coates' speedy white-clad Okaw cagers from Arthur opened the Thursday night tourney with an easy 27 to 18 victory over Lovington.

With winsome Harold Bouck speeding under the goal for a series of tallies Arthur racked up a 10 to 1 advantage in the first period and then switching their machine into free wheeling they coasted in without losing any of their early 9 point margin.

Bouck was far too clever for Shorty Galbreath's defensive men tricking them into openings for his varied close shots from which he realized 17 counters.

The Lovington scoring was most evenly distributed with Mert Blackford bearing the brunt of the attack. Foster McBride showed flashes of form but in the main he was given to considerable loafing.

Petite Doc Vyverberg, a youth with extremely dark brows, was inserted late in the match and forthwith made good on his 3 attempts at the free throw line. Lovington as a team showed their greatest potency at this scoring vein by hitting 8 of their 11 contributions.

Score by quarters:
Arthur 10 4 12 1—27
Lovington 1 4 9 4—18

Reds Run Over Gays 53 to 19

Clark Dennis' Title-bound Reds advocating a high geared offense advanced to the finals by handing Gays a severe 53 to 19 lacing. With velocity that knew no bounds the locals turned on full blast at the onset and with a hi-de-hi and a couple of hot-chas the Red hurricane swept at Joe Lucas' plucky contingent and at the initial chapter were riding on the elongated end of a 23 to 2 count.

Bill Dwyer came tearing down the floor like the midnight limited to register the Reds' first 4 buckets, then pausing for a breath catching hiatus he returned to tally 3 more on driving in shots before the half called a halt to the massacre with the locals in the van 32 to 5.

Throughout the second half the hosts kept up their unspittable treatment and in the deluge of raining baskets Pete McDavid emerged with a 19 point capital, the exact number totaled by the adversary—to nose out Bill for high point honors. The winners sum of 25 baskets created a new high for the season's play.

Young, a scrappy little dark-haired guard was the whole show for the visitors.

For some unknown reason Hugh Grote did not see action.
Sullivan 23 9 9 12—53
Gays 2 3 5 9—19

Windsor Trims Bethany 28 to 24

Windsor high with five men clicking to perfection nosed out Bethany 28 to 24 in what might be classified as an upset victory. This tilt which qualified Dunscomb's squad for the finals and relegated Bethany to the consolation division was marked by a minimum of fouls.

Bethany was clearly off its game and only Windsor's inability to make good a fair percentage of its close in shots prevented the score from mounting even higher. It was the unerring long range accuracy of Doc Grabb, Coach Cunningham's dribbler de luxe that kept Bethany in the race.

Baskets by Bailey and Elliott broke a 3 to 3 deadlock and at the quarter Windsor was out in front by an 8 to 3 count. Late in the second canto Grabb tossed in three baskets and Scott, pinch hitting for Mallinson, came through with one from under the basket to bring the reading to 15 to 12 for Windsor. Then the third period the orange and Black narrowed it to 20 to 19 and it looked like only a matter of time before they would overhaul their high flying adversary. Windsor, however, proved equal to the occasion and meeting basket by basket they staved off imminent disaster just as they had done the previous night against Arthur.

Score by quarters:
Bethany 8 9 7 5—24
Windsor 8 7 5 8—28

Dalton & Gays Annihilated

One of the smallest gatherings ever to witness a game in the S. T. H. S. gym saw Bethany and Arthur trounce Gays and Dalton City to advance to the finals of the consolation round. The scarcity of patronage was of course due to the fact that neither Gays nor Dalton had a ghost of a show and then too, all four of the teams had already tasted the "dark brown" of defeat.

Arthur swept aside Johnny Cole's Dalton hopefuls 59 to 15 after a slow start. Coates second team played throughout the opening half and were able to accrue only a 14 to 3 advantage. The regulars were rushed into the fray in the third quarter and responded by ringing up 29 points in their 8 minutes of activity. "Bouncing Ball" Bouck accounted for 12 of their total.

