

WEATHER

A sudden change from the mild Christmas weather this week brought the temperature down around the zero mark. On the night from Tuesday to Wednesday it dipped a few degrees below zero. Snow covers the ground, for the first time this winter.

The few days preceding Christmas were mild and spring-like. Children in bare legs accompanied their parents in their Christmas shopping.

Work on some CWA projects were stopped by the cold but the men will doubtless all get in their 30-hour week.

On this Thursday afternoon the weather is moderating. Where the southern sun can apply its weak rays, snow is melting and prospects are that the cold spell has nearly played itself out.

TAXES

The State Tax commission this week decided that there will be no state tax rate this year. Last year the rate was 50c on each $100 of assessed valuation.

The reason this tax will not be levied on general property this year is because the sales tax is taking its place. This tax went for relief purposes up to January 1st. After that date it goes into the state treasury. It is expected to yield $35,000,000 annually. It will enable the state to pay the school distributive fund for the aid of elementary schools and meet other state expenses.

This is the first tangible result of Governor Horner's tax reduction program. For Moultrie county it means $70,000 less yearly in taxes on farms, real estate and other general property.

The reduction in assessments in the state this year totalled nearly $400,000,000 and if the Supreme Court had not held the sales tax constitutional, this year's state tax rate might have been as high as 70c on the $100. The action of court not only permits the reduction of taxes but also makes legal the $50,000,000 in relief bonds which the state has authorized.

SAFETY

After January 1st bank deposits up to $2,500 in amount will be absolutely safe in those banks which have arranged to come under the new banking laws.

The First National Bank of this city has arranged to give its depositors such protection. It has sent its remittance in to the Temporary Guarantee Deposit Fund. It has always been ready to co-operate in every move that makes for safe and conservative banking.

After the first six months of operation the new law will be extended to cover deposits up to $10,000.

This is one of the most praiseworthy results of President Roosevelt's new banking policies which have for their main object the safeguarding of small depositors. It is expected to result in bringing back into circulation millions of dollars now being hoarded.

Fully 97% of the country's banks are coming under this new law.

Loyal Daughters To Have All-Day Meeting

The Loyal Daughters class will have an all-day meeting with pot-luck at the noon hour Wednesday, January 3rd at the home of Mrs. Stella Ellis.

The committee in charge of the arrangements is Mrs. Lora Shasteen, Mrs. Grace Sona, Mrs. Bess Carver, Mrs. Eunice Sipes, M. S. Manta Isaacs, Mrs. Mildred Kilton, Mrs. Katie Murphy, Mrs. Lizzie Hancock, Mrs. Rachel McKown, Mrs. Lucille McFarland, Mrs. May Davis.

All members are urged to attend as the calendar for the new year is to be made and other business is to be brought before the class members.

FINDLAY MAN, WHO MADE LINDY PLANE MODEL, DIES

Hobart Dowdy 34 who made a model of Lindbergh's "Spirit of St. Louis" plane now on exhibit in a St. Louis museum, died in Findlay at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Dowdy Sunday night, a victim of tuberculosis. He had been ill for the past five years.

HOUSEHOLD SCIENCE

The Household Science club will meet Tuesday, January 2 at the club rooms. Mrs. Florence Hogue will be the leader.

The program will be as follows: Piano solo—Genevieve Drew.

Discussion of present day problems by Ida Shuman.

Hawaiian music—Ella Jenne.

Recreation period—by Leona Stone.

—Walter Holzmueller* motored to Teutopolis, Saturday evening to get Mrs. Mary Feuerborn and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schleper and son Arthur who spent Sunday and Monday at the Holzmueller home in this city.

Bethany's New Road Goes South

The South route out of Bethany will be improved by graveling. This is one of the NRS projects. This route has the approval of Ernst Lieberman, State highway superintendent.

A letter received by County Clerk Chippis this week states that originally the route north and west out of Bethany had the department's approval. Because of delay in getting right of way, the south route was surveyed and right of way signed up. The north route was then also signed up.

Mr. Lieberman's letter stated that while the department had planned on improving the north route, it had now gone too far on plans for improving south route and that requests for changing back to the northern route could not be granted.

The South route comes south out of Bethany to the intersection with the Moweaqua road and then follows that road to paved Route 169. The Federal government will pay the cost of improving the road, after which the county agrees to keep it in repair.

Mr. Lieberman suggests that the Board of Supervisors keep the northern route in mind and improve it as soon as is possible.

Mrs. Henry Vaughn Died Tuesday Eve

Mrs. Henry Vaughn, died at her home near Kirksville Tuesday at 9 o'clock. She was past 74 years of age, having been born April 5, 1859.

She was twice married. Her first husband, John R. Payne died many years ago. About seven years ago she was united in marriage with Mr. Vaughn, who survives her. She also leaves the following children: Mrs. Effie Evans of Decatur; Irvin Payne of Pana; Mrs. Eva Burns of Flint, Mich., and Russell Payne of Florida.

Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at 1:30 at the Oak Grove church, in charge of Rev. C. E. Barnett. Burial was in Oak Grove cemetery. Pall bearers were Herman Rauch, Virgil Niles, Grover Hudson, Ray Heiland, Jim Pierce and William Matheson Sr.

MRS. D. C. FRANTZ ILL

Word was received here Monday night of the serious illness of Mrs. D. C. Frantz at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Amanda Lindsay in Springfield. Mr. and Mrs. John Frantz and daughter Mrs. Marie Wood and Mrs. Gertrude Kinsel motored to Springfield Wednesday to visit her.

DREW-HALE

A marriage license was issued in Charleston last week to Kenneth Drew 21 and Theima Hale 18, both of Sullivan.

Local Schools Sold $87.39 Xmas Seals

The sale of Christmas Seals in the local grade schools this year amounted to $88.39. First prize was won by Mrs. Mary Carmack's room; 2nd by Miss Hoke's room and by Mrs. Baker's room and 4th by Miss Lindsay's room.

Reports from rural schools are not yet complete.

Gerold Elder Is Assistant Receiver

Gerold L. Elder left Wednesday morning for Atwood where he will serve as assistant receiver for the bank in that town. J. R. Drake was recently named receiver of that institution.

Mr. Elder who is an employee of the First National Bank in this city was given a leave of absence to attend to his new duties at Atwood.

Death Takes Heavy Toll of Men of Law

Sullivan has been bereft of many lawyers in recent years. The why and the wherefore of this we do not know, but the facts stand that no other trade or profession has suffered such loss by death, in percentage to its total, as has the profession of law.

We need not go so very far into the past to find the obituary of Joseph Titus: Others of more recent years are E. D. Elder, Elliott Billman, J. K. Martin, Miles A. Mattox, Judge W. G. Cochran, Judge John Grider, Judge John Eden Jennings, Frank M. Harbaugh, Judge George A. Sentel and C. R. Patterson. (We hope we have not omitted any).

These men were not merely attorneys, but in nearly every case they were outstanding leaders in community affairs. Some were prominent in party councils and two—Cochran and Sentel, served long and faithfully on the bench of the 6th judicial circuit. Grider and Jennings served as county judges.

There are fewer practicing attorneys in Sullivan today than has been the case in many years.

O. E. S. INSTRUCTION SCHOOL TUESDAY, JAN. 2

Crystall Chapter O. E. S. will have a school of instruction Tuesday, January 2nd, afternoon and evening. Mrs. Ethel Breedlove of Arcola will be instructor. All Eastern Star members are invited. At 6 o'clock a dinner will be served for 25c. For reservations call Mrs. J. L. McLaughlin, W. M.

—On Christmas day Mr. and Mrs. Omer Lowe entertained the following guests at a turkey dinner: Kenneth Lowe of Cincinnati, Gilham Lowe of the U. of I., Mrs. Johanna Gilham, Mrs. Marie Lowe, Dr. and Mrs. S. W. Johnson and Dr. and Mrs. Clark Lowe.

—Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sona and daughter Helen had as their Christmas guests Mr. and Mrs. Hal Sona of Hammond, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. Bert LeGrand and sons John and Lyle and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Abell of Allenville.

Omer Lowe Is Chairman Of Corn-Hog Com.

Government's Plan for Reducing Surplus of Corn and Hogs Will Be Explained to Farmers; Corn Loan Money is Coming in.

Moultrie county's temporary Hog-Corn Reduction committee met Tuesday and organized by electing Omer E. Lowe chairman and V. I. Winings secretary. The others members of the committee are Omer E. Spencer, J. B. Wagaman, O. H. Schable and J. E. Righter. All of these committeemen, with the exception of Mr. Spencer, attended the instruction meeting at Effingham Friday night.

The committeemen have selected the following men to assist in their respective localities: Ross Daily, G. D. Edmonds, A. J. Scott, L. A. Wheeler, William Shafer, J. E. Leachman, Sam Dick, John Yoder Sam Helmuth, John Albright, H. P. Bicknell, Roy Wilson, Ralph Emel, Albert Walker, Fred Harmon, Glenn Landers, William Lilly and J. A. Pound.

