

WEATHER

Will frost come early enough to hurt the ripening corn and soybeans? This is the question that has been bothering the farmers this week, while the temperature dipped perilously low.

Chinch bugs are still working on the corn, especially on stalks that are down. Farmers fear that there will be light, chaffy ears where the bugs are working. Bean prospects continue good. Haying is under way.

Some time some inventor will devise a hay drying machine that can be operated efficiently and economically to take moisture out of the new-cut hay without exposing it to sun and wind and rain. Why not? It does not seem good sense for a farmer to work hard to produce a crop of hay and then have it spoiled by a few days of rainy weather at cutting time. Get busy, you inventors!

There are strikes and strikes. In Ohio the onion field workers are out on strike. They say they have a strong job and want more money for the work they do. With tears streaming down their onion inflamed cheeks the growers declare all the strength is in the onions and not in unions. Just a typographical error in the first letter.

Travelling men who cover much territory say: "We see nothing that looks like even fair crop prospects until we get to central Illinois." Which proves once again that this is the garden spot of the world.

Consider timothy — a few years ago it looked like a poor crop to grow. Farmers ceased to pay much attention to timothy when they began using tractors and feeding their other conveyances on gasoline instead of hay. Today timothy hay is in demand. Timothy seed is said to be worth about $7.00 a bushel and hard to get.

We are reliably informed that corn-hog checks may soon be forthcoming. There was some little delay in getting authority to send in the signed contracts, but they have been gone for more than a week now and some action is expected soon authorizing the issuing of checks.

The M. & F. bank is also in a fair way to get a loan from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. If it does, it will pay a nice dividend.

So far as can be learned, only one bid went in for new post office quarters. The bidder was Paul M. Hankla who wants to build a modern building, with post office room on his lots on the east side of the square. Let's hope he does. We never did like that hole.

Fame is a funny thing. A kid was born in Chester on a December morning in 1894. After putting around for years trying to make a living, his brain fathered "Popeye" and now E. C. Segar is famous and making lots of money.

Many people will read The Progress this week, perhaps for the first time. They are our steadily growing stream of new subscribers. Welcome to our Progress family. We hope you like the paper. We aim to please — but sometimes our shots go astray.

Assorted Cases Heard In Court By McLaughlin

Mismatched Couples Get Loose from Shackles of Matrimony; M. & F. Bank Asks Loan Approval; Mortgage Foreclosure Decrees.

In a session of court Friday, presided over by Judge McLaughlin four divorces were granted.

Some time ago Orville Clarida filed suit to divorce his wife, Dorothy Clarida. Before the case could come to trial, he took a young Arthur girl to Effingham and went through a marriage ceremony with her. His wife then came into court and through her attorney W. C. Ingram filed a counter suit, charging adultery. On these grounds a decree of divorce was granted her.

Fleta Ray Croyle was granted a divorce from John Croyle on charges of habitual drunkenness. The husband is now in the state penal farm, sent there by Judge Lambercht on a charge of vagrancy.

James E. Jennings was granted a decree of divorce from his wife, Nora Jennings.

Paul A. Pasley was granted a decree of divorce from his wife, Dorothy Pasley.

MRS. LOWE'S WILL FILED

The will of the late Mrs. Genevieve Lowe has been filed for probate. It was made in November 1924. In it she leaves her household goods all to her granddaughter Mildred. The rest of the estate is left in the hands of M. L. Lowe, trustee, who retains control and management of it and is to give two-thirds of the income to Mildred and the other one-third to a grandson, Francis Lowe. When these two are 25 years of age the estate is to be divided between them in these same proportions.

The will also states that in case M. L. Lowe does not desire to act as trustee, C. R. Hill is to act in his stead. Mr. Lowe has so elected and Mr. Hill is acting.

The other three grandchildren are not mentioned in the will.

Arthur White In Jail; Bad Checks

Arthur White, a former citizen of Sullivan is here again. He is in jail on a charge of forgery. He was arrested in Paxton.

Recently forged checks have been passed at Arthur and in other parts of the county. The signature was J. H. Hamilton (John Hamilton was one of Dillinger's pals).

The other day Deputy Sheriff Charles Lansden had a phone call. It was long distance. The party phoning wanted to know whether any forged checks had "turned up" hereabouts. When told that they had, he hung up. Mr. Lansden traced the phone call and found that it had been placed in Paxton. He notified the officials there and they gathered in the man who had phoned and he turned out to be Arthur White. Mr. White while a Sullivan resident was always in trouble.

Sheriff Halac Lansden went to Paxton to get Mr. White. He asked the sheriff there whether there were any charges against the man in that county. He was told there were none, so Mr. White accompanied the Sheriff back to Sullivan.

Wednesday morning the sheriff at Paxton called up. He was very indignant. It seems that shortly after Mr. White had been taken from there a flock of reports on forged checks started coming in. So they want Mr. White when Moultrie gets done with him. He is also wanted in Champaign and in Tuscola.

The members of this man's family are highly respected by all who know them. Mr. White, however, seems to have a rare talent for getting into trouble.

T. L. Wiley Tells Of Missouri Drought

Hon. T. L. Wiley of Cameron, Missouri, was a visitor in the office of The Progress Wednesday morning. He is here attending to business, as he owns some farm land near here.

Cameron is in the drought-stricken northwest part of Missouri. Mr. Wiley says conditions there are in a very bad condition, due to lack of rain and the devastating heat of the summer.