Grace, Dalton's guard, parted the meshes with three consecutive long shots in the final quarter.

Bethany, although represented by regulars, were also off to a slow start but they too were at full heat in the second half to hand Joe Lucas and disciples a 51 to 19 spanking.

Grabb with 14 points to his credit, was jerked just as the final quarter was under way and a second later Scott pushed in a counter to match Doc's total but unfortunately he committed his fourth offense and was forced from the fray a minute later thus slamming the door in the face of the opportunity to achieve the unusual distinction of outscoring the Bethany ace.

Young constituted the whole Gays offense and about 50 per cent of the defense. His speedy dribbling was their sole mode of conveying the ball to the registering rim and in addition to some fifty floor work he was the leading scorer of the session with 15 points credited to his monicker.

Score by quarters:
Bethany 8 12 21 10—51
Gays 4 8 4 3—19
Arthur 5 9 16 29—59
Dalton City 0 3 9 3—15

Arthur Thrashes Bethany

Paged by little Harold Bouck, Arthur's speedy Red and White attired tossers swept over Bethany Friday night to gain an easy 34 to 23 verdict, thus copping the consolation crown and with it the much abused tourney ball.

The Cunningham preps in the throes of a mid-season slump, played a ragged brand of ball, by far their worst exhibition of the season, doing everything that a good team does not do such as firing from out in the court and then failing to follow in.

Bouck flipped in 5 baskets and a free toss to give his team a convincing lead at the half way mark and then after converting 3 donations from the gratis stripe retired along with three other companions as the final quarter got under way. He was ably assisted by sly, slender Mr. Oye who did himself proud with 5 timely baskets and Dixon who took the ball off either handboard to give his team constant possession. Arthur scored 23 of their points in the two middle periods.

Grabb with 11 points and Scott, who fell an early heir to Mallinson's forward berth, with 9, comprised the Bethany offense.

Score by quarters:
Bethany 3 4 5 11—23
Arthur 2 17 11 4—34

Dennis Reds Retain Co. Championship

Hats off, you fans, to Clark Dennis' victorious Redskins, who defended their Moultrie county cage crown which they won for the first time last year, in a manner which left not the inkling of a doubt in the most skeptical minds as to their right of succession. Like a thundering rock slide from the lofty Sierras rumbling over a blushing supple mountain flower, the Reds bowled over Jobey Dunscomb's Windsor five 49 to 7 in the final game of the tourney to appease the motley array of faithful backers who were screaming for another landslide such as the Dennismen released the two previous nights. Never before has this county's basketball championship been won by such a decisive margin.

Captain Pete McDavid was the big shot in the devastating Red offense firing in a total of 25 points which is, as far as we know, the highest individual total ever rung up by a prepster in the county's annual meet. As a team the locals put on the most noteworthy display of aggressiveness ever filmed in the local inclosure and as a result Windsor never had a ghost of a show. Galloping Bill Dwyer often startled the offense by leaping high to snare the ball on the rebound and then his charge down the court was soon under way. Rapidly gaining momentum, Bill passed mid-court with throttle open looking like an infuriated bull on the heels of an illusive Matador. At the free throw line Bill had option on either springing into the air for a one-handed push shot or flipping it sideways to a waiting comrade. Whenever Bill or assistant missed, Pete was right under the rim to bat in the rebound. Other times the offense was started by either Dunscomb or Dwyer whipping the ball to the side of mid-court where Bill Richardson received and then the three offensive men swept down court circulating under the tally board for a close in shot.

Windsor fought back valiantly throughout the opening period but as they realized the hopelessness of their task and weary from two evenings of hard play they petered out badly in the second installment. Gregory no longer contested Kinsel's center jump and the Red sentinels accepted each tip and basket after basket resulted from this formation even though the whole Windsor team concentrated on defensive endeavors.