A general meeting of instruction will be held in the near future at which the government's plans for corn and hog reduction will be outlined. At this meeting plans will also be made to hold meetings in all parts of the county at which the plans will be explained to all interested.

Corn Money Coming

H. S. Reedy the official corn sealer for the government has been a busy man lately. Up to Thursday morning 99 certificates had been issued, covering 134,744 bushels of corn. Forty one applications, in addition, were on file, awaiting certification. Prospects are that more will come.

H. Y. Kingrey was the first Moultrie man to get his corn loan check, based on 45c per bushel. His check was approximately $2,300. While most requests for loans are on smaller amounts of corn, there are some considerably larger.

One New Project Has Been Approved

One new CWA project for Moultrie county has been approved this week. It provides for planting, sloping shoulders and otherwise doing necessary work on state maintained highways in the county. Twenty men, one foreman and one truck are to be used on this job.

Though the zero weather caused some slowing down on the work now in progress, it is expected that the men will get in their full 30-hour week.

One of the biggest crews at work on this time is on the county line road from Bruce to Findlay. Pearl Loy is boss on that job. Other big projects are the Young bridge grade and the Jonathan Creek road.

The city is planning to submit and ask for approval of a project for improving the electric light plant, by tearing out old boilers and making other necessary changes. The job would call for about $2,500 worth of materials and a considerable amount of labor.

Hear Governor Horner Jan. 1st

A telegram received by The Progress Thursday conveyed the following information:

"Governor Horner will deliver New Year's greetings and review first year's work in radio broadcast at 2 p. m. New Year's day January 1, 1934 over stations WBBM and KMOX; a Happy and Prosperous New Year to you."

All Citizens Invited to Governor's Reception

Informality will feature Governor Horner's first New Year reception at the executive mansion.

No formal invitations will be issued. The doors of the mansion will be open to all and each visitor will be welcomed by the Governor and the elected State Officers, who have joined with the Governor in his desire to make this year's New Year reception as free from ceremony as possible. With Gov. Horner in the receiving line will be Lieut. Gov. Thomas F. Donovan and Mrs. Donovan; Secretary of State and Mrs. Edward Hughes; Attorney General and Mrs. Otto Gerner; State Treasurer and Mrs. John C. Martin; State Auditor and Mrs. Edward J. Barrett; Superintendent and Mrs. Francis G. Blair; Supreme Court Clerk and Mrs. Adam Bloch; President Pro Tem of the Senate and Mrs. Richard V. Graham; and Speaker and Mrs. Arthur Roe.

GOV. HENRY HORNER

For many years, it has been the custom to broadcast formal invitations. More recently, however, the invitation list was reduced to include only the appointed state officers and some groups of county and city officials.

Now governor Horner has removed the last vestige of formality by ruling out formal invitations and extending a general and hearty invitation to every citizen of the State.

The reception will be from 3 p. m. to 6 p. m. at the Executive Mansion.

Four Celebrators Get Legal Gifts

Judge L. Lambrecht in his court during the past week imposed fines and sentences on four celebrators who on Christmas eve imbibed too freely, presumably of the bootleg type of alcoholic juice. Finis Schwitter, Pete Plummer and Charley Jackson were assessed fines of $5 and costs on a charge of disturbing the peace. Police Officer John W. Pifer made the arrests.

Otis Donovan was arrested by Officer Pifer Tuesday night. He was released on his own recognizance and appeared in Judge Lambrecht's court Thursday morning. On plea of guilty he was fined $10 and costs and given until January 7th to pay.

—Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Stricklan entertained the following guests to a turkey dinner at their home on Christmas: Mr. and Mrs. Orville Stricklan and family of Decatur, Mrs. Lucille Poland of Decatur and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Stricklan and family of this city and Mrs. Hetie Ellis.

—Mr. and Mrs. Don Ashbrook of Wheaton and Mr. and Mrs. Waverly Ashbrook of South Beloit spent the Christmas holidays with Mr. and Mrs. V. R. Ashbrook and family and other relatives and friends.

—Mrs. Mary Lane entertained the following to a turkey dinner at her home on Christmas day: Mr. and Mrs. Don Lane; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lane and family; Mr. and Mrs. Claude Lane and family; Mr. and Mrs. Bert Lane and family and Miss Marie Watts.

Hitch Hikers Spent Several Days Here

A man who claimed New York as his home and a girl who said she was from Blue Mound spent a few days here this week. The man traded a good suit for $4.00 and a pair of overalls. He spent the money for booze and both landed in jail for a night.

They were turned out Wednesday and told to "beat it."

Miller-Whitfield Christmas Wedding

John B. Miller and Miss Helen Whitfield were united in marriage at the home of the bride's mother, at 6 o'clock on Christmas day. Rev. L. L. Lawrence of the Methodist church performed the wedding ceremony. Attendants were Miss Jean Whitfield, sister of the bride and Wayne Miller, brother of the groom. A group of relatives and friends witnessed the ceremony.

Following the ceremony a wedding supper was served.

The groom is a son of Omar Miller of Champaign and the bride is a daughter of Mrs. Gladys Whitfield. The wedding was a culmination of a school-day romance, both having attended the local high school and graduated in the same class. Later they attended and graduated from the U. of I. The bride has for a number of years been teaching in the Windsor high school. The groom has a position in Cleveland, Ohio. After the close of the present semester, Mrs. Miller will join her husband and they will go to house-keeping in Cleveland.

Champions Will Clash Here Friday

Friday night there will be a real treat for basketball fans. Arrangements have been made for a game between the champions of 1932 and the newly crowned champions of 1933.

The game will be staged in the high school gym, under the management of coach Clark Dennis.

As a preliminary, two of the best teams in the Industrial League will put on a curtain raiser.

There is always doubt as to which year has the best team of basketball. The battle Friday night will not leave this matter in doubt so far as 1932 and 1933 are concerned.

The old men (1932) will consist of McDavid and Dunscomb, forwards; Kinsel, center; Dwyer and Grote guards.

The kids (1933) will line up—Scheer and Pifer, forwards; Horn Center; Poland and English guards. A big attendance is expected. The first game starts promptly at 7:30.

FAMOUS MUSICIANS CALLED TO CHICAGO

Eugene and Ted Risley, local musicians and entertainers have been asked to come to Chicago and broadcast Saturday over WLS. The exact time has not been learned. They have also been engaged to furnish the music for a New Year's party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Pifer in Chicago. All their expenses are being paid. These talented young men are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Risley.

Christmas Night Hardware Robbery

At about 11:30 o'clock Monday night a burglar broke a window on the north side of the Cummins hardware store. Through the opening thus created, he entered the store and stole about $50 worth of hardware. The loot consisted mostly of pocketknives and cartridges for rifles. Nothing else has been missed. People living across the street from the store heard the crash, but not having a phone, were afraid to get down on the street to give the alarm.

—Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Miller and daughter Ruth and Mrs. Mattie Fread of this city, also Mr. and Mrs. Walter Collins of Decatur were Christmas day guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Righter in Decatur.

Celebrate New Year's Eve at the Grand — Fun, Favors, Frolic — Midnight Show Starts 11:20 p. m.

—Dr. and Mrs. D. M. Butler spent Sunday at the home of Mrs. D. Munsie in Decatur.

Tenant Farmers Need Help To Keep Going

Need Feed for Livestock Now and Crop Loans Next Spring, In Addition to food and clothes for Families at This Time.

In the general relief and depression situation of the present day it seems that one very important factor in the farming situation in Moultrie county is being overlooked—on many farms the overcrop failure that has been known in the history of Moultrie.

Tenant farmers are especially hard hit. The one thing offered them in the way of relief provisions is pork—and they have plenty of that, but who cares to live on pork?

In many cases the small share of the corn crop that fell to the tenant's lot has already been fed. The drought of the late summer required that the hay on hand then be fed to horses and cows. Chickens and everything else available has been turned into a little cash for clothes and shoes.

Some of these men are getting work on the CWA. Many, because they have been employed in their farm work, are not. Many are backward about registering for work and abhor the idea of signing an order showing that they are destitute and in need of relief.

These farmers need help this winter. They need flour and beans. They need clothing so their children can be kept in school.

Another outstanding fact is that they need some food to take their livestock through the winter, if they are to remain on the farm. They need loans next spring to finance seed and crop planting and a little money to keep them going until they can realize on that crop.

The abnormal weather conditions of the past year, the plague of the chinchbugs and the low price for what little was produced on the farms, even in normal times, would class these farmers as disaster victims, worthy of the help of the Red Cross and similar agencies for aiding those in distress.

Legion To Stage Henry's Wedding

Members of executive committee of the American Legion met this morning to discuss arrangements for the big community show which they are staging January 17-18 in the Grand Theatre. The cast consists of 125 local actors, including leading business and professional men. The committees have begun their respective duties and plans for the presentation of "Henry's Wedding" are well under way.