There is no grass. Corn did not get over knee high and then wilted. There is no hay. The fields everywhere are so bare that, as Mr. Wiley described it, "you can play marbles on them." Shrubbery around homes is nearly all killed and many forest trees have died.

The weather conditions have brought on a food and water famine especially as applies to livestock. Cameron and nearby towns get water through new oil pipe lines and in some cases long miles of 8 inch mains have been laid to water sources, in and near Kansas City and St. Joseph. Nearly all the smaller cities' water reservoirs have dried up.

Livestock is being sold to the government on a quota basis, a certain number being taken from each stricken farm. Cattle are being bought at $18 to $20 and shipped to places where food is available. Hogs have been shipped to market. Shoats and feeders were sold at 40c to 75c to buyers from Iowa and some parts of the country where feed is available. Practically every town is on water rations. If people waste water, their source of supply is shut off.

There have been a few small rains in recent weeks, but not enough to do any good. After every little shower, gardens are hopefully planted and farmers sow rye in the hope that it may make some pasture.

These present conditions are exceptional, for northwest Missouri has in years past been a rather prosperous part of the great Show-Me state. People are dissatisfied and discouraged.

Mr. Wiley stated that nowhere since leaving home has he seen better crops than right in this part of Illinois.

Competition Keen in Big Race
The Booster Period will be brought to a close next Saturday night and millions of votes have been in the air. DID YOU GET YOUR SHARE?

From week to week different leaders appear. It was very hard for the campaign department to figure standings as there were five candidates out to carry the lead and there was very little difference in their standings.

Just a word about the different ones who are out to gather in the big money on the final day, October 6: Miss Tabor who has been working early and late, rain or shine, is sure getting some REAL support from her many friends and the only thing she is afraid of is that she won't have time to see them all before the contest is over. Her brother is seeing that she gets over the ground and is sure doing a good job of it.

Jim Scott out Bethany way is sure a great little question asker, but you have to hand it to Jim as he sure is going to make some of them step, and if he don't get to see some of the folks it is not because he is not working. He says he spends about all his commission for gas. More power to you Jim.

Hugh Righter of Jonathan Creek is in this contest to win and he wants everyone to know it, he says as long as the car holds up he has a good chance to win and to tell all his friends that when they see him coming to be all set to give him that subscription.

Mrs. Stella Dixon who spends a great deal of her time at the factory is sure getting in some good licks and we certainly have to praise her for a world of ambition and if the folks down at the factory will just get in back of her she no doubt will make them proud that she entered the big campaign.

Miss Bernadine Bolin of Allenville who is small, but does things in a big way, is getting along just fine without the aid of a car in the day time but when her daddy closes up the bank he is elected to play chauffeur for her and she is really out to win the $500.00.

They say still water runs deep, well that is what Miss Pearl Sherman of Lovington reminds one of when you talk to her. She was late in getting started but has proven beyond a doubt that a little lead means nothing to her as the folks up her way are backing her 100 per cent and are giving her some real support in the way of two and five year subscriptions. Now Miss Pearl don't fail all those good friends!

Miss Lois Cowger of Dalton City has three sisters who are all figuring out what she is going to do with her prize money and from what we can see Miss Lois will make them help her if they want to share in the pudding after the contest is over.

Some of the late starters are getting well under way and we look for them to change places with some of the top notchers before another week is over unless said topnotchers refuse to let them pass.

Will your name top the list for next weeks issue? Remember JUST TWO DAYS LEFT OF BOOSTER WEEK AND BIG VOTES.

Prayer in an Evil Time.

God of pity and love, return to this earth. Go not so far away, leaving us to evil. Darkness is loose upon the world; the devil walks in the land, and there is nothing worth. Death like a dog runs howling from his lair. His bite has made men mad, they follow after. All howling too, and their demoniac laughter. Drowns like a sea our solitary prayer.

Return, O Lord, return. Come with the day, Come with the light, that men may see once more Across this earth's uncomfortable floor The kindly paths, the old and loving way. Let us not die of evil in the night. Let there be God again. Let there be light.

—Robert Nathan in Atlantic Monthly

For Roosevelt or Against Roosevelt.

The most potent and effective political argument, when a country is in economic distress and turmoil is "We need a change."

That has sent many an old officer holder out of office. It has changed state and national administrations.

A "change" holds promise of better things, when things are bad. As a consequence our Republicans who think and say that present conditions are "bad" will present as their argument for election this fall the slogan "We need a change."

The question that confronts the voters in this: Do we need a change? Are we making progress in President Roosevelt's drive for recovery and institution of the New Deal, or would it be better to turn the reins of government back to the Republicans, from whom they were taken two years ago?

To a very great extent, this is a question that must be decided by the individual voter. He must also ask himself the questions: "Is my condition better today than it was two years ago? Would it have been better if Herbert Hoover had been re-elected? Is it to my best interest to support the President and the New Deal? What assurance have I that things would become better, if the government were turned back to the Republicans?"

There are dozen of other questions that the voter will ask himself. His answer will be recorded at the poll November 6th.

Voters are being given the opportunity of hearing both sides of the political issues which enter into this campaign. Saturday Sullivan was honored by a visit from two state candidates and a district congressional candidate. They spoke in the Grand Theatre and were given a respectful hearing by Republicans as well as Democrats.

Mr. Milton Jones, candidate for congressman at large, spoke of his experience in livestock and farming. Mr. C. Wayland Brooks, in a very pleasing manner, spoke about constitutional matters, inferring that the Roosevelt administration is not giving the constitution the respect and adherence which it merits.