As a sidelight to the scuffle, the crowd got a big kick out of the way Bill Dwyer took care of Griffin, the Windsor forward afflicted with an overdose of ego. Right off the bat Bill forced him into committing a foul but Griffin only threw back his head and opened his yawning gap. As the battle wore on the tall boy became vexed and quite irritable as Bill in a cool effortless manner kept him away from the basket and also saw to it that he received no rebounds, to say nothing of raking him over the coals by means of a few bitter quips. Finally in the fourth quarter he lost control of his temper and feinted the ball as though to shove it full force into Dunk's face. At this gesture his guardian, playful Bill, whispered something in his ear—he blushed, and then Pete gave him the "Shamey, Shamey" sign and for the first time Mr. Griffin registered embarrassment. He did, however, save himself from utter rout by swishing the meshes with a beautiful long shot from around center.

With his black attired boys hopelessly behind, Dunscomb sent in a couple of little gamesters who proved more effective workmen than the replaced regulars.

All of the Red Shirts played brilliantly while Bill Kinsel turned in his best work of the tourney being particularly useful in rebound duty.

CITY LEAGUE BASKET BALL

(By Sam Bolin)

Twenty Grands leads the league due to the defeat they handed the Cutters 25 to 19. The inhalers led throughout the game. Cogdal, Fultz and Blystone led the winners while Freeman was high for the visitors.

Forgotten-men defeated the Speed Demons 27 to 22 in a close game. C. Bolin led the winners and "Baer" Elder the losers. The two teams were never more than two points apart until the last quarter when Bolin dropped in three more baskets.

Ring Dings showed improvement and gave the Bruins a close game 24 to 21. Montie Blue, was the star for the Ring Dings while Hancock of the Bruins let the winners.

Sullivan Red Birds won another easy game and sent Monticello home on the short end 52 to 17. "Red" Elliott had a field night, scoring 19 points. Keith Bolin was high for the visitors.

Sullivan took the West Side Market into camp Thursday of last week 36 to 31. Sullivan led at the half 17 to 13 due to Ward and Elliott.

Hennigh and Elliott did most of the scoring in third quarter while Ward made two in the last period.

On Friday night the Red Birds journey to Decatur and defeated the great Third U. B.'s 38 to 30.

The Red Birds led at half time 19 to 12 and 24 to 20 at the end of the third quarter. Third U. B.'s led at one time 28 to 27 in the last period, but Ward got two baskets, with Elliott, Rozene and Gregg one a piece in less than 4 minutes and Decatur's rally was completely stopped.

Sullivan has shown by these victories that she has one of the best independent teams in this section of the country. Come and see them play every Wednesday for only one dime.

THE PROGRESS ALL-STAR TOURNEY QUINTET

Forward—McDavid, Sullivan.
Forward—Grabb, Bethany
Center—Bouck, Arthur.
Guard—Dwyer, Sullivan.
Guard—Dunscomb, Sullivan.

Yes, Bill would execute the center jump.

Felicitations and a bucket of praise are certainly in order for Clark Dennis' rampant redskins who turned what looked to be a heated Co. cage meet into a veritable runaway. Never before in the annals of county cage warfare has any strong five so demonstrated its superiority over its county rivals as did The Sullivan Reds who in their 3 games amassed a total of 154 points as compared to their opponents' low lump of 35. However in behalf of the tourney's prestige it must be added that the locals did not face such a respectable array of competition and Windsor, who proved a tartar to the Reds suppositive strong rivals, was a somewhat battered and worn outfit as the result of their two thrilling upset victories filmed on the preceding nights.

It will be noticed that although Windsor copped second place in the tourney no member of their cast was chosen on our honorary five and should the reader reason, someone must be given credit for Windsor's splendid showing. We reply that such individual was Coach Dunscomb who, of course, is not eligible. It has been perennially proven—and we should know it by this time—that just as long as Jobey Dunscomb is at the helm down in Windsor, that team will be a ranking contender to annex the laurels at stake in the county tourney.

Those in the know were not greatly surprised by Windsor's flashy victory over Arthur—nor the Bethany upset. But it is a mystery to all how Jobey brought his team so far considering his material.

