

WEATHER

Strange as it may seem — there have been no killing frosts here yet. Sunday morning showed a touch of frost, but it looks as if though tomato vines, beans, etc. would die of old age.

It has been great weather for the soybean harvest and thousands of bushels are reaching the elevators. The yield is good and the price, being over 70c brings a nice return. From what we can learn Manchu and Illini are the favorite market beans.

You don't hear much about corn. indications are that the yield will be disappointing, but at that it will be as good or better than they have anywhere else. Pastures are good. Wheat is up. The past two weeks have been rather dry, although greying skies this Thursday afternoon bear a promise of rain.

After rain, it will be colder. We understand that next week we'll have a lot of sweet girl graduates in town — the ladies who will finish their Red Cross health course.

Political rallies are the order of the day. They have changed sadly since the good old days. Then there were made up of oratorical shouting, fussing and cussing; very little thinking, much drinking. Now what have we — pink teas, hot dog parties, beanfeasts, coffee and milk and doughnuts and then a sweet, slushy orchestra thumps out an alleged tune and the young folks dance. Ye gods, does that make votes? Mebbe it does.

Hunters are taking their bird dogs out to get their noses attuned to the scent of the wildwood and the bob whites. Coon hunters are looking the crop over and here and there some fellow with a sweet tooth is craning his neck in search of a honey tree.

Cucumber season is over. "Did you put up any?" a down South friend asked a Sullivan housewife. "Oh about 300" was the answer; "300 quarts of pickles, Oh my!" And then the Sullivan woman had to explain that she meant 300 pickles, not 300 quarts. "Down our way they never count 'em, they sell them by the bushel" was the explanation.

In Windsor the other night the ladies chorus sang a song to the Congressman in which they promised to "Hitch old Dobbin to the shay." You know when a fellow gets famous he must stand for most anything. Hi their Dobbin, giddap! — And when a hard-boiled Republican like Hugh Lilly attends a Democratic rally it proves that he is a darn good newspaper man. News is not supposed to have political preference, that is, unless you read it in the Chicago Tribune, the world's biggest hick newspaper.

In a general way we believe the country is getting better. There are less strikes, less unemployment. You don't hear so much about the drought any more. The G. O. P. has gotten over its quaking fear for the safety of the Constitution. Days are cooler and we're all saving fuel. Sweethearts stroll by arm in arm. There is joy in living.

But have you heard about the hens? Now they are striking and lucky is the man who can afford a few fresh eggs for his breakfast.

The news went out that a crop reduction was on. The hens heard it; the roosters heralded the tidings until every barnyard in the country knew about it. The hens decided to reduce the egg surplus. They stopped laying. President Roosevelt may be appealed to, a committee to meet with a committee of hens to discuss the matter. Experts are now at work trying to decode the hens' cackling so that the committee members can discuss the matter with them. The hens are reported not to be in any union, but are all birds of a feather. The rest of the barnyard fowls are egging them on.

Black cats are practicing up their crooning on backyard fences while witches are repairing their brooms. Hallowe'en is coming.

"The Terraplane, which is making the Ruggedness Run will be through here at 3:15 o'clock today" said Gerd Newbould Friday morning as he extended an invitation to see this car.

At 3:15 it rolled in from Mattoon. It circled the square, had its picture taken with Mr. Newbould and several other local men, and then sped on its way. It was due in Keokuk that night, when a relay driver was to take it and continue its long run to prove that a car of this type, after a year of use, is just as good as new—perhaps even better.

CLARIDA IN COURT
Orval Clarida, recently indicted by the grand jury for actions growing out of his matrimonial tangles, appeared in county court this week. Recognizance for his appearance for trial was accepted by the court and trial set for November 8th.

BIRTHDAY PARTY
Miss Jennie Seitz was pleasantly surprised by friends at her home Friday night in honor of her 20th birthday anniversary. The evening was spent playing games and refreshments of pop corn, candy and apples were served.

Cong. Dobbins Main Speaker Oct. 29 Rally

Rousing Old-time Political Gathering Planned. Fireworks, Parade, Speaking, Refreshments and Big Free Dance in Armory.

You'll want to see it. You'll want to be in it. Get the spirit of the thing, grab a torch or a roman candle and get into the parade. When? Monday night, October 29th. Where? Sullivan. What's the big idea? An old-time Democratic rally with all the trimmings and then some.

Whose the speaker? Congressman Dobbins. How about the Parade? It starts at 7 o'clock from the Court House square, following fireworks program and headed by the Sullivan high school band. The paraders will be given torches, roman candles, etc. And then the whole conglomeration heads down toward the Armory.

What then? Some fellow will open the meeting. The ladies will be present and treated nice. County and Legislative candidates will be asked to stand up and bow and take a cheer. But where does all this get us to? Right up to the main speaker of the evening, the Honorable Donald C. Dobbins (called Claude by his friends).

What's he going to talk about? Plenty. He was an important man in the New Deal Congress. He helped the President. He wants to tell about this. In other words he wants to give an account of what he has done for the people who elected him to congress in 1932. Will this speech end the rally? Ah, my friend I'm glad you asked that. It will not. What then? Eats, my dear. Refreshments. The ladies are looking

3 Moultrie Men Honored by Teachers

The eastern division of the Illinois State Teachers Association, in annual meeting in Mattoon last week, passed a resolution favoring the appointment of a committee by Gov. Horner to survey the educational system of the state and report to the Governor its findings and recommendations.

Not desiring to be put on record as having the state finance such a commission, the teachers voted to pay 25c a member toward defraying the expenses incurred. Three Moultrie men were honored at the meeting. R. A. Scheer, principal of the Sullivan high school was elected first year member of the executive committee. Co. Supt. Albert Walker and J. C. Lucas, supt. of the Gays schools were named as delegates to the state convention.

Lowell Thomas, nationally known lecturer, disappointed the assembled teachers by his failure to appear. He was to have been paid $500 for an hour's lecture. The association has under consideration a damage suit against Thomas for breach of contract.

Ladies' Golf Tournament News

A fancy costume tournament featured the closing of the 1934 golf season for the Ladies' Division last week, and most of the players were somewhat handicapped by their unusual garments, the nine hole round was finally completed, with more hilarity than accuracy. It is said that when the girls teed off at number eight just as a male foursome arrived at the nearby number two, the gentlemen found it difficult to "keep the eye on the ball" and every one, to a man, drove wildly out of bounds!

The prizes for the cleverest costumes went easily to Mrs. Frank Eads and Mrs. John Eads, both of Arthur, who came attired as an Amish man and wife, while Mrs. Levie Dickerson, as a dashing Spaniard, won the prize for the prettiest outfit. Mrs. T. L. Hudson of Bethany was the presiding chairman and deserves credit for planning this unique tournament which ends a six-month series beginning last May.

Ralph Hanrahan And Velma Phillips Wed

Miss Velma Phillips and Ralph Hanrahan were united in marriage at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Marion Arterburn at Mattoon Friday evening, Rev. Arterburn performing the ceremony. The bridal couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Bill Woods of Mattoon.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Phillips of Windsor. She has taken an active interest in church work, being a member of the Christian church in Windsor. She graduated with the class of 1931 of the Windsor high school, and has been employed at the Shasteen store since June.

Ralph Hanrahan is a son of Mrs. Mary Hanrahan and is a graduate of the Sullivan high school, class of 1930 and is employed at the Coy shoe store. They spent the week end at Lafayette, Ind. and are making their home with the groom's mother, Mrs. Hanrahan.

Elizabeth Powers Died In Mattoon

Mrs. Elizabeth Powers, widow of the late John J. Powers died in the Memorial hospital in Mattoon Monday morning. She had been a patient in the hospital since last May.

Elizabeth Gray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gray was born in Covington, Kentucky, December 18, 1855. The family came to Illinois when she was about two years of age. They took up their residence on a farm near Allenville.

In November of 1877 she was united in marriage with John J. Powers, who preceded her in death Sept. 21, 1931. Prior to his death they lived on their farm near Allenville.

Mrs. Powers leaves two daughters, Mrs. Victor Wiley of Allenville and Mrs. Reub Davis of this city. There are three grandchildren Melvin Wiley, Mrs. Willis Hoskins and Miss Lois Davis; also two great grandchildren Wilda and Marilyn Hoskins.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon in Mattoon with Rev. Ira Blythe in charge. The remains were then placed in the mausoleum in Dodge Grove cemetery.

The singing was in charge of Mrs. Willie Townley and Mrs. Frank Miller of Mattoon, accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Rufus Townley, also of Mattoon. The casket bearers were L. W. Hawkins, Guy H. Christy, Floyd Shirey, E. P. Hall, Walter Spough and J. W. Hoskins all of Allenville.

The flower girls were Mrs. Elva Hawkins, Mrs. Mabel Christy, Mrs. Florence Shirey, Mrs. Gussie Hall Mrs. Mary Spough and Mrs. Dilla Hoskins all of Allenville.

J. Ck. To Reorganize Its Community Club

A meeting has been called for Oct. 26th at the Jonathan Creek town hall for the purpose of reorganizing the Jonathan Creek Community club. Mrs. J. J. Ryan is chairman of the meeting.

Among those already secured for the program are Farm Adviser Stormont and Bert Martin. When the organization was functioning some years ago Bert Martin was its president. Watch for program in next week's Progress.

WIFE OF F. F. FLEMING OF ARTHUR DIED TUESDAY

Mrs. Mary D. Fleming, wife of supervisor Frank Fleming of Arthur died at her home Tuesday morning following a year's illness. Besides her husband, she leaves one son, Merrill Fleming of Springfield.

Funeral services were held in the Arthur Methodist church Thursday afternoon. Burial was in the Arthur cemetery.

WORSHAM'S DEMOCRATIC SORGHUM PARTY MONDAY AN UNQUALIFIED SUCCESS

The big 3rd precinct Democratic party at the Murphy sorghum mill Monday night was a big success.

Precinct Committeeman Orville Worsham's voters turned out en masse. Many guests were present from other parts of the country. The hundreds at hamburgers, hot dogs, a la mustard, buns, hot biscuits and fried sorghum. (Yes, there is such a thing as fried sorghum. Ask Shorty).

Frank McDonald, the Arthur Caruso, led in community singing and out-door yodeling and Hugh Rigney made a speech.

The moon which Mr. Worsham had engaged to light up the meeting was on the job at its best. We apologize to Mr. Worsham for advertising his party as a "shin-dig" last week. We understand that it was a dignified aggregation of the untrified, pure and undiluted essence of Democracy. The "Bloody Third" did itself proud.