We hope that ere many days pass, the Democrats will also have a "speaking" at which they can tell the voters of their plans in district, state and nation. This will give them the opportunity of deciding, through personal contact, whether they want to vote to return Congressman D. C. Dobbins to Congress or whether they prefer to make a change and send Charles Fletcher his Republican opponent. They will be given light on the subject of whether it would be better to send Martin Brennan and Michael Igoe as congressmen at large or to send the Republicans, Brooks and Jones.

There is this outstanding assurance — Dobbins, Brennan and Igoe will co-operate with President Roosevelt in his efforts, while Fletcher, Brooks and Jones will be found with the opposition. That is really the paramount question. If people approve of President Roosevelt and what he is trying to do, they will support the Democratic candidates for Congress; if they disapprove and want that disapproval made apparent and active on the floor of congress, they will vote to send Messrs. Fletcher, Brooks and Jones.

Much will be said. Much will be done ere election day comes, but in so far as the congressional candidates are concerned, the issue is rather clear cut. All the candidates are able men. They represent different lines of political thought.

Is it advisable to make a change at this time, or is it well to support the President, by sending to Congress men who are in sympathy with his recovery program?

A daily newspaper, which in presentation of world news, and editorial interpretation, stands head and shoulders above its more sensational and erratic contemporaries, is The Christian Science Monitor. This is not a personal opinion on the part of The Progress editor, but seems to be the prevailing opinion among those striving for a higher plane for the newspaper profession.

The following editorial from a recent Monitor issue contains much food for serious thought. We present it for your consideration:

WHAT IS GOVERNMENT?

Questions of public relief, national planning, tariff rates and agricultural prosperity, among others, have concerned many nations in recent years. Often, in the stressful moments of national and international affairs, those who are responsible for government — the people — completely forget what government is. It may seem to them a motley collection of men, with whom they have nothing to do, who are yet settling their affairs for them. They praise it or blame it as individuals, according to their temper at the moment.

It is well to stop and consider that a government can be no better than the thought of the citizens it represents, for properly speaking, a government is not men but the administration of the affairs of the state — and those affairs are the people's affairs, and the government is an expression of the thought of the people.

Sometimes when things go wrong, it is said that the voice of the people at large is not much represented by the actions of government. But if this is so, it is for the people to work out methods which will correct such conditions. In time these methods will be reflected in the administration of the affairs of the state.

In no case, however, can a nation rise higher than its conception of God, for that determines its conception of man. Through the ages, nations have risen and fallen as their conceptions of God became clearer or grew dim. When good is a people's God, and in proportion as good is understood as an unselfish and wholly desirable condition, that people's government must necessarily express its nation's concepts. If good is thought of as an intensely personal affair, a "me and mine" business, government must reflect this. A perfect government, satisfactory to all, cannot be achieved until each individual labors for the common good. It would seem, then, that education must bend its efforts more in this direction.

While governments are giving much thought to supplying people with the first necessities of existence, food, fuel and clothes, they cannot well forget that upon education, or the lack of it, today, must depend tomorrow's condition. Upon the people, all the people's understanding of the Golden Rule, must depend today's government, and tomorrow's. Better government will not be attained by partisan politics, with each group attempting to overthrow the other successively by a process of discrediting it, but rather by educating nations to see intelligently the practical value of the common weal.

Rev. Glenn Garber and his good wife and son have moved to Tuscola. He leaves the pastorate of the local Presbyterian church to accept a similar position in that city. Our best wishes accompany this interesting and energetic family group.

Glenn, as he was generally known here, has many Sullivan friends. His sincerity in his work and his desire to assist in all community efforts were unselfish and praise-worthy.

We are quite sure that we voice the regret of the community, that these young people have left us but in preaching, as in teaching, the wise thing to do is to recognize opportunities for wider service and to have the courage to accept the challenge that such opportunities present.

Schools of Moultrie county reopen Tuesday. On Monday the teachers will meet in a one-day institute.

We are quite sure that they are all anxious to return to work — the noblest work in which men and women are engaged. We entrust our children to their care. The teachers of America have always given a good account of such trust. They will continue to do so.

Fortunate is this county and its teachers, that, though many sacrifices have been made, yet finances have been sufficient to permit the paymasters to meet their obligations.

The Progress offers its columns to the teachers for any use that they desire to make of them in the furtherance of the cause of education.

Genevieve Lowe has passed on. The trials and tribulations of life have been laid aside and, while the body rests beneath the sod of beautiful Greenhill, the soul has gone to that bourne from whence there is no return.

Mrs. Lowe was a talented woman, as — so we are told — her mother was before her. Her father too left his mark on the intellect of a community where he was recognized as a master mathematician.

Mrs. Lowe was very distinctly a part of Sullivan. She participated in its activities. In church affairs, in civic affairs and in politics she retained a vivid interest to the end. She was a leading spirit in the ranks of the "Loyal Daughters" where her youthful spirit would not admit the weight of her years, though she was thrice a great grandmother. Sullivan was blessed in Jennie Lowe's having lived her life here.

Sullivan needs a planned future. The Progress has called attention to such a project from time to time. We propose to continue. We hope that eventually something will come of it.

Here are some of the immediate needs of Sullivan: more dwelling houses; an adequate sewer system; better cared for streets; wider streets in the uptown — utilizing space which is now available. These are some of the main projects that need immediate attention. Others are a development of our park system; health laws that will enforce the cutting of weeds and cleaning of vacant lots. It also needs a sale of tax-forfeited lots, so as to get them into hands of new owners.