Their complete rout at Redskins hands proved them only an ordinary if not mediocre outfit, yet the fact remains that somehow or another Jobey got from them their uttermost capabilities. To defeat the number 2 and 3 teams of the county and thus preserve his houndin reputation when it comes to keying his boys for the annual joust for county supremacy.

Dunscomb's two inexperienced guards, Swain and Bailey, are to be congratulated for their plucky fighting spirit and good all-around brand of ball displayed throughout the tourney. Considered the weakest department on the Windsor team they nevertheless held up their end of the argument in fine shape and were just as popular with the crowd as "Grandstand" Griffin was unpopular. Griffin, a tall sophomore with the bandaged wrist which he waved constantly for your notice, proved the spectators pet peeve with his perpetual egotistical gestures such as throwing his facial features into an assortment of Lon Chaney caricatures at the slightest provocation and prancing about the inclosure after the whistle had sounded in order that the crowd might get an unobstructed portrait of Mr. Griffin in action. At rest periods he would prostrate himself on the hardwood in a manner befitting the giant Goliath after he had been toppled by young David in their mortal duel. Galloping Bill Dwyer threw the throng into ecstasy when he belittled and subdued the self-satisfied one throughout the final battle.

Dan Elliott will be ineligible for further competition next year while Gregory will be lost by graduation this spring. Elliott is an excellent dribbler as his name implies and a good marksman on the run, while Gregory is a hard driver and will score frequently on follow-in shots. Both boys are fine sportsmen.

Lovington Is Easy Victim For Reds

Coach Dennis' pulverizing Reds continued their high scoring tactics which originated last week by trouncing Shorty Galbreath's Lovington outfit 50 to 16. Lovington was one of the fortunate aggregations which was spared from a Red mauling in the tourney. The game marked the final of the series of two tilts between the county rivals with the local crew victors in each conflict.

Sullivan led by only a single point in the opening chapter and it looked as though a close struggle was ensuing but in the second period the Reds drove in for 18 points while the plump Cenozo cagers were garnering only a lone counter. From then on out the Dennis men rung up tallies in rapid succession to keep their average for the past four games above the half century mark which, believe us, is some offense.

Aggressive Pete McDavid again checked in with a brilliant performance featuring an assemblage of 22 points which was alone sufficient to offset the Lovington scoring damage. Bill Dwyer, Fritz Poland, and Elmer Dunscomb were also loyal patriots of the cause while scowling Mert Blackford, Lovington's strong man, champion was held scoreless from the field.

Luther Dixon Tells About Hunting Deer In Upper Michigan

Luther Dixon, former Moultrie man, but for some years a member of the police force in Lincoln Park, a Detroit suburb, recently had a deer-hunting experience which was commented on by his home paper as follows:

While the deer hunting season of 1932 is now only memories, the exploits of three Lincoln Parkers who trudged through upper Michigan's timber land to return empty-handed, needs re-telling. The hunters are Geo. Hamilton, Howard Daily and Luther Dixon.

Dixon and Hamilton, the tenderfeet of the party, were presented with a Paul Bunyan story book, by Daily before the start of the trip and expected to find great herds of deer as soon as they arrived at Seney. They believed that they would be able to step out of their car, select any one of a number of huge bucks, shoot him, and then go on their way.

On the way up, while they were on the ferry boat crossing the Straits of Mackinac, a huge sea gull swooped down and snatched a new compass from Hamilton's hand, as he was proudly displaying it to his fellow hunters and telling them how anxious he was to use it.

The tenderfeet received a disappointed shock when they discovered a bottle labeled "alcohol" which was in Daily's luggage, was the rubbing variety, and not the kind that is taken internally for colds, chills and other ailments. In fact, both Hamilton and Dixon had already developed symptoms that would require a stimulant when they discovered, to their chagrin, the truth about the bottle.

After failing to bring down any of the elusive deer and discovering that their hunting technique was proper for the tracking of buffalo, the tenderfeet said that they are going to spend much time in the next year studying the mechanism of a deer to see if they can determine the exact reason why they do not have any gears to shift and have only one speed—high.