YOUNG REPUBLICANS DANCE AND SPEAKING

The Young Republican League of Moultrie county will have dance and card party Monday night, October 22nd at 8 o'clock p. m. in the V. F. W. hall. Charles Fletcher who wants to go to Congress will speak.

Enmeshed In Joy Of Annual Home-coming

City is Whole-heartedly Participating with High School Today (Friday) in Classy Program of Events.

Today, Friday, October 19th is a gala day in Sullivan. The high school is staging its annual home-coming. These events have been growing in popularity from year to year. Dale Smith is student manager this year.

The alumni association and city organizations are participating. A big pep meeting was held Thursday night with bonfires, eats, music, yells, songs, stunts, etc., the accumulated effect of which was designed to fill the participants with an amount of pep that will make them sputter and bubble and keep their enthusiasm to the highest pitch until the last dance tonight.

At 1:30 today there will be a big parade. All schools, grade and rural) will gather on the campus to be assigned to their place in the line of march.

In the parade will be two bands, police escort, Legion color guard, floats for the queen candidates, stunts, etc., etc. To increase interest the merchants are offering prizes.

In Margy Scheer's high school column you will find plenty of home-coming dope this week.

The big Rah! Rah! feature of the day will be the football game at 2:30 when Sullivan will tangle with Arthur.

The Home-coming supper in the gymnasium beginning at 5:30 is something to write to the folks about. Old classmates meet and embrace and weep tears of joy at the reunion.

Somewhere in this paper is a story about the home-coming play "Pay as You Enter." It is up to the standard of home-coming plays — a type that none others excel.

Moving pictures will be taken of the day's activities. Hang around and try and get in them and you can see yourself act at the Grand some time soon.

As a special added feature, the Alumni has arranged for a dance in the V. F. W. hall, following the play. A home-talent orchestra will furnish the music.

Health Class To Graduate Tuesday

The women who have been enrolled in the Red Cross Health class which has been receiving instruction at stated intervals from Miss Sarah E. Bailey of the state health department are requested to meet in the court house at 7 p. m. Tuesday, October 23rd. Each class member is requested to bring a guest.

Miss Bailey will be accompanied by a speaker from the state health department. The class members will receive their diplomas at that time.

Local Red Cross officials are also requested to be present at this meeting.

McDAVID ESTATE

Probate of the estate of the late Mrs. Irene A. McDavid was started in the county court this week. Wilbur W. Rose was named administrator and adjustment day set for December 3rd.

Relief Committees Met Monday Night

The Moultrie Work Relief committee met at the relief office Monday night. Members present were Joe Burcham, Lovington; Russell Fresh, Sullivan; O. F. Harding, Bethany and Oscar Wagahoff of Lake City. Others present were F. E. Holmstrand, work relief superintendent, T. R. Harris, assistant district representative and Mrs. Dortha Williams Jensen.

Mr. Holmstrand gave detailed reports on work relief activities since the beginning of the program, and stressed the need for a number of small projects in each community in the county, in order that men may be assigned to work in their own locality.

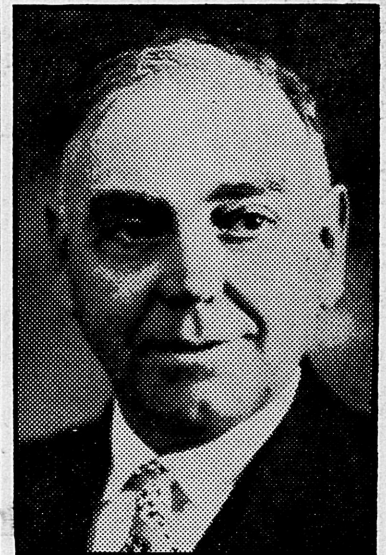

Mr. Harris talked to the committee regarding the work relief program in general and offered many helpful suggestions. Plans for the future relief program were discussed.

Garden Surplus
Many people who have community gardens have already taken from their gardens and canned all the produce which they will be able to use this winter and have turned over to the canning centers the remainder to be canned and stored in the food depot for future distribution to relief clients. To date over 60,000 cans of produce have

Pearl Kelly Bride Of Lovington Man

Mrs. Pearl Kelly of this city and W. H. Atchison of Lovington were united in marriage Monday afternoon at the Christian parsonage. Rev. C. E. Barnett officiated.

At the time the couple came to the parsonage the Ministerial Association was having a meeting and five ministers signed as witnesses.

The marriage was to have been a secret for a time—but with five ministers looking on, the secret would not hold.

Monday night the choir of the Christian church, their families and neighbors serenaded the blushing bride and groom.

LOEB CAR HIT BY CAR FROM MONTICELLO

Sunday afternoon when returning from the baseball game at Bruce the car driven by H. E. Loeb was struck by a car from Monticello driven by a man named Paul Jordan. The Loeb car turned over several times and was damaged. None of the occupants of either car were injured.

Billy Bryant And C. O. Blue In Bad Wreck

Lovington Men in Olney Hospital Following Head-on Auto Collision Monday Evening. Mr. Blue in Serious Condition.

J. W. Bryant and C. O. Blue of Lovington are in the Webber hospital in Olney, as a result of serious injuries sustained Monday evening in a head-on automobile collision.

Mr. Blue's injuries are most serious. He has a punctured lung. Mr. Blue died at 1:30 on Thursday afternoon. Funeral arrangements had not been made at time of going to press. He leaves a wife and several grown children.

a broken leg, dislocated hip and broken ankle, besides being badly bruised all over. He is past 60 years of age and moved to Lovington within recent years from Urbana where he had long served as assistant postmaster.

Mr. Bryant's injuries consist of a deep cut on the forehead, and other cuts and bruises as well as internal injuries. His chest received the impact of the steering wheel in the collision and he has been in such pain that it has not been possible to take an x-ray to determine the scope of his injuries.

The men had been to Vincennes, Indiana on a business trip and were homeward bound. At about 7:15 o'clock one mile east of Summer they met another car. From information gathered from the injured it seems possible that Mr. Bryant must have dozed and lost control of his car, but nobody seems to be certain of just what did happen.

The three young people in the other car were badly shaken and bruised but sustained no serious injury. All were taken to the Olney hospital. The cars were badly wrecked.

Mr. Bryant, aged 57, is one of the oldest automobile dealers, in point of service, in this part of the state. He has been associated with the automobile business since its very beginning and for many years has operated a big garage in Lovington and is interested in the Capitol Chevrolet Sales in this city, managed by his son P. K. Bryant. He is also the father of Glenn Bryant, owner of Chocolate shop. Another son, Dale, lives in Chicago; the oldest daughter, Thelma is the wife of Fred Fisher of Texas and the youngest daughter Ruth is at home.

For a number of years Mr. Bryant has been interested in cheese manufacturing business and the visit to Vincennes was to look after a factory there.

Linder Appeals From County Court Decision

Hugh Linder has filed an appeal to the circuit court from the decision of Judge Ledbetter in the county court, on his claim for $1035 against the estate of the late Rebecca Patterson.

When the case came up in the county court some time ago, Mr. Linder had no witnesses, except himself. The court held that he could not prove his claim in that way and continued the case ten days.

At the end of that time Mr. Linder still lacked the necessary witnesses, but was permitted to testify as to what work he had done at the Patterson farm following Mrs. Patterson's death. For this work the court allowed him $45.

Not satisfied with this outcome he now takes his case into the higher court.

JURY FINDS McDONALD NEEDS NO CONSERVATOR

In the county court Saturday before Judge Ledbetter the petition for appointment of a conservator for John McDonald, aged Civil War veteran, was heard.

The jury in the case decided that Mr. McDonald was fully able and competent to attend to his own affairs and not in need of a conservator. The petition had been filed by his son Charles McDonald.

"Our Father—"

Thou art the starred blue hush out-side our windows
Thou art the summer warmth that fills this room;
Thou art the breeze that stirs our ruffled curtains,
And wafts the honeysuckle's frail perfume.

Thou art the lilac dusk that here enfolds us,
And softens all of the day's realities;
Thou art one firefly's spangled, lacy entrance,
Thou art wall-silvering shadows of old trees.

Thou art the love that draws us close together;
Thou art the answer to our evening prayer;
Thou art night's sleep and promise of day's morning

Give Roosevelt Democratic Congressmen.

A lot of nonsense is usually injected into any political campaign and the present one is no exception.

We have been told that in neighboring counties the voters are being urged to vote for Democratic candidates for county offices "to support Roosevelt." In all sincerity, some of the party leaders are, by printed word and word of mouth, advancing this argument. The average voter, though enthusiastically in favor of the President's New Deal, will hardly be able to see how the election of a Democratic county official can be of much aid.

If the voters favor the New Deal and like President Roosevelt's aggressive way of trying to do something for this country, they can show such approval by voting to elect Democratic Congressmen. In this district they can give President Roosevelt a hearty vote of endorsement by re-electing Congressman Donald C. Dobbins. They can go a step further and vote for Martin Brennan and Michael Igoe, Democratic candidates for congressmen at large, who are also pledged to support the President.

A vote for Charles Fletcher for Congress will be most emphatically a vote against President Roosevelt, farm relief and other things which have proven very beneficial to the people of this district.

So as pertains to congressional representation, at least, it is sensible and logical to ask people to vote the Democratic ticket in support of the President.

We have in Illinois a Democratic state administration. This administration can and does co-operate with the President in his plans. To be really effective, a Democratic administration must have a majority membership in the House and Senate, which constitutes the General Assembly, or as it is often termed, the Legislature.

The Progress has contended for many years that this district should have two Democrats in the House. Senator Clifford now ably represents it in the Senate. H. M. Rigney and E. E. Sturdyvin are the Democratic candidates for Representatives. They both deserve election.

So summing it all up, it would be advisable for the voters to select county officials, etc., on basis of personal merit; select congressmen and legislators with the idea in view that you can endorse and support the President by voting Democratic.

In Moultrie county, it would be well to bear in mind that the Democratic candidates for county office are all well qualified and worthy of your support. Voters will make no mistake in voting a straight Democratic ticket this year.

Time may come when a change will be beneficial and Republicans will again ride into office on a wave of protest.

There is no such wave of protest apparent this year. To the contrary, the wave of popularity which swept Franklin D. Roosevelt into office is still sweeping on and on. Quite generally, people like the President and on November 6th in this district will vote to send Congressman Dobbins back to Washington as our New Deal representative.

Militant Republican Newspapers.

Glory to whom glory is due! Honor to those who rightfully earn it!

It is not the cause they fight for, but the way they fight that prompts us to say the above about our fellow newspapermen of Republican persuasion.