Sunday School Lesson

by Rev. Charles E. Dunn

Micah Champions the Oppressed.
Lesson for Sept. 2. Micah 6 and 7
Golden Text: Micah 6:8.

Our Golden Text was, it is said the favorite Bible verse of President Washington. It was also close to the heart of Theodore Roosevelt. Rather does it concern itself with the root activities of the human pilgrimage. No doubt we need formalism. And certainly we must have enthusiasm. And President Eliot, of Harvard, made much of it.

Religion, insists Micah, is not primarily ritual. Neither is it, at bottom, ecstasy. But of much more importance are the justice, mercy, and humility of every day living.

The need for justice today is obvious. Too long has man given full rein to his predatory impulses. Our present competitive profit system places a premium upon the exploitation of one group by another. Moreover it is subversive of human values through its philosophy of strife leading inevitably to international war and industrial conflict the fruits of which are insecurity, unemployment, and untold misery. What is needed is a planned social economy, thoroughly Christian in its implications. Charity is no longer sufficient. The times call loudly for genuine justice.

But mercy is as important as justice. The Church has always given a royal status to the virtue of kindness.

Finally, the sovereign grace of humility must be stressed. A discouraging defect of human nature is its cocksureness, a product of the deadly sin of pride. Other fruits are fussiness, jealousy, snobbishness. All of these common vices can be cured by a rigorous self-examination leading to a realistic appreciation of our littleness.

Most of all do we need humility in our religion. This is made clear by Jesus' striking parable of the Pharisee and the tax-gatherer. "For every one who uplifts himself will be humbled, but he who humbles himself will be uplifted."

Democrats To Eat Fish In Springfield At Roundup Sept. 14

It will take 10,000 pounds of Lake Michigan Perch, and a crew of men to fry them for the Democratic State Wide Roundup and Fishery which is to be held at Springfield, at the State fairgrounds, Friday, September 14th.

The Illinois Veterans League, of which John F. Novak of Carlinville is chairman will have charge of the arrangements for the roundup and delegations are being recruited from every county in the state.

Paul Ruppel, of Beardstown and United States Marshal from that district, has charge of a crew of Beardstown men, who are expert "fish friers" and who know how to serve large numbers of people with large quantities of fish. To insure every person who attends plenty of fish, the entire "eating" part of the program has been left to Ruppel and his men.

Prominent Democrats from every county in the State will be present at the Roundup, to hear Governor Paul V. McNutt of Indiana make the principal speech of the day and to see and hear the Democratic candidates who seek election in this state. Practically every State and National candidate will be present, and State chairman Bruce A. Campbell of East St. Louis will preside.

The program will start at 3:30 p. m. and the serving of Fish will start promptly at 5 o'clock. Refreshments will also be served. Governor Henry Horner will present Governor McNutt.

The Fishery and Roundup is given by the State Central committee, with the Illinois Veterans League cooperating to make the arrangements. It is a stag affair.

Tickets will go on sale in every part of the State within the next few days.

BEST JULY SINCE 1929 FOR GENERAL MOTORS

New York, Aug. 22.—Sales of General Motors cars and trucks to consumers in the United States amounted in July to 101,243 units against 87,298 in July 1933. Sales to dealers in the United States were 107,554 units, compared with 92,546 in July a year ago. Total sales to dealers in the United States and Canada plus overseas shipments amount to 134,324 units in July against 106,918 in July last year.

The annual family picnic and chicken dinner of the country club was held at the club house Thursday evening.

There are just a lot of things that Sullivan needs. It can gradually acquire them. Cities like ours face an encouraging future, but the growth must follow an intelligent plan—not hit or miss. Are we, as a community, big enough to know what is good for us? And have we the courage to strive toward its realizations?

The State House In 1889

H. S. Butler

I know just how it happened That this joy came to me, I had an older brother Who lived up near Pawnee.

I went there to visit him And he was nice to me, He said "Let's go to Springfield The Capitol, to see."

So next day we started Seventeen miles, to drive, It took about three hours In Springfield, to arrive.

Street cars, then, were pulled by mules The streets were paved with blocks And where there was no pavement Were stepping stones of rocks.

But the august State House building The sight we went to see, Was, really, a world wonder It seemed that way to me.

We went up in the building As high as we could go, And looked out o'er the country Surrounding us below.

But the biggest thing I saw That opened my eyes wide, Was the work in taxidermy The museum room supplied.

To see those birds of every kind Fishes and mammals, too, Standing there as tho alive, To me, was something new.

The State House now looks smaller Than it did in Eighty nine, But the change is in the vision Of the two eyes that are mine.

I'm glad I was so lucky And saw the State House then, For I know how it looks now To a country boy of Ten.

Cattle Not Hurt From Chinch Bug Infested Silage

Urbana, Ill., Aug. 27. Prevalent as chinch bugs have been this summer in some 70 to 80 Illinois counties, the insects will not affect the quality of the silage made from infested corn, according to a report received by the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois, from W. P. Flint, chief entomologist of the State Natural History Survey.

Silage made from heavily infested cornstalks may carry a strong chinch bug odor for three or four weeks, but this will eventually disappear, it is said. During former chinch bug attacks, particularly the outbreak in southwestern Illinois in 1910-1915 a large number of silos were filled with corn infested with the insects. In many cases the corn was so covered with bugs that the silage had the disagreeable chinch-bug odor, making it almost impossible to remain in the silos for more than a short time while they were being filled. After the silage had settled for three or four weeks, practically all of the chinch bug odor passed away, the remaining odor being the same as ordinary silage.