Dixon, disgusted with the failure of the deer to walk up to him and be shot, roamed away from the others one day and went hunting for other things. He succeeded in scaring up a porcupine but mistook it for a cub bear, with the result that he collected a number of quills that were quite painful in the process of being removed.

Many other amusing incidents were told of the much-bewildered tenderfeet in the woods, but they claim they're going back again next year and will bring back a buck. Maybe, if they look into the matter, they may at least learn where to buy one by the time the next hunting season rolls around.

Moultrie Banner Democratic County In Governor Race

In this part of the state, the voters of Moultrie county gave Judge Henry Horner a higher percentage of the vote cast on November 8th than in neighboring counties. Shelby county is a close rival for the honor.

Moultrie cast 3,793 for Horner and 2,554 for Small, or a 59.76 percentage for Horner.

Shelby cast 7,496 for Horner and 5,107 for Small. This gives it a Horner percentage of 59.48.

In Coles county the percentage for Horner was 56½; in Cumberland it was 56; in Edgar 53; in Douglas 53.

The total vote cast for the two leading candidates for governor in the entire state was — Horner 1,930,330; Small 1,364,043. This gives Horner a majority of 566,287.

SALE STARTS AT 10 A. M.

O. F. Doner, Auctioneer First National Bank, Clerk

L. A. Downs* says:

The new year brings to all of us a high resolve to better the showing of 1932. Adversity has given us added brotherhood and an understanding of one another's problems.

These are assets which cannot be weighed or entered in the books, but they spur us on to progress, just the same.

What the railroads need and are getting is public understanding—not merely sympathy. They, in turn, recognize and pledge themselves to meet the public's need for progress in transportation. Such unity promises advancement in 1933.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

*President, Illinois Central System

DEPENDABLE FOR 81 YEARS

C. F. Duggan* says:

I thank the people of Sullivan and vicinity for the business they have given us in the year just closed and request their continued patronage for the year of 1933.

Unquestionably, you have the public understanding of the problems of the Illinois Central and know that concerted action along well defined lines will insure a more prosperous New Year for the railroads as well as its friends and patrons who share the tax burden of the community.

I offer my services in a spirit of cooperation to the end that this year may hold forth better times for the people of this community.

Then she laughed at herself.

There was nothing in the world to prevent Barbara from going off at any moment if she so wished. She was free, and she had plenty of money, but there was nobody with whom she wished to take such a journey.

But if she had been married to Dennis O'Hara—she brushed that thought quickly aside, and went hurriedly to her bath.

Jerry Barnet rang up while she was dressing. "Should have rung before," he explained, "only I thought you'd be asleep. Tired myself this morning. Awful!"

"I'm as fresh as a daisy," Barbara told him cuttingly. "And I will have to tell you it's all off for Wednesday."

"Oh, I say!"

"Yes, I've got some people coming up from the country," Barbara explained coolly. "And I've got to show them around. Awful bore!"

"Who are they? Didn't know you had any country relations."

"I haven't. It's Pauline and Dennis O'Hara. They're tired of rusticiating and want a change."

"Well, you'll want a fourth, so what about me?"

Barbara hesitated, then she laughed. "Oh, very well. You'll like Pauline, she's pretty and innocent."

"That's another word for stupid."

"You think so? Well, you must judge for yourself. They're going to stay at the Albion—deadly respectable, isn't it? I thought a little supper after a show on Wednesday night. Reserve a table somewhere, will you?"

"All right, but I shall see you tonight? We're going to the Venners'. It seems ages since last night."

"All right."

She rang off, frowning. If only Jerry wouldn't be so slavish. No doubt some women would love such devotion, but she found it irritating. He ought to have married a woman like Pauline.

Barbara spent the morning at her dressmaker's. Madame Celeste had some new creations freshly arrived from Paris that morning, so she untruthfully said. She showed Barbara all her most expensive and exotic models, but Barbara would have none of them.

