77TH YEAR NO. 4

Democrats Plan To Elect Their Circuit Judges

Friends are Urging J. L. McLaughlin and Horace McDavid to Aspire to Judicial Honors. Three Men to Run. Election June 5th.

Three circuit judges will be elected on June 5th in that district of which Moultrie county constitutes a part.

The present judges are republicans—Judge Baldwin of Decatur, Judge Leonard of Champaign and Judge Wamsley of Tuscola.

Because of this condition Democrats feel that they can elect three judges in this circuit in June.

Heretofore it has usually been difficult to get candidates to make the race. Six years ago J. L. McLaughlin of this city, L. O. Williams of Clinton and Joseph Gulick of Champaign were the Democratic candidates.

C. S. Edwards May Run For Office Of County Judge

C. S. Edwards, Justice of the Peace for Sullivan township is seriously thinking about being a candidate for the Democratic nomination for county judge, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Judge Jennings.

C. S. Edwards

Judge Edwards comes from a pioneer central Illinois family. His grandfather Gideon Edwards left Kentucky in 1830 and settled in Coles county where he rose to prominence serving as judge and also as county superintendent.

One of his sons was John True Edwards who united in marriage with Margaret Reed of Shelby county. To this couple a number of children were born, one of whom is Charles S. Edwards, the subject of this sketch, who first saw the light of day in Whitley township in the year 1862. After attaining maturity he prepared himself to teach school and from 1879 to 1899 he served in such capacity in Moultrie schools.

In an official capacity he served this city as police magistrate 12 years and is now serving his fifth year as justice of the peace. He was first appointed to fill a vacancy and then nominated and elected on the Democratic ticket.

BURGLARS OPERATING INDUSTRIOUSLY IN THIS COMMUNITY

Some amateur crooks seem to have launched a crime wave here in Sullivan. Within recent weeks several places were entered.

Early Sunday morning the Lovelace meat market was entered through breaking in a rear door. $6.50 was taken.

Ed Moore's store at Bruce was burglarized and then the crooks seem to have made their biggest haul in an assortment of merchandise.

The West End elevator office was broken into but not much of anything taken.

Gasoline was stolen at the Jim Rhodes filling station on Hamilton street.

Wednesday night the gas was siphoned out of Leslie Horn's car south of town and the battery was stolen.

LOVINGTON GANGSTERS RAIDED EIGHT HOUSES

Lovington had an organization of "baby gangsters." Eight houses were broken into before the officials apprehended the desperadoes. Mostly small stuff was taken. The boys starting on this career of crime were Leo Mardis 13, Jack Coward 11 and Fred Howard 14. All were bound over to await the action of the grand jury. Each gave a $200 bond.

Advertising

When money is plentiful, people buy anywhere at any price. When money is not so plentiful, they buy where they know they will get every possible bit that a cent will pay for.

That is where The Progress comes in on the deal. The Progress each week goes into most of the homes of this community. From what folks tell us, it is a welcome visitor. It brings news about the readers' friends. It tells the county news. It has editorials, special features and ADVERTISEMENTS.

These advertisements are especially interesting these days, for they tell where the hard-pressed dollar can do its best job. That is really the important thing. Grocery bargain lists are closely scanned. They ought to be. There are several in the paper this week to which we call your especial attention. There are Beauty ads that will interest the women and there are a lot of other things that folks will want to read.

Advertisements are the guns with which merchants go into battle to capture the elusive dollar. The merchant who fails to advertise because times are hard, is like the fellow who throws away his gun when the enemy confronts him in force.

There never was a better time to advertise. There never was a better time to build goodwill for your business. There never was a better time to lay a foundation on which to build a bigger business when better times come—surely they'll come. America isn't whipped, by any means. It still has all the real wealth it ever had. The depression is simply a credit deflation and the money has gone into hiding. It takes salesmanship to get it back into circulation. It takes bargains and wonderful values to bring the dollar into the store and make the cash register ring. Merchants these days must be salesmen, not merely order takers. The salesman's best assistant has always been advertising.

The advertising circular is all O. K. But it enters the home with the implied intent of prying your money out of your pocket. The weekly newspaper comes into the home as a friend and in a friendly spirit and atmosphere brings to your attention the merchandising offers of your home town merchants.

You know most of these things. Readers can always assist a newspaper by buying from those who patronize its columns with their ads. The advertising merchant is the man who draws trade to a community. He is a builder. Getting back to the grocery ads—don't forget to read them—the grocer who brings a customer to town to buy some of his groceries is doing the town a good turn. That customer may buy some other things before he leaves here.

Newspaper advertising is a community builder. Folks away from here judge Sullivan's enterprise by the merchants' ads in local papers.

Co. Judge To Be Elected On Mon., June 5

Governor Orders Election in Accordance with Supervisors wishes. Several Petitions of Democrats Already in Circulation.

Governor Henry Horner has acceded to the wishes of the people of Moultrie county, as expressed in a resolution adopted by the Board of Supervisors, and has set April 4th for a primary to select candidates for county judge. This is also the day for township elections. The day for election of county judge was set for June 5th, which is also the date for electing three circuit judges and one judge of the supreme court.

Under these arrangements a county judge can be elected to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Judge John E. Jennings, without much additional expense.

Governor Horner issued a proclamation calling for these elections and the matter was certified to the county court of this county, through the office of Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes.

Since the matter is definitely settled that a judge will be elected and that anybody is eligible, it is expected that a number of candidates will enter the primary.

The first candidate to start circulating petitions is former state senator Col. Raymond Delos Meeker. C. S. Edwards has also secured the necessary blanks from the county clerk. There is some talk that Justice L. Lambrecht is considering the matter. All of these are Democrats and they do not exhaust the field of possibilities.

Several more justices of the peace are doubtless giving the matter some consideration.

On the Republican side there is much speculation as to who will enter the race. If some of those who have judicial aspirations knew for a certainty who the Democratic candidate would be, they might throw their hats into the judicial ring.

The first day for filing petitions of candidacy with County Clerk Chippis is January 28th and the last day is February 13th.

McClure First Candidate For Mayor To File

The first candidate to file his petition for the city primary is Chas. F. McClure, who seeks to be Sullivan's first mayor under commission form of government. Mr. McClure is a former alderman.

The first day for filing was January 18th. The last day of filing will be February 2nd. City Clerk J. E. Martin stated at 1 o'clock Thursday that the McClure petition was the only one filed.

Other petitions are in circulation. C. E. McFerrin, present mayor or will doubtless enter the primary and petition for him has been circulated. Petitions for B. N. Luke, W. M. Lane, Harry Fulk and H. Y. Kingrey, all present aldermen, were being signed in the Luke garage. So also was the petition of Raymond Bupp. All of these are for commissioner. Report says that Harry Fulk and H. Y. Kingrey have not given permission for filing their petitions. It was stated Thursday that Alderman A. R. Poland was being urged to file for commissioner.

At the March 14th primary, two candidates for mayor and eight for commissioner will be named. At the election April 18th half of this number will be elected. There are no ward lines under commission form, neither are there party lines.

Abundantly satisfied: How excellent is thy loving kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust under the shadow of thy wings. They shall be abundantly satisfied with the fatness of thy house; and thou shalt make them drink of the river of thy pleasures.—Psalm 36:7, 8.

Never once since the world began Has the sun ever once stopped shining. His face very often we could not see, And we grumbled at his inconstancy; But the clouds were really to blame, not he, For behind them he was shining.

And so behind life's darkest clouds God's love is always shining. We veil it at times with our faithless fears And darken our sight with our foolish tears; But in time the atmosphere always clears, For His love is always shining. —John Oxenham

The Forgotten Taxpayers' Streets

Illinois cities want more of the road funds for use on their streets. They are entitled to this consideration. Under present plans of spending taxes collected for highway purposes, the state builds a hard road past a farmer's home. The township, through its road and bridge tax and its special oil tax builds other good roads past his place. This is fine. It is as it should be.

But there seems to be a forgotten taxpayer in this present road program. He's the fellow who lives on an unimproved city street. He helps pay for all of this highway improvement and gets less out of it than anybody else.

Today many of these taxpayers cannot get out to the hard roads. Their streets are impassable. In case of fire, no fire truck could come to their rescue.

So we plead for the taxpayer who is forgotten in the present plan of road building. He pays a road and bridge tax, he pays his city's street and alley tax, he pays a special oil tax, he pays a gasoline tax for highway maintenance and last but not least he pays an automobile license tax. He has been patient in the past. He has not been heard to grumble and complain. When his streets were impassable, he simply stayed home or he and his family walked.

But as the burden of taxation grows greater, it is awakening him. He now demands recognition. He demands a little more attention.

Demands are being made in the Legislature that some of the tax levied on gasoline be given to the cities for street work and repair. Demands are also being made that more of the special oil tax, be given to the cities for use on their streets. The forgotten tax payer — in so far as street improvements are concerned—is asking for a more fair share of the taxes he pays for highway construction and maintenance.

The Farm Sales of Yesteryear

Present day conditions have very effectually checked a movement from farm to city. In fact, it seems assured that a movement from city to country will soon take on such proportions as to be noticeable.

But a few short years ago this was the season of the year for farm sales. Auctioneers were kept busy and farmers who expected to have sales would get their dates scheduled weeks ahead. There were different kinds of sales, each having the same object—the disposal of farm equipment, livestock, etc.