We have looked through a big pile of exchanges this morning. About 75% of these newspapers are Republican by inheritance or by choice. In fact about 75% of all newspapers in Illinois are Republican. There are less than 100 Democratic newspapers in the state.

These Republican newspapers are battling hard for a lost cause. Their line of battle is an offensive on the Democratic administration, state and nation and down to the minor office of poundmaster. Whatever the Democrats are doing, say they, is being done wrong. They publish all statements sent them from Republican sources, never questioning their truthfulness.

They are fighting mad and ready to take a poke at anything wearing a Democratic label or any person who shows any inclination to say a good word for President Roosevelt and his program.

We admire them for their lust of wordy battle. We admire their party loyalty and their hope of again winning back to the green pastures of political preferment.

Republicans are good to their newspaper men. They know that newspaper publicity builds public opinion and public opinion topples even kings from their thrones.

Our Republican politicians may have proven a failure in meeting the nation's economic and industrial crisis. They did have sense enough, however, to retain the loyalty and good will of the newspapers, and this, if the gods of fortune ever again smile on the Republican party, will be the first and most valued asset in a campaign to regain their lost estate in American politics.

And if that's the way you feel about it, ye Republican men of the Fourth Estate, stand by your guns, and we will do our best to meet your gas attacks with a barrage of facts and accomplishments.

Hurrah for the newspapers! Right or wrong, God bless 'em!

A Slam Or Two At Homo Sapiens.

If every kidnapper were promptly caught, stripped naked and boiled in oil, it would not end kidnapping. In fact, so preverse is the mentality of human beings, that such treatment might stimulate rather than discourage kidnapping.

If you handed every professional pauper in this country—meaning the families who have always been in county relief, through several generations back—the sum of $5,000, most of them would squander it and be back on the county within about three months.

If the average business man who has been skating along on thin financial ice for a few years would suddenly find himself in a position where he could and did make $10,000 a year, you would find him sad and complaining because he was not making $20,000.

When the price of corn, in years following the war, went up to $1.90 a bushel and wheat was well over $2.00 per bushel, the farmers were dissatisfied. They resented the government's wheat price fixing during the war. They wanted corn to go to at least $2.00 a bushel before selling.

The average newspaper man with a circulation of 1000 grieves and frets because it is not 2000; the family that lives in a modest modern home worth about $3,000 worries and laments the fact that the Jones' or some relatives live in a house that costs $10,000. The fellow who drives a Ford or a Chevrolet which gets him over the ground at 60 to 70 miles an hour develops an inferiority complex because some fellow has a more expensive car that does 80 and 90 an hour.

But what's the use of enumerating all of these things? You can go on and add a dozen or a hundred more glaring examples.

They that have, seek more. The worst punishment imaginable does not deter the crook from trying to add to his material wealth. The pauper takes what is given him and asks for and reaches for more.

We all do it. We grab what is in sight, we stretch and reach for more and ever more, until the Angel of death comes and grabs us and then we finish up in a little box or vault under about five feet of common dirt. And most of the folks who pay their last respects hurry home, to don their party clothes for an evening of bridge or other sort of enjoyment.

The great God of the Universe may at times be aggravated by the antics of His creation—but perhaps, more often, he is amused.

Editorial Shorts

The roosters still crow and the faithful hens cackle. But the poultry fanciers have, apparently, gone to rest. When the depression came along and people stopped paying high prices for pure bred cockerels and pullets, when settings of eggs were no longer in demand, the poultry breeders gave up in disgust.

They had done good work. The wave of enthusiasm during the 20's had improved the quality of farm flocks about 50% or better. It replaced many flocks of nondescript quality with good flocks of pure bred Plymouth Rocks, Orpingtons, Leghorns, etc.

Many of these farmers still carry on. They have found good quality poultry a steady source of income. What we are driving at is this: We want Webb Tichenor and Bert Martin, and Will Bolin, Walter Cowger, Ben Lester and a lot of these old-time fanciers to get their heads together and plan for a big annual Moultrie county poultry show next fall.

Now is the time to get started. Give folks the positive assurance that we will have a poultry show next fall and they can start culling breeding stock and getting ready to raise some high class birds for showing.

What say, boys? Does this look like a good suggestion or have you passed the stage where your old-time enthusiasm can be re-awakened?

Legislative Voters League—That is the high-sounding name of a bunch of fellows up in Chicago who presume to hand out information as to fitness of men for the Legislature.

In this district they have a special pet by the name of Roger F. Little, whom they most highly commend. Mr. Little has for a number of years been a representative for the district of which Moultrie county is a part. Do any of you Moultrie county folks know him personally? That is, aside from a few of you Republican politicians? You do not. He never knows Moultrie county is on the map except during an election and even then he high-hats this county. He is consistent and persistent in neglect of his Moultrie constituency.

The League gives Mr. Rigney a good send-off and gives Mr. Sturdyvin a pat on the back. To Everett Peters, Mr. Little's running mate, the League gives a well-placed and unmerited kick in the ribs.

May we ask, what do these Chicago Leaguers know about what the 24th Senatorial district needs in Springfield? It would be about as logical and effective for the Sullivan Community club to endorse candidates for office in Cook county.

(Note this: We regard the foregoing statements as true. Perhaps we may be accused of being peevish, for the League withheld its endorsement from us when we ran last spring. We did not ask for it; it lost us no votes. Through the years we have known of this League, its activities have seemed to us to be nothing more than mere pernicious, presumptuous, prevaricating piffle. So there!)

Never Explain in a political campaign; that is, if you are a candidate. If your friends want to do some explaining, O. K.

When a candidate starts explaining what he did or did not do, what he is doing or intends to do, he is on the defensive.

A smart campaigner tries to get his opponent on the defensive. He likes to get him worried and making explanations. The average man when he starts making explanations sooner or later becomes ridiculous. He hurts his chances. He dignifies falsehoods and campaign lies by paying some attention

Sunday School Lesson

by Rev. Charles E. Dunn

The Christian at Prayer
Lesson for October 21st.
Matt. 6:5-15.
Golden Text: Romans 12:12.

It is perfectly clear that to multitudes of people prayer has become unreal. The main reason for this is the temper of our day. Our age of speed and secular emphasis is not favorable to the practice of prayer. We belong, says an editorial writer "to a generation that believes, first in nothing, and second, in Self." Lyman Abbott wrote this parody of that model prayer of Jesus included in our lesson: "Our brethren who are upon the earth, hallowed be our name; our kingdom come; our will be done on earth; for there is no heaven." Well, if prayer is no more than self-communion, it loses a great deal of its reality and value. It becomes almost as absurd as the girl who, in her eagerness to be popular, "sat on the sand, and held her own hand."

There are, however, encouraging signs that people still believe in God, and still pray to Him, using the Lord's Prayer in the original form of our lesson text. "Time spent on the knees in prayer," said the late George David Stewart, an eminent surgeon, "will do more to remedy heart strain and nerve worry than anything else." And Dr. Elwood Worcester, so gifted in the cure of souls, testifies that when the pressure of his work has seemed beyond endurance, "reliance on spiritual forces has brought new and deeper understanding of difficult problems."

People, then, are still praying. Let us take comfort in that fact. Moreover we need not take too seriously the widespread opinion that there is no God who hears prayer. Therefore pray. Pray every day. Pray every hour. "Pray without ceasing," as Paul says. Pray as a happy privilege. Pray in secret as our Lord, in the lesson passage advises. And remember that prayer is not a monologue, but a conversation. God talks to us in true prayer.

AMERICA'S DISCOVERY LED TO EXCHANGE OF DISEASE

America was discovered almost exactly four hundred years too soon and as a result there was an exchange of disease plagues between the new world and the old which killed infinitely more people than fell in all the wars in which the United States has ever participated, according to a Columbus Day interview by Dr. Frank J. Jirka, state health director.

If Columbus could have postponed his visit for four centuries; if Louis Pasteur could have hastened his arrival or at least set back his monumental discoveries of disease germs by four hundred years, the American continent could have been made into a health garden of Eden, a veritable paradise of physical well being," the director declared.

"From the old world," said Dr. Jirka, "the explorers and immigrants brought with them to America the germs of tuberculosis, smallpox, cholera and malaria, four diseases, particularly the first-two, which not only decimated the Indians but were left a perpetual problem to all future generations of the white race. Later, yellow fever accompanied the slave trade to American shores, becoming a scourge of the first magnitude. Had modern knowledge made modern quarantine practices possible, those as well as many other diseases could have been kept out of North America."

"From the Indians the men in Columbus' crew took syphilis back to the old world. It spread in a great epidemic wave throughout Europe and ultimately to the four corners of the earth. Modern treatment of modern quarantine could have snuffed out the potential outbreak while still incipient and spared the world many headaches and empty purses."

"We have plenty of medical Columbuses today who are willing and ambitious to embark on the basis of sound knowledge into the almost unexplored world of disease prevention. What we need are a few Isabellas and Ferdinands to sponsor and finance those voyages which would open up a source of riches and wealth of life and health the like of which the world has never yet experienced."

"If Ah was you Ah'd order something else besides aigs," said the colored waiter. "This morning Ah wouldn't care to recommend the aigs."

"Why not?" asked Abner. "Aren't they fresh?"

"No, it's not that. Ah doesn't know whether they're fresh or not. To tell you the truth. We haven't got any," replied the waiter.

to them. That hurts him. A political canvass is like an advertising campaign. Know your facts, tell them to the people. Do not tell about the goods other stores may have. Tell about your own. If other folks rap you, answer by speaking a good word for them.

Don't explain. Your friends need no explanations. Opposition candidates and their friends would not believe you anyway. This advice we give gratis to candidates of all parties.

MRS. JENSEN ADDRESSED FRIENDS IN COUNCIL MON.

The Friends In Council club met Monday, October 15 at the home of Mrs. Clyde Harris. The program consisted of papers and talks on "Public Health and Child Welfare." Mrs. Frank Wolf read a paper on "Dental Care." Mrs. Dortha Jensen gave a talk on "Social Service Work in Moultrie County." Miss Ethel Wood read a paper on "Duties of Emergency Relief Nurse."

The next meeting of the Friends In Council will be Nov. 5th in the V. F. W. hall.

High School News

Margy Lou Scheer

The "Reds" of the "Red and Black Peppers" gave a short one act play "At the Lunch Hour" Thursday. The participants were: Marguerite Fulk, Marion Pifer, Vivian Loy and Loren Jenne. The students were so enviously watching Marion eat that they didn't seem to realize that there were other people on the stage.

There were about two thousand disappointed teachers at Mattoon Friday, Lowell Thomas, the well known radio news reporter, failed to make his appearance. The nasty man.