The cast, including the best singers and most talented high school girls as well as the business and professional men, begin rehearsing Friday evening. The Legion invites anyone who is interested in learning more of Henry's Wedding to make inquiries at the Uncle Henry Headquarters, which is at the Legion Hall.

"Henry's Wedding" is the story of a bachelor bridegroom who is trying to get married to a woman who has been twice widowed and who believes there is very little in the game of matrimony of which she has not full information. Henry's nephew, Jack Macey tries throughout the story to prevent the wedding, so that he will inherit a hundred thousand dollars due to a peculiar provision in his grandfather's will which leaves him the money, providing he is married before his uncle.

In addition to the play there are a number of specialty numbers which are real highlights. The Beaus and Belles of Grandma's time, enacted by the leading business men in 1890 costumes will lend a great deal of comedy, while the Spiritualistic meeting, conducted by the leading singers of the town adds a great deal to the show. The essential beauty and glamour is furnished by the clever choruses in attractive costumes.

Mr. Yeakel is co-operating with Miss Nell Bentley the coach in making this an excellent community entertainment.

—Mrs. Mae Woodruff and Mr. and Mrs. Truman Marble spent Christmas day with Mr. and Mrs. Homer Cole near Bethany.

—Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Barnett spent Christmas day with their son Neville and family at Franklin.

Let us search and try our ways, and turn again to the Lord. —Lam. 3-40.

My riches consist not in the extent of my possessions, but in the fewness of my wants.—Brotherton.

A New Leaf For 1934

He came to my desk with a quivering lip—
The lesson was done—
"Dear teacher, I want a new leaf," he said;
"I have spoiled this one."
In place of the leaf so stained and blotted,
I gave him a new one all unspotted,
And into his sad eyes smiled—
"Do better now, my child."

I went to the throne with a quivering soul—
The old year was done—
"Dear Father, hast Thou a new leaf for me?
"I have spoiled this one."
He took the old leaf, stained and blotted,
And gave me a new one all unspotted,
And into my sad heart smiled—
"Do better now, my child."

—Kathleen R. Wheeler.

Political Prospects of 1934.

Politically, the year 1934 will be interesting. This is true in a national sense and particularly insofar as affairs in Illinois are concerned.

The two outstanding national features are these—Can the Republican party reorganize and give serious opposition to President Roosevelt's recovery program?—Will the people endorse the President's program by re-electing a substantial Democratic majority to Congress.

All congressmen are up for election this fall. Republicans will make a strenuous effort to regain some of the seats they lost in 1932. Any victory, so gained, will be regarded as a loss to the President.

So far, the Republicans nationally have shown no leadership to rebuild their shattered party machinery, but efforts are under way.

In Illinois Democracy will be judged to a certain extent by the Horner administration. It will have a strong bearing not only on state and local offices, but also on Congressional elections.

There is no need of denying that at times some of the Horner administrative measures have been unpopular. Governor Horner has had a difficult time to reconcile the warring Chicago and down-state factions. The need for new revenue measures for relief have not been popular, though necessary.

The sales tax, or occupational tax was not popular in the downstate, due to the belief that Chicago alone stood to profit thereby. If, however, this measure will result in eliminating or substantially reducing the general property tax, the result may yet react greatly in favor of Governor Horner.

The charge, often made, that the Governor favored Chicago to the detriment of the downstate, has received a setback in the present liquor legislation controversy. In this instance Governor Horner is opposed to the Chicago plan. He wants state control of hard liquor, rather than give Chicago license to handle this matter in its own sweet way. The Governor's attitude here will meet with hearty approval downstate.

One thing that will hurt Democratic chances for victory this fall, is the fact that there are thousands of disgruntled Democrats who sought appointment to office. The fact that they were unsuccessful does not rankle them as hard as does the fact that Republicans are holding the jobs which the Democrats wanted. Party leaders in every precinct in the state realize that this is a serious matter and has considerably dampened the enthusiasm of party workers.

The Republicans in Illinois are badly disorganized. The Newton Jenkins element will try to gain control of the party machinery, but old timers will fight such a move and as a result factionalism will tend to make the Republicans less dangerous than might otherwise have been the case.

As is the case of Congress, so in Illinois, Governor Horner will be aided or hampered in his administration by the results of the election of members to the General Assembly. The present Democratic majority is not overly large. The battle to hold the majority in the Legislature is the Democrats' paramount problem. Illinois is not near so strongly Democratic as is the nation at large. President Roosevelt may get his Congressional majority and Governor Horner may lose his.

Politics is always interesting, but never has it been more so than it will be in 1934.

Saloons' Return, A Betrayal.

If our Legislature at Springfield will continue much longer its delay in legislating liquor control in Illinois, the old-time saloon will be so firmly entrenched that it will be hard to eliminate.

In the bigger cities saloons are doing a flourishing business. Beer of high alcoholic content and all kinds of wines, whiskeys and similar drinks are sold to the thirsty as they belly-up-to-the-bar, spit in the saw-dust and with foot on the brass rail, imbibe until they feel hilarious.

Despite the warning of Governor Horner and President Roosevelt, the saloon is back. Will they permit it to stay?

Are the leaders of the two great political parties going to turn their backs on their platform promises and betray the people who voted for repeal, in order to get rid of the evils of Prohibition?

The old-time saloon of pre-prohibition days was what disgusted the people. It brought on Prohibition. That "noble experiment" was an inglorious failure, but that failure must not be construed into a victory for saloons and a permit for their return.

The people will not stand for such betrayal.

Why Buy From Unfriendly France?

In the stock of many American stores are French-made goods. American buy them.

Since Prohibition has been repealed great quantities of French wines and liquors have found their way into this country and France has hopes of making this a very profitable item of foreign trade.

France refuses, however, to meet its payments on the war debt it owes this country. It is doubtful whether any of the many millions which that country owes the United States will ever be repaid.

America saved France in the World War. When that country had reached a state of despair and Germany's armies were battering away at its frontiers, America stepped in to the conflict and furnished the men and materials that turned the tide of conflict, whipped Germany and her allies and saved France.

Ingratitude seems to be one of the practices of French statesmanship. Not only did this country save it from disaster but France now takes the attitude that Uncle Sam shall also pay her war bill. The United States thought France was honest when it gladly poured of its wealth into the French coffers during and after the war.

Nationally France is flagrantly dishonest. She is basely ungrateful. She is a dead-beat among nations.

Why are Americans foolish enough to buy French-made goods? If Americans would cease to patronize the ingrate, she might come to time; if American tourists would give France the go-by, it might help some; if each individual, however, in making any sort of purchase would refuse to take that which bears the label of French manufacture, there would certainly be an awakening and statesmen of France might yet learn that Americans have no love for the cardinal crimes of ingratitude and dishonesty.

Year-End Comments on the Weekly Press.

Newspaper work must go on. Mail trains do not wait and mail carriers cannot change their scheduled hours to accommodate a newspaper that may be late in reaching the post office. This is especially true of weekly newspapers which are distributed exclusively through the mails.

This will explain to people why weekly newspaper offices are seldom closed in response to mayors' proclamations on special occasions, such as soldiers' reunions, homecomings, funerals etc. The work must go on. Even an interruption of but a few hours, would cause serious delay.

Friends occasionally mistake the motives back of an editor's declining to accompany them to Springfield or on some mission of business, politics or pleasure because "the paper needs me." They feel that the editor over-estimates his importance to his work and to his community.

Be that as it may, the publication of a weekly newspaper requires that a certain amount of work be done so that the advertising field and the news sources are thoroughly covered by a certain dead-line hour on press day.

Not only must the advertising and news matter be written on time, but it must be in the hands of the printers in sufficient time to allow of its being set in type, the proofs read and corrected and then made up in the forms. Any slip-up anywhere along the line, upsets the routine and causes delay.

Approximately 1600 homes await their copy of the Progress each week. Those nearby are served Thursday evening though most of the subscribers in Illinois get their copies Friday morning. Those going to California, Florida, Massachusetts and distant states arrive a few days later, but the subscribers know when to expect them and are somewhat disappointed should the paper be a day late.

What we have said here, applies not only to The Progress but to any other weekly newspaper.

And let us tell you about other weekly newspapers. They have been very hard hit by this business upset that the country has been passing through. We get several dozen of these on the exchange list. We look them all over carefully each week. We regard them as friends, telling us what is new in their respective communities.

How some of them keep going, is a mystery to us. We note occasionally that papers have less than $10 worth of advertising in an issue and from experience we know that subscription payments are hard to get. But can you imagine an editor working all week, paying rent and fuel and telephone and electric service, blank paper and ink and the dozen and one more items that enter into the overhead of a weekly newspaper office on a gross income of about $10? How can they do it? We do not know.

But here too you can imagine the editor gritting his teeth and with naught else but grim determination to hang on, declare to himself and the world at large "the paper must go on."