Many were "Closing-Out" sales. This usually meant that the owner had decided to quit farming and to go to the city to live and work. Others were sales given by farmers moving from one farm to another one. Some were sales of an accumulation of excess farm equipment and livestock. Sometimes two or more farmers would pool their excess and have a sale of it.

Now there are very few sales of any kind. To a certain extent community sales have taken their place. But the one big reason seems to be that the farmer is sticking to the farm. He knows he is there close to his food supply. He is close to schools that are open and functioning. He knows that, though prices for farm products are very, very low, he can better wait out the tide of the depression on a farm than he can in a city, where he would be but one more added to the already large number of unemployed, who are being fed by relief agencies.

Will the "Farm Sale" as a going institution ever blossom forth again to its proportions of a few years ago? Perhaps so, but we doubt whether it will be the first step of a farmer who wants to leave the farm for the city. The big city is the scene of calamity and disaster in times like these.

Improving the Government

The 20th Amendment to the Constitution of the United States has been adopted. Missouri was the 36th state to ratify it. Less than a year ago Congress passed the resolution putting the Amendment up to the states. Three fourths, or 36, were required to ratify it. All that is now required is an official proclamation.

This Amendment is what is known as the "Lame Duck" amendment. It does away with the short session of congress. It changes the date for the inauguration of the President. Under the old laws now in effect a short session of Congress was held every two years, beginning in December following the November election. The President and Congressmen, elected in November, under the old law, do not take office until March 4th, which meant that the short session of Congress was in control of and often dominated by, congressmen who had been defeated for re-election in November. As is the case this year, these "Lame Duck" congressmen are a wrecking crew and clutter up things. Most of them are a nuisance. The present short session of Congress—the last in history—is one that the country is ashamed of. It is playing horse and cutting capers, instead of getting down to business.

Under the new law, as embodied in the 20th Amendment, there will be no more short session of Congress. The newly elected congressmen will take office and Congress will go into session January 3rd. The newly elected president will be inaugurated January 20th, instead of March 4th as heretofore.

This will make the government more responsive to the will of the people as expressed in the November elections.

It is an important step forward. It seems strange that it was so long delayed.

Satisfying Job Seekers --- Or Economy

A prominent Democratic politician expressed himself as follows at Springfield the other day: "We Democrats are d---n fools. When it happens that we do get control of the state administration, we take our promises too seriously. We at once proceed to cut down on the number of payroll jobs. We reduce the number on the state payroll and consequently are unable to take care of the many thousands who want jobs. They get sore. When a new campaign comes around they have lost their enthusiasm."

"Now take the Republicans — when they get into office, do they ever cut down on the state payroll? Not so you could notice it! They fill all the old jobs and make a few thousands more. They keep their fellows in good humor. They take care of them. Then when an election comes around, they've got a big working army, a well-financed machine. And it seems that the people like that sort of thing."

After giving this friend's grievance serious consideration, we still contend that we hope that Judge Horner will live up to his economy promises. It gives us greater joy to hear of a useless payroll job abolished, than it does to hear of a friend given a political plum. We believe that the old-style political brigandage and piracy as manifested by padded payrolls, is out of date and out of favor. The people want economy. That is what Governor Horner will give them. If he breaks that campaign promise, he'll be a disappointment.

Potlikker

(By A. Marrowbone)

The Rev. Elijah Bixler, pastor of the Potlikker Union church has protested against the late Saturday night checker games at the general store. He says there is a sleeping and snoring reaction in the amen corner Sunday mornings which disturb divine worship.

Ferd Applegate sold his old fighting cock, the Rhode Island Red rooster last Saturday to a huxster from Hawksnest. He took it all out in trade, getting a card of bachelor buttons and a G. string for his fiddle.

Doc McDuffy says he has had several races with the Stork recently. He won three times, lost twice and had one tie. Mrs. McDuffy went on a collecting tour for Doc the other day and returned with three Hubbard squashes, five pounds of salt pork and a bag of dried apples. Dos says it takes gas to run his "Lizzie."

Deacon Si Hawkins, hearing strange noises at his hen house on Monday night, and seeing a figure in the darkness that looked like the escaping thief; fired both barrels of his trusty shot gun at the fleeing miscreant. Next morning Aunt Sarry found the entire seat blasted from the Deacon's second best pair of overalls which she had put on the garden scarecrow.

Postmaster Harry Proctor reports that a post card which passed through the office the other day addressed to Grandma Bruce, conveys the news that her son in Oklahoma had been elected Justice of the Peace in the recent Democratic landslide.

The Ladies Aid Society which was to have met at the home of Mrs. Ferd Applegate Tuesday afternoon, postponed the meeting on account of Ferd's hound dog killing a skunk under the parlor. Ferd said it was a stinkin' shame.

Jake Fitchew our enterprising village blacksmith plays the bass drum in the Needleseye band. The director says that Jake plays with feeling and can execute the "thunder rolls" with dexterity.

Miss Sofrona Suesberry entertained a number of her girl (?) friends at a bridge party at her home Saturday night. Refreshments of long tom chewing gum and hoarhound candy were served. No prizes were given as Fronie is a church member and leads the church choir.

On account of the depression the Potlikker post office was reduced to the fourth class. Postmaster Harry Proctor, the Republican incumbent has been put under civil service. It looks like Harry will be a Republican hold-over. Harry will be a Republican hold-over. Harry will be a Republican hold-over.

EXTRA—EXTRA—FIRST FISH STORIES OF SEASON

Joe Waggoner and Tobe Rhodes went fishing at the river the other day. Joe decided to cross a part of the stream on a log. The bark came off the log and Joe went into about four feet of water. He held onto the log and made the shore. He says "Tobe just laughed." The fish at Waggoner's care are still of the shipped-in kind.

Bill Ward, Pete Light and Heitz Sona went fishing at Pifer's Park Tuesday—some folks say it was at Vogelsong's. The location does not matter much. The fresh air and exertion did the boys some good and they did the fish no harm.

Joe Wood Denies Rumors That He Committed Suicide

Joe H. Wood, Jr., is not dead. He did not commit suicide in St. Louis. In fact he is very much alive and rather distressed about the exaggerated rumors pertaining to his health.

Rumors circulated in this city Saturday that Mr. Wood had been found dead in St. Louis and that he had fore-stalled the Grim Reaper and passed out by his own deed.

Mrs. Wood heard about it and called up Monticello where Joe runs a poolroom. "Is this you Joe?" she said. "It is" said Joe. "Where are you talking from?" she asked. "Why from Monticello, of course" said Joe. "Oh, I'm so glad" said she, "that you're still on earth. They said you were dead."

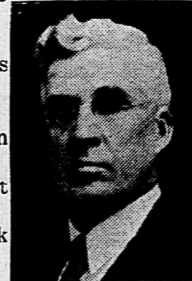

So Joe racked his cues and left another fellow in charge while he came to Sullivan to show in flesh and blood that he was far from being a corpse. In fact he said that's the last thing he ever expects to be.

To celebrate Joe's being all right, Bill Walker and the rest of the checker players took him along to Lake City the other night and had him sit in on the games. The Lake City guys looked rather askance at what to them appeared like a much animated dead man, but finally were convinced that Joe was very much alive. And so in conclusion—Joe Wood is not dead. He is 100% alive.

THE CAT IN THE TREE

(By H. S. Butler)

On Sunday morn not long ago I heard a cat go, mew. I looked around me on the ground There was no cat in view.

I raised my eyes and looked above And what then did I see? A white cat sat upon a limb Up in a big oak tree.

And then on Monday morn I looked He had not moved a bit, It seemed to me that in that tree That cat did like to sit.

On Tuesday then I told a cop He knew just what to do, He said "Climb up and get the cat And bring him down with you."

But I'm not used to climbing trees Some forty feet or more, If I should fall from that great height I know I would be sore.

I think if I should fall that far I'd surely break a leg, But still I'm more inclined to think I'd spatter like an egg.

On Wednesday and till Thursday morn The cat stayed in the tree, But when I looked up Thursday noon No cat then could I see.

I looked around about the tree No cat was on the ground, So I assume that he came down And was all safe and sound.

The lesson that the cat has learned One that he should rehearse, Is that when climbing down a tree He must be in reverse.

You may wonder why lots of tried business men get such a goofy selection of magazines. Here is the answer—they subscribed to help some girls through college.

New ideas can be good or bad, the same as old ones, says Franklin Roosevelt.

Have you heard about the absent-minded professor who drove home to his garage late one night? On opening the garage doors and not seeing his car, he jumped back into his automobile, drove madly to the police station and reported that his car had been stolen.

"You should see the sunset in the East" said the guy from Boston to the Illinois fellow who was raving about the beautiful sunsets on the prairie.

"Well, I'd like to" said the prairie lad, "for our sunsets are always in the west."

A stenographer in Chicago killed her employer. The jury decided she was crazy and their verdict read "The girl was undoubtedly crazy. Anybody shooting an employer these days cannot be in her right mind."

A man's hat blew off the other day. A kid chased it two blocks and caught and returned it. "Really" said the owner "I'll have to put a cord on it." The kid waited a minute, but there was no tip and no thanks, so he remarked "You don't need a cord. Get a nail."

Pete Light: "I know a fellow who went through the world war without a scratch."

Sam Bolin: "He was lucky. I guess the cooties did not bother him."

"Isn't it hard" said the landlady, "to think that this poor cow was cut down in her youth to satisfy our appetites."