Our principal stars again. Mr. Scheer was made a member of the executive committee of the Eastern Division of Illinois teachers. It has a good sound but what is it for?

How could the STHS band march without a drum major? It would be impossible of course. That dignified job was given to the cheer leader not busy in the parade this Friday. She's busy now though. Figure it out, Marj, Loeb, Margy Scheer and Ann Reeser are cheer leaders. Marj is the Senior Queen and Ann is Sophomore queen. I refuse to draw a picture.

W. Bone of Maroa a former Sullivan superintendent gave an interesting speech here Monday. He showed the different communities centered around Sullivan. He almost got the Senior class a job. That of making a project showing the trade, school, religious and entertainment communities of our fair city.

The German band will be in operation this Thursday night. The band is composed of Harris Wood, Ralph Yancy, Harold Sumner, Bob Jenne, Dale Smith and Francis Van Gundy. The leader is the Honorable Adolph Feingenetch (so he says).

Blame the field decorations on Billie Winchester, Mary Emalyn Clark, Marion Pifer, Thomas Pickle, Doris Seitz, Omer Condo, Vincent Augustine and Rachel Richardson.

Be sure to dress up for the parade Friday afternoon. They are giving prizes. In class A.—The best clown act, one or two persons. The Brown Sisters are giving a prize. In class B.—the worst dressed person (nude barred) Mr. Dennis is giving $1.00. In class C the funniest family, McPheeters drug store is giving a five pound box of candy. In class D, best hobo, $1.50; class E, boy best dressed like a girl, Shanks & Carmine are giving a prize. In class F, novelty class. Prizes given not known but there'll be both."

All the students should study their actions in front of a mirror before coming to school this morning (Friday) As usual Mr. Abeil will take moving pictures of the students and the parade. Put on your best. You might "rate" Hollywood after all.

Vote for Betty Reeser, Homecoming Queen.

The program for the pep meeting Thursday night is this: Black Peppers (Jack Whitfield and Harold Shastean.

Judge Cochran, Vanous Franklin, Bill Bishop, Sylvan Baugher, Loren Kelly, Indian dance, gym girls; Loyle Davis and Frank Wolf.

The program will be interrupted with yells, songs and the German band. Don't forget the snake dance.

The menu for the homecoming supper is same a last year. In case you've forgotten: Escaloped chicken, potatoes au-gratin; baked beans, cabbage salad, fruit salad, cke, ice cream, coffee. Rolls, jelly, pickles, cream and sugar will be furnished.

Betty Reeser for Queen.

Sweaters and jackets have been used for sign boards out here this week. Chalk marks stay on "good" on wool. Just to be different, instead of the usual "Beat Arthur," Frank Schack has "Eat Arthur" on his sweater. It shouldn't be such a large mouthful at that.

Oh Hum—School began at 8:15 Wednesday morning, so we could go to the matinee of "Treasure Island." This Saturday the Freshmen will probably try to find a deserted island on the Okaw and try their luck on an unfound "Kidd" treasure.

—The Domestic Science club met at the home of Mrs. Eva Cummins Thursday.

Brandy Sauce

They tell about a Moultrie man who was sent as an attendant to an insane asylum. "We like you much better" said one of the inmates, "than the man who used to have your job." "Why?" asked the flattered young man. "I guess it's because you seem more like one of ourselves." —Adapted.

"Is your wife any better" asked the pastor of the carpenter who was working at a small building in the back yard.

"No" was the answer, "she ain't doin' so well." From an open window the patient could be heard in distress.

"Is that her coughing?" asked the pastor.

"Her coffin" said the carpenter with hammer uplifted, "I should say not! Don't you know an outdoor toilet when you see one?"

Reports say that in a late fall convention the mosquitoes decided they would all join the nudist colonies next year.

"Did you hear that in a recent building that H & H the contractors built, you could see through a solid brick wall in six places. "You don't say! I bet there was a lot of trouble about that."

"Oh, not at all. You see these six places were windows." Up in Arcola they tell this story: A man went to relief headquarters. He needed help. The young lady at the desk got an information blank and started filling in his answers. "How much back house rent do you owe?" she asked.

He blushed painfully and stammered. "How much" she demanded. "Well you see lady, we ain't lived for some time where there was any backhouse?" was embarrassed reply.

A bit o' philosophy: It makes your enemies glad to know they are making you unhappy.

Mother: "Daughter, that young man that comes to see you seems awfully fresh and spoiled." Daughter: "Don't worry mother. He isn't fresh any more and he won't spoil. I've canned him."

An exchange remarks: "Clothes make the man and reveal how a woman is made." "Taxes" said the teacher, "are of two kinds—direct and indirect. Can one of the pupils give me an example of indirect taxes?" "Yes sir" said Susie, "dog taxes." "And why do you think dog taxes are indirect?" "Because the dog does not have to pay them."

Every blossoming young girl envisions herself strolling forth into the Garden of Love and plucking one of the Flowers of Manhood.

Arthur, aged 7, had carefully bitten out all the soft pieces of his slice of toast, neatly piling the crusts on the edge of his plate. "When I was a little boy," said his father reprovingly, "I always ate my crusts."

"Did you like them?" asked Arthur.

"Of course I did," said the father, glibly. "Then you may have these," replied his son, graciously.

"Each pound of butter you brought me last week was about an ounce short in weight" complained the grocer.

"Now isn't that strange" said the farmer's wife. "You see I had mislaid one of the weights of the scales and so I used that pound package of sugar you sold me last week in place of it."

"The roosters may crow and make a lot of noise" says Congressman Dobbins, "but when the hens get noisy, you know there has been something done worth bragging about."

A tourist traveling through the Texas Panhandle got into conversation with an old settler and his son at a filling station.

"Looks as though we might have rain," said the tourist.

"Well, I hope so," replied the native, "not so much for myself as for my boy here. I've seen it rain."

'Tis not so much the amount of groceries that goes in the kitchen door, which makes a good housewife, as it is the small amount of groceries that find their way to the garbage can.

The way the dogs in our neighborhood carry on, these must be dog days.

Do you remember when the bell of the village boasted so slim a waist that her big-handed bell could encircle it with his hands?

We remember a case of where a child died in a family that lived in the woods near the river. The city relatives came out to take charge and what a time they had trying to put corsets on the two older sisters who had passed the age of 16! The scandalized city folks were horrified to think of "the shape" these girls were in. Now you tell us a "do you remember when?" story.

The greatest artist of all ages is October.

CHURCH NOTES

CATHOLIC CHURCH

Church services will be held at St. Columba's Catholic church on Sunday morning at 10 A. M.

METHODIST CHURCH

Paul M. Curry, Minister.

Evening service at 7:30 p. m. "Life's Greatest Power".

The fall rally of the Young people of this group will be held at Shelbyville next Monday evening at 6:30. The program will begin with a Pot luck supper.

Plans for the Mid-Year Institute are being made. The first meeting to be held Nov. 14.

You are always welcome at the services of this church.

BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. H. W. Ranes, Minister

The Bible school is seeking to take on new life and it is tremendously desirable to have you with us. We are planning and seeking efficiency. To some extent we have accomplished this. Won't you come and bring your family? There are classes for all ages. Come.

We are seeking to vitalize our prayer life by an implicit faith; an uncompromising belief that things asked for within the Will of God will surely come to pass. Come to Prayer meeting and believe with us that "Jesus answers prayer."

9:30 a. m. Bible School.
7:00 p. m. B. Y. P. U. service.
8:00 p. m. Preaching service.
7:00 p. m. Monday, orchestra practice.

7:00 p. m. Tuesday, prayer meeting.
8:00 p. m. Tuesday, choir practice.

We believe the Gospel Message.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH

C. E. Barnett, Pastor

The International convention of Disciples of Christ is being held in Des Moines, Iowa continuing over Sunday the 21st. The pastor, with Mrs. Barnett, is in attendance. There will therefore be no preaching services at the First Christian church next Sunday, either morning or evening.

The Sunday school will convene at the usual hour, 9:30 a. m. We are urging support of every regular scholar by attendance. The pastor hopes to have a special message in the hands of the Superintendent to be read at this session. He will consider it a personal favor if you are present to hear it. Communion will be held at the close of the Sunday School hour.

At five o'clock p. m. there will be a vesper service under the auspices of the missionary organization of the church. Sunday is the sixtieth anniversary of the beginning of the Woman's Missionary Society and this service is in commemoration of that event. It is open to the public.

No Christian Endeavor meeting will be held Sunday evening. The choir will meet for rehearsals at the usual hours on Wednesday evening, Oct. 24. All regular services of the church will be held on Sunday, Oct. 28.

"The right life is both the test and the fruit of religion." Go to church.

THE GOSPEL MISSION

Over Post Office.

9:30 a. m. Sunday school.
7:30 p. m.—Evangelistic services Sunday.

7:30 p. m.—Bible Study, Thursday.

You are always welcome here. John 7:38 "He that believeth on me, as the scripture hath said, out of his belly shall flow rivers of living water."

It is not for me to choose, I have nothing to say, as to whether there shall flow out from my being a river, for out from every life there flows an influence like unto a river, but it is for me to choose as to what kind of water flows out in this river, whether an influence for good or for evil. The scripture goes on to explain that this river of living water, is the spirit which they that believe on him (Jesus) should receive. The promise is to everyone that will believe. We also notice this is a flowing river, the waters are alive, moving, active.

We know what the irrigation waters do when they flow out to the parched fields, they bring life and refreshment to the half dead vegetation. We also know what the dead inactive waters do in the pond in the field, they breed tadpoles, mosquitoes and other troublesome insects.

If there is certainly waters flowing out from my life, then what kind of waters are they? Living waters that carry refreshing and good cheer, or are they dead waters that breed unwholesome and harmful things? The influence from our lives may be encouraging and helpful or it may be discouraging and harmful. Which shall it be? It is my privilege to choose.

TEA AND MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER FOR BRIDE

A tea, followed by a miscellaneous shower was given Friday evening in honor of Mrs. Lloyd Hawbaker.

Those present were: Margaret Garrett, Marie Alumbaugh, Velva Steele, Jennie Seitz, Alta Elder Wilma Rhoades, Joye and Pauline Wallace, Anna Belle DeVore, Claudia Hawkins, Juanita Shirey, Ruth Stearns, Genevieve Drew and Louise; and Doris Smith.

Opal Burcham Is Now Mrs. F. Brown

One of the pretty fall weddings was that of Miss Opal Burcham of Allenville and Frank Brown of Kankakee.