There was no question but what this silage had a lower nutritive value than silage made from corn that had not been injured by chinch bugs, but it was readily eaten by the cattle during the following winter with no reported injurious effects.

"So far as our observations go," says Flint, "there is no danger of feeding such silage and so far as we have been able to learn, no injurious effects have occurred from feeding such material to either dairy or beef cattle. It is, of course possible that some injury might occur, but this seems impossible in light of the past experience of many Illinois farmers."

BEE USES ITS STING ONLY FOR DEFENSE

"Bees never come to know their owner," says James I. Hambleton, Apiculturist in the Bureau of Entomology, dispelling the belief that beekeepers do not get stung, because their bees know them. Every person who works with bees will be stung occasionally. The layman who is stung most often, is probably nervous and afraid of bees. Apiarists are well aware that their bees never get to know them. One who understands bees can work as safely in another apiary as in his own.

Bee specialists also point out that the worker bees which do the stinging, do so only in defense of their hive, and even then only a few assume the responsibility of guards — leaving the others free to go about their work. If all bees rushed at once to the defense of the hive and were successful in stinging their victim, there would be no workers left, because in stinging a bee not only loses its sting but also loses its life. Away from the hive, bees are intent upon their work and can scarcely be induced to sting, unless they are caught and crushed.

Scientists have acquired amazing information about bees, but the traits and characteristics of the little workers have changed little, if any, since the beginning of history.

CHICAGO 3,490,700

The latest census in Chicago shows that the big city has gained 114,262 since a year ago. A federal census estimate made recently indicated that Chicago had decreased in population.

Brandy Sauce

A scientist says this about gasoline filling station attendants: "They have improved the manners and the courtesy and the consideration of the American public, more than all the colleges put together."

Bridgegroom: "What kind of cake is this?"
The Bride: "It is nut cake, dear."
The Bridegroom: "Nut cake! It tastes awful queer for nut cake."
The Bride: "I was afraid it would. You see I did not have any nuts to put in it, and I also ran out of sugar."

Wife (reading aloud from newspaper) Wealthy man leaves $500,000 to woman who refused to marry him 20 years ago.
Husband: That's what I call gratitude!—U. S. Navy Review.

"There is something wrong with your way of raising corn" said the smart cousin from Chicago.
"Well, let's hear what's wrong with it" said the man from Moultrie.

"Why, in school I learned that to get good corn, it should be planted 3 to 4 grains in a hill. You farmers here in the prairie do not have any hills and plant it in a flat field."

The reason some fellows sneeze so loud when they have a cold in the head is because—you see that's all they have in it.

Maybe we're ignorant, but we do not recall ever hearing of a farmer who raises hay having hay fever.

The reason some people don't feel so good is because about 8,000,000 of their pores that were busy exuding sweat a few weeks ago have gone on vacation.

It seems to us that it must take a brave man to be a judge at a baby show.

We sometimes wonder whether there would be any bald-headed men, if they shaved their heads like they do their faces.

"Another sign that the depression is ended" says an exchange, "is that baby's bank rattles again when you shake it."

The big question of the average home is: "Does the wife spend too much or does the husband earn too little?"

ALWAYS MORE
"Man wants but little here below, Nor wants that little long"—Who wrote that, I should like to know?

He seems to have been wrong. Man, I have generally found, Whatever is his store, Is all the time just looking round To get a little more.

Our appetites for gold and fame Are never satisfied; With flattery it's just the same—Our mouths are opened wide.

Of knowledge we can't get enough It's nothing to deplore—But "wanting little," that's all stuff!

We want a little more. The wedge of pumpkin pie, The early morning doze, The winter furnace coal supply, The gift a friend bestows.

The sunshine we so often miss, The music we adore, The maiden's sweet and loving kiss We want a little more.

—Exchange. Do you folks remember how proud we used to be when we got done tacking down the new rag carpet over a thick layer of straw?

At 20 we are very self conscious and want the world to think well of us; at 30 we don't care a darn what it thinks and after 40 we awake to the fact it never did think of us at all.

We never long to be Huey Long!

Now that things are beginning to clear up it is becoming plan to us that the late depression was caused primarily by there being too much foodstuffs and too many hungry people in this country at one and the same time.

"Do not be too disappointed, that I cannot speak to you longer today" said Charles Fletcher, the congressional candidate Friday evening, and he added this promise "I will be back to speak to you some more before this campaign is over." Alas, greater love hath no man, than to think so well of his cratory.

In the Hog Lot: "What is Esmerelda Duroc so glum about? She was so proud of her new litter of 12 little pigs?"

The other Hog: "Oh, haven't you heard? She's in bad with the government. It was legal for her to have only 8 pigs and she littered way beyond her quota."

Don't be fooled when the wife says "I'm going to the dime store." It's going to cost the old girl dollars and not dimes, ere you see her again.

There comes a time in the life of really prominent citizens when they must hitch hike in order to get home by milking time.

Trip to the Boy's State Fair School

Robert Miller and I together with two Whitley boys, Ivan Garrett and Lyle Monson were delegates to the Boys State Fair school at Springfield.

Robert and I arrived Sunday just before lunch which was a day late on account of us being at the Arthur fair the day before. The afternoon was spent to our pleasure on the fair grounds until five o'clock. Then we met at the camp for setting up exercises. After exercises we washed, lowered the flag and prepared for supper. At 7 o'clock Dr. A. W. Nolan delivered us the "esper service address."