"Yeah" said the boarder as he made another stab at the aged steak "it sure is tough."

WORDS ABOUT WORDS Singing words and playing words And words with wings like gorgeous birds Are spoken through the world all day

By persons who have aught to say. But in the night few words are said, For people mostly are in bed, And watchmen, who with lanterns walk

May nod to cats—but seldom talk. Unnatural restraint—the best example is a minister's wife who sits patiently listening to him preach for half an hour, without being permitted to say one word in reply.

Utah is a funny state. They just got rid of a Dern governor and now they got Blood in the Governor's chair. The first fellow was George Dern and the new guy is Henry Blood.

An Allenville man and wife were in Decatur for some dental work. They stood in front of a show window. The wife pointed at a set of teeth on display, "I believe I'll get a set like that." The husband looked embarrassed, "Gosh Harry, you oughtn't to pick your teeth in public. That isn't nice."

'Tis a funny old world. Fellows whom you'd expect to have sense can't get any fun out of anything unless they first get all polluted with liquor. They get no fun out of playing cards or golf unless it be for money. They can't look at a woman without thought of possession—they eat too much of what is not good for them and then they'll tell you that they have a grand and glorious time. Well, maybe they have! You know people's tastes differ, so why get excited about it?

It was back in the days of the early west. A young fellow came to a desert town. The natives looked him over and finally one asked his business. "I'm a minister" said he.

"Wall," remarked the desert rat "We may let you stay, or we may not. If you're a Baptist we'll shoot you."

"Why that?" "Because we've got to haul our water 25 miles."

"Agatha has the most exaggerated idea of her abilities." "Why so?"

"Her mother wrote me that she had double pneumonia and was in bed with three doctors."

"What's little Bobby crying about?" "He dug a hole in the yard and wants to bring it into the house." "What's a false doctrine?" asked the Sunday School teacher. "It is when a doctor gives the wrong medicine" said Johnny.

At the THEATRE

The special Saturday afternoon prices are proving quite an attraction at The Grand—until 6 p. m. adults 15c, children 5c; show continuous from 2:30 p. m.

This coming Saturday Tim McCoy in "End of the Trail" is the thriller. It is a picture of redman against white man. Let us give you a few lines of synopsis: "Capt. Tim Travers of Ford Gates, Wyoming is assigned to escort a small covered wagon train from Fort Helena, Montana. Ambushed by Indians, only Travers and two others escape. One of these hints that Travers may have had something to do with planning the massacre." Does that sound interesting? Attend the Grand and see the end of the tale as well as "The End of the Trail." Besides the feature picture there are other good shorts.

Dix and Harding
Two great stars, Richard Dix and Ann Harding share honors in the masterpiece to be shown here Sunday and Monday. The title of the production is "Conquerors." It is a tidal drama of America, deep as human passion.

A young couple, the victims of a financial crash in the east, go west and the story of their trials and tribulations, their joys and their griefs is so typically American that this picture has made a tremendous hit with the picture-going public. Also Baby Burlesks and some other good stuff, you'll approve of and enjoy.

Constance Cummings
Tuesday only "The Billion Dollar Scandal" will feature the bill. Players are Constance Cummings, Robert Armstrong, James Gleason, Irving Pichel and others. Three crooks, who have studied and perfected the technique of their respective rackets, meet in jail. They are paroled at the same time. And from such a beginning anybody could build up a wonderfully interesting story and that is just what has been done in "The Billion Dollar Scandal." Of course these crooks got the goods on several "frenzied financiers" and is it good—come and see. There will also be some good comedy and one of those wonderful "Magic Carpet" features.

Wednesday Night
As has been customary for the past several weeks, the Worthan Showboat Players will be a leading feature on Wednesday night's program. They will present a good comedy drama and vaudeville. The feature picture bids fair to be very good for Spencer Tracy, Marian Nixon and Stuart Erwin star in it. That trio can make a good, entertaining picture and always do, unless the story is punk. The title of Wednesday night's picture is "Face in the Sky." Here is a double bill—if you don't like the Worthan gang, you may like the picture—chances are you'll like both.

Girls Love Him
Here comes that wonderful he-man of screen—Clark Gable who smirks his way through the show Thursday and Friday nights. The picture is "No Man of Her Own" and Clark stars, ably assisted by Carole Lombard and Dorothy Mackaill. Gable is a great drawing card in pictures. Doubtless many will want to see him and Carole Lombard work out a thrilling melo-drama. You girls who have wanted to see Clark Gable at his very best in being romantic and passionately lovely,—well here's your chance.

Zazu Pitts and Thelma Todd will present "Sneak Easily", Gus Edwards appears in School Days and there will be the ever-interesting News Reel.

Fully Equipped Traveling Laboratory to Test Gasolines Visits Sullivan

V. M. Gustafson, Research Engineer, and W. S. Felt, Assistant, of Skelly Test Car Which was Here.

A complete laboratory on wheels made a brief stop in Sullivan on Tuesday, pausing on an extensive tour of the state. It is a fully equipped motor car, traveling for Skelly Oil Company and making scientific road tests of gasolines.

During its stay here the car visited the high school, where its modern apparatus was shown and demonstrated before students of the chemistry and physics classes. V. M. Gustafson, Skelly research engineer, explained the purposes of the various meters, gauges, instruments and other scientific paraphernalia, and their application to the gasoline tests he is making.

Those who looked inside this aluminum-coated traveling laboratory saw an array of the most up-to-date equipment. Instrument boards showed many dials and meters, and there were tanks and glass gauges. Small cabinets within the car contained test tubes, vessels and other necessary supplies for a chemist.

There was an electrical potentiometer, connected with a series of twelve thermocouples located at twelve points on the car. Two instruments were used for measuring wind velocity, one an anemometer fixed on braces in front of the radiator, and the other a glass tube called the Pitot tube.

Other instruments included a manometer for measuring manifold vacuum; a hydrometer to determine gasoline gravity; an elaborate glass-tube arrangement for analyzing exhaust gases; an alimeter which shows geography elevation; a hygrometer for measuring the humidity of the air, and the gasoline meter used in the making of mileage tests.

With these instruments it is possible to accurately find out the mileage secured from all kinds of gasoline under all conditions. Conditions affecting starting and acceleration are observed. The efficiency of the motor with different gasolines is determined. Every 15 minutes 44 different entries are made on the report form by the engineer. According to Mr. Gustafson, these are the first extensive practical tests on gasoline and motor efficiency ever made by any oil company.

The visit here and the high school demonstration were sponsored by W. H. (Buck) Fisher, local Skelly dealer.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

By Elmina Scheer

"Did you pass your English semester?" "I don't know, I'm afraid to ask." That and similar conversations may be heard all over the building. The 1st semester is over and a week of the second is already gone, and still the semester tests form good topic for conversation. Registration for the second semester was held Wednesday. Several subjects are taught only one term, and it is necessary for some programs to be completely revised. Miss Wilson has started a class in Trigonometry. It is a new subject here and was introduced at the request of several students.

Jack Condon and Johnny McDonald have returned to school. We're all glad to see them back.

The Junior class is highly pleased with the results of their benefit show. The Theatre was crowded for the two nights and they estimate that their share will be almost $30. The Juniors thoroughly appreciate the way the townspeople turned out to help them, and hope that they enjoyed the show.

Don't forget the operetta, "Oh, Doctor" to be presented in the assembly January 31 by the High School Glee Clubs under the direction of Mrs. Susan Kelligar Roney. Miss Emily Jean Cribfield of Atlanta, Illinois will present a specialty dance between acts.

We play Arthur here tonight, and all you loyal fans will certainly miss a good game if you're not here. Let's have some cheering like we had at the Monticello game. That really puts pep into the boys, and one thing is certain, we want to beat Arthur.

Howard Christy and Rex Bolin, two former graduates, visited school Monday. Does it look like it did when you left, boys?

We had an assembly program Monday and Tuesday both this week. The regular film, shown on Monday, depicted the struggle of the Jamestown Colony. Tuesday an artist, traveling to get work by drawing for annuals, was here. We have already let all contracts for our annual, but he drew pictures for us and told us a little about the appreciation of fine art. It was quite surprising, what simple things he could start to draw and then what complicated pictures he ended with. He told us to practice drawing by sketching "portraits" of our classmates. I wonder if the teachers would object if we included them.

Mother of 7—Still Young

THE woman who gives her organs the right stimulant need not worry about growing old. Her system doesn't stagnate; her face doesn't age. She has the health and "pep" that come from a lively liver and strong, active bowels.

When you're sluggish and the system needs help, don't take a lot of "patent medicines." There's a famous doctor's prescription for just such cases, and every druggist keeps this standard preparation. It is made from fresh laxative herbs, active senna, and pure pepsin. Just ask for Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin. Take a little every day or so, until every organ in your body feels the big improvement.

The next time you have a bilious headache, or feel all bound-up, take this delicious syrup instead of the usual cathartic. You'll be rid of all that poisonous waste, and you haven't weakened the bowels. You'll have a better appetite, and feel better in every way. The constant use of cathartics is often the cause of a sallow complexion and lines in the face. And so unnecessary!

Would you like to break yourself of the cathartic habit? At the same time building health and vigor that protects you from frequent sick spells, headaches, and colds? Get a big bottle of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin today. Use often enough to avoid those attacks of constipation. When you feel weak and run-down or a coated tongue or bad breath warns you the bowels need to be stimulated. Give it to children instead of strong laxatives that sap their strength. It isn't expensive.