The wedding took place at the St. John's Evangelical church at Kankakee at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, Oct. 14. Rev. H. Meier officiated, in the presence of about twenty-five friends and relatives. The single ring ceremony was used. The attendants were Mary Dion and Joe Dorris of Kankakee.

The bride was attired in a turquoise blue, transparent velvet dress with accessories to match. She carried a bouquet of cream colored American tea roses. The bridesmaid wore a brown dress with harmonizing accessories and carried pink tea roses.

After the ceremony a dinner was served in the home of groom's sister, Mrs. Myron Glade. The house was prettily decorated with fall flowers for the occasion.

Mrs. Brown is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Burcham of Allenville and is a graduate of the Sullivan township high school and attended the Eastern Illinois State Teachers college. She taught school four years in Moultrie and Shelby counties.

Mr. Brown is a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Brown of Buncombe and is a graduate of Anna High school. He has been employed by the Kankakee State hospital for several years.

The couple departed for a week's wedding trip to points of interest in southern Illinois and Missouri. They will reside in Kankakee where both have employment.

TRAIL'S END

By Agnes Louise Provost

TENTH INSTALLMENT

"Certainly, if you wish," Mrs. Duane agreed politely. "Thank you for the book, my dear. As for your driving, I am sure that it is better than having no one with you but that new chauffeur. I don't like his looks, Cleo."

"Oh, I know Kennedy looks wicked. I think he isn't used to this kind of work, and taking orders from women makes him sulky. I think he'll soon be settled down, for he seems to be very much interested in one of your maids. I'm sure I caught sight of him waiting outside when I came tonight."

"I must look into that," Mrs. Duane's voice was edged. "What's the use? They'll only deny it," Cleo shrugged lazily. "Dear me, I wonder we're going to see the clandestine meeting. How exciting!"

Down the shadowed path a girl's figure moved quickly. She skirted the far end of the garden and went with slower steps toward the hedge. The hedge was lower at that end of the garden. On the other side of it a man nodded slightly and sauntered along toward the rear gate. The girl in the garden followed him.

Cleo was on her feet, breathing apologies.

"Oh, Mrs. Duane, please forgive me. I didn't dream—I didn't mean to intrude like this. I'll never forgive myself. I'll go now."

"My dear Cleo, you have not intruded in the least. I shall speak to Bertha, of course."

Grey-faced in the darkness, Mrs. Duane held her head high. No one, not even Cleo Pendleton, should be allowed to discuss this shameful thing with her.

Cleo grimaced slightly, unseen. The lights flashed on. But after Cleo had gone she plunged into the room in darkness again and stood rigidly unyielding.

"My son's wife!" Her face was white in the darkness.

Barry was reading when his mother entered the library.

"Still up? But I suppose you had callers."

"It was Cleo," said his mother briefly. "Barry, I wish you would come with me to my rooms. Quickly."

"Of course, I will. Anything wrong there?"

"Everything is wrong," said Mrs. Duane bitterly. "I have had the humiliation of seeing my son's wife steal out through the garden at night to meet another man."

"Mother!" There was a note in Barry's voice that she had never heard before. "I am afraid," he said carefully, "that I shall have to ask you to explain that—extraordinary statement."

"I have told you. Come and see for yourself!"

"Nancy and I don't spy on each other. Besides, she went to her room with a headache. Why do you assume that it was she?"

"Our maids do not appear in evening dress."

"Nancy gave Bertha one of hers last week. Someone had spilled coffee on it."

"It was not Bertha," said Mrs. Duane coldly. "I know it was Anne. The man was obviously waiting for her. I did not see his face, but I have the unpleasant knowledge that a common chauffeur—that insolent creature who drives Cleo—was hanging around outside only a little while before."

"You didn't even see them meet?" He laid a pleading hand on her arm. "Mother, why can't you be kinder to Nancy? Do you think that it has been pleasant for me to see that my mother refuses to accept my wife as her daughter?"

"Do you think that it is pleasant for your mother to know that this place is buzzing with sordid innuendo because Barry Duane's wife never refers to a single day of her life before she came to that barbarous place where you met her?"

"And who has been spreading such precious gossip as that? The moment of pleading was gone. For the first time Mrs. Duane was afraid of the thing she had done."

"I overheard it," she said with dignity. "The very way it was said showed that it was common gossip."

"Who said it?" His eyes were blazing.

"How should I know? It is enough that it could be said at all." He did not answer immediately.

"I suppose it is impossible to escape the malice of other women's tongues."

"It is useless to argue with you. But I know what I have heard and what I have seen tonight. Once more, Barry, will you come and see for yourself."

"I will not."

Mrs. Duane went stiffly back to the door.

"You are your own master, and I am only your mother, pushed aside for a woman you scarcely know. But the time will come when your eyes will be opened. And you will regret this night as long as you live."

For several minutes after his mother left him Barry paced gloomily up and down the library. The whole thing was sickening, and that his mother should have been the one to bring this precious story to him had left him worried and depressed. Why were women so hard on each other? Even his mother.

The trouble probably was that rancorous gossip. He flushed darkly at the recollection. So Nancy's name was being bandied about like that? A whispering devil of suspicion slyly jogged his elbow and was thrust out of the way.

He could easily settle this. All he needed to do was to go upstairs and look in at Nancy. He smiled to himself and swung quickly toward the stairs.

Barry let himself in quietly. Anne was not there.

He turned toward the door blindly. There was the slight sound of its opening. Anne stood there, staring at him.

"Oh—Barry!" She said it breathlessly. "You startled me."

His eyes swept over her swiftly, suspiciously, and dropped to the slim perfection of her slippers. On the side of one of them, marring its delicate sheen, was a long earth stain.

The blood sang in his ears again so that he scarcely heard his own voice. "Anne, where have you been?"

Before that hard note she stopped short.

"Why, Barry, what is the matter?"

"Where have you been at this hour of the night?"

"At this hour? Why, it isn't late. I've been in the garden, Barry, what is the matter?"

"Within the past half hour I have had to listen to a sickening story that you were meeting somebody's chauffeur out in the garden. She felt suddenly sick and tired. Barry's mother must have seen her and carried the story to him in bitter triumph. Who else hated her enough to do that? She wanted to tell him the whole hateful story, but she must not."

"Somebody must have been willing to carry tales about me to have hurried the news to you as quickly as that." She saw him flush, but she went on bitterly. "And whether I was there or not, I won't talk about it! I won't! I'll say things that we'll both be sorry for." Her hands went up to her throbbing temples. They really did throb now. "Ring for Bertha, please. And stay until she comes."

He looked at her uneasily. He rang hastily and came back to her. "I'm sorry if you're not well," he said jerkily. "Perhaps I'd better send for Dr. Carmichael."

"No, please. It's only my head."

They waited for Bertha in uncomfortable silence. There was a tap on the door, but it was Ellen's broad face which appeared.

"I rang for Bertha. Isn't she here?"

Ellen was a new maid. She grinned companionably.

"Yes'm, in a way, but it's her night out. She's been to a party. Ma'am, lookin' as pretty as a picher in the grand dress ye give her, and this good half hour she's been standin' at the end of the drive sayin' good-night to the young fella from Quinn's Garage. Is there anything I can do, Ma'am?"

"Bring me some ice cubes, Ellen. I have a headache."

The door closed on Ellen. Anne scarcely breathed.

"Nancy, forgive me! I've been a brute and I ought to be kicked for it."

He drew her around with coaxing hands.

"Don't you know I love you, Barry? There isn't anybody else but you. There couldn't be."

"I know," he muttered. "It's because you're so much to me, Nancy. I think I'd go mad if you ever let me down."

She tried not to shiver, quaking a little at the narrowness of escape. Luck had been kind to Cleo. Mrs. Duane, outraged and bitter, would go straight to Barry with her story and Cleo felt brightly contented as she snuggled down behind the wheel.

The driveway wound toward the end of the grounds in a double curve. The lights of the roadster swung around and picked up two startled figures, hastily backing out of their flaring range. One of them was Bertha.

"Alibi!" Cleo said under her breath. "Damn!"

thing about racing cars?" "A little," Kennedy's eyes narrowed slightly. He hesitated, and the desire to show that he had not always been at an employer's beck and call was too much for him. "I know their points pretty well," he added carelessly. "I've driven my own now and then."

"Really?" Cleo smiled encouragingly. "That was before you—er—gave up the Forty-Ninth Street house, wasn't it?"

All the lines of Kennedy's face sharpened. "About that time," he said briefly. "So you've been looking up my record?"

"It wasn't necessary, Kennedy. You're quite well known."

He stared back at her, suspicious and half truculent. "Well, you know, I didn't try to get the job under an assumed name, anyway."

"Oh yes, I'm perfectly satisfied, Kennedy. But of course I know that a man of your experience isn't taking a chauffeur's position except for some special reason. Does John Gage know that you are in Granleigh?"

It must have been a sharp jolt for Kennedy, but this time his face—the gambler's face, after all—was absolutely expressionless.

"That's too deep for me," he answered indifferently. "If you mean the big fellow, I don't know what he knows. I've never met him."

"Not even that night last May, when this happened?" Cleo's hand rested for a moment against the filmy turquois of her gown, just below her heart.

"You've had a busy day," he said dryly.

"Things have a habit of coming my way, Kennedy. And I know you went out tonight to keep an appointment with Mrs. Barry Duane, and just where you met her . . . and by the way, how much she looks like Miss Curtis! You're a wonderful driver, Kennedy, but you haven't any intention of staying on here as a chauffeur. You're here for money, Kennedy, big money. I'm afraid the courts would call it blackmail."

Kennedy listened, outwardly unmoved but taking lively account of this new situation.

"What's your game?" he asked bluntly.

"I'm not playing, Kennedy," Kennedy took the hint.

"My error." He temporized astutely. "But I got the idea that you wanted me to do something for you."

"Perhaps you could." She considered him thoughtfully. "There is someone in Granleigh whose presence is going to bring danger and unhappiness to some close friends of mine. Some day there will be a scandal, and she will be forced to leave in disgrace. It would be better for everybody concerned if she went away quietly, before her—her past became known."

"You want me to get Duane's wife out of the way?"

He had an unpleasant way of stripping facts naked and making her look at them.

"I wish her to go away. Alone." "Reno, or a Mexican divorce?"

WILL HAVE BUMPER OATS CROP IF FROST IS LATE

A. H. McFarland, of near Oakwood, is one Vermillion county farmer who is fervently hoping that the frost will be delayed for another two weeks.

Mr. McFarland sowed 80 acres of oats last spring that was pretty well ruined by the drouth and chinch bugs. At harvest time he did not even bother to cut his oats crop.

