 Clean-Up

Rightfully or not, Sullivan is getting plenty of publicity as a city badly infected and plagued with rats.

A story in a Decatur paper recently quoted a commissioner as saying that big dogs were killing little dogs and cats and as a consequence the city was going to the rats.

Anyone really familiar with conditions will answer that libel .by saying - Rats! The commissioner says he was not quoted right and did not know he was speaking for publication.

Rat exterminators have appear er here. The state has taken cognizance of the advertised situation and suggested that rat-extermination be made one of Sullivan's reemployment labor propositions. ****

While our city is not exactly going to the rats, we have a condition here that is doubtless duplicated in many other cities. Rats are a nuisance wherever found and unless a continuous war of extermination is waged, the rat population increases rapidly.

It is there that they find food, for rats cannot, of course, live without food.

Business men who pile their spoiled food products in the alleys, who permit the accumulation of refuse, such as crates, packing cases and wrappings are the rats' best friends. The rodents live on such refuse and garbage and then make their home under store floors and rubbish piles and wherever shelter offers. Cats and dogs pay very little attention to them.

A city is never any cleaner than its residents. You need never expect good housekeeping or a nice interior in a home where the outside surroundings look like heck. You can never expect the city officials to seriously clamp down on old ill-kept barns and dung-heaps, weed patches, rat-nests, ash-piles and similar careless and insanitary conditions unless the people of the city demand it.

Frustrating the Will of the Voters.

If the Horner administration at Springfield is guilty of one short-coming, it is in its apparent lack of ability to take that complete charge of state affairs, which the voters by a large majority delegated to it in the election of 1932.

There are two great political parties in Illinois. For many years the Republicans were in charge. The people, dissatisfied with that party, elected Democrats and placed in their hands the governmental affairs of the state.

We contend that if there is an office in Illinois that a government and deserves to be abolished.

The Horner administration, by its actions, does not coincide in this view. It not only retains Republicans in positions of trust, but it even names new Republicans from time to time to head important departments.

This makes our government in Illinois a sort of hybrid beast, neither fish nor fowl, partly Democratic and partly Republican.

True, through the action of the people in electing Democrats, that party will be saddled with any blame that the administration is heir to, while the Republicans who still clutter up the payroll will claim what honor accrues.

The civil service bunk, saddled on the state by the Republicans, to keep its payrollers safely intrenched in jobs in case of party defeat, handicaps the work of the administrattion. Too many jobs are in unfriendly hands. These Repub lican job-holders will do what they can to descredit the Horner administration. Their first loyalty is to the old-time Repulican machine and their hopes and prayers are for its rehabilitation and regaining of power.

December 26, 1891

Roy Patterson has been called to that Great Beyond toward which all mankind journeys. The days of some are four-score and ten, while others are cut short in the bloom of youth and in the days of their greatest usefulness.

He served his fellowmen ably and well.

He has left for himself two outstanding achievements in this city. At a time when the morale of Sullivan has reached a low stage, he accepted the challenge of the times. At th request of the Community club he became mayor of the city. Aided by a group of business men, as aldermen, he helped secure for Sullivan its water supply and distribution system. That accomplished, he practically rebuilt the city's municipal electric plant. He placed the business of the city's administration on a urally cheered him, especially as he business basis. Sullivan owes its present excellent financial condition largely to reforms instituted by Mayor Patterson during his regime.

Roy Patterson was an attorney of ability with a brilliant future. He always gave freely of his time and talents to civic affairs, churches and all other worth while endeavors. He had the respect and esteem of all who had the pleasure of his acquaintance. At the zenith of his powers, his Maker called him Home.

PAUL IN ROME esson for Dec. 17th. Acts 27, 28. Golden Text Philippians 3:14.

Because of his appeal to Caesar Paul was sent to Rome. The account of his voyage, as given in our lesson, is very accurate and vivid. There were 277 folk crowded on the little vessel, besides a cargo. A violent storm arose which was too much for the single mast and large sail of the antique craft, so that those aboard were shipwrecked on the island of Malta, and obliged to remain there three months. Al- with a gold watch as a Christmas though Paul was a prisoner, he was present. the commanding figure in this crisis, and his bravery, presence of mind, and sagacity made a profound impression upon the centurion and the whole ship's company. Here, as before, he proves his superiority to adverse circumstances, and demonstrated the forcefulness of his personality. At the opening of navigation in the spring the voyage was continued in another ship without further accident. The Roman Christains, knowing that Paul was coming, sent delegations to meet him at the Forum of Appius, more than 45 miles from the city, and at the Three Taverns, about twelve miles nearer. Their warm welcome natwas a prisoner in bonds.