"I am going to change my style," she said coolly. "Show me something simple—black or white—nothing Oriental."

But, madame—Celeste was the picture of grief-stricken amazement. Barbara cut her short.

"You heard what I said—something simple in black or white. If you haven't got anything I can go elsewhere."

"I suppose I'm mad—utterly mad she told herself as she drove away. "But it's nice to be different sometimes—it's as good as a holiday," and she thought again of Dennis.

If they could have spent a holiday together! For a moment she let her imagination have full play. She and Dennis down by the sea, walking hand in hand along golden sands with the fresh breeze blowing in their faces. They would be young together, with everything else in the world forgotten. She wrenched her wandering thoughts back to sanity. Dennis did not love her and, even if he did, how soon would they grow weary of each other? No, no, it was far better as it was. Pauline was the wife for him.

Pauline was the kind of woman to make a home for such a man as Dennis. And yet it was by his choice that they were coming to town.

Why had he done it? Barbara told herself she did not know, could not guess, and yet—deep down in her heart there was a little fluttering hope that it was because he wanted to see her.

"You're a fool!" she told herself pitifully again and again, and could only remember that it is better far to be a fool in Paradise than to be wise and have no Paradise at all.

Barbara made Jerry Barnet go with her to meet the O'Haras. It was a pouring wet evening, and New York looked at its worse. Barbara slipped a hand through Jerry's arm as they walked up and down the platform.

"You look very young tonight," he said. He pressed her hand close to his side. "I like you in that get-up. New isn't it?"

"Oh, I've had it some time!" Barbara said carelessly, but she flushed and wondered what he would say if she told him it was all new and expressly bought for Dennis O'Hara.

She had not slept a wink all night; she had lain awake like an excited girl waiting for the man she loved.

"So absurd!" she scolded herself. "After all the experience I've had of men. Of course, it won't last—it's just another of my tancies." She tried to believe in her own words, but it was difficult. She had loved Dennis for so long—more than a year—and a year was a great time to Barbara. And now Dennis was coming to New York. In another moment she would see him and read the usual almost angry disapproval in his eyes. She gave a little stifled laugh and Jerry looked down at her.

"What's the joke? Let's share it!"

"I am wondering how you will like my friends."

"Oh, all right, I expect! Storm-away likes O'Hara. I told you."

"Yes—did he say anything about Pauline?"

"Only that she was young—just a kid."

"Yes," Barbara's heart contracted. She was so much older than Pauline, in experience if not in actual years. She wondered if she would have stood a better chance with Dennis if she had met him sooner—before her marriage, before she had cultivated this hard cynical attitude toward life, to hide from the world her bitter hurt and disillusionment. She had done it so well that everybody accepted it now as her real self—all except Pauline, that is—simple little Pauline who loved her and believed in her in spite of what other people said.

"Here comes the train," Jerry broke in upon her thoughts, and she drew her hand from his arm and hurried forward. Pauline was at the window, smiling and eager. Barbara saw Dennis lay a hand on her shoulder and heard him say: "Wait till the train stops; there is plenty of time."

Then it stopped, and Pauline opened the door and almost fell into her friend's unresponsive arms.

"How lovely to see you again. It seems years. We've brought an awful lot of luggage. I don't believe it will all go on one taxi!"

"I made Jerry bring his car," Barbara said coolly, though her pulses were racing. She introduced them. "Mr. Barnet—Mrs. O'Hara, Mr. O'Hara."

Dennis and Jerry shook hands.

"It's very kind of you to have met us," said Dennis, looking at Barbara.

"Not at all. Get a porter, Jerry. I don't call this much luggage, my child," she told Pauline when it was collected.

They got into the car—Dennis in front with Jerry, and the two girls behind.

"We've got tickets for a show tonight," Barbara said; "and we've booked a table for supper afterward."

"Oh, but Dennis ought to rest," Pauline broke out agitatedly.

"Nonsense." There was a sharp note in her husband's voice. "It's not nearly so tiring sitting in a train as it is trying to drag myself about the house."