Last week he went over his oats and had a very pleasant surprise. An unusually good stand of volunteer oats had come up, grown rapidly, developed with the late summer rains and now is heading out.

If this second crop, which came from volunteer seeding from the first crop, ripens before the frost, Mr. McFarland believes he will have the best 1934 crop of oats in Vermillion county.

More Moultrie Men Sent to CCC Camps

Fourteen Moultrie county young men were accepted for CCC enlistment Thursday.

George Karl of Dalton City, Paul McCoy, Allenville; Ora Fultz, Sullivan; James Hout, Lovington; Roy Hutchcraft, Arthur; Arthur Lloyd Davis Bethany; Martin Howard and Wilson Mummel of Sullivan were sent to Ft. Sheridan on Thursday afternoon.

Speaking of Sports

A bitter rivalry of many years standing will be renewed here this Friday afternoon when Coach C. E. Dennis unleashes his wrathful Redskins for their big homecoming battle with the Arthur eleven. The shelling will start at 2:30. Miss Scheer will provide you with details of the two-day event.

Although the Reds have been slapped about in each of their four previous engagements, they have shown potentialities and, after all but having the daylight kicked out of them up at Atwood, are likely to explode in all their pent up power against Arthur, sort of shooting the works, so to speak.

They have all that is to be desired in an aerial attack so that perhaps will be the channel thru which they will seek a smashing homecoming triumph which would just about compensate for their previous failures.

—S O S—

But if it is to be a wide open affair, Arthur will be very much in the running. They have a deceptive and varied attack and boast a repertoire replete with trick plays. The Knights are profuse in their use of lateral passes and frequently resort to such thrilling plays as the old but still used Illinois flea-flicker. Only last Saturday the Illinois brought out this aged formation for the winning touchdown against Ohio State.

Mentor Coates has a small but elusive backfield comprising Capt. Sam Felming, Reese Watkins Bradford and Norris and a tower of strength at the flanks where Delbert Taylor and Charles Vandever hang out.

Lovington is showing a revived enthusiasm in athletics this year what with an unusual large enrollment of 146 and a fine, neatly-attired 44-piece band.

Punts and Passes—"People," said Eddit Jacquin, "buy newspapers for many different reasons."

"Yes," rejoined Clarence Rodgers the Atwood coach. "I would never purchase one without comics."

Rupert Thompson of Lincoln along with 29 other members of the Boston Braves, received $252 as his share of the world series pie.

The resignation of Milt Olander of Rockford, Bob Zuppke's first lieutenant, is effective Feb. 1 at which time the large begoggled gentleman will accept a position as director of recreation for the Owens-Illinois glass company, a corporation which two summer ago was favored by such workmen as your Pete McDavid and Bill Dwyer. Olander's salary will be larger than that paid any Big Ten coach.

Frankie Schack is just about Sullivan's No. 1 cinema fan, declaring that he would much rather sit in on a screen production than to participate in a basketball game on his warmest night.

Recently he took over a Decatur Herald route so that he might secure free ducats by putting out small hand bills along with his papers.

CONG. DOBBINS MAIN SPEAKER OCT. 29TH RALLY

forward eagerly to doing this part of the evening's entertainment.

Will it cost something? No sir-ree! Not a single red cent to you. The committee in charge has arranged to pay all the refreshment bills. You eat and drink and enjoy yourself.

If I do this, I'll go home and can't sleep. So say you, but wait one minute. Before you go home to roost there is something else. It will settle your supper. It will make you feel like eating more.

What's that? Dancing. Since Happy Days are Here Again the American people indulge more and more in expressions of merriment. The boys have secured Dick Cise's 10-piece Champaign orchestra for this dance and unless you want your feet to get the better of you and carry you out on to the floor for some tepsichorean gyrations, don't hang around.

But know this. The committee wants you to stay. It wants you to dance. Get the spirit of the thing. The spirit is what you will enjoy most.

May we finish this with a story which Ike Urquhart of Tuscola tells:

People who had moved down to sunny Georgia thought it would be nice to send their pastor and wife some peaches. To make sure the peaches would not spoil, they put them in a container, and filled the thing with good grain alcohol. It reached the good dominie and his wife. They sent grateful acknowledgments. "We surely enjoyed the peaches, but what we enjoyed most was the spirit in which they were sent."

So get the spirit of this old-time rally. Turn out. Limber up and don't act and look so petrified.

The rally is planned for two purposes: to show you a good time and give you the opportunity of hearing Congressman Dobbins.

BETHANY NEWS

(By Jim Scott)

Stolen Car Recovered

A Chrysler coupe belonging to Clyde Speir, which was stolen here late Monday night, was recovered Tuesday afternoon in Mattoon.

Mr. Speir, who has the contract for drilling the wells for the water works, left the car parked in front of the Frank Connor home here he is staying. Nightwatchman Sheffield Marlow who was sitting in front of the town hall saw a car drive up in front of the Connor house with one of the two occupants getting out and entering Speir's car. The other pushed the car with his— a Chrysler sedan— to get it started. Mr. Marlow gave chase, but on seeing the car sped out of his territory west of town he came back and called Sheriff Halac Lansden, who along with deputy Charles Lansden finally picked up the trail which led to the abandoned car. Apparently the No. 2 auto in the mad relay to Mattoon had made a hasty trip for when found the bearings were burned out.

High School Notes

Miss Kathleen Smith will take the members of the Girls' Athletic association to Decatur Saturday, where at Johns Hill high school they will join with groups from other schools of the district for one of Mr. Ihsaa's play days. The various events and contests will begin in the morning to be resumed in the afternoon following a noon luncheon.

The annual Prince of Peace declamation contest will be held Friday afternoon, Nov. 9 in the high school auditorium. The following students are entrants: Gwendolyn Bell, Betty Stewart, Mabel Bunning, Faye Reed and John Baird, who last year placed in the humorous reading contest of the county meet held at Windsor.

The newly organized orchestra and the glee clubs under the direction of Miss Irene Oehmke, will furnish music for the Armistice program.

H. A. Bone of Aurora, a former Bethany resident, gave an assembly talk Tuesday morning on "Community Centers."

One dozen new desks were placed in the study hall last Saturday to care for the increased enrollment.

Patrick Cordray is the new librarian in charge of the reference library in the alcove.

Next Tuesday evening Moultrie county pedagogues will assemble in Lovington for their annual banquet and entertainment.

Unbeaten after five contests at home, the Bethany eleven drew a number of foreign coaches, principals and players to their Lovington engagement last Friday night. Some of those sighted in the largest crowd of the year were Coach Harris Mayes, Moweaqua; Coach Frank Chevesky, Assumption; Coach Harry Carlock, Hammond; Prin. R. A. Scheer, Sullivan; the Niantic coach, whose name has slipped out of our vocabulary; and Coach Wolfe and his great all-around athlete, George Waller, Jr., of Maroa.

NEW DEAL NOTES

Convincing proof of the economic improvement in this country was found in an Associated Press dispatch from Washington last week, which told how the income of the United States government was 271 million dollars ahead of 1933. The largest part of this increase was from the income tax receipts, indicating that the income of the people at large was much higher.

Illinois farmers can thank Governor Henry Horner for looking after their interests. He co-operated with the federal government in obtaining $30,000,000 in corn loans; established a State wide farm debt adjustment program through which more than 3,000 farm homes were saved from foreclosure; expedited distribution of $38,000,000 under corn-hog contracts for farmers, and aided 40,000 soybean growers of the State by specifying soybean oil in paints purchased for the use of the State.

Qualified Men The Democratic State ticket this fall is composed of men who are qualified for the positions they seek. John Stelle, candidate for State Treasurer, served two years as assistant State Treasurer and has served nearly two years as assistant State Auditor. Because of this service he is thoroughly familiar with the Treasurer's office and will be able to administer it ably.

John A. Wieland, candidate for Superintendent of Public Instruction, is a trained educator. He has taught in almost every kind of school and is the author of several books on education.

Martin A. Brennan and Michael L. Lee, candidates for Congressmen-at-large, are both men of long legislative experience. Mr. Brennan served one term in congress and was also a member of the State legislature of Illinois. Mr. Lee served for 16 years in the Illinois legislature and was minority leader of that body.

Four candidates who are better qualified would be hard to find.

A comparison of conditions in 25 leading industries reporting to the National Industrial Conference board for August "Shows that 5.2 per cent more persons were employed whose earnings per hour averaged 16.0 per cent higher and whose earnings per week averaged 23 per cent higher than a year ago. Total payroll disbursements were 14 per cent larger in August of this year than in the same month last year."

The Democratic administration under the leadership of President Roosevelt has refinanced 506,000 farms, thus saving one-half million farm homes.

The Constitution Bruce A. Campbell, Chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, says in his speeches:

"Among our objectives I place the security of the men, women and children of the Nation first."

"The Constitution, for which the Democratic Party has always fought and always will fight, does not need defense by any group of repudiated Republicans. The Constitution has not been violated one bit by the Roosevelt administration. The United States Supreme Court, every member of which, with the exception of two, was appointed under Republican administrations, has not declared unconstitutional one single, solitary measure enacted by the last Congress and sponsored by the Roosevelt administration. "The Constitution is merely being used by our political enemies to lead behind."

"Every progressive, liberal, humanitarian law ever proposed has had to face the cry of 'unconstitutionality'. It is the same old cry—the cry of reactionaries who always put property rights above human rights."

Figures on the poll, conducted among Illinois farmers as to whether or not they favor continuation of the corn-hog adjustment programs next year show that the farmers voted 2 to 1 in favor of the continuation of these programs.

Protection of policy holders as well as agents is the aim of Governor Henry Horner in his insistence that the insurance code of Illinois be revised, and a new code will be presented to the General Assembly in January for approval. A legislative commission is assisting the State Department of Insurance. Ernest Palmer, director, in drafting the code, and advice is being given by the Illinois Chamber of Commerce, University of Illinois experts and the Illinois State Bar association. Under the plan, obsolete laws will be deleted and the statutes strengthened.

The so-called Republican leaders in Illinois, realizing the hopelessness of their campaign here, have now imported Hamilton Fish from New York to help them out. Mr. Fish, it will be remembered, was one of Mr. Hoover's closest advisers. Mr. Knox, a Chicago newspaper publisher, who was another close associate of Mr. Hoover, is also to be one of their big speaking guns. Mr. Knox went down to Maine to help them out and made a rousing Republican speech there. The next day Maine went Democratic.