Jessie and Jim, the Joy-makers In This World of Long-faces

Wednesday night of last week the folks who live at the Odd Fellows Old Folks home in Mattoon had a treat, in the shape of an entertainment given by two of the members of the Illinois Masonic Home.

These two men constitute a team that has done wonders toward relieving the depressed spirits of the nation, at least temporarily. They put on a full hour's program at the Home, using 14 musical instruments and some new songs, dances and other vaudeville stunts.

The team consists of Jesse Johnson and James Chambers, and are generally billed as "Johnson & Chambers in Vouvil of 50 years ago." The "boys" take a great pride in their work and are constantly improving it. Back in their younger days they were professional entertainers and they have lost none of their pep and snap. In fact they seem to be getting better as they grow older. Both have passed three score and ten in age, but are stronger and going better now than they did when they first started in life on the days of their birth.

The Odd Fellows, under the management of Supt. Saylor have threatened to return the compliment and send some of their folks to the Masonic Home to put on a show. But Jesse and Jim, just snicker. They know they've got the goods and they fear no competition. Neither of them is ambitious to go to Hollywood, but they have the goods that could make even a postmaster laugh on November 9, 1932.

Red Menace's Efforts For The Week Confined To Humbling Oakland

Oakland Came Wednesday Night

Wednesday evening Oakland came here to play the game originally scheduled for Tuesday night. A small crowd turned out. The outcome of the game was a fore-gone conclusion. Sullivan won 30 to 13. As in the game at Oakland Friday night Sullivan never had to extend itself to hold the visitors in check. Coach Dennis played McDavid and Dwyer at forward; lanky Bill Kinsel at center; Richardson and Grote at guard. Just to treat the fans to some real classy guarding he gave Leo Horn and Brick Poland a chance to show their stuff.

Our official sports reporter had the following to say about Tuesday night's disappointment:

This, fans, is not the story of how a determined band of Oakland cagers battled for 43 miles a roaring wintry blizzard which all but swept their carriage from the road and then on arriving half frozen from their Herculean efforts, hastily donned basketball paraphernalia—the fans must not be kept waiting—and for over thirty minutes valiantly battled a superior group of Red devils on even terms only to go down, fighting mind you, in the final seconds when Pete McDavid and Bill Dwyer dumped in consecutive long shots. No, pards, such was by no means the case. The Oakland cage management was indisposed and contrary to all rules of etiquette, respect, and common sense not only failed to materialize for their date but did not even take the trouble to call to announce their indifference.

The crowd gathered and after digesting the preliminary performance enacted by the Seniors and Frosh began to grow impatient and concerned over the apparent motor troubles of their belated guests. Finally Principal Raymond Scheer phoned to learn the cause of their tardiness and was informed that they simply did not choose to play and would forfeit without further ado. With the shekels still warm in the tills Mr. Scheer pleaded the local cause but to no avail. From the conversation it was apparent that Oakland saw certain defeat and had, in the boxing phraseology, tossed in the proverbial towel. Their line of reason seemed to be that it was foolish to expose themselves to dampening rain when the same results could be easily obtained via the forfeit route. Mr. Scheer then explained to the spectators and promised them that another game would be scheduled for their benefit.

However in a later conversation Mr. Scheer learned that the Oakland principal was blameless as he was of the opinion that the coach had notified Sullivan of the cancellation.

In the single attraction of the evening the near-grads gave the Freshman a lesson in the art of basketball. Two seniors, Harshman and Davis came through with such a splendid exhibition of their cage wares that fans were wondering why coach Dennis couldn't find a niche for them. True enough Dennis could use their "likes" but Harshman's religion forbids him from competing while Davis' folks can spare him for only one sport per year and this time was donated to the Championship grid team. He is an excellent dribbler with plenty of speed and fight while Harshman's main attributes are speed, dexterity, and a nifty bank shot.

Oakland Licked At Home Friday

(By Jim Scott)

Last Friday evening Clark Dennis' erratic snipers bagged their third consecutive conference victory, trimming an audacious Oakland five 31 to 15 by virtue of a scoring surge released in the third period. The Reds ran into an unexpected strong shifting zone defense in the opening half and were consigned to a meager dozen points total about half of which were counted at the free throw stripe.

The local tossers' fluctuating brand of ball which was apparently soaring upward suddenly dipped to a new low and in this quagmire of listless play the results would have been most disastrous had they vied with a more formidable outfit. The Dennismen aimed 4b attempts at the hoop while the home team fired just 10 less shots.

Happy go Lucky, Bill Dwyer proved the big offensive gun in blasting through the enemy ramps scoring 6 of Sullivan's fielders and serving as Generalissimo of the third quarter outbreak which swept the locals into a commanding lead.

So sincere were the hosts in their ambition of scalping the high geared tribe that the fray developed into one of the roughest battles that the local cagers have participated in. Although the Oaks close guarding policies held the Red scoring barrage well in check most of the way, they were not skilled enough in the proper defensive etiquette and as a result succumbed to a host of rule infractions from which the visitors rang up point after point. Oakland as a team was guilty of 14 misdemeanors which offered the Reds 19 single opportunities at the gift circle and 11 of these contributions were converted into telltale tallies. The victors were more leery of this needless extravagance and their defensive weapons were penalized only a half dozen times and of these 6 miscues the Oaks blew 7 of the 8 allotments.

Captain Pete McDavid was accorded a most austere censorship and was awarded a bundle of 11 gift throws coming in installments through the heated battle. Pete cashed in with 7 points from these donations which added to his single field goal gave him 9 counters for the fracas and a runner up position to Bill in point getting matters. Galbreath was deported from the tilt, being sacrificed to the cause of holding down the rival leader. Dark eyed Dunkie Dunscomb flashed a commendable floor game, sank his lone free toss and registered two of his four attempts from the field to take rank with Pete and Bill as the leaders of the victory cause.

Myers and Caldwell showed up well in the Oakland ranks.

Before the final tussle on the night's card a bevy of high school maids attired in scanty frocks burlesqued through what looked like a miniature form of soccer with a basketball serving as the kicking piece.

Oakland Meets STHS In Tourney

The annual Okaw Valley cage tourney will again be held in the Tuscola gym in preference to Monticello's spacious field house, made possible through the philanthropic Allen F. Moore. Tuscola's central location is, we suppose, the reason for this action. The meet gets under way Thursday evening at 7:30 when Rex Millikin's Bement five hook up with Olin Kull's Newman tribe. In the other half of the night's card the Reds will swing into action against Oakland, a team which they drubbed twice the past week. Bement and Sullivan in the upper bracket and Monticello and Arthur in the lower loom as the outstanding entries. The drawing was unkind to the Reds in that it paired them with the slightly favored Bementers in their second game. If victorious the locals are certain to reach the finals as they will have only to trim Atwood Saturday afternoon. The third place game has been wisely abolished.

Time schedule follows:

Thursday
Game 1—Newman vs. Bement at 7:30.
Game 2—Oakland vs. Sullivan at 8:30.

Friday
Game 3—Monticello vs. Tuscola at 2:30.
Game 4—Arthur vs. Villa Grove at 3:30.
Game 5—Atwood vs. Arcola at 7:30.
Game 6—Winners games 1 and 2 at 8:30.

Saturday
Game 7—Winners games 3 and 4 at 2:30.
Game 8—Winners games 5 and 6 at 3:30.
Game 9—Winners games 7 and 8 for title at 8 p. m.

SPEAKING OF SPORTS

BY JIM SCOTT

Tomorrow night, Friday, Don Coates' fast stepping Arthur aggregation will drop in at the Sullivan gym to expose their untarnished conference rating to the assault of Clark Dennis' red garbed forces. Well, well, and well, for once we are right. Along about tourney time local fans were arguing that in no department could Arthur's speedy quintet measure up to the powerful Red machine and had they hooked up in a tourney suffice the Knights would have received the same lacing distributed to the other county teams. We protested but few would consider them as formidable competition—yet, they are coming tomorrow night, coming with a record of 5 conference victories sans a single defeat and the locals will have the desired opportunity of smearing them all over the premises.

However, we too, believe the Reds have more potential power than Arthur and if they use the major portion of it should knock the Coatesmen from their toynotch seat. What we are trying to put across is this—Arthur, a strong team, is unjustly underrated in this town, a fact that will be all in their favor when the two fives square off. In the Reds' dressing room before the Bement game a discussion arose in which the Redmen declared that Arthur was "Not so Hot."

Arthur's main strength lies in their driving offense which is headed by a veteran smooth working forward combination of Pifer and agile Harold Bouck. Once in the lead the conference pace setters are almost unbeatable as they are prone to use their fast breaking offense as a substitute for their weaker defense. Reds, grab that lead at the onset!