During his two years of imprisonment at Rome, the apostle was treated with unusual kindness. We know that Governor Horner has had a continuous battle with legislators to have necessary measures enacted into law. It has been necessary to play politics to secure Republican support. Such support is doubtless reflected on the pay-roll make-up. Politics is a peculiar game. A sort of catch-as-catch-can.

But despite anything that may be said or proven to show the necessity of keeping Republicans in charge of parts of the state government, we contend that such was not the intent of the great majority that voted in 1932 to have Illinois governed by the Democrats for a period of four years. Loyal Democratic workers who helped make that victory possible are not being called to service. Republicans who did everything in their power to make Democratic victory impossible are retained in positions which the voters expected would be filled by Democrats in full accord with the plans and the aims of a Democratic administration.

The Progress editor is not a disappointed applicant for some political job. He is not asking for one, never did.

Our American civilization is but a babe as compared to that great Roman empire which for centuries ruled the known world and then gradually story went into disintegration.

It is easy to find causes for war. What history records of the hundreds of thousands of years that have gone by is merely a story of wars — of the victors and the vanquished. Wars raged for centuries on end by the hordes which migrated from place to place in Europe and Asia, hungry for land which would sustain them and led by chieftains who sought power.

Religious arguments dominated the thought and action of these old countries and wars were fought in which mil lions died to settle some question of theology which may still remain unsettled.

In the present day and age—our past 100 years in par ticular, humanity has to a certain extent, laid aside its theo logical differences and turned to the production and accu mulation of worldly goods and ownership of lands and chat tels. Occasionally a leg of the journey is sketched in a rudimentary map. Barnstorming Flights.

Topping a six inch stack of tiny loose leaf pages is the log, printed in the aviator's painstaking hand, of his first training flights at Lincoln, Neb., and his 1922 barnstorming flights as a wing walker and parachute jumper. In that year, the log shows he made 200 flights and 10 parachute jumps. Numerous I wonder, do we not often waste attendance on December 3rd of other incidents relating to flying recorded.

The Spirit of St. Louis, in which Lindbergh's flight from New York to Paris was made, had its own log all to itself, beginning with the first test at San Diego on April 28, 1927. The record shows it had flown 27 hours and 25 minutes before the flight to Paris. The trans-Atlantic flight takes up only two lines of the log: "May 20, 1927, and May 21, 1927. New York to Paris, 33 hours 30 minutes."

Every step in preparation and execution of the famous flight is revealed in the notebook. When he arrived in Paris, it seems he wanted to remember just these things: "Arrange for care of plane. Arrange for guard. Cables. Arrange for clothes. Arrange for quarters." And then, as an afterthought, "Postcards -U. S."

in World's Industries Fully one-half of the world's total production of diamonds is used in the industries, according to H. T. Dickinson, consulting engineer for DeBeers Consolidated Mines, Ltd., South Africa.

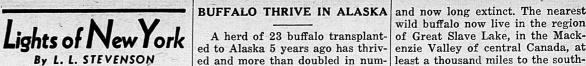

A large portion of the diamonds mined are not suitable for gem purposes, Dickinson said. The term "industrial diamonds" is applied to stones which are off color and have no other natural defects.

"Despite their cost, diamonds are proving indispensable in the manufacture of a surprising variety of products. The diamond is used everywhere for cutting glass.

"The largest demand for industrial diamonds comes from the mining, automobile, marine and aeronautical industries. Large quantities of diamonds are purchased for use in trueing abrasive wheels. In this machine age, efficiency depends upon the mathematical accuracy of the parts.

"All the finer grades of wire are made by drawing the metal through diamonds. The holes drilled in the diamonds may not vary one thousandth of an inch, and the hole must be perfectly true. The holes are made first with a fine diamond point and are enlarged with slender steel needles treated with diamond dust. The plates used for drawing the delicate filaments of electric lamps have holes with a diameter of only 0.0015 mm."