There have been few depression casualties in the newspaper world. In fact, we hear occasionally of some man who has been out of the game, getting in, even against terrible odds, just to be an editor and have the opportunity of telling the world his interpretation of the news of the day and his

Sunday School Lesson

by Rev. Charles E. Dunn

THE LIFE OF PAUL
Lesson for Dec. 31. Philippians 3: 1-14.
Golden Text: 2 Timothy 4:7

Our lesson is taken from Paul's radiant letter to the church at Philippi, the first household of faith he founded in Europe. A personal and informal epistle, it is easy to read, and captivates by its warmth of faith and affection.

What a triumph of spiritual power! Think of the scene of its composition. Imagine a sick, lonely man in a filthy prison, awaiting martyrdom. One would not expect from such a one so sunny, human and victorious a letter. But by a miracle of God, here it is.

We are also impressed in this missive as in all Paul's writing, by his passionate devotion to Christ. "For, with me," he says, "to live is Christ and to die is gain." Later he cries, "I long to know Christ and the power which is in His resurrection." Later still he makes that amazingly bold proclamation of faith. "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me." Here is a man completely captured by his Master! He has, you see, both passion and power.

Then, too, this letter breathes a spirit of thankful joy. The church at Philippi, through one of its number, Epaphroditus, had generously sent Paul some gifts. The apostle is very much touched, and composes in response this imperishable expression of sincere gratitude. "My Christian greetings," he writes, "to every one of God's people."

Note how he commends the gospel. "Only let the lives you live," he says: "be worthy of the Good News of the Christ." Consider his summons to courage. "Never for a moment," he insists, "quail before your antagonists." And remember his plea for humility. "Do nothing," he writes, "in a spirit of factiousness or of vainglory."

And the beauty of it all is that Paul lived what he preached.

editorial ideas on the morals and manners etc. of the human race.

Every community needs its newspaper, perhaps more than it ever realizes. Many papers keep going week after week and year after year giving wholeheartedly a full measure of service while the publishers get a bare living in return. Out of town salesmen get the printing orders, which rightfully belong to the home-town printer, simply because the printer and publisher is too busy to keep running after them and to compete with a high-powered big-city type of salesman whose main selling argument is generally based on the falsehood that "your little home-town printshop can't do this work."

But despite all the trials and tribulations that the weekly press is heir to, you can depend on it that no community has any more faithful, loyal and consistent business men and women than the editors and their staff.

They are always on the firing line and no matter what may befall, Depression, disasters, catastrophes, war, pestilence, hell or high water, you'll generally find the editor and his helpers on the job doing their level best.

We glory not in what we may be doing individually, but we do glory in the work of our profession—the weekly press, the voice of the smaller communities where you find the country's sturdiest men and loveliest women.

All At Home

By H. S. Butler

It is nice, at home to meet
So we may each other, greet,
At the table have a seat
Where we talk and also eat.

Business cares are left behind
So more pleasure we may find,
We will not now charge the mind
With deep thought of any kind.

We talk now of former days
All about the games and plays,
Of the fun in other ways
The thought of which, always stays.

We think now of Christmas joys
Useful things and also toys,
Present for the girls and boys
We will think of no alloys.

The little, big, young and old
All within the family fold,
Have a joy that is worth gold
And it can't be bought nor sold.

It is fine that once each year
This vacation does appear,
So that families far and near
May disseminate good cheer.

Democratic Party Is Very Much Alive

"There ain't no more Republican party; there ain't no more Democratic party" shouted the speaker. "Let me tell you, you'll never hear from either of them again." And he really thought the audience was believing him.

What folly to make such a ridiculous statement. Wouldn't this country have been in a h-l of a fix if it had not had the Democratic party in 1932. Tell President Roosevelt that there is no more Democratic party and see him smile. Roosevelt was not a mistake of a Democratic national convention. He was the choice of the best Democrats in that convention because he embodied the best Democratic ideas.

It would be a sad state of affairs, indeed, if the grand old Republican party was dead. We need it. In case the Democrats ever get as rotten as the Hoover regime was, what would the people do if there was no Republican party to turn to? Whenever you hear an orator spouting: "The Democratic and Republican parties are both dead" you just mark it down that you are listening to a die-hard Republican. He don't dare be a Republican any longer and he hates the guts of the Democratic party, but he can't do otherwise than approve of President Roosevelt. He's on a spot. Though reformed, somewhat, he's still a Republican at heart.

If he'd be honest he would say: "The Democrats did the right thing in nominating Franklin D. Roosevelt. When Roosevelt was elected he conclusively proved that the Democrats made no mistake and the independents are proud too that they had a hand in electing him." Hollering about the Democratic party being dead is putrid bunk—the vain vapors of a disordered mind.

MORE WHEAT IN ILLINOIS

Despite the fact that some wheat growers in Illinois reduced their acreage in accordance with the government plan, a survey shows that there are more acres of winter wheat in Illinois now than a year ago. The 1932 acreage was 1,713,000. For 1933 it is 1,850,000. There is also a 20% increase in rye acreage.

HEADS I. O. O. F. HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Heinecke of Blue Island, Illinois have been selected as superintendent and matron of the I. O. O. F. Old Folks Home at Mattoon to succeed Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Saylor, who recently resigned. The new officials will go on duty January 1st.

Everybody is entitled to courtesy—even your wife.

We are judged by what we do, and not by what we claim we do.

Brandy Sauce

Since the Sullivan mothers have cautioned their daughters to always say "No" when a boy asks "May I kiss you?" the boys have had to change their technique and now ask "Will you be angry if I kiss you?" Of course, the girls still say "No." —Adapted.

One Bethany wife had a thankful experience Christmas eve. Her husband had gone to Sullivan. He got home at 11 o'clock. She met him at the door in glad surprise. "Oh Dear, I'm so glad you are back home safe. Somebody telephoned and said they arrested some idiot in Sullivan for being drunk and I was so afraid it was you!"

One of our local girls had this sad Christmas experience. She hung up her stocking. Santa Claus left a bridge lamp, six books, a new coat, several boxes of candy and a bag of nuts in it. It was only half full, so he left a note: "Sorry Gladys, but this is all I can leave you this year."

Talk about hard times: When the editor was 21 he was working in a newspaper office for $8.00 per week. He got a raise of $2.00 and lived in fear that the landlady would raise his board and room from $3.00 to $4.00 a week if she heard of his good fortune? She did.

The other morning when it was cold a local business man went to one of the neighboring villages. He stopped in at a business house—nobody home. He tried several other places with the same result. Finally he got into the general store—there, cluttered around the big stove, he found almost the entire business population.

Pastor: "Henry I surely was pleased on Christmas morning to see you attend the early services." Henry: (puzzled) "Me, attend services?"

Pastor: "Yes, you were right in the front seat and I know you expect to be a better man this coming year."

Henry: "Well I'll be dern! So that's where I was at?"

A story is being grape-vined among the hoboes: "Sullivan is a heck of a town. They cut down our shade tree in the railroad yards and piled the wood up next to the city calaboose. If you want to sleep there you've got to take an ax and cut up parts of the old shade tree for fuel. That's sure rubbin' it in."

One of the things we expect to hear little about here in Sullivan in 1934 is a Butane gas plant.

Turkeys and geese may be all right for a Thanksgiving or Christmas spread, but who'd want that sort of meat for a steady diet?

The year 1934 will see the beginning of a political party consisting of all those people who, through the Roosevelt administration, have been deprived of their special privileges.

When a woman sues for divorce, charging all sorts of bad things against her man, folks are more apt to believe her if she doesn't immediately get married to some other fellow on her waiting list.

Legal booze didn't make any more drunks here than usual this year. The fellows who got drunk over the Christmas holidays always have been getting drunk about that time, anyway.

Under Prohibition the bootlegger may have answered some useful purpose to some people; now, however, there is absolutely no excuse for his continued existence.

Jerry: "Do you know why it is foolish to argue with Gail Carnine?"

Jim: "No, why?" Jerry: "Well if you do finally win the argument, it's been talked o death and is not worth winning."

When Christmas day comes on a Monday, folks all approve. If the new 13-month calendar is ever adopted all holidays will come on Mondays.

Herr Hitler's program in Germany of taking care of the professional pauper class before they are ever born, has much to commend it. The church says every child has a right to be born—but we would amend that to read—"Every child has a right to be born right." The children of the moron poor are handicapped from birth.

A Lincoln story—When General Hooker, during the War of the Rebellion sent a message to the President, headed "Headquarters in the Saddle" the President remarked to his cabinet: "Hooker has his headquarters where his hindquarters ought to be."

If you nurse your trouble, you'll find it to be like a baby, it keeps right on growing.

The shroud of uncertainty hovering over Moultrie's cage situation lifted last week as a quintet of versatile Redskins marched triumphantly through the annual county tourney to present Sullivan its third consecutive championship. In their final battle with dispatch they brushed aside the strongest aggregation ever assembled at Gays high winning, 37 to 27.

However you may chalk up a moral victory for Joe Lucas' representation from a little 3-year high, who apparently have never learned how to stop fighting. Their unwieldy aggressiveness carried them to victory over a touted Arthur team and against the Reds it staked them to a last half comeback in which they had 16 tallies while the locals could muster but 11. For inspiration they looked to Charley Parker, pudgy little crimson-thatched guard, who raced back and forth over the court until sheer body exhaustion nearly dragged him to the floor.