In Bouck, Arthur has a boy who can demoralize most any team by his repertoire of freak shots which he hooks in when the going is toughest. He has realms of speed and is quite clever, an attribute which gains him numerous free tosses. His looks and actions in a heated struggle are very deceiving. Conserving his energy he slumps into a weary posture looking all the world like a rain drenched hen but just as soon as the opportunity offers this deceptive front gives way before dynamic effective actions. Such was the procedure employed by Harold Rhodes and othel noted cagers of yesteryear. Pifer, Bouck's forward mate, is of the plough-horse school—steady, consistent. He is a willing scrapper with a good eye for the hoop and in recent games has been out scoring his more illustrious partner. Dixon's height comes in handy on varied circumstances while the two guards in name only, can be considered as just another unit of a five man offense. Turner, a dark-haired youth, is a good ball-handler while sleek, slender Mr. Oye is one of those irritating foxy cagers who loiters around the battle's outskirts and then suddenly tip-toeing un molested to the basket where he pours in a set-up shot. Such playing must be an art for he gets away with it time and time again. Watkins, a short blond topped sophomore and a member of Arthur's championship grade school five, works in shifts with Turner at one guarding post. Arthur has no capable reserves. Angel, a tall loose jointed awkward center and Fleming, the petite sandy-haired forward who tore loose a cartilage in his knee during the Arthur-Lovington game, are the most used subs. Pifer and Bouck are Seniors while Dixon has another year of competition.

Perhaps it never occurred to you but Arthur high is cheated out of a few athletes by the presence of the neighboring Amish cult among whose eccentricities is the one calling for no high school education. If their land was tilled by orthodox farm folk we feel save in saying that at least 2 or 3 athletes would be produced therefrom.

Dribbles—Vincent Ey of Mt. Pulaski, bearing incidentally one of the most abbreviated surnames ever to grace a cage box score, is seeing service on the Illini frosh team. . . Wayne "Snake" Karr, ex-Clinton star and now captain of the St. Viator quintet, comes from a family of which his mother and father and one sister are totally deaf and dumb. . . Principal Raymond Scheer and Coach Clark Dennis skipped up to the Millikin gym last week to see the letters' Alma Mater, the Red Devils of Eureka, dust off Leo Johnson's hapless big blue five. . . The titian attired visitors were well backed by their numerous Decatur Alumni as well as an accompanying band from the campus. . . Said band set up quite a howl when Millikin's young elephant, George Musso, sent one of the lighter Red Devils sprawling on the floor. . . The Eureka star, Red Miller, is a slightly built youth and hails from Chicago. . . Doc Grabb's ever mounting point total has now passed the 230 mark. . . His prep average for 2 years of competition is 13 per game. . . Hunters Willard Winings and Robert Lancaster snared two more foxes last week to bring their total to 12 for the season. Sly Reynard's garment will probably be converted into feminine neck wear as several ladies of Bethany as well as Sullivan have called Mr. Winings for price quotations. They will be released at $5 per skin.

And from the Illinois campus—Gil Berry will probably be Senior class president the second semester. He and his wife and Pete Yanuskus and mate are living together in an apartment. . . Red Owen is managing the park dance hall. . . The Illini cage leader is also kept busy selling groceries to frats. . . Bob Horsely and Fred Frink have a thriving coffee business and also serve as basketball coaches at university high. . . Marsh Miller, last year state interscholastic champion at 440 yards, is working out daily. He is from Maine high of Des Plaines, home of another quarter mile state prep champion, Bob Kennicott, who is a Sophomore this year. . . Bud Jones, Freshman fullback from Gibson City whom coaches considered one of the most promising plungers ever to matriculate at the State U., has dropped out of school. . . With semester over next week it reminds the writer that a horde of young Illini will be returning home, due of course, to "ill health". . . Jack Beynon is now considered one of the best floor guards in the western conference. His only draw back is that he gets too few shots. . . Frank Frochauer and strapping Ted Peosky of Michigan renewed their grid rivalry at the Illinois gym last week with the wolverine husky coming out second best as attested by the wicked gash over one optic.

And now that, Virgil Licht, Minnesota's all conference guard, has been ostracized from the Gopher five, copy readers may heave a petite sigh of relief. Half the time Virgil's name appeared as Light so apparently the re-checkers were trying to improve upon the writer's spelling. Speaking of this error of substituting a "g" for a "c" reminds us that the same thing occurs on this sport page—Every time we use the word "paced" it appears in print as paged, which must be quite confusing to the reader. . . Dean Watts, ex-sage star, is not out for basketball at Northwestern. . . Kopecky, the pudgy-wudgy from Morton High's state championship quintet, is by far the class of the Wildcat first year men. . . The Monticello-Arthur game which we mentioned last week was a non-counting conference game. . . Editor Brandenburger witnessed the Oakland game played in that city. . .

All Macon mourns the death of diminutive Franky Robertson reticent colored star of Coach Evans' cage team. One of the few negroes ever to swing into action on a neighboring prep five, he was treated as a precious rarity. No doubt due to his quite unassuming demeanor. . . In the Frosh tournament held at Shelbyville last Saturday the Mattoon first year men slapped Bethany's plebes 20 to 10 and then went on to gain the Jade green crown. . . In the final game they trounced Charleston 36 to 12.

Hood, a heavily built awkward cager, strolled out on the floor in the final quarter of the Bethany-Mt. Zion game to replace the regular Mt. Zion pivot man banished by his fourth personal foul. A moment later he scored to put his team in striking distance and then with 10 seconds to play remaining he evaded Smith, the Bethany guard, at the free throw line and taking the ball between his legs he banked a short shot to knock Bethany from their undefeated meridian conference post. This reversal represented the Cunningham tossers only defeat other than those suffered on the Sullivan floor. After the game mentor Sims and Cunningham decided to match their proteges in another tilt. Mt. Zion has a big fast team and will have all the boys back for one more season of hardwood competition.

This oft cursed depression which has curtailed the enjoyments of those who delight in going places and see in things, has, at the same time, rejuvenated the old family circle and increased parlor activities. Bridge, of course still reigns as king of the cheaper "at Home" pastimes but in recent months ping pong and that infernal Jig-Saw puzzle craze have been coming to the front in rapid strides and now are threatening the King's domain in younger circles. Personally Jig-Saw puzzles seem a big time waster but thousands of "Morons" are spending 4 hours per person just to set a pretty painting in its proper order. Ping-Pong, an abbreviated form of tennis—which was extremely popular several decades ago, is making an honest-to-goodness comeback. It is an ideal indoor recreation in that, like other sports, it requires a co-ordination between eye and muscle. Various pool halls, however, are making the mistake of charging the same price for ping-pong as for billiards and John Public will not pay 40 cents an hour to play a game which could be played at home for only a nominal sum. Recently the Bloomington paper was said to have roasted Howard Millard, the Decatur Sports editor, for his Ping-Pang affiliations. What's this, a scribe can't encourage good clean winter fun without being put on the pan? But what's more Millard's main motive was to create an interest in the table tennis tourney the proceeds of which was to go to the Moweaqua relief fund.

On the evening of Feb. 8 at the U. of I. gym, lanky Bill Tilden and his professional troupe of Tennis stars will again anchor their enormous emerald covering on which they will, for the low sum of 40 cents, show some 5000 spectators the perfected net game—or the game as they (the spectators) will never play it. The Tilden Tennis exhibitions when staged in a metropolis will cost the observers at least $2, but last year the band showed at 6 Big Ten schools at a charge of only 50 cents per head and made more than they do when the ducats are sold at an exalted price. This year with the price tag slashed an additional 10 cents, another healthy turnout is anticipated.

Besides a galaxy of foreign luminaries, including Hans Nusslein, the plump German champion, the squad also claims two popular young American netmen in Bruce Barnes, who was a top ranking amateur and Emmet Pare, Tilden's protegee who was once touted by no less a master than Tilden himself, as a youth with unlimited capabilities. Pare, however, like Sandy Weiner and other Tilden proteges, has failed to measure up to expectations.

Bill Tilden is an exceedingly colorful player. His fiery temperament coupled with his skill has made him even more of a stand-out in his particular line than the eminent Mr. Ruth is in baseball. Last year, during preliminary matches, he became irritated with an irresponsible score keeper so waiving him from the ladder Tilden ascended and with a booming voice announced the score in a tone that was audible to the fore-corners of the inclosure.

Another ill-tempered racket wielder is chunky Hans Nusslein, noted for his back-hand volley, a difficult stroke which is not included in the repertoire of even the ranking netmen. Last year after the matches a young Illini reporter with a little better than writing knowledge of German went into Han's dressing room for an interview but for some unknown reason was bidden an immediate auf wiedersehen as a stray shoe caromed off his head.

It's quite a spectacle to see the Pros warm up. They begin with smooth easy horizontal strokes and nearly every ball is lined into the net. Gradually they adjust themselves and the ball is sent hurrying back and forth across the stringing with great velocity missing the net by only an inch or so. A foreigner named Najoa, weighing over 250 pounds, is a master of trick shots and entertains the crowd by stroking balls

Whitchurch Five Won Two Games

Coach Whitchurch's grade school basketballers have had a successful week. Saturday night, for the first time in years, a Sullivan grade school quintet administered a smacking defeat to Arthur. The Second team started it, when it defeated Arthur 15 to 7 in a curtain raiser. On Sullivan's second team were Billie Shasteen and Cloyd Conard as forwards, Arkell Craig, center, Junior Alumbaugh and Jack Lewis guards. Clovis Franklin and Jack Whitfield subs.

Arthur—Oye and chase forwards; Pate center; Martin and Maxwell, guards; subs Fleming, Erhardt and Parrett. The score in the "big" game of the evening was 39 to 8 in favor of Sullivan. The boys who put this over were Richard Foster and Raymond Shasteen forwards; Everett Arterburn, center; Wayne Elder and Robert Whitfield guards; subs Cloyd Conard and Arkell Craig.