The camp was just inside the west entrance to the fair grounds. It was made up of between 40 and 50 tents besides the officers and superintendents. A large assembly tent and tents for supplies. The camp was surrounded by a high fence and gate. The gate was locked after 10:30 o'clock at which time we were all supposed to be in bed. The camp was guarded night and day by police.

Monday was Farm Crops day. We listened to three lectures one on "The Science in Agriculture"; one in "Emergency Crop Problems" and "Emergency Soil Problems." At eleven o'clock we went on a trip to the exhibits. After lunch we were introduced by F. G. Blair to Governor Horner who gave us an address. Then the school had their picture taken. We were then free until setting-up exercises at 5 o'clock. We all went in a body to the W L S barn dance after supper.

Tuesday was Livestock day. We had three lectures all by U. of I professors, one on "Sheep Production on Illinois Farms"; one on "Hog Production" and "Production and Use of Horses." From 11 to 12 o'clock we had another trip to exhibits. After noon after a short talk we again went to the fair. After supper we went in a body to the horse show.

Wednesday was Dairy day. The morning lectures were "Feeding and Managing Dairy Herds," "Handling and Manufacture of Dairy Products on the Farm" and a judging demonstration. At 11 o'clock we went to the horse pulling contest. In the afternoon our address was "The AAA Program in Illinois." After supper we had a very interesting lecture by A. W. Nolan.

Thursday was general farm topic day. The first lecture was "The Garden Spot of the Farm," "Some Timely Aspects of the Farm Poultry Enterprise" and "The Farm Shop." The rest of the day was spent in writing up notes and writing a theme on the lecture we thought the most interesting. We went to the fair that night. All the notebooks and themes had to be turned in by six o'clock.

Friday was Farm Management day. We had lectures on "Horses Tractors and Trucks on Illinois farms"; "Why Some Farms Pay Better than Others"; then the closing exercises with an address by Hon. F. G. Blair. The diplomas were then presented by our district superintendent. Everybody was to be packed and ready to break camp immediately after noon.

A trip to the boys state fair school is a rare treat for any boy. The lectures were all very interesting and highly educational. Most of the speakers were professors of the U. of I. The total expense for the whole week was $6.00 which took care of all our eats. This is all the necessary expense, although some of us like to see some of Happy Hollow, eat some hot dogs and have some pop and ice cream. A boy is only eligible to go to the school one year. All I can do is encourage others boys to enjoy what I have.

Feb. 12:30 "By faith the walls of Jericho fell down, after they were compassed about seven days. The critic explains this phenomenon by saying that the walls were torn down by a great earthquake. If they were then who sent the earthquake? The critic says it just happened. If it just happened then it would seem very strange that it just happened at the time that God said it would, after that the children of Israel had obeyed all that he commanded them to do. If it was an earthquake then obedience and faith caused the earthquake.

As we read this chapter of things accomplished by faith, we find that many things were changed, and all by faith. The old world stands desperately in need of some things being changed. If we had the right brand of faith then we would be able to check off a lot of these world conditions as non-existent. "O ye of little faith" might well be spoken of us today. The scriptures tell us "without faith it is impossible to please God." Surely the Master must be much displeased with us of today. May the Lord give us a baptism of unwavering faith in him, that will reach beyond the natural and fasten on the supernatural.

Rippling waters and northern woods persistently called and we responded. With the passing days, free from, to the minutes or on the hour engagements, time has passed rapidly and the day approaches when we must resume our pastoral and pulpit labors. Even now the call of duty is heard and we shall respond as willingly to the latter as to the former call. We have greatly appreciated and enjoyed the days of rest and quiet beside, on an in this Michigan lake, Big Star, by name, but we are equally appreciative of, and shall with joy enter into our labors with the Church and in its various activities and programs.

We are therefore announcing all services at the usual hours for Sunday, Sept. 2, when we shall God willing, present morning and evening messages from the pulpit. The Sunday school will convene at the usual hour.

Christian Endeavor will resume its active meetings with Olive Dazey as leader. Sunday evening will be our first consecration meeting of the fall program while election of officers will be held the Sunday following.

ISO-VIS "D" DOOMS SLUDGE, THE OIL-EATER!

YET STANDARD'S FAMOUS ANTI-SLUDGE MOTOR OIL IS "PREMIUM QUALITY" IN EVERY RESPECT

If the price of Iso-Vis "D" were 31c, or even 36c a quart, you'd still be getting the finest motor-oil value on the market. At the price you pay for it today it's a downright bargain!

When you buy Iso-Vis "D" you get the very latest development in fine, sturdy lubrication for automobile engines—a motor oil treated by the patented Propane Dewaxing and Chlorex Extraction process. That gives it a unique quality—it will not sludge even under the hardest, hottest driving! Furthermore, it deposits almost no carbon, and its "body" doesn't thin out dangerously under heat or thicken greatly in cold. All these advantages go to make up the most economical fine lubrication you can buy.

Next time you drive into a Standard Oil Station ask them to show you Iso-Vis "D." It's always ready, in accurately measured glass bottles, so you can see the clear, glistening good oil that you are getting. You'll like its looks. You'll like the way it behaves in your engine. Try it!

Sludge causes high oil consumption. Piston rings clogged with sludge pump oil—cause needless waste. Put Iso-Vis "D" in—keep sludge out!