Headwork in Evidence

But with the Reds schooled to all the fine little tricks of the trade a Gays' victory simply wasn't in the books. Never before had they gone so far in tourney play and they were, to borrow a golf term, pressing. So with their entire cast concentrating on offense the smart Dennismen were not slow in striking at their neglected weakness—defense. Snaring the ball at the tip-off the champs-to-be drove under the goal to ring up a dozen counters before their worthy antagonists could draw a deep breath. Leo Horn segregated himself on an empty lot in front of the basket, scoring six fielders in the opening half. He could easily have augmented this total in the succeeding periods but chose to keep the ball in circulation rather than risk it to Gays custody.

In the latter half Sullivan went into a strategic offensive formation which served to protect their advantage accrued in the first half. Three of the tossers would lineup just in front of the center line, with one on each side of the floor, and one in the center circle. From this alignment they worked a successful stall which kept one eager continually in the clear. From it they also evolved a scoring maneuver which was exercised but sparingly.

Let George Do It!

The tussle was off to a Ralph Metcalf start with Parker and Pifer dividing charity tosses. English banked one in from the side and then from below and Poland contributed a free throw. Booze flowed under the goal for Gays' 1st fielder. Pifer hit from the circle and then Horn took a long pass from Poland to tally from beneath. Hummel sank one of his two penalty tosses then the Poland-Horn aerial act was repeated to give Sullivan a 16 to 4 edge at the quarter.

Second Quarter

Horn and Booze halved sleepers then Booze lifted in one of two gratis attempts. Parker tore under the goal batting the ball through. Poland and Horn romped in for fielders. Booze cast one in from the side only to have Horn click from below and Pifer from the circle. Sullivan was a 26 to 11 leader at the half.

Third Quarter

The Gays fireworks started with Hummel scoring twice and Booze once in a little over a minute of play. Scheer dribbled in to score and then made good on a free toss when fouled in the act of shooting. Pifer and Shafer both tallied via dribbles and Booze converted one of two gratis offerings. Poland worked two one-handers then a free throw. Carmine, who had relieved English, fouled out with Booze making both the basket and accompanying contributive heave.

Fourth Quarter

A clever Sullivan stall ate up four minutes of this time stuff. Gays did not regain stride until only a minute remained and then Parker and Booze made useless baskets. On a jump ball in this period English accidentally pushed his elbow into Booze's diaphragm relieving him of his oxygen and depositing him in a heap on the court. It was English's fourth miscue and the eighth foul emanating from the back guard post.

The Reds were decidedly benefited by penalty throws, sinking all of their five attempts while Gays was making good on but five out of 16 chances.

Lovington Seconds Victor

Vyverberg's basket in an overtime period gave the Lovington Seconds a 27 to 25 conquest over Windsor and a championship in the second team division. After lagging throughout the first three quarters, Windsor, headed by Booker, fighting guard, staged a brilliant last round spurt in which they outscored Lovington 13 to 5 to force the struggle into an extra session. Booker slipped in five long shots and a half dozen free throws while Vyverberg was next in the tally line with 5 baskets and a pair of charity tosses.

Poland Shines As Reds Whip Windsor, 23-15

Following the rhythmic lead of George Poland, black-topped Texan jumping bean, a little red-clad quintet cruised over Windsor, 23 to 15 last Friday night to gain permission to engage Gays in the tourney finale.

Starting slowly at the far end of the court, Poland gradually increased his momentum to a speed which carried him aloft at the free throw circle. On ascension he immediately dispatched his pet one-handed shot, which hit the bull's eye on five occasions to equal the combined efforts of the entire Windsor ensemble.

Windsor Unimpressive

It was the first time in a good many seasons that a Jobey Dunscomb coached outfit has not outdone itself in tourney play. None of the troupe could sustain any of the school's scoring potency standardized by such worthy gents as Nishizer, Webb, Hennigh, et al. Jack Griffin, their pretentious leader, annulled what attempts his mates made toward cooperation by tossing from around center.

Although he leaves no outward indication, Griffin is a victim of a weak heart, which went haywire early in the 4th quarter to force him out of the fray.

Both teams coined like records at the charity lane, Windsor counting five out of 10, and the Reds the same number out of 11.

A Poland Period

The rushin' Reds, thru negotiations with Poland, picked up a 6 to 0 lead in the first period. "Letting George Do It," proved a remunerative slogan as the little man provided all of the tallies, slapping in three buckets as he speeded into the goal.

Windsor was at her best in the second episode to trim the local's advantage down to 8 to 5. Ebby Scheer flipped one in from the side for Sullivan's only counter while Bailey clicked on a like shot, which together with his free toss and Griffin's lengthy heave accounted for Windsor's five points.

Second Half

Duck Bailey picked up just where he left off in the previous half by whirling in a long effort and another gratis toss to bring Windsor alongside the Reds at 8-all. Scheer revived his trifle, swinging under to place the sphere in. Swain converted a donation only to have Poland unload another of his basket chain. George was wronged as he drove under and he pushed in his extra shot. Poland repeated his act and then Pifer duplicated as the quarter closed with the tallyboard saying: Reds 17; Windsor 9.

Griffin's close shot circled the ring several times then dipped in. Scheer's gift effort was true after which Pifer banked one in from the side. Flung, playing his inaugural game with his boils under tape, dribbled in to score. Free throws by Scheer, Poland, Young, Scheer, and Flink rounded out the tally string.

Gays Upsets Arthur

The most thrilling combat of them all was filmed prior to this game when Gays' plucky basketweavers jolted Arthur, 32 to 29. Utilizing their every ounce of energy in following in, etc., the Lucas-men led throughout most of the torrid fray only to fall behind in the home-stretch. Completely spent from their Herculean efforts, Gays' saw Arthur rush in a fresh substitute, "Pink-elephant" Taylor, who promptly dropped in three baskets from below. Charlie Parker, who extended himself such as we have never before seen an athlete extended, was wan and wilting but still handling the Gay's defensive choirs. Then Francis Shafer, one of these ace-in-the-hole fellows able to spark up a lagging offense, was inserted. He had been withheld in the third quarter after some indifferent first half play.

Cutting short the account, this laddybuck ducked his head and spratted wildly and woozily for the basket to register a quartet of slap-bank efforts which tied the count and gave the Blue and Gray an overtime triumph. It was a legitimate win over a first-class tourney entry, a feat which the little three-year high has been gunning for these many bleak years.

NATIONAL INN CHRISTMAS DINNER FOR HOUSE GUESTS

The annual Christmas banquet for the people who make their home at the National Inn was held Friday night. Plates were laid for 22 in the dining room at a long table especially prepared for the occasion and decorated in Christmas style. Two big turkeys furnished them in feature of the festive menu. The banquet presented Mr. and Mrs. Henderson of The Inn, with a potted plant in full bloom.

What Stores Had The Christmas Business

Christmas brought business to Sullivan merchants. Some stores were busy stores; some were not so busy.

Perhaps in no city of our size in this part of the state did the merchants do more newspaper advertising. Those who advertised helped those who did not, for they brought people here intent on shopping.

One outstanding feature of the Christmas shopping was that the stores that advertised were busy; the more advertising, the more business.

This same business theory holds good throughout the year. There are various ways of advertising, but it is the home-town paper that carries the message right into the home where the entire family sees it and, if interested, reads it.

The out-of-town bills that have littered the lawns have never brought joy to the folks who take some pride in keeping their lawns and homes clean.

The Progress reaches many of the homes in this and adjoining counties. Its circulation is growing. It rates as one of the best newspapers in the state. It constitutes that sort of an advertising medium which John Wanamaker, merchant prince, had in mind when he said: "The only advertising of distinct and instant benefit is in newspapers. All other forms are vanity and vexation."

A whole lot of good entertainment is in store for the patrons of the Grand this coming week.

On the bill of fare are prize fighters, comedians, wild west heroes, radio stars and even that peer among the conglomeration of actors and alleged actors—Lionel Barrymore.

Manager Hays picked a swell bunch of films to bid farewell to 1933 and to welcome 1934.

Friday night a motorboat race features the "Race night" part of the program. Louise Fazenda who used to star with Fatty Arbuckle, years and years ago, put on one of her dandy comedy features. There will be "Strange as it Seems" an amusing cartoon and then the big features picture — (you usually welcome the feature picture with a sigh of relief after having been handed a lot of Pre-vue stuff) — "The big picture is 'The Mad Game' with Spencer Tracy, Claire Trevor and Ralph Morgan.

Saturday is a wild west horse-and-rider kind of opera. Ken Maynard and his white horse do the heroics. It is the kind of a picture that all the kids like—this includes the grownup kids, up to the age of 90. The name—Oh, what does it matter? The advance man says that it is full of excitement, hair-raising adventure (take note of this you bald-headed men) it has hair-trigger action and spine tingling mystery. In addition, there will be the usually good run of short features.