Arthur's quintet consisted of England and Eakle forwards; Link center; Erhardt and Parrett guards. There were a number of subs thrown into the game to stop the Sullivan rush, but in vain.

Gays Tuesday
At Gays Tuesday night the Sullivan lads had to do their best to finish ahead of Joe Lucas' aggressive and ambitious youngsters. Sullivan won 22 to 19. R. Fuller for Gays starred with 11 points to his credit and a last minute rally that nearly swept victory out of Sullivan's grasp. Sullivan led 9 to 16 to 9 at the half and it was then that the gay lads of Gays got hot and started the fireworks.

Decatur Smacked Into The Dust By Red Birds

Sullivan Red Birds journeyed to Decatur a week ago last Thursday and drubbed Conklines 52 to 28. Ward made 9 baskets to lead the Red Birds. Last Wednesday Conklines returned the game at Sullivan and the Red Birds won 43 to 24.

Twenty Grands won another easy game from the Ring-Dings 36 to 22. Spicer was high for the Inhalers and Blue was the big shot by the losers.

The Bruins won a two overtime game from the Forgotten Men. The game was close all the way, each team scoring heavily and paying little or nothing to their defense. Art Carmine led the Bruins while Bolin was high for the losers.

Cutters had an easy game with the Speed-Demons 36-22. Freemon was high for the Cutters while P. Poland led the Speed Demons.

Next Tuesday, January 31, Vandalia Wildcats return to Sullivan. The League games will also be played on Tuesday night. This team defeated the Red Birds at Vandalia. Come out and see the Red Birds get revenge.

BAPTIST CHURCH

Miss Bessie Winchester.

Church school at 9:30. Morning worship 10:30. The subject of morning service is "The Courage to Forget."

B. Y. P. U. 6:30 p. m. Subject, "What is our Church Doing?" Fellowship, Religious Instruction, Divine Worship, Ideals of Character, Personal Attitude, conversation of Good and Social Leadership will be discussed in the meeting. All young people are invited to attend and enjoy this meeting. Sherman Cahoon will be leader. Evening worship 7:30.

Subject of evening worship is "Who Hath the Spirit of Christ?" Tuesday evening prayer meeting at 7:30.

We feel no confidence in a ship until it has been tried and proved. Many other things we do not use until they have been used with pleasing results. If we rest securely on what has been tried and proved, how much more could we rejoice in the Word of God? For ages and ages it has been used, tested and has proved itself. We have tried its promises and walked in its ways and have found they lead to all the blessings. Lord may we read Thy Word, and do Thy Will. Give us Wisdom to understand. Read Ephesians 6:14-16.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH

C. E. Barnett, pastor

You have heard and read a great deal about "the forgotten man," but what do you know about "The Unforgotten Sparrow"? You may, or you may not, know that it is the fifth sparrow. Anyway let us gather together and together gather some lessons from the story of the fifth sparrow, under the subject "The Unforgotten Sparrow." This we will do Sunday morning at 10:30, if you will and the Lord wills.

We are promised a visit of "The Covered Wagon" some Sunday evening in the future. This will not be next Sunday evening, but the pastor will preach upon the subject "The Greatest of the Prophets." This service will be at 7:30.

Preceding the evening church service, the Christian Endeavor will meet. This is the beginning of Christian Endeavor week which will have nation-wide observance. At a later date the Endeavor will present "Youth in Conquest." The subject for next Sunday's discussion is "What God is Our Church Doing?" This meeting is at 6:30 and our prediction is the subject will provoke much discussion, both pro and con. We invite constructive criticism.

We announce our first service last, the Sunday School, which meets at 9:30 a. m. The Men's class will provide the special number. This class is also preparing to entertain the Men's S. S. Association Monday evening, the 30th. A splendid musical treat is in store for all who attend.

Come and share an hour of worship with us at church Sunday. "Good company on a journey makes the way seem shorter."

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Rev. G. M. Garber, Pastor

The church is the only institution whose function is solely the creation and instilling of ideals of life. Its purpose is to help all who come to it to find happier and more pleasant way of living. Jesus words: "I came that ye might have life, and that ye might have it more abundantly", is the working program of the church. The desire of those who are in the ministry of the church is to lead everyone to experience the abundance of life which is to be found in religious living. You are invited to worship at the First Presbyterian church.

GOSPEL MISSION

Over the Post Office

Time of services the same.

When you stay away from the house of the Lord you are missing a blessing.

Isa. 6:8 "Whom shall I send, and who will go for us? Then said I, Here am I, send me."

In the first of this chapter we find that Isaiah had a definite experience with the Lord. He saw the Lord sitting on his throne, high and lifted up, with the heavens filled with heavenly beings ministering unto him. This sight revealed to Isaiah his own littleness, his uncleanness, it did more, it brought from him an acknowledgment of his uncleanness, and a cry that he might be made clean. Isaiah was a man of visions, the first verse of the first chapter tells us he came on the scene with a vision. I believe one of the greatest things troubling the world today is, the children of God have lost their vision, we are not seeing visions today, because we are not looking for them, not expecting them, the Christ has become common-place to us. We need to see him high and lifted up, see him in his kingly position, see him in his holiness, which will reveal to us our own unworthiness, our uncleanness, then if we, like Isaiah will acknowledge our need, there are still coals of holy fire on the altar of God, and there are still holy seraphims to carry the fire and place it on your lips. Then, we too will be willing to say "Here am I send me."

The Story

Somewhere east of the Rio Grande, and not far from the border separating Mexico from the United States is a famous Sanitarium and Spring owned and operated by Dr. Drinkwater, a pompous and self-opionated man, who disowned his only son because he married an actress.

Drinkwater's wife dies, grieving for her son and leaves her money to his orphaned daughter, Glory, only on condition that she spend the last twenty-four hours before her twenty-first birthday with her grandfather, Dr. Drinkwater, hoping in this way to clear all misunderstandings.

But Glory, like her mother, is an actress, under contract to make a talking picture in South America, and her twenty-first birthday is only two days away. She must keep her contract, and wants her grandmother's money. She remembers her friend Honor, who has a sick mother and conceives the idea of sending them to the Sanitarium in her place. Her grandfather has never seen her and need never again.

When Honor and her mother, Madam Chere, whom she introduces as her foster mother, arrive at the Sanitarium the fun and troubles begin.

Glory learns that her fiancé has gone to the Sanitarium to spend his vacation. His father was an old friend of Dr. Drinkwater's and they had long desired a match between Bob and her. She hurries to the Sanitarium to explain to Bob before he meets Honor and spoils everything. She also writes a letter of explanation to him which Honor promises to deliver but loses instead. It is found by Rainbow, a colored boy, who can neither read nor write. The letter has many hair-bread escapes with Bob, Honor, and Glory in hot pursuit.

Philip, a ranch owner, and his men, are hunting a Mexican rustler. They stop at the Sanitarium for a drink of the Spring water where Philip sees Honor and is immediately attracted. Years before, Philip's grandfather and Dr. Drinkwater had quarreled, and Drinkwater has forbidden Philip on the place.

Honor hears Philip plotting with Bessie, the maid, to frighten every one into the house with stories of the rustler, and thus makes it possible for him to meet Honor without Dr. Drinkwater knowing it.

When the rustler really does come and carries off Bessie and Rainbow for ransom, Honor will not believe it, but thinks it part of the plot and scorns Philip. When Philip returns from the rescue, wounded, with the rustler captive and the others safe, Honor is sorry and everything is right again.

Rainbow shows Philip the lost letter and he, from its contents gathers that Honor is Bob's fiancée and been deceiving him. But Honor dare not tell him the truth until the twenty-four hours are up. When the guests arrive for the birthday party everything and everybody are at sixes and sevens. But a few words of explanation smooth the troubles away and everybody is happy.

Drinkwater is overjoyed that Glory is engaged to Bob. Even her being an actress does not disturb him. When she tells him that she and Bob are going to South America, ostensibly on their honeymoon but really to make a talking picture, he smiles, and suggests that he charter a boat and all join him and the happy couple in a wonderful trip to South America.

FORMER STATES ATT'Y. MAKES PAYMENT TO CO.

Former states Attorney R. B. Foster has paid into the county treasury the sum of $1250, due at the close of his term of office in December. A balance of $346.25 is still due, according to the report made by the auditor.

Something freakish—a hobo begging for something to eat while his breath smells of canned heat and his lips are sucking a cigarette.

Any fellow who is afraid of a new idea is old—no matter what his age.

The height of something or other—a nation like the U. S. with so silly a financial system.

A man with a job to give never asks the applicant—how much liquor can you drink?

It don't help times any to be moaning about things.

Getting drunk never adds to a man's self-respect or prestige.

DEMOCRATS PLAN TO ELECT THEIR CIRCUIT JUDGES

Wamsley defeated Judge Sentel for renomination and was a new man on the ticket. Judge Boggs died later and Frank Leonard of Champaign was elected to fill the vacancy.

Moultrie Democratic

Moultrie county in 1927 gave a majority for all three Democratic candidates. J. L. McLaughlin received 1855 votes. His nearest Republican competitor, Judge Boggs received but 595. The other two Democratic candidates received a 2 to 1 vote over their competitors. But the district as a whole went strongly Republican. In the race to fill the Boggs vacancy in July of 1931 Moultrie again showed its Democratic colors and was the only county in the district to give Francis E. Williamson, the Democratic candidate a majority over Frank Leonard.