Mattoon Ends Sluggers Wins Streak, 6 To 1

Paul Duncan Limits Bruce Club to 5 Hits While Fanning 14. Winners Also Held to 5 Singles, But Win on Hosts Loose Play.

Sunday — Mattoon Browns at Bruce

(By Jim Scott)

Bruce — All good things must run their course and so it was with Bruce's prized nine-game winning streak.

Finding the Sluggers in a lackadaisical mood here Sunday the Mattoon Boosters, champions of the Illini league, up and accorded them their second shelacking of this long sultry summer, 6 to 1, in a duel which proved that after all pitching is only 75 per cent of the game.

Our boys have created quite a furor in hardball circles mainly through the efforts of two superb casters, Bill Kinsel and Forrest Misenheimer. And in the trying hours of this Sabbath when a victory would have entitled them to one of the best outfits in this section, these two long gentlemen of the mound were just as able as ever.

Misenheimer, who was charged with the loss, started only to retire at the end of three and one-third innings after having thrown his arm out of commission. He had given but two bingles and had fanned five. Kinsel then took over the office holding the usual pulverizing Boosters to three hits over the remainder of the distance.

Poor Support

However neither chucker enjoyed the backing of his mates. Earl Appelt, the Shumway importation, was the chief offender. Looking somewhat like an old broken down ball player he was soon relieved of his second base post and shunted away to right field, where business was at a minimum. We are sorry we cannot accommodate the Bruce gentry and record more of Appelt's treachery in the error column, but by stretching our scoring rules to the limit, we still can't charge for a lack of agility or faulty judgment of fly balls.

Jim Adams and Tanner Abbott were sort of stooges in the comedy, the catcher dropping a large number of Kinsel's shots while the latter turned up with a pair of misplays at third. But Evans' deficiencies as a receiver were forgotten when he slammed a legitimate triple to count the only Bruce run and later bolted out a single which was not so legitimate.

It was coincidental that he and the opposing catcher, L. Bales headed what cannonading there was with two blows apiece.

Duncan Whiffs 14

Perhaps it was just as well that the Sluggers took their day off when they did, for at best, they would be fortunate in eking out a victory at the expense of Paul Duncan, who drops only a game or two a season. Slim and loose-jointed the good Apostle Paul retired all of the nine men who faced him in the first and last three frames.

The first of T. Abbott's two errors got Mattoon off to a one-run lead in the first. Claud Hennings, the visitor's stormy petrel, who has been baseballing for over 20 summers, led off with a double to center. Davis bunted in front of the plate and Hennings was caught between second and third, Evans to Appelt. After stealing second Davis scored when the slighter of the two Abbott boys muffed Watkins' roller. Kellar and Carrington then lifted high flies to D. Abbott and Blue.

After striking out the side in the second, Misenheimer was clipped for another run in the third. Duncan was safe on Appelt's bobble. Paul pilfered second, where he waited while Blue took in Hennings' long drive, and then scored on Davis' single to center.

Johnson Orates

Watkins fanned and Kellar went out, Appelt to Kinsel. The former disapproved of a second strike and moved in close to Umpire Ace Johnson and began roaring into his face. The Ace didn't care to be rubbed this way so he cocked a hard eye on plump Mr. Watkins and cut loose with such a barrage of diction that Mattoon gardener was only too glad to waltz back to the plate for his final swing.

Duncan retired the first 11 men and then with two down in the fourth threw a single to Dutch Abbott. Evans followed with a triple to deep right, scoring Abbott with the only run which separated the erstwhile fence-busters from a shutout.

The Sluggers' third hit was delivered by Appelt at the opening of the fifth. But T. Abbott and Blue missed on a third strike and Misenheimer forced Appelt for the final out.

With one gone in the sixth the Bruicians hoisted their final threat. Kinsel singled, to center, but D. Abbott fanned, a sucker for a high fast one. Evans was credited with a hit when his low line drive dropped off the center fielder's glove. Kinsel advancing to third. Carter Stoncipher, a long range clouter, had been forced out with an injury and his substitute, young Jimmy Spough, went down on three strikes.

Wildness Costly

Following a streak of wildness in the first half of the sixth, Kinsel was touched for two of the three safeties gleaned off his delivery. Watkins stroled and went to second when Kellar was plunked by a pitched ball. Carrington fled to Blue, but Morgan doubled to right, Watkins scoring and Kellar moving to third. The double steal sign was then flashed and the burlly Kellar steamed safely across the plate and Morgan arrived at third from whence he tallied on a safe bunt by B. Bales.

The Boosters negotiated their final marker in the eighth without the assistance of a hit or an error. Carrington worked Kinsel for a pass and continued around the circuit on passed balls.

MRS. MILBURN'S SISTER DIES

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer T. Milburn and family were called to Charleston Monday by the death of Mr. Milburn's sister, Mrs. Doris Reynolds. Those left to mourn are her husband, father, three brothers and one sister.

The following guests are now at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Donald M. Butler or are expected to arrive before the end of the week: Prof. Charles Butler of Columbia, Missouri; Dr. and Mrs. Edward Butler and two children of Buffalo, N. Y.; Dr. and Mrs. Lone Butler of Colorado and their daughter, Mrs. T. T. Harper of Minneapolis. Mrs. Wimp who has been making her home here with the Butler family is now visiting her daughter and husband in New York and they too expect to arrive here the latter part of this week or early next week.