Rabies Contracted Only

Maybe it's their persistency that causes them to rise to the top. At any rate, a friend who has considerable contact with those of "the Seven Million" who have achieved high places in the business world, has a bunch of tales concerning how they go about getting what they want. One has to do with a gentlemen in the financial district who is extremely fond of a certain well known sweet wafer. He sent his secretary out to purchase a supply and the secretary returned with the information that none of the nearby shops sold the wafer. The business man then ordered him to keep going until he found that particular brand, also to list the shops where he failed to find it. The secretary was gone all morning but came back with the goods. "Take a telegram,' said the business man. He thereupon dictated a sizzling message, setting forth in detail the shortcoming of the wafer concern's sales organization. The message was addressed to the president of the corporation. In it was included a list of the stores where the secretary had failed to make a buy. The next morning the president of the corporation called, full of apologies and thanks. Now every store in the neighborhood is well stocked. But chases. The president brought with him enough wafers, as a gift, . ..

the business man makes no pur-

Another incident along similar lines has to do with a big man in the financial district, who, when he moved his office, failed to find his favorite brand of high-priced cigars in the stores in that vicinity. He wrote to the company about the matter and received an answer which stated that he must be in error as the brand was sold in several adjacent stores. Thereupon, the financial man got the president of the company on the telephone and took him from store to store. Having proved his point, he took him to luncheon. Now all he has to do is send downstairs for his cigars.

Another instance of persistency has to do with a taxicab driver and a manufacturer. The manufacturer gave the driver an address but, when it was almost reached, recalled that his friend had moved. He then told the driver to turn around and go to another address. The driver, surly and ill-humored, immediately began to let loose remarks about passengers who were unable to make up their minds. The manufacturer let him rave. But when they were within a few blocks of the second address, he ordered the driver to turn around and go to another. The driver, furious, ordered the passenger out. "Don't act like that," said the passenger gently. "This'll be the last time I'll change my mind-I promise you that." "It'd better be," snarled the driver. The address turned out to be that of a police station and the driver spent the night there. That the manufacturer paid his fine the next morning is beside the point. He was entirely satisfied with his little lesson in civility.

From Bite of an Animal Rabies or hydrophobia is a biting disease; it must be contracted from the bite of another animal, whether that animal be horse or squir rel, dog or cat. "Mad dog" is the usual term. Dogs don't go mad from eating raw meat. Hot weather doesn't drive them mad. And dog days in July and August have fewer rabies cases than are reported during the days of winter and spring.

As a rule, rabies appears in about one of ten cases where there is a bite by a rabid animal; the disease manifests itself from 14 to 30 days after the bite. Inoculation promptly usually eliminates the danger of death.

Enforcement of local dog laws, careful supervision of dogs by their owners and caution used in petting strange dogs will help greatly in fighting rabies when it does appear.

They were particularly conspicuous in the last half with some staccato foot-action and raucous pleadings whenever their favorites flashed symptoms of a rally.

Defense Function

But the suggested rally failed to burst into actuality due to Sullivan's astringent man-to-man defense which allotted the visitors so many as two baskets only in the second stanza. Of their five ringers, Aurice "Short" Young, the darkskinned little Gays transfer, accomplished his pair in the first half while Jack (Glamorous) Griffin did not get in on the scoring racket until the late stages of the tilt. A high-point man last year he has been a trifle slow in rounding into scoring form and on this evening was well shadowed by Lanky Leo Horn. any hospital, you are probably familiar with the advantages of a liquid laxative.

All doctors know the value of the laxative whose dose can be measured, and whose action can be controlled.

The public, too, is fast returning to the use of liquid laxatives. People have now learned that a properly prepared liquid laxative brings a perfect movement without discomfort at the time, or after. Dr. Caldwell's long experience with mothers and babies, and his remarkable record of nearly three thousand births without the loss of one mother or child, should give anybody complete confidence in

If you have ever been a patient in any prescription which he wrote! But most important of all, a gentle liquid laxative does not cause bowel strain to the most delicate system, and this is of the utmost importance to expectant mothers and to every child.

Expectant mothers are urged to try gentle regulation of bowels with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is delightful tasting laxative of delightful action, made of fresh herbs, pure pepsin and active senna. Not a single mineral drug to be absorbed by the system, or irritate the kidneys.

Scheer and Geo. Poland Feature Sullivan Play In Rough Exciting Tilt.

By Jim Scott

Gays-With revenge in their bosoms and Redskins in their lar, the Gays sniping forces went on one of their frequent at-home scoring benders here last Tuesday that all but sent Sullivan's High's pfect cage record reeling back into oblivion. But surprised and badly dazed the stout-hearted Reds bounced off the canvas with a rousing 15-point counter rally in the final quarter to eke out a 33 to 30 decision and keep their winning streak intact. It was by far the most thrilling bit of basketball the Dennismen have indulged in todate and more than once they looked sadly disorganized before Gays' half-crazed onslaught.

Hummel, a sprite of a substitute featured the frenzied last half with an assortment of four baskets released from the most unorthodox positions. His mates also dropped in some unconscious ones but Eullivan won out when they successfully met fire with fire.