Because of this tendency of Moultrie to go Democratic on the judicial ticket, friends of J. L. McLaughlin are urging him to get into the race this year. They feel that Moultrie county is entitled to one of the three nominations and that Mr. McLaughlin is the logical man to run.

The other two candidates will doubtless be placed in Decatur and Champaign. Each of those cities—the two largest in the district—want resident judges and will support home men in preference to men residing in other parts of the district.

Boost McDavid

Friends of Horace McDavid of the law firm of McDavid, Monroe and Mann, of Decatur are urging him to make the race. They feel that his high standing among the legal fraternity of the state, ideally qualifies him for the bench. Decatur in past years has been partial to Judge Baldwin, who besides being judge was a very astute practical politician. Together with Postmaster J. J. Hill he commanded a powerful Republican vote-getting machine in Macon county. That machine went on the rocks, following discord during the campaign and defeat on November 8. It is doubtful whether Judge Baldwin will be able to command enough votes and prestige to make him a very formidable candidate this year. The Democrats, for the first time in many years, have a well-organized party machine in Macon county, ably commanded by the County Chairman George Brown.

For Supreme Court Judge

The counties which are in this judicial circuit are also in the larger district from which a supreme court judge will be elected this year. Judge Dunn of Charleston is apparently a candidate to succeed himself. The Democratic choice throughout the district seems to be Attorney Lott Herick of Farmer City in DeWitt county.

Champaign county is looking over its Democratic material preparatory to choosing its candidate for circuit judge. Among those mentioned are Harry Barr and Judge Armstrong.

Republican Argument

On the Republican side of the fence there is an indication that the usual convention scrap cannot be evaded. Judge Baldwin and Judge Leonard can doubtless have renomination but there will be others in the smaller counties who may contend with Judge Wamsley if he seeks renomination. Frank Lemon of DeWitt county, present U. B. district attorney, who will doubtless be soon succeeded by a Democrat, has for a number of years had judicial aspirations. Judge Hawbaker of Monticello has in past conventions sought nomination and may make another try this year. Piatt county has not had a circuit judge for many years and as Moultrie and Douglas have been so honored, Piatt may demand recognition for Judge Hawbaker this year.

Moultrie friends of Judge Sentel, who was defeated for renomination six years ago, would like to see him get into the race again this year. He served two terms as successor to the late Judge W. G. Cochran of this city. It is pointed out that if Lemon, Hawbaker and Wamsley get into a convention tie-up for the nomination, Judge Sentel, through prestige of past service, might again get on the ticket.

Candidates for these judicial positions are not nominated in a primary but are nominated in conventions. Delegates to these conventions are based on number of votes cast in previous elections. Because of this fact, conventions are sometimes long-drawn out when dead-locks occur. Judge Sentel's defeat for renomination six years ago is generally laid at the door of Judge Baldwin, as the local Judge's friends knew that Baldwin and his Macon county organization could easily have put Sentel back in the running.

There seems to be a sentiment among both Democrats and Republicans that Judge Baldwin's tenure of duty as a circuit judge is limited and that he is due for the Republican discard, to join his friends who met that fate on November 8th.

Why a Funeral Home?

WHILE we will, of course, serve anywhere, we always recommend the use of our comfortable, modern funeral home because it offers many advantages over the private residence as the most fitting place for the funeral service.

The private home is constructed for the activities of life and even in the hours of sorrow these activities must go on. Our funeral home is designed to meet all the special needs of this trying period with the greatest possible convenience and comfort.

Here everything is provided for paying the last beautiful respects to the departed in perfect freedom from the distractions of the residence and intrusion from without.

Dennis was silent for a moment, then he said, the blood deepening in his face, "I want to say that, if it would not hurt Pauline terribly, I hope she would—let me go."
"And you have been married only a few months," said Barbara. "It doesn't take as long as a few months to discover a mistake."
"I think life is horrible," she said fiercely.
"It's horrible because we know we musn't do the thing we want to

"I've never seen your home," Dennis said suddenly. "I've often tried to picture where you live."
"It's very unromantic."
"It wouldn't be to me. Let me come to your home, Barbara, just once."
You won't be the first, Dennis, Jerry Barnett often comes."
"It makes no difference."
"Very well, your blood be on your own head."
But her heart beat with a happiness that was yet half pain. It would be something to know he was a little silence, then Dennis bent and kissed her lips.

"If this is what you call trying to play the game, Barbara, don't try any more. I know you, and I know that you belong to me as much as I belong to you, and that nothing will ever change it even if—as you say—it's got to end. Well," he queried, as she did not speak.
Barbara's lips moved, but no words came. Then quite suddenly she put her head down on his shoulder.
"Love me, love me! Please love me," she said wildly.
At that moment he was far more to her than just the man she would have married if he had been free: he was all the different loves of life that had never been hers, father, mother, lover, child—everything.
He held her very gently, his face against her hair, speaking words of which he had never believed himself capable. So often had he told Pauline that he could not "talk like a poetry book" and that she must take his love for granted. Poor little Pauline, who, although she was his wife, had never been his love.
And then Barbara gently disengaged herself.
"I'm sorry, it's your fault, I've never been such a weak idiot before." The tears were streaming down her face, and though she tried to brush them away they still fell. "If I'd met you years ago, Dennis, I might have been quite a nice woman," she said sobbing. "And, oh, look at your coat, all wet with my tears. Let me wipe them away."
But he held her wrists, preventing her.
"No, let them be, they are mine, anyway," he said; then he kissed her hands, the palm of each, and let her go.
"And all this doesn't help us or tell us what to do," he said ruefully.
Barbara laughed shakily. "We don't need to be told—we know already. You're married to one of the sweetest girls in the world who adores you, and I—though I've got the reputation of being a husband stealer, somehow I can't steal you, Dennis. Perhaps it's the one decent streak in my nature coming to the top at last, I don't know. I can't understand myself. I'm not given to decent actions. It's not for Pauline, either. I'm fond of her, but not fond enough to wear a martyr's crown for her sake."
She was standing by the fire again now, her arm resting on the mantel shelf. "It must be because I love you so much," she said after a moment. "You know, the sort of thing you read about in books. She loved him too well to spoil his life sort of thing," she said cynically; then suddenly her head went down on her arm. "Why need this have happened to me—why need it have happened to me! I've never been given any happiness; all my life everything's gone wrong."
Dennis watched her silently; his arms ached with their longing to hold her, but he was afraid.
Barbara spoke suddenly: "You had better go, Dennis. There's nothing more to say, and it's getting late. You've got to dine with Dr. Sornaway, you know."
"I can put him off."
"Nonsense." She turned and faced him bravely. "I look a sight, don't I? Women always do when they've been crying, and that's why they cry when there's nobody to see—I cry torrential tears at night."
He took her in his arms and kissed her. "Some day—" he said hoarsely, but she would not let him finish, she laid a hand on his lips, silencing him, and at that moment there was a knock on the front door. Barbara gently disengaged herself.
"I expect it's Mellish. I'll let her in." She gave a hurried glance in the mirror. "I look a sight, but she won't notice."
She turned to go, then came and put her arms round his neck and kissed him, but then, when she would have gone, he held her and kissed her many times, and Barbara said breathlessly, "Do you remember the story of the plain princess who only looked beautiful when the man she loved kissed her and so she always looked beautiful to him? Well, I think that must be me," and then, as the knock was repeated, she went swiftly away, and Dennis mechanically lighted a cigarette and walked over to the window.
As he stood there looking out into the gray afternoon his only emotion was one of passionate gladness that his great love for this other woman had been given to him. He had not lived until he do," Dennis agreed hoarsely. "Because there is a so-called code of honor that says a man and a woman shall stick together no matter how much they hate each other."

"Then Dennis bent and kissed her lips."

Barbara cried out: "You couldn't hate her. Nobody could."
"No, no, I didn't mean that. She is one of the best—sweetest—"

There was a long silence; then Barbara said suddenly: "When we say good-bye after this lunch Dennis, it is to be good-bye."

His face flushed and his lips quivered.

"For Pauline's sake, or for mine or for your own?" he asked.

Sudden tears started to her eyes. "The world is upside down," she said tremulously. "Only the other night I told Jerry Barnett that it was the end of romance when a man called a woman 'my dear,' but now you've said it it seems to me like the very beginning."

"The beginning of a love that will never end, Barbara."

She drew her hand away. "We are talking like a sentimental boy and girl," she said. "Ask for the bill, and let us go."

It was raining a little when they left.

"I'll take a taxi—don't wait," Barbara said.

"Do you imagine we are going to say good-bye like this?"

"Why not? It's as good a way as any."

"Not good enough for me."

The concierge had fetched a taxi, and Dennis and Barbara drove away together.

Shelbyville Expects Big Attendance at Dairymen's Meet

It is anticipated that the 59th Annual Convention of the Illinois Dairymen's Association to be held in Shelbyville February 1, 2 and 3 and will be the biggest agricultural event of central Illinois in several years. People in and around Shelbyville have been very active in preparation for this convention and arrangements are now nearing completion.

More than 200 High Schools are expected to send their best student cattle judges to participate in the Judging Contest on February 1. Ladies Milking Contest on this same day is attracting wide attention and many entries have been received. So many, in fact, that it may be necessary to close entries in the near future. This milking contest always attracts a great deal of attention and furnishes a great deal of amusement to the huge crowds that gather the first day of the Convention.