Sunday (only) Charles Farrell, Wynne Gibson, William Gargan, Zasu Pitts and a few others caper around in a sketch called "Aggie Appleby, Maker of Men." A catch line in the advertising says that the hero was "just an ignorant college man, but she soon had been talking like a gentleman." This play is listed as a refreshing story and character portrayal, a fine comedy-drama that you'll be sure to like. You'll also see Boswell sisters trio and other shorts.

If you like popular singing, do not miss the big midnite show, ushering in the New Year. For particulars, hours, etc., see the adv. Hundreds of people welcome the new year at The Grand. Join the happy throng and give the New Year a hearty welcome. The feature picture is "Myrt and Marge" featuring some radio stars and a number of comedians. Manager Hays selected this picture especially because of its ideal adaptation for a midnite show.

On the first day of January, 1934 the picture is good. This is assured by the fact that it stars Lionel Barrymore, ably assisted by May Robson, Dorothy Jordan, Joel McCrea and Frances Dee. The name is "One Man's Journey." This picture could stand a lot of description and comment, but the fact that Lionel Barrymore is the central figure, is all that need be said to people who enjoy really good shows.

In the opening paragraph we said we'd have some prize-fighters in pictures. They'll be here Tuesday night—Primo Carnera, Jack Dempsey and Max Baer. This fellow Baer is a comer in the prize ring and is said to be a regular wow in movies. Myrna Loy is the femme who plays around with these three bruisers in "The Prizefighter and the Lady". The ladies are said to be raving over Max, he's such an alluring he-man. In featuring the three tough guys the press agents almost overlooked a really great actor who appears in the picture—

We Wish You All Happy New Year

On December 20th we observed our third anniversary in Sullivan. May we at this time thank our customers for their patronage—and express hopes that in 1934 we may also serve you who have not been customers in the past. With the expectancy that 1934 will be a wonderful year—we may add our Wishes, that for you it will contain 365 days of health, happiness and prosperity.

The Sullivan Bakery

Walter Huston. This picture ought to fill the house.

And still another—Wednesday and Thursday night of next week "Jimmy and Sally" featuring Jas. Dunn and (not Sally Eilers) but Claire Trevor. If you like a James Dunn picture, you'll find this one of his best. Jimmy Gleason appears in a comedy and Pop-Eye the Sailor and other abbreviated stuff is also on hand.

Note — If you name appears in this column up-side down, it means you are invited by The Progress to see one of the shows advertised.

CHEESE FACTORIES SOLD

CHURCH NOTES
CHRISTIAN CHURCH
C. E. Barnett, Pastor

Again we have gathered at the Christmas time in praise and worship and love about a little child in Bethlehem of Judea. Under each, Christmas tree we have remembered that Christmas means the gift of God to the world. And now we turn to a new year to fulfill our office of loving and being loved. Just on the eve of the New Year we shall pause for a little while to remember the Christ Child.

F. A. Pundt, chorister and his choir of 25 voices from the Shelbyville Christian church will present C. B. Hawley's Christmas Cantata, "The Christ Child" Sunday evening at 7:30 in the First Christian church of Sullivan. The cantata is sung in one hour and fifteen minutes and will be a beautiful close to the old year. Every one is most cordially invited to hear this message in song.

Sunday morning, at 10:30 the pastor will bring the message in sermon. We will remember, not only the birth of the Christ child, but in the Lord's Supper, His coming again.

In the Sunday School, at 9:30 a. m. election of officers and class study. One last chance to increase the average attendance for year. Gladden your own heart and the heart of your teacher by your presence Sunday morning. (And say! stay for church).

Christian Endeavor will close the year by reviewing "Important Happenings of 1933." Wm. McKown will be the leader.

Choir rehearsals Wednesday evening, Jan. 3, 1934. Annual meeting, Wed., Jan. 17.

BAPTIST CHURCH
Rev. Harold W. Ranes, pastor

The Bible School offering and attendance is on the increase and we are praising God for this blessing. Spiritual days are just ahead if conviction of souls has anything of prophecy to it. The Bible school meets regularly at 9:30 a. m. Sunday.

The B. Y. P. U. Service is to undergo a reorganization soon in which Young People of all ages from 6 to 160 may find provision for an activity. Begin your attendance now so that the election may have your substantial support. The B. Y. P. U. regularly meets on Sunday at 7:15 p. m.

In the preaching service held regularly at the 8 o'clock hour, the minister will use for his subject, "The Mark."

The Music Rehearsal and Prayer meetings at 6:30 and 7:30 p. m. respectively are definitely and spiritually linked together as evidenced by the fact that many in the choir on last Sunday night offered prayers during the volunteer prayer period of the Sunday evening Service. You should attend these vital spiritual services.

ST. COLUMBA'S CHURCH
Church services will be held at St. Columba's Catholic church on Sunday morning at 8 a. m.

Allenville & Jonathan Creek
CHRISTIAN CHURCHES
(W. B. Hopper, Pastor)

143 attended bible school at Jonathan Creek last Sunday. The morning service was splendid and in the evening the Christmas program was excellent and attended by a large audience.

Bible school next Sunday at 10 and Y. P. S. C. E. at 7.

The Bible school gave a splendid program at Allenville Saturday night. 69 in Bible school Sunday. The pastor will preach at both services next Sunday. "The Dayspring from on High" will be the morning theme and in the evening, "The meaning of the New Year."

Bible school at 10 o'clock.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
Glenn M. Garber, Pastor

We ought to belong to church but not until we are ready to join a going concern; not until we are willing to become an active partner with Jesus Christ.

You are invited to attend the services of this church.

Sunday, Dec. 31:

9:45 Sunday school, Dr. Donald Butler, Superintendent.

11:00—Morning worship. The subject of sermon, "Closing up the Books."

6:15—Young People's Forum in the manse.

It being New Year's eve the evening service will be recalled for this Sunday evening only.

The choir rehearses on every Wednesday evening at 7:15 in the manse.

—Orville Seitz who has been ill for some time was taken back to the Decatur hospital Wednesday. He had been home from the hospital since Thanksgiving day.

METHODIST CHURCH
L. L. Lawrence, pastor

Church school 9:30 a. m. Charles Jenne, General Supt. Mrs. Pedro, Supt. Junior Dept. Morning worship 10:45.

New Year's sermon by Reverend Lawrence "I Shall Not Pass This Way Again."

4:00 o'clock Communion service. Combined evening and young people's service. No other evening service. Holy Communion, but no preaching.

The regular 7:30 evening service will be held at 4 o'clock combining the Epworth League meeting and the regular evening service. This will be the only evening service this Sunday. Holy Communion will be administered. No sermon. Everyone cordially invited.

The church night meetings will start sometime in January and continue through the month of March. The nights will be built around those things in which you are interested. Slips will be passed out next Sunday morning on which you can check the one thing in which you are most interested for Church nights.

GOSPEL MISSION
Over the Post Office

Time of services same.

This last Sunday in this year is a good time to start going to Sunday school and church.

Joel 2:25—"And I will restore to you the years that the locust hath eaten."

We remember very well as a child, the year the locust visited this country, how they were everywhere, and how the trees and vegetation suffered because of them.

In our text the locust is a type of sin and sin is everywhere in the land and the destruction of sin is great. We find it in about every amusement that the young life craves, and just as the locust were destructive to vegetation, so also, is sin destructive to the better things in life. Those wholesome teachings the young man and women learned in early childhood, sin is trying to destroy.

How about the past year, has it been a year the locust hath eaten? Has it been a wasted year? If it has been lived selfishly it has been wasted, the locust have eaten it.

The text says "I will restore to you the years the locust hath eaten." How, just by our accepting the Lord Jesus as our Saviour, will he give us added years to serve them here, for those years sin hath destroyed? Perhaps not, but those years will be covered by the blood and in the sight of God they will be as though they had never been, and he will give us all eternity in which to praise him.

District Contest at Sullivan Friday

Because of the large number of groups entered from this county the University of Illinois has selected Sullivan for the location of the district contest which will be held at the High School on the night following the county contest, Friday, Jan. 5th. In this district contest the winning plays and musical groups from Macon, Shelby, Effingham and Moultrie counties will compete to determine the representatives of this district in the sectional tournament. A committee of judges from counties not interested in the contest will be selected to decide upon the winners. These contests are being conducted under the auspices of the Moultrie County Farm Bureau and the University of Illinois and the general public is invited to attend in so far as the capacity of the auditorium will permit. A small admission of 10 and 15c will be charged to defray the actual expenses of the contests.

Actors in Contest

Approximately 75 people will participate in the second annual County Rural One Act Play and Music contest to be held next Wednesday and Thursday nights. The participants come from eight different organizations and are putting on seven one-act plays, three quartettes and one orchestra. The county champion in each class of competition will compete in the district contest which is also being held at the high school Friday evening, Jan. 5. Not all of play casts were available at time of going to press but the following are the casts of characters for some of the plays.

