When I Have Time.

When I have time, so many things I'll do To make life happier and more fair For those whose lives are crowded now with care; I'll help to lift them from low despair.

When I have time.

When I have time, the friend I love so well Shall know no more these weary, toiling days: I'll lead her feet in pleasant paths always, And cheer her heart with words of sweetest praise, When I have time.

Moultrie Needs Champaign And Piatt Help.

Whether or not Moultrie county Democrats have their candidates for the General Assembly nominated at the primary on April 10th does not mean so very much to the two men who are seeking the nominations.

Wonderful Year In American History.

Sunday is the 4th of March. On that day ends the first year of the administration of President Franklin D. Roose-

How do you like it?

One year ago the country was covered with a blanket of gloom. Though we tried to keep our chins up and paraded a semblance of cheerfulness, most of us did not feel that way

Banks were failing. Some states were closing them in a so-called "bank holiday", the saddest "holiday" the country had ever known.

Millions were unemployed. Riots of the hungry and miserable people constituted a major problem in the big cities. Revolution was glowering in the offing. The country was going toward Hades and mobs were ready for anything. Farm product prices were rotten. Farm ownership was a liability instead of an asset. Ownership of bank stock was a nightmare. Big business was crashing and big business men were walking disconsolately out of 20th story windows and spattering their remains on the hard concrete. Hunger stalk | Smith?

ed throughout the land and the cry of desolation was in the

The people prayed for relief, for leadership, in which they could trust to take them out of the morass of despond. Their prayer was answered.

On March 4th Franklin D. Roosevelt was inaugurated. His inaugural address sent an electric spark of confidence throughout the nation. He spoke a language America could Jesus' Testimony Concerning Him understand. He spoke the language of the "forgotten man." Farmers in their homes, laborers gathered around radios, business men, professional men - all men, all women, regardless of politics, race, religion or station in life were thrilled with a new hope.

That hope was not misplaced. Things started happeniny. Prosperity, which had been wrecked, could not be immediately restored. But before even a semblance of prosperity could return, confidence had to precede it.

The first thing the President did was to take the country's rotten banking system in hand. All banks were closed and remained closed until they gave assurance that they For wisdom is better than rubies; and all the things that they could proceed to do business in an orderly way.

A new theory of government was inaugurated. People were led to believe that the government was more concerned

One after another the Roosevelt policies, looking toward a restoration of normal business conditions, were put Everybody finds out, sooner or later, that all success into effect. Some of these were successful, some did not work and broken-hearted, and we find out so well, but the wheels of progress turned steadily toward a better day.

The country was back of its President. Congress gave him all the power he asked for. He used it wisely.

Great sums of money were made available—not for the big bankers and capitalists, as had been the system for and the kindly, comfortable yoke the leather-bound pies and vlucanmany years past, but for the working people to whom the possession of a dollar meant the difference between a hungry family and a well fed one.

The credit of the country was used to raise money to start the wheels of industry and public works to moving.

Wise legislation followed. One of the greatest pieces of legislation ever put into effect was that of insuring bank deposits. Big bankers fought this, but the people prevailed. Confidence in banks and banking was restored.

In one limited editorial it is impossible to sum up the good work done is this first year of Roosevelt's regime. The downward course of the country was not only stopped but an upward course was charted and we are on that way now.

Do the people approve of Roosevelt? Ask them. Though immensely popular when elected, his popularity has grown He is human. He may make mistakes. But he does things. He has a grasp of the situation. He has surrounded himself with competent helpers and advisers. He has thrown into the discard old, moth-eaten and mossback theories of government. their servant, rather than their master.

President Frank Emel then introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Sid Cherrill, sales manager for the Illinois Livestock Marketing Association of Decatur. Mr. Cherrill outlined the development of cooperative livestock marketing and pointed out that there had been a decided increase during the past year in all sections of the country. The reason for this trend toward cooperative marketing is the realization that the answer to the farmers' problems lies in organized group action.

Why Doctors Favor a Liquid Laxative

A doctor will tell you that the careless use of strong laxatives may do more harm than good.

Harsh laxatives often drain the system, weaken the bowel muscles, and even affect the liver and kidneys. Fortunately, the public is fast returning to laxatives in liquid form. The dose of a liquid laxative can be measured. The action can thus be regulated to suit individual need. It forms no habit; you needn't take a