Throughout the day on February 2 most prominent agricultural speakers will give pointed information to farmers who gather to attend the sessions of the day. The evening of February 2, the Annual Banquet will be held at which time Dr. W. A. Evans, Health Editor of the Chicago Daily Tribune and health authority of world-reputation will deliver the feature address.

Members of the Chambers of Commerce of the central Illinois communities are looking forward to the address of Delos James, of the United States Chamber of Commerce, which will be delivered the morning of February 3.

A most excellent program throughout has been arranged for and the enthusiasm displayed by the business men and farmers of Shelby county and vicinity indicates a very large and interesting convention will be held. It is hoped that farmers of central Illinois will in so far as possible avail themselves of their opportunity to attend every session of the convention in order that the greatest possible amount of good may come from it.

Dora—J. G. Albright, W. W. Reeter.
Lovington—H. P. Bicknell, Geo. Powell.
F. W. Rauch, H. S. Reedy and F. W. Schuetz were selected as delegates to the annual meeting of the Illinois Agricultural Association to be held Jan. 25-28 in Peoria.

Gain in Membership
A 30% increase in paid up membership for the year was reported at the business session in the morning. No membership campaign had been put on during the year but many farmers, realizing the great need of organization during these times, had come to the Farm Bureau office and signed contracts.
Farm Adviser J. H. Hughes gave his extension report in which he called attention to the huge amount of business cared for during the year. He called attention to the fact that there had been 3,000 office callers during the year and that more than 100 meetings had been held in the county. It was reported that the Farm Bureau oil service had been very successful and that the company had paid a 10% patronage refund back to the members on amount of products purchased. The Grain Marketing Committee reported that the amount of grain sold co-operatively from the county had nearly doubled during the year.

Tax Reduction.
President Shuman in his report called attention to the work of the taxation committee which was instrumental in securing cuts in both assessed valuation and tax rates. This Farm Bureau tax committee was the only organized group working for lower taxes in the county. Among the other outstanding achievements of the year were the July 4th celebration, the Bond Issue campaign and the Community development program which led to the County Drama and Music Contest which drew an audience of nearly 500 at the high school last week.
A pot luck dinner was served at the noon hour and it was followed by an entertainment put on by Mr. Chambers and Mr. Johnson of Masonic Home entitled, "Vaudeville 50 years ago."

from between his feet and behind his back.

Although Chicago is now considered one of the weakest sisters ever to bow before the other conference fives, next year should be a different story. The Freshman squad at the Midway is one of the strongest in the school's history and the main luster is provided by Bill Haarlow, product of Bowen high and one of the most consistent high scorers ever to represent a windy city prep cage team. The Plebes with Haarlow in the van have defeated the varsity several times to date.

On learning from Ed that Lute "T. L." Hudson, Bethany's successful dispenser of Men's clothing apparel, was considered the most persistent golfer of the local bag-toting band and that golf sketches would add zest to this near basketball column we strolled over to his "den" Friday morning to engage him in a golfing tete-a-tete.

T. L. was opening his morning mail while his better-half Cora, who incidentally has shouldered her end of the family golfing prestige, was quoting from the newly arrived Progress. On learning our mission, the dark elongated enthusiast thumbed through his ledger, which besides containing diurnal transactions was augmented by sporting quotations such as "Pitt 12, Notre Dame 0". "Bethany loses to Sullivan 27 to 23", "Played 18 holes of golf today, bitter wind." Needless to say it was the latter notations he was searching for.

To our query as to whether or not he was living up to his boast of playing each month of the year he replied, "Yes-siree—I've played three times this month, the first—" "Why that's a Sunday," interrupted his spouse.

"My error," exclaimed Lute, "I never play on Sunday you know." Then checking through his Dairy-ledge he found that he had braved the chilling wintry elements on 3 occasions.

"But how about Decemoer, surely the cold and snowy weather barred you?" But the records came to his rescue with a statement that he and Wild Bill Gardner had seen action on both the first and fourth of the month.

"As far as I know" declared Lute, "I haven't missed playing a single month since first hooking up with the Sullivan club—that was in 1926, I believe."

Mr. Hudson first played the game back in 1905 when it was introduced to the local boys by Miss Gussie Scott who had learned the game at the U. of I. The fellows constructed a small golf course east of town but interest stayed at a minimum so Lute continued his Tennis activities, a sport in which his height rendered him a wizard at net play. Somewhere around 1919 golf was making its second bid for popularity so Lute and his doubles partner, Troy Scott, in tune with the times, hung up their rackets and with shiny new golfing instruments began clouting the pellet far and wide—mostly wider—on a large field on the Walter Dalton farm. They next joined the Shelbyville club and were active members until they transferred to the local organization.

In past winters, this golf bug in vacation trips has played on various links in the states of California, Louisiana, Arkansas, Florida, and Mississippi.

Lower Taxes Result of Organized Work.

Moultrie County taxpayers were receiving their tax notices this week and are grateful that some cut has been made. A reduction was secured despite the fact that the state tax rate was raised from 39c to 50c. This is a result of the 10% reduction in assessed valuation of all real estate ordered by the Board of Review last summer.
The Board of Review made this reduction in assessed valuation after considerable agitation had been developed by the joint tax committee of the Moultrie County Farm Bureau and the Lions clubs of Bethany and Lovington. As an example of the difference this 10% per cent cut makes in the amount of taxes paid, land in one school district in East Nelson township, assessed at $40 per acre and paying at the rate of 40c or $1.60 last year would only be assessed at $36 with a rate of 40c or $1.44 per acre this year. This would mean a reduction of $6.40 on 40 acres despite the fact that the rural district in which this land is located actually increased in rate.

Rural School Taxes Reduced
A survey has just been made in co-operation with the Superintendent of Schools office which shows that much greater reductions have been made in the taxes levied for certain rural schools than for others without any correspondingly greater cut in teachers salary. The facts summarized below show that in 40 rural school districts in the county where members of the Farm Bureau tax committee did work, the tax rate decreased 24% or 17c while in the 37 districts in which no work was done the rate actually increased. That this big cut in taxes did not come at the expense of teachers salaries is shown by the fact that the 40 districts in which the Farm Bureau committee worked paid their teachers an average monthly salary of only $1.28 less than the average of the 37 districts showing no tax cut and doing no tax reduction work.

40 Districts Doing Tax Work
Average tax rate 1931—70.2.
Average tax rate 1932—53.5.
Percent decrease in rate—24%.
Average teachers sal. '31, $96.60.
Av. teachers sal. '32—$78.72.
Percent decrease in sal. 18%.
37 Districts With no tax work
Av. tax rate 1931—62.1.
Av. tax rate 1932—62.7.
Percent decrease in rate—0.
Av. teachers sal 1931—$93.87.
Av. teachers sal 1932—$80.00.
Percent decrease in sal. 14%.
The Farm Bureau tax reduction campaign in the school districts did not center on the teacher's salary but rather urged the elimination of waste and the reduction of illegal surplus carry over funds. The work of these 40 Farm Bureau tax committee members has

Makes Women Lose Fat

Miss Rea M. Haines of Dayton, Ohio writes: "I weighed 180 so started to take Kruschen. I never was so surprised as when I weighed myself the first week—I lost 7 pounds. I just bought my 3rd jar and am down to 145—am still taking them and never felt better in my life." (June 17, 1932).
To take off fat—take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—one bottle that lasts 4 weeks costs but a few cents—get it at any drugstore in America. If this first bottle fails to convince you this is the SAFE and harmless way to lose fat—your money gladly returned.
Don't accept anything but Kruschen because you must reduce safely. adv.

phatically states that Tennis falls short of possessing the lure of the links. We for one challenge that statement.

In regard to his greatest thrills: Both occurred last summer when he twice shot 3 consecutive birdies. The first series came on holes 2-3-4 and the second on 8-9-11.
"And say," he added, "did you know that I did not par the course a single time last summer?" Twice I approached the final hole with a par game behind me only to break on each occasion and take a 6 on the last hole."
"And your pet golfing peeve?" we interrogated.

Back in no uncertain tones came the answer, "a loose-mouthed duffer from Sullivan who is perpetually offering me bits of unsolicited advice. Then with a mischievous twinkle in his eye he launched into illustrations that bore out his contention. To him this bete-noire was a standing menace, yea a veritable stumbling stone to the novice who unknowingly absorbed some of his treacherous tips and thus forever enthralled himself in the clutches of mediocrity.

"Of all opponents, Mr. Hudson, whom do you derive the most pleasure out of beating?"
"Thaat, too, is Bill Gardner," came the reply.
"Now seriously," we questioned, "who, in your opinion is the best golfer of the Sullivan establishment?"
"Well," drawled Lute "since you put it that way I guess for all-around play I'll pass the wreath to Mr. Gardner, even if he does put out some rotten information."

WEATHER

And you call this winter! January has been a mild month and wasn't that grand for poor people who lack clothes and fuel? One day of sunshine is following another. We see where another spell of cold weather has hit southern California. That shows that Bill Robinson and his wife were smart to come to Illinois to spend the winter in our mild, energetic and enjoyable weather.

Saturday night it started to rain and rain it did. There must have been a terrific downpour for Sunday morning people were measuring the depth of water in their basements, creeks were out of the banks and even the old sluggish Okaw spread itself over adjoining fields. It rained so hard that it improved the roads rather than damaged them. Following this rain grass is growing. Tulips are pushing through the soil and if things don't change very soon fruit trees will start budding and zero weather in March will do its dirty work.