The primary purpose of President Roosevelt and the National Administration is best set forth in the President's own words. A very clear exposition of his broad policy is found in the President's message to Congress on the 8th of June, 1934, when he said:

4-H CLUB NEWS

CLUB EARNS $500 TRIP The Tavenor 4-H club of Fort Bend County, Texas, numbering 32 members, raised nearly $500 to send a delegation of five of its members and its leader to the World's Fair in Chicago last summer.

The trip was conceived by their energetic leader, Mrs. Sadie Buls, who had made the group the outstanding club in the county in the four years she had led it. They started to earn the money nearly a year before, after the boy president of the club returned from the exposition with glowing accounts of what he had seen. Determined to keep up the record of her club in the county, Mrs. Buls calculated the chance of making the trip would be the greatest incentive she could offer the members to make the best possible showing in their projects.

At first this plucky leader met with little encouragement. "You'll all get lost," said one. "You never can earn the money," said another. Others as much as said it was a wild dream. Mrs. Buls was used to meeting obstacles. She saw a chance of making money by taking charge of the food concession at the American Legion barbecues which were held at intervals in a park near her rural community. She got the job and organized it on a business basis. Her club members were to supply as much of the "eats" as possible, and take pay in tickets for barbecue plates.

An enterprising merchant saw the chance of helping the club and himself by agreeing to supply all the coffee free. Twice a big cattleman gave the club a plump young steer for the barbecue. Other times the club supplied chickens, and once lamb. The eats were the best the Legion ever had, and attracted so large an attendance that as many as 300 to 400 plates were sold. The price varied with the meat and season, but usually ran around 30 to 40 cents.

Another scheme was to take from 15 to 20 food boxes to a large town and sell them for $1.00 each. The Houston Light and Power Company gave the club the use of a front office to sell the boxes. Special care was taken to fill the boxes with only select food and prepare it attractively. When all but a small amount was earned, friends of the club made up the difference.

We Saw the IRON HORSE overtake the PONY EXPRESS. When the transcontinental railway was completed in 1869 the pony express became colorful history. The railways soon made possible the exchange of food between the scattered sections of the country and by bringing the states closer together, made it essential that some company distribute food efficiently on a national scale. Railway building in the 70's made such an organization at A&P more necessary than ever before.

Atwood Hands Reds Fourth Loss, 45 To 0

Okaw Valley Champs Show Powerful Backfield With Gregg and Cullison Running Wild.

(By Jim Scott)

Atwood—If the road to glory leads to a touchdown, Atwood high is certainly basking in its sunning rays this week following last Friday's fiasco which saw the mighty Rajahs, champions of the Okaw Valley conference, traverse that route seven times in trampling the Sullivan eleven under one of the most humiliating defeats a Dennis-coached team has ever experienced.

The score was 45 to 0, and at no time were the Reds able to cope with the hard-running, deft-blocking steamroller tactics employed by their heavier opponents.

It was Atwood's second victory in defense of their Valley crown and Sullivan's second loss in conference competition. The latter has also dropped two non-conference games.

The Rajahs, to scramble an old sports phrase, went on to add injury to insult and Frank Schack, Vandever, Loren Jenne and a few others emerged from the grilling with bruised and somewhat discolored faces. Nor did the Tribe enter the tiff in the best of physical trim. Lawrence Filson was out with a sprained knee while Jack Condon remained at home to work in a sorghum mill.

The Redskins seemed to be playing with a reticency and restraint as is shown in the fact they suffered not one single penalty. Their tackling was not deadly and more often than not the ball carrier spun and continued on for sizeable gains.

Cullison Runs Wild
The Dennis men were pointed to stop Paul (Dusty) Gregg and although utterly unsuccessful in their quest were even more of a bust at halting his dark-complexioned half back mate, Frank Cullison, a 175-pound slightly bow-legged husky.

Atwood's plays lacked deception. They were merely power plays, the most effective of which was a simple formation that found Cullison receiving the ball from about 10 yards behind the line. With good blocking he merely charged obliquely and by sheer strength and driving power stormed outside a tackle and carried on until he was brought down by several members of the secondary.

Dusty Gregg, who has also participated in athletics at Lovington and Arthur high, staged most of his long runs from a plain everyday formation. Standing only a few steps behind center he received the ball and then would dart through an aperture between the tackle and end.

Reds Muff Chance
Sullivan's lone scoring opportunity came, and also went, early in the final period with the Reds trailing, 39 to 0. Robinson ran Atwood's kickoff back to his own 38 and on the next play skipped along the northern sidelines to the Atwood 44-yard line. The two teams switched goals for the final quarter, then McLaughlin gained three yards in two plays at center.

Robinson was run out of bounds on the 30-yard line and on the ensuing play he pitched to Schack, who ran six yards, placing the ball on the 19-yard stripe. Robinson picked a yard and then he bolted another pass to Schack good for 10 yards. Jay tossed Robinson for a four-yard loss. Murray was downed on the 8-yard line after intercepting Vandever's pass.

Gregg lost three yards after fumbling a bad pass from center, but Cullison kicked out of danger. The Reds did get back to the 26 yard marker only to see Bennett step in to intercept Robinson's pass ruining their last chance to avert a goose-egg.

Gregg's Away!
And here, dear patrons of the Progress, are the various ways in which Coach Clarence Rodgers' lads amassed their huge total:

Sullivan received the opening kickoff and after running a few plays Robinson punted to Atwood's 40, where, on the Rajahs' first play of the tilt, Gregg, from punt formation, broke off left tackle, charged free of the secondary and sprinted on to a touchdown. Bennett's attempted pass for point was smeared. Atwood 6, Sullivan 0.

After the Reds had piled up another Rajah threat the victors again swept down the field with Cullison racing 30 yards for the score. However the play was disallowed and Atwood penalized for illegal use of the hands. Gregg then heaved one of his southpaw passes to Cullison, who received it along the northern sideline and jogged the remaining 25 yards to the goal. Gregg plunged for point. Atwood 13; Sullivan 0.

In the second quarter Riddle recovered McLaughlin's fumble on Sullivan's 17 yard line. McLaughlin tossed Bennett for a three yard loss, but Cullison plowed through center for nine. Bennett made it a first down on the 11, Auten added two more and then Cullison sped around right end for his second touchdown. Bennett's place kick was bad. Atwood 19; Sullivan 0.

Help! Help!
Just before the end of the first half, Bennett rushed around right end and, with the aid of expert blocking, journeyed 70 yards to plant the ball behind the goal line. Gregg bored through center for point. Atwood 26; Sullivan 0.

Early in the third period Murray, Atwood's left end, came in with a rush to intercept Schack's lateral pass and then, with a clear field before him, tore over 60 yards of territory for the score. Cullison hit center for point. Atwood 33; Sullivan 0.

Cullison sprang outside right tackle just before the third period closed and, wiggling free of the secondary, traveled 18 yards for his final touchdown. But his plunge for point fell short. Atwood 39; Sullivan 0.

The Rajahs only score of final quarter came just 20 seconds before the final gun when Gregg filtered through the left side of his line and outmaneuvered a cluster of red-shirts for the seventh Atwood touchdown. His pass for point was incomplete. Atwood 45; Sullivan 0.

Although Sullivan was badly out-gained from scrimmage they did succeed in producing six first downs to Atwood's surprisingly low total of 13.

Bethany Takes No. 5, Routing Lovington, 21-0

Orange's Victory Again Features Long End Runs by Two Fleet Halfs, Melvin Weakly and Harold Moon.

Bethany — The flashy Bethany eleven showed a rank ingratitude for a friendly gesture on the part of Lovington high school here last Friday night. After Principal Kenneth Henninger's 44-piece band had been kind enough to throw off a half-hour's worth of assorted collegiate airs, the Cunningham troupes fled out on the field to rout the Lovington eleven, 21 to 0, by a series of sweeping end runs.

But Lovington's headache was not so severe as the score might indicate, for their commission for playing here instead of in their own balliwick netted them 50 per cent of what turned out to be one of Bethany's largest gates of recent years.

The victory enabled Orange to remain undefeated after five successive combats at home.

Halfs Feature
With speed as the keynote of their attack Bethany took the offense at the start and managed to retain possession of the ball most of the time. Not once did the visitors muster a serious threat.

Although Tom Weakly tallied two of the locals' three touchdowns on end-around plays, it was his cousin, Melvin Weakly, and the latter's associate half, Harold Moon, who really stood out. These two speedsters are to the local aggregation what Carter and Purvis are to Purdue, Moon operating at left tackle and end while Weakly's high knee action usually prevails at the opposite side of the line.

Moon Starts It
The touchdown twins started their romping early in the opening period and with some help from Fullback McCord carted the ball up from their own 25 to the visitors' 18-yard line. McCord crashed center for three and then Moon whisked around left end for the touchdown. Weakly knifed at center for extra point.

The Moon-Weakly combination renewed its bombardment in the second period, cutting outside the tackles and trotting around the ends to bring the ball to Lovington's 22-yard marker. Moon whirled through the line for five yards and McCord picked up two more for a first down. Then Tom Weakly who was recently given a starting assignment, came loping around right end for the second touchdown. Moon passed to Mathias for point.

Bandy Shakes Loose
Fay Bandy, Bethany's reserve half who won quite a reputation as a springer at Hammond high, entered the fray in the second half and was soon away on a dazzling 45-yard touchdown run. But ball was called back and placed on the 25-yard line, where the fier was alleged to have stepped out.

But Bethany tripped right back to put over their third touchdown. Following a short advance through the line, Weakly spurred around end for 10 yards. Then from the 24-yard stripe T. Weakly, the end, raced around his opposite flank to cross the goal line untouched. Cousin Melvin made it 21 to 0 on a job at center.

Bethany's superiority is clearly shown in the first down statistics, which credits them with 19 as compared to Lovington's one.

BROWN SHOE CO. SHOWS ITS FINANCIAL SOUNDNESS

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 13—Retirement by the Brown Shoe Company of St. Louis of 1375 shares of preferred capital stock was announced by John A. Bush, president of the company. This represents the company's retirement requirements through the year 1935.

Bush explained that outstanding preferred stock had been reduced from 33,000 to 31,625 shares by the move, which adheres to an established Brown Shoe Company Policy of annually retiring more than the 1000 required shares.

"The value of shares outstanding is at the present time quoted at $3,874,062.50," Bush said. "At the high point there were 60,000 shares with a par value of $6,000,000. At the present rate, the company will have retired all current issues of preferred stock by 1957."

Clever Comedy At High School Tonight

(By Lucile Coolman)

The Home coming play, "Pay as You Enter" is another of those clever comedies written by Charles George. No doubt the public recalls the popular success of last year's Homecoming play, "Digging up the Dirt." This year's play promises to meet the approval of its audience equally as well as last year's production.