High School News

Margy Lou Scheer

Is the school proud of itself? This is the first time in history that one school has won the Moultrie County Basketball tournament for three consecutive years. Some kind person should get some bigger desks out at school to fit the expanded chests that will turn up on January 3. The swelling might go down during the holidays but the only chance is for the Alumni to beat the Varsity in the game tonight (Friday). The town seems to be divided in the opinion of the outcome of this game but it is bound to be good.

We had a short pep meeting last Friday. Mr. Dennis and Mr. Scheer gave pep talks and then the school gave a yell for the team. The school spirit is fine this year. We'll have got a good team and we're "sticking" behind it.

A certain young substitute for the first team seems to "rate" with the girls. A girl from Bethany wasn't satisfied until she had his whole "pedigree" when he came in the game Wednesday. There ought to be enough girls in the old town to keep "wondering" boys at home.

Mr. Scheer went as a delegate to the State Teacher's Association meeting at Springfield this week. He was a member of the Legislative Committee.

Most of the teachers and some of the students are spending their vacation out of town with relatives. I hope they had a "very merry Christmas" and are expecting a "Happy New Year."

Palmyra

Mrs. A. A. Hollobeck

Mrs. Ray Misenheimer spent last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Pierce and helped care for the new daughter Betty Elaine which arrived recently.

WHISPERING ROCK

by JOHN LEBAR

"Mr. Snavelly, look here!" There was nothing aggressive in Ruth's tone, but it was like no tone she had ever used to Snavelly. "Look at this."

Ann stepped to the door of the kitchen and stood silently, her eyes on Ruth.

"Well—" said Snavelly as he read the opening words. He said nothing more until he had finished, then without lifting his head, "Well—well I'll be! Grey's alive, after all. Couldn't get a word to nobody 'til jest now. If that don't beat all!" He looked at Ruth, then lowered his eyes to the paper again. "Wants me to come an' git him Mermosillo—powerful long job getting six days west of there. Must be desolate sure 'nough, else we'd 'ot word of him sooner. Well, things like that happen. But it beats all," he mused.

"We shall start to Harry at once," said Ruth, decidedly; "the Thanes are coming home late tonight and—"

"Thanes? What they got to do with this?" Snavelly's eyes narrowed.

"I think it would be best if Old Charley went with me. I'm sure that under the circumstances he would go, and he knows the country and speaks Spanish better than I."

"You're set on going' yourself, eh?" Snavelly regarded her quizzically.

"Why, most certainly! Of course I shall go."

"Well, jest the same, I don't see the sense in mixin' the Thanes up with this. If you're a mind to go without me, why don't you take Francisco? But the best thing would be fer you an' me to light out together tomorrow mornin'."

Ruth thought a moment; she might go with Don Francisco—perhaps that would be best. But she certainly would not go alone with Snavelly. She looked at him. "Perhaps Don Francisco and I could manage it," she said.

Again Snavelly studied her intently. There was something in her tone and manner which was quite new. She was no longer afraid. "Look here," he said sharply, "what's the matter of me goin', anyways?"

The girl was suddenly angry; Snavelly could not afford to speak to her like that any longer. She straightened. "Mr. Snavelly, there are several very good reasons why I do not wish you to go with me; and there are reasons why you should respect my wishes. It is for your own good. There are a number of things I must tell my brother when we meet."

Snavelly paled. "What can you tell him?" he asked gruffly.

"I shall tell him about the way in which you bought my cart's note."

But Mrs. Warren—I tol' you why I done that," said Snavelly in a relieved voice. "I done it to protect you."

"When I was in town," continued Ruth, "I consulted an attorney about my position on this ranch. I learned that I was not your partner and never had been. And I understood quite plainly that you knew this, and that if I had failed to meet my note you would have been in legal possession of the ranch."

"Well, but—" Snavelly paused, helplessly. The guilt and consternation on his face, as well as the letter in her hand, gave the girl courage.

"The whole thing has been placed before my attorney," said Ruth. "The whole—thing?"

"Yes. When I learned that I was not your partner and that you had purchased the note I understood how anxious you were to have me fail to meet it. But let's not say anything more about that."

"But I don't see," replied Snavelly guardedly, "what call you got to get uppity. Suppose you wasn't a partner—that's your fault."

Ruth's anger mounted. "That sounds very well. But what will my brother think when I tell him about the mysterious disease you called 'liver fever'? What will he think when I tell him how I came to put the wrong powder in the spring trough that night?"

"Are you a-cusin' me—" Snavelly's voice rang, then died away before the girl's steady gaze. He dropped his eyes. Ruth was triumphant; the man was beaten, he was afraid of her now! "Didn't you never hink," he asked falteringly, "that things might look different than what they are?"

"No," said Ruth boldly. But although he stood cringing before her, Snavelly did not appear so abject as Ruth thought he should be. Didn't he realize he could be set to prison? "Do you deny you tried everything you could to make me lose my interest?"

He did not reply to her question. But after a moment he said slowly, still with lowered eyes, "Them things is hard to prove."

"I don't think so! But I can tell you something else which is not hard to prove: I can whisper in the gulch as well as any one else!" He raised his eyes quickly, his face a dead white. Ruth glanced lingeringly toward Ann, then back again. "The night of the storm, Mr. Snavelly," she said quietly.

He faced her in silence; the muscles of his long stringy throat contracted spasmodically. Suddenly he turned and, walking slowly to his room, entered. Almost at once he reappeared, the packet of bank notes which Ruth had given him in his hand. He held them out. "You best take these here an' go git your brother."

Ruth took the notes. She thought she understood: when she and Harry returned, Snavelly would not be on the Dead Lantern. Perhaps that was the best solution. She turned to Ann. "Ann, I wish you would get the buckboard and take David and me over to Thanes. I'll have an early supper ready by the time you harness up."

Snavelly had walked toward his room, now he turned and came back. "I don't think you'd best go mixin' the Thanes in this."

In spite of the apparent humbleness of his tone, a twinge of fear caught Ruth's heart. But she answered, "I don't see that it can make any difference to you now, Mr. Snavelly."

"It makes a sight of difference to me!" he said sharply, and his eyes, no longer jerking, bored into hers.

Ruth gripped herself. "Do you realize that you are a criminal and that you will face arrest as soon as I bring my brother back?"

To the girl's amazement, Snavelly smiled. "You like fancy words," he said slowly, "so I'll ask you if you realize where you stand now." His voice rose shrilly. "Don't you see that your brother bein' alive makes the will no good? The will don't work, by God! You ain't got no rights—you ain't no pardner an' you ain't got no interest in this ranch. D'you get that? I'm boss here now!" He whirled to Ann. "Git your black face outa here!"

"You brother—how do I know he's your brother? He never told me nothin' about you nor nothin' about any will. 'Cordin' to my way a-thinkin' you come here jest to steal his interest. Who are you, anyways? You're a plumb stranger to me—you ain't got a thing to say about this ranch an' never did have. What about all that truck you was jest talkin'—that you things an' git out! By sundown to-night there ain't goin' to be nobody on this ranch but me. I'll have that greaser outfit loaded an' started off this place in ten minutes! Then I'm goin' for a mite of a ride. When I come back there ain't going to be nobody here! You think you can go a cluttrin' up this place with people an' drive a man outa his mind—I'll show you! Git goin'!" He strode past her and out of the house.

Ruth let him go—there was nothing further to say. But she'll find Harry. She heard the steps of Snavelly's horse and presently she saw him galloping toward the little adobe house where Magda was taking in her washing which was festooned on the bushes since early morning. He stopped his horse with a jerk and called. Don Francisco and Alfredo came to the doorway; Magda stood in the yard, her arms full of clothes. Snavelly spoke fiercely. Once, Don Francisco pointed toward the ranch house and asked a question. Snavelly's voice roared in reply. A moment or two later Alfredo was hurrying to find Don Francisco's team and Magda had thrown her wash into the old man's wagon. Snavelly rode away toward the mountains.

The tears welled into Ruth's eyes—those poor people. They had been so happy. Like trusting children, they had accepted her gift of the land and the little house, the gift of which was to have been theirs for so long as they lived and worked hard. They had worked hard.

As she entered the house she saw Ann leading two horses through the corrals. Ruth went into her room and began to pack.

Before she had finished she could hear the sound of the team and buckboard coming from the barn toward the house. Ann stopped by the small mesquite where Ruth's horse still stood, and climbed from the buckboard.

"Ann," said Ruth appealingly, as the giantess came toward her. "Ann, please help me!"

"Shorely, Miss Ruth—I'll help you pack."

"Not that, Ann—take me to Thanes. I must go there at once. We'll put all my things in the buckboard and then drive there. They'll be home some time tonight or tomorrow morning."

Ann dropped her eyes and slowly shook her head. "I reckon I dasn't go fer doin' nothin' 'cept what I was tol' to do, Miss Ruth."

Ruth tried to appear surprised. "But Mr. Snavelly knows I wanted to go to Thanes."