Pauline's face quivered. "Of course, if you're not tired—" she faltered. They reached the hotel.

"We'll call for you at half-past seven," Barbara said. "No, we won't come in now—you'll want to unpack. So glad you've come."

She blew Pauline a kiss and leaned back with a sigh. "Take me home, Jerry. I feel so exhausted."

"You go and dress and come back for me, and don't be late," said Barbara at her door.

He was amazed, when on arriving again at the flat he found her dressed and waiting.

"Great Scott!" he whistled looking her over from head to foot. Barbara laughed. "Do you like me? No lipstick—no earrings—no nothing you've always been used to."

He drew a quick breath.

"Love it's not you! But all the same—you're divine."

She swept him a mock curtsy, her eyes bright with excitement.

Jerry took her hand and, bending, kissed it.

"I'm almost afraid of you, and yet—" Suddenly he caught her to him. "Barbara—darling—"

She wrenched herself free from his passionate arms.

"Let me go—beast! Beast!"

Jerry Barnet was crimson with anger.

"Anyone would think you'd never been kissed before—what the deuce is the matter? Other times you've never objected. Oh, I say, chuck it, Barbara!" for she had begun to sob, tearlessly, but with infinite pathos.

He had never seen her give way to emotion before, and he was angry and distressed. It was almost as if with her new mode of dressing she had changed her nature too. "Chuck it!" he said again with a choke in his voice. "I didn't know. I'm awfully sorry. It's not as if I've never kissed you before, or any other man."

"I know!" She struggled in vain for composure. "I know—I'm cheap—second hand!" She laughed valiantly. "Don't take any notice. Get me a drink."

Jerry brought her the drink. His hand shook a little and his eyes were ashamed, though he could not have explained why.

"Sorry!" he said hoarsely. "Beastly sorry! I'd rather have died than use you. Awful!"

"Idiot!" She forced a smile, and drained the glass he gave her.

"Forget it. It's too many late nights—my nerves are upset. I'll have to put some color on after all I look a sight."

She kept him waiting ten minutes, and he avoided looking at her as they left the flat together. He was a bungler, but somewhere at the back of his slow mind he realized that he had hurt her intolerably, misunderstood her.

In the car he said: "Would you rather not go? I'll explain to O'Hara."

"My God!" Barbara said violently. "What do you take me for? If you ever breathe a word I'll never speak to you again."

They drove to the Albion in silence.

"You wait. I'll fetch them," Barbara said. She was out of the car before he could stop her. In the lounge she met Dennis.

"Ready?" she asked. He did not answer at once, and she knew he was looking at her frock—missing her bizarre earrings, her usual flamboyancy. "Pauline will be down in a moment," he said.

Barbara moved to the fire, and he followed. "It's cold," she said. She looked up at him. "I hope you won't be very bored," she submitted with an effort. "I know you hate New York."

He said nothing, and she went on, feeling that anything was better than silence. "It's good of you to come. It's for Pauline's sake, I suppose?" But she knew full well it was not.

O'Hara laughed. "I suppose I ought to say yes, but I've rather a preference for the truth. No, it's not for Pauline's sake."

"For whose, then?"

"For my own."

"I see. You thought New York would be a pleasant change after six months' suburban domesticity."

"No!" O'Hara met her eyes steadily. "Have you ever been told that if a song or a tune haunts you the best way is to get hold of it and hear it right through and then you will be able to forget it?"

She shook her head. "No. I don't know what you mean."

"I mean that ever since you went away a fortnight ago the thought of you has haunted me against my will. I've hated it, tried to get rid of it. I can't, so I came to town to see you." He broke off abruptly.

Barbara's eyes were like stars.

"You mean—so that you will be able to forget me?"

He made no reply, and she laughed with soft triumph.

"You won't be able to," she whispered. "I'll never let you!"

DEMOCRATS TO CONTROL STATE OFFICES MONDAY

(Con. from Page 1)

Inglewood in the office of Secretary of state.