At the THEATRE

Can a screen star stage a comeback after hitting the skids. Paramount Pictures thinks so. At least they are giving some of the down-and-out old timers the opportunity. Within recent months they have used the services of Jack Mulhall, George Walsh, Helen Chadwick and William Farnum—and now Charles Ray. Ray was one of our favorites of about eight years ago. Folks who saw this clumsy yokel in the "Pinch-Hitter" and other heroics will never forget him.

Ray got rich and lost; he staged two comebacks and, in all, lost three fortunes, an elaborate home and an art collection, besides a top notch place in the picture world.

Ray has a part in "Ladies Should Listen." It is a minor part, but it gives Ray his chance. Others in the cast with him are Cary Grant, Frances Drake, Edward Everett Horton, George Barbier, Nydia Westman.

Friday night's second hit is "The 9th Guest" with Donald Cook and Genevieve Tobin. Mysterious telegrams summon eight people to a party in a swanky penthouse. Each expects to be the guest of honor but finds the others have no knowledge of the affair. You'll get a nifty thrill out of this.

Monte Blue

The name Monte Blue is well known in Sullivan, it being a moniker tagged on a baseball-playing bridegroom. The original Monte is a star who shone in pictures' milky way some years ago. Now he's going to be a Saturday attraction in "The Stoker." With him are Dorothy Burgess and Noah Beery. As a special added attraction Mr. Hays has book the comedy "Mrs. Barnacle Bill" which will be surprising, for everybody thought Barnacle Bill loved the girls and left them. Also other good shorts.

Harlow-Barrymore

Franchot Tone and Lewis Stone make a good combination and "The Girl from Missouri" promises to be a good show. A closer look at the cast discloses that Patsy Kelly and Nat Pendleton are also among those present. A hilarious comedy is said to describe the play. You do not really care about getting the plot in advance. The fact that these top-notch performers are in it, is its best guarantee of swell entertainment. What makes Miss Harlow's hair so blond and fussy; her press agent says she shampoos it every four days and gives it dooses of hot castor oil. The castor oil is put on the hair—not taken internally. Pete Smith presents "Goofy Movies" and then there are other desirable trimmings on an excellent program.

And then — on Tuesday

"Paris Interlude" starring Madge Evans, Robert Young, Otto Kruger and Una Merkel. The giddy press agent says it's a "Merry Parisian whirligig of joy." The background of this picture is furnished by that historic event when Slim Lindbergh arrived in Paris on his solo flight. Kruger plays the part of an impetuous reporter. It's funny how picture scenario writers regard reporters. They usually portray them as smart, but half-witted and drunk a good part of the time. Well, we should worry—just so the boys and girls have their fun!

Harry Langdon puts on a comedy and there will be a Screen Novelty. These good Tuesday night shows are said to crowd Manager Hays' popular temple of merriment.

"Of Human Bondage"

Did you ever read W. Somerset Maugham's popular novel? It is not new but generally regarded as good. Sooner or later all such books are dramatized. See the earnest student in the grip of a strange, fascinating love for a brainless, worthless woman. Leslie Howard plays the part of Philip Carey; Bette Davis is Mildred and the part of Sally is taken by Frances Dee. If this play is any where near as good as the novel, you will find it intensely interesting.

Hollywood on Parade is also a good feature which appears on this Wednesday - Thursday program. There will be a sports novelty and News. We believe that these News shorts are popular with everybody. They bring current scenes and celebrities from all parts of the world.

This closing paragraph has nothing to do with pictures, etc., but there is a possibility that at some future date people will not read daily newspapers. Instead, they will have some arrangement whereby the events of the day are visualized right before their eyes. Each home will be equipped with some contrivance which brings the actual scenes of the days happening before their eyes. Sound is now being broadcast via radio. That sound conveys the spoken word, telling the news.

Does it seem so impossible, that far greater developments will make our present inventions seem crude and ridiculous?

But one thing will always be needed — Brains — which will edit and select the news events worthy of being broadcast — intelligently. All of humanity's inventions are great assets only so long as humanity can furnish the Brains to direct and keep them under control.

—Mrs. Alice Boyce was called to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Omer Lowe, Monday to care for Mrs. Lowe who is on the sick list.

NO DEPRESSION IN THE BROOMCORN FIELDS

With more than 25 crops of broom corn already sold at $200 per ton and with a near shortage of labor to harvest the brush being encountered, it seems safe to say that the depression is over as far as the broom corn raisers of Douglas county are concerned. Calls have been sent to neighboring towns for cutters with the prevailing wage being from $1.50 to $1.75 per table. A good man is supposed to cut about four tables a day, netting him from $5.00 to $6.00 a day.—Tuscola Review.

Two Cars Wrecked

A Plymouth sedan driven by Norman Sanders, son of Dr. Zink Sanders of Decatur and a Dodge sedan driven by Harold Jones collided two miles east of here on route 132 late Sunday night and although the cars were wrecked, of the six occupants only Mr. Sanders was hurt and his injuries amounted to only a few minor cuts and bruises on his face and right leg.

Young Jones and Bus St. John were returning from Sullivan and had stopped on the pavement to pick up three fellows, Seth Low Loren Davis and Bob Roney who were transferring from a car that had broken down back up the slab. The Jones' car was just beginning to pick up speed when it was struck from behind by Sanders, who was en route home from Mattoon.

Norman had not noticed the Jones' car until he was well upon it and a quick appliance of brakes failed to avert the smashup. The fact that he was braced, his hands being on the wheel and his feet on the clutch and brake, alone prevented him from being hurled through the windshield.

The front end of the Sanders car was jammed back while the Jones car was demolished in reverse order.