"No'm. He told me you'd try to make me do that. He says I got to take you right to the railroad."

"But please, Ann—you'll do it for me. He won't know—please, Ann; I beg you to."

The giantess stood with bowed head and twisted her big hands together. "I wisht I could. Miss Ruth, I wisht to Gawd I could."

"Ann listen to me!" Ruth grasped the huge arm. "Listen, Ann, I've discovered the voice in the gulch—it's Snavelly. There's a trick to it—he's been tricking you with it, searing you so that you would be afraid of him and do as he told you."

Important Rulings Relating to Processing Tax On Hogs

1. The sale of live hogs is not subject to the processing tax.

2. A producer who slaughters hogs exclusively for his own use is exempt from the processing tax, but if he slaughters hogs for others on his own premises or place of business, he is classed as a commercial slaughterer, who operates or conducts an establishment for slaughtering purposes, and is liable for the processing tax.

3. A person who slaughters hogs which he purchases for his own use exclusively is exempt from the processing tax, provided the slaughtering is done on his own premises by himself or someone employed by him to do the work on his own premises.

4. If a producer purchases a hog for his own family use and sells a part of said hog, he is exempt from processing tax on the portion that is retained by him for family use; the portion sold is taxable.

5. If a farmer trades small hogs for large hogs, or vice versa, each group being live hogs, no tax accrues.

6. If a slaughtered hog, or portion thereof, is exchanged for merchandise or payment of other obligations, the processing tax applies.

7. If an individual buys a live hog from a farmer or producer and the farmer slaughters said hog for the buyer, who intends to use it for his own family exclusively, the farmer is liable for the processing tax on the entire live weight of the hog.

8. If on the other hand, a farmer or producer sells an individual a live hog and the individual slaughters it on his own premises himself, or has it done on his own premises, neither is liable for the processing tax.

9. If a person buys a hog and slaughters it for his own family use on his own premises, he is not liable for the processing tax, but if he sells all or any portion of the hog, he is liable for the processing tax on the entire live weight of the animal.

10. This is different in the case of the producer, who is entitled to retain a portion of said animal for his own family use and is liable for the processing tax only on the live weight of the portion sold. He files a claim for exemption on P. T. Form 29 covering the portion retained for his own use.

11. If person purchases a hog and employs the proprietor of a meat market to process it for his own family use, the proprietor of the meat market is liable for the processing tax and is required to file a return.

12. The producer is held by the Department to be the one who raises hogs from either birth or from small pigs. Where a purchaser of hogs is not the producer thereof, the Bureau will not require the processing tax to be paid with respect to the purchased hog, provided that the purchaser slaughters the hog for his own consumption on his own premises or employs someone to slaughter it for him on his own premises.

13. If a farmer purchases a hog and slaughters same for his own consumption, he is not the producer thereof, and strictly speaking under the Regulations would not be exempt from the processing tax thereon. However, the Bureau will not require the tax to be paid on that hog. This exception, however, will not apply in the case of any farmer or other person who in any way deals in pork products commercially or who is in the business of slaughtering hogs. Also, this exception does not include processing for the employees of the farmer or person, or for sale to them.

SPEAKING OF SPORTS

BY JIM SCOTT

What was the most amusing incident of the tourney? To the writer it was one in which nothing happened.

All the contests were rough and exciting and time-out lulls developed into verbal hotbeds with the captain as chief speaker. The Arthur huddle was usually devoted to a little sermonette on the part of Dixon, their well-proportioned center. The cagers were tense, dominated by their emotions.

During a heated moment in the Lovington-Sullivan scrap, the former called time-out to talk over a situation in a rather voluble manner. But look at the opposite end of the court.

The Reds were perfectly relaxed, quiet as the night before Christmas and looking bored as the boot-black at a leg show. Scheer yawned. Horn cupped his chin in his hands like the "Thinker." Pifar's big dark eyes roamed the floor and the silence was a statement which might have run something like this: "What do you think, Johnny, will we have snow tonight?"

Joe Lucas' game cocks from Gays set the old dope bucket on its annual spinning when they pushed over a heralded Arthur entry. From that time on they were the most talked of team of the tourney and out-of-town attendants were to a man pulling for them to surprise the Reds to gain their first championship. In this quest they failed but just the same they will be long remembered for their indomitable fighting spirit.

"By these nicknames," says jovial Joe, "ye shall know them—Captain Dale Boozie, 'Boozie'; John Ferguson, 'Long John Silver'; Wm. Hummel, 'Flying Dutchman'; Francis Shafer, 'Shaf' and Charles Parker, 'Red.'"

Inasmuch as Gays is only a 3-year high, three of the regulars will take up their residence at some other institution come the fall. They'll miss the old school and Joe Lucas. As a final tribute to him they will spare no effort in striving to bring the school its first district championship. The seniors are Boozie, Hummel, and Parker.

In the opening night of tourney play officials Eddie Marfell and Arnold Beem called 103 personal fouls. At that rate they couldn't have overlooked very many. Perhaps there was a reason for the shrewd accuracy for scattered among the spectators were four contemporary whistle-tooters who were namely Spot Pribble, Nick Tarro, Max Hoover and Jim Stables—all of them quite plump and all of them quite able to discern a faux pas overlooked by the layman.

A case of high blood pressure forced Spot Pribble to cancel his splendid card of 32 cage games this winter. He had been scheduled to work several top-notch affairs including many Big Twelve contests.

Last year Arthur high ranked second in the Okaw circuit losing only to Sullivan and Atwood. This season they have an assemblage capable of duplicating the feat.

Bill Davenport, Moultrie's best golfer, claims Bill Robinson to be the best frosh prospect ever to favor the school. At the present he seems to lack only height.

Sophomore Dale Kinney, another capable tosser, has been unable to report as yet. He broke his collar not set properly he was compelled to do it all over again.

Roose Watkins, a junior, after being expelled from the squad for a minor infraction, was reinstated in time for the tourney. Turner and Dixon are seniors and Vandever a junior.

A freak occurrence went on record in the Windsor-Lovington second team final. Sprightly little Mr. Vyverberg arched a free throw which lodged on the back of the irons. Dinger sprang forward chinning himself up the bank board and tipped the ball from its depository into the basket. But, of course, the arbiters ruled this illegitimate business and called a jump ball at the free throw stripe.

While the Windsor Seconds were in action Mrs. Booker, mother of Dunscomb's rotund guard, would put on a floor show which took a back seat not even to the game itself.

Throughout their two nip-and-tuck struggles Mrs. Booker's face registered every expression in the catalogue and few were the moments which found her in a relaxed state. She beat her hands against her knees. Her frantic screams attracted her quite a following.

Late in the final setto, with her son combing the net from all angles, Mrs. Booker's emotions knew no bounds. After each of his baskets she pushed out on the floor, dancing about in little circles that utterly unveiled hilarity.

WELL IS 13 MILES DEEP

The deepest oil and gas test well ever drilled east of the Mississippi River, has recently been abandoned at a depth of 8,002 feet, or more than one and one-half miles, in what is known as the Utah formation, near Jackson, Miss.

The well, located in Covington County, Mississippi, was sponsored by Eastman-Gardiner interests, large holders of land and timber tracts in South Mississippi; also backed by B. B. Jones, now of Washington, D. C., well known Mississippi philanthropist and a large Oklahoma oil operator, and the Sun Oil Company of Dallas, Texas.

Although this well was abandoned as a dry hole, the test was of much interest. More than two hundred cores were taken of the various formations encountered in the well.

—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Boozie had as their guests for Christmas the following folks: Mack Boozie and four children of Cincinnati, Ohio, Carl Smith also of Cincinnati, Mrs. Daisy Seright, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Seright of Harrisburg, Mrs. Elizabeth Jeffries, Mrs. M.

1934 WORLD'S FAIR TO BE BIGGER AND BETTER

The Chicago World's Fair, improved and altered to take advantage of this year's experiences and expanded in many features, will re-open in 1934. The official announcement of the re-opening was made on November 8 by Rufus C. Dawes, president of the Century of Progress Exposition, speaking in behalf of the executive committee.

More than 90 per cent of the 1933 exhibitors and concessionaires will participate in next summer's Exposition and more than 25 per cent have already asked for additional space, according to Major Lenox R. Lohr, general manager. He also declared that hundreds of requests have come to the Fair from other large concerns who wish to be represented in the coming Exposition.

Although in general the 1934 World's Fair will present much the same appearance of the 1933 Exposition, it will be improved in many ways. The lighting effects, which is one of its most amazing features, will be altogether different. The lagoon will have a new lighting system using

There will be many new restaurants with moderately priced service. Some of the features of the 1933 Exposition that did not find public favor will be eliminated next year, so that altogether the Chicago World's Fair when it re-opens on June 1, 1934, it is expected to be bigger and better than ever.

A Comforting Service

The greatest service of the modern funeral director is that of lifting the load of responsibility from the shoulders of the bereaved. From the moment that he is called, he assumes charge of the many details which require attention. In our organization we give special attention to this comforting service.