Edward J. Barrett will take up the reins of State Auditor, as successor to Oscar Nelson.

John Martin of Salem is the new state treasurer. He succeeds Edward J. Barrett, a Democrat, the new auditor.

Judge Otto Kerner will guide the destinies of the attorney general's office where Oscar Carlstrom of Aleo has been boss for eight years.

Adam F. Bloch of Chicago is the new clerk of the Supreme Court.

Roy A. Johnson of Taylorville is the new clerk of the Appellate court 3rd district, succeeding Laura Walmsley.

The Legislature will have a Democratic working majority in both Senate and House.

Judge Horner has given instructions that his inaugural in the Armory Monday shall be economical. There is to be no lavish display of National Guard colonels and other officers; there is to be no expensive inaugural ball, all paid out of the state treasury. He says such things are expensive and unnecessary.

While the state officials will change from Republican to Democratic Monday, this will be but the beginning of wide-sweeping changes throughout the state. The only Republicans who have any hopes of clinging to the payroll are those who are under Civil Service.

It has been customary in the past for each administration to change and interpret the state Civil Service laws so as to put out those of the political faith that may be contrary to the new administration. The Republicans have never hesitated to do this and having established the precedent, the Democrats may be expected to follow.

It has never been learned how many political appointees are on the state payroll, but a conservative estimate is between 10,000 and 12,000. Judge Horner has promised to cut that down very materially. At that it will mean that during the year 1932 about 10,000 Republicans will find themselves unemployed while somewhere near that number of Democrats will begin to get paychecks from the state.

Moultrie county has 167 men and women who want to connect up with the state payroll, via Democracy's route. Reports say that a conservative estimate is that there are 25 applicants for every job that that will be available.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH

C. E. Barnett, pastor

A letter from one of our non-resident members is as follows: "Am very well but have not been able to attend church since the first of November, but try to keep in touch with the services. I am for prohibition, but one would think I was against it if they saw me walk. Please accept the offering enclosed as I wish you and the people you minister to a Happy New Year and much good to all."

Sincerely yours

Mrs. Angie Wright

We are indeed glad to acknowledge the receipt of this cheerful letter showing continued interest in the church, though far removed, and unable to attend where she resides. It is cheerful because it shows a touch of humor out of the physical in firmities of life, and her remembrance of the needs of the home church is a splendid example for all non-resident members, and a reminder to resident members as well. Thank you Mrs. Wright.

Sunday's church services will be at the regular hours. Sermons by the pastor at 10:30 A. M. and 7:30 P. M. A splendid attendance greeted M. Baganz last Sunday evening and the audience greatly appreciated his program of sacred music on the harp. We are grateful to him and to Mr. Car-nine, who accompanied him in song.

Sunday school will be held at 9:30 A. M. The Christian Endeavor, meeting at 6:30 will be led by Levia Elder. The subject of the study is "God. How may we know God's will?"

The young people won the attendance banner of the Okra Christian Youth meeting in Shelbyville. The Men's Sunday School Association will meet with the Sullivan church the last Monday night in the month. The church fellowship supper will be held Wednesday evening, the 18th.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

Evangelist A. L. Gephord of Shelbyville will preach for us on Sunday at eleven o'clock and Sunday night at 7:30. You are invited to hear him.

METHODIST CHURCH

L. L. Lawrence, pastor

Church School 9:30 a. m. H. G. Moore, General Superintendent.

YOUNG PEOPLE SPONSOR SUNDAY NIGHT SERVICE
The Sunday Night Service at the Methodist church is to be sponsored by one of the young people's groups of the church and will be a regular feature on the second Sunday night in each month.

The young people work out their own program.

The third Sunday night in each month is devoted to a special song service with solos, duets, instrumental numbers, reading of old hymns and so on.

The fourth Sunday night in each month climaxes in a wonderful way the programs of the entire month. An unusual, and highly inspirational program will be given on this night each month. The one for January is "The Old Home Service," directed by Miss Enid Newbould and aided by program committee.