Mr. George's plays are well known high school productions, and this particular play is judged by critics to be his best comedy. Behind the humor of the lines and situations is a light satirical touch which gives the play an unusual freshness and sparkle.

The scene of action takes place in a comfortably furnished apartment in New York City. The apartment has recently been rented by Princess Gloria Goldenheim and Sonia Popoff, her maid, both who have left the Kingdom of Sylvania and who have come to America with hopes of finding a free land where everyone is equal, but things are not quite what they imagined. Both find that Americans like cash in advance. This complicates matters for what is one to do when he realizes that he has but nine dollars between him and starvation. Too, the grocery bill and the rent are long past due. To whom can these two young ladies make their wants known and receive financial assistance.

The Princess finally decides as a last resort to allow her jewels to be sold to solve their financial problems but here again arises trouble for they have been stolen.

Besides financial difficulties these two foreign refugees have equally amusing difficulties with their apartment accommodations and their neighbors.

June Yarnell takes the part of the princess very aptly. Even though she has taken leading parts in many other school plays, in none of them has she handled her part more cleverly than in this. Eathel Martin, even though this is her first opportunity to appear in a high school play, takes the part of the maid well. Amanda Tichenor impersonates the "busy body" apartment neighbor, Mrs. Nanette Muggins who sees all, hears all and knows all. Other apartment neighbors are: Madame Tullio, a vocal teacher (Rhoda Belle Duncan), Sarah Baird, her pupil (Margy Lou Scheer), Jane MacDonald, an actress (Dorothy Chapin), Berniece Selock impersonates a young Irish woman, Mrs. Nora McGinnis.

Finley Pifer takes the leading masculine part of Rex Randall, an enterprising young grocer. The renting agent, Fred Block, is taken by Edwin Ward. For the first

Why the Sudden Change to Liquid Laxatives?

Doctors have always recognized the value of the laxative whose dose can be measured, and whose action can be thus regulated to suit individual need.

The public, too, is fast returning to the use of liquid laxatives. People have learned that a properly prepared liquid laxative brings a more natural movement without any discomfort at the time, or after.

The dose of a liquid laxative can be varied to suit the needs of the individual. The action can thus be regulated. It forms no habit; you need not take a "double dose" a day or two later. Nor will a mild liquid laxative irritate the kidneys.

The wrong cathartic may often do more harm than good.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a prescription, and is perfectly safe. Its laxative action is based on senna—a natural laxative. The bowels will not become dependent on this form of help. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is obtainable at all druggists.

A Comforting Service

The greatest service of the modern funeral director is that of lifting the load of responsibility from the shoulders of the bereaved. From the moment that he is called, he assumes charge of the many details which require attention. In our organization we give special attention to this comforting service.

At the THEATRE

Mr. Theatre Goer: I don't know whether you read this column or not. In fact, I don't much care about the matter. There is some labor, some mental concentration, involved in writing this.

Perhaps at times we boost Mr. Hays' shows too much and razz them too little. If that's the way the thing looks to you — you may be right. You have no kick coming, however, for we have asked you from time to time, to use a little space in this column to tell your views.

Before we get into the usual line of dope about the pictures for this coming week, we want to reach further into the future and tell you about the show a week from this coming Sunday. Recently we had some guests from St. Louis. They said: "Everybody in our city is talking about "One Night of Love" which features Grace Moore. She is called "America's Singing Sweetheart, the Grand Opera Diva, a blonde beauty from Tennessee." Then along comes Mr. Hays with a smile of triumph to tell us that he has booked this picture for Sunday and Monday, October 28th and 29th. He has a load of press agent junk in which the critics rave in frenzy as they stutter around for words to express their amazement at this marvellous production.

Now Mr. Theatre-goer, we, of course, know nothing about this picture. We have never seen or heard Grace Moore. But where there is so much commendation, there must be a super-production. Our guess is that "One Night of Love" is swell.

If you are a Friday night theatreer you'll be pleased to know that there will be plenty of action in this week's Friday show. "Death on the Diamond" is touted as "the most baffling mystery in sports history." That is, they called it that before the Cardinals wiped up the earth with the Tigers, 11 to 0. That is another mystery but "Death on the Diamond" does not refer to what the Detroiters tried to do to Medwick. It's a different story altogether. In this melee Madge Evans, Robert Young, Nat Pendleton and Ted Healy do the big stuff.

While this first picture is chuck full of mystery, it is followed by another. This is a sort of detective story "Hat, Coat & Glove." Ricardo Cortez' wife does some gallivanting around with John Beal. There is murder done. It involves all three, there is tense drama before love triumphs.

And by the way — we sometimes wonder, whether you folks pay for seeing the picture or the finish? Did you ever give that a thought? you were to see a thrilling picture, very entertaining and interesting throughout — and then that picture failed to reach a satisfactory ending, you'd feel cheated wouldn't you? Which proves that you pay to see the ending of the picture and the rest of the thing is just incidental — a necessary evil as it were. — If I've got you wrong Mr. Theatre-Goer, you say so.

Do you go Saturdays? If so, you will like this week's Zane Grey story "Wagon Wheels" it's got all the fuss and feathers that these Zane Grey stories are endowed with. There is rather an assortment of short stuff, none worthy of any special comment.

You've doubtless heard about Mae West. Somebody may even have taken you aside and whispered "Have you heard this latest Mae West joke?" If Mae ever becomes a grandma and the kids hear all the stories told about her—how embarrassed they will be. Needless to say that the Mae West stories have been mostly fiction, many of them started and encouraged by the picture magnates in the hope of getting a lot of money out of West films.

This coming Sunday and Monday you can see Mae West at the Grand in "Belle of the Nineties." We will not tell you about the plot — though you'll find it not so hot. We believe that after you see how lovely and pure Mae can act you will wire her an invitation to attend the next Sunday School class reunion. Of course, this is only a suggestion. There are some good short features on this program. Have you ever told Mr. Hays which short features you like best. Why not? We have seen some lately that were rather punk. He'll get better ones if you tell him to.

Some folks, maybe you, have told us lately that the Tuesday night shows are almost the best ones for the whole week. That will doubtless be true of the one next Tuesday. Why? Story by Damon Runyon; acting by Lee Tracy and Helen Mack. The name of the play is "The Lemon Drop Kid."

About a year ago or so, you may have seen and liked "Gold Diggers." If so, you'll want to see "Dames" which shows here next Wednesday and Thursday. This is a Warner Bros. musical comedy with 100 girls and a lot of good stars. And so — we come to the parting of ways again. If you stayed with us all through this column — thanks. If you did not — well, no harm done. So long — now go wash the dishes!

CAN YOU USE A BOY TO WORK ON THE FARM? E. B. Williford, state parole agent, is very desirous of finding a few farm homes in which he can place boys between the age of 15 and 18. Some of these lads get into trouble. The law takes them in charge and it becomes the parole agent's duty to look after them and try and give them a chance to make good.

He now has several boys who would like to do farm work. The state requires that, besides room and board, they be paid about $8 a month.

If anybody reading this notice is interested and wants to help a deserving, though unfortunate young man, they can communicate with Mr. Williford at 1345 East Wood street, Decatur, Ill.

Luella Hughes was born near Bruce November 12, 1862 and at time of death was nearing her 72nd anniversary. Her parents were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hughes. She was married to Harry Reed, April 27, 1882.

She is survived by her husband and five children: Mrs. Edna Winchester of Sullivan, Miss Anna Reed of Decatur; Mrs. Claude Minor of Windsor; John and Ray Reed of Bruce. She also leaves her sister, Mrs. Belle Patterson of Bruce.

Four children preceded her in death. Eleven grandchildren survive. In early life she had joined the M. E. church and was an active member.

ERROR

The Progress stated in last week's issue in the "Directors of Bible Institute Announced" that County Superintendent Albert Walker would represent the Baptist church. This was an error. Mr. Walker will represent the Christian church and the Baptist church will be represented by Rev. Raney.

I THANK YOU!

While I was a patient in the hospital many of you folks sent me flowers, greeting cards and letters. I appreciate these more than mere words can tell. Until such time as I can see you all personally accept this as assurance that your kindness was a ray of sunshine in my sickroom.

HOW THE DEMOCRATIC ADMINISTRATION HAS HELPED YOU

- The DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL ADMINISTRATION, under the leadership of President Roosevelt has put the farmer back on his feet. The price of corn is more than four times as high as it was in 1932. The price of wheat has more than doubled. The price of hogs is nearly twice as high. Through the corn loan act the farmers of Illinois have had at least $17,000,000 more to spend on groceries, clothes, automobiles, machinery and other necessary commodities. This has helped YOU. Because of the increase in farm income, business in every city, town and village in Illinois has increased. More people now have jobs. Wages are higher. Working conditions are better and YOU have more security than you had two years ago. Through other Democratic administration projects YOUR security has been increased. Your bank account is now safe. If not your home, the home of one of your neighbors has been saved to him because of the home loan act. Your farm or the farm of one of your neighbors has been saved for him through the farm credit administration. It is easy for you to think of a dozen other things the government has done for your benefit. These things have been done for YOU, and they have been done by a Democratic administration.
- The DEMOCRATIC STATE ADMINISTRATION, under the leadership of Governor Henry Horner, has cut your tax bill. The taxes on real estate and personal property for State purposes have been eliminated. For the first time since Illinois became a State you are paying no State tax on your home or your farm. Look at your tax bill and you will realize that this one act has saved the real and personal property taxpayers approximately $35,000,000. This same Democratic State administration has saved YOUR money by conducting the State government in an economical manner. In the year and a half it has been in office it has cut appropriations by more than $18,000,000. The Democratic State administration has caused reductions in rates on gas and electricity which have saved the consumers more than $8,150,000. It has also given REAL protection to the insurance policy holders of the State.

These are only a few of the many things which have been done for your benefit. These have all been done for YOU, and they have been done by a Democratic administration.

The Democratic Administration Has Helped YOU.

A QUICK FOOD

One of the quickest-acting of all foods is honey. Most foods must be digested, or broken down into simpler substances before they can be utilized by the human body, but this is not true of honey. Honey is composed of two simple sugars—dextrose and levulose—which can be absorbed directly into the blood stream and made available at once for energy, without any tax on the digestive system.

This fact explains why honey is such a desirable sweetening for the food of infants, invalids, and aged persons, reports the United States Department of Agriculture. The Department has a staff of trained specialists constantly studying every phase of beekeeping.

—Mr. and Mrs. Earl Nichols are leaving Saturday for Chicago where they will spend a week at the home of the latter's father, J. C. Lansden and daughter Rose.
