

WEATHER

This old year has a lot of mean weather in stock and is trying to get it before it turns the job over to 1935.

There has been an assortment of weather and sleet and rain. There have been drifts, bad roads and much. At times falling rain would be on windshields and as a result there have been some car accidents.

For the first time in a number of years, automobile chains have been some popularity, even on concrete roads, due to the fact that it was impossible to scrape snow and ice off, even with snow plows.

Trees have been bedecked with lights, made glorious by an occasional touch of sunshine. The temperature here has been near zero.

The zero mark, up in Minnesota we see that in places it is down to below. This Thursday afternoon it has warmed up considerably.

Monday afternoon was so nasty and disagreeable that it interfered with late Christmas shopping. Let that be a lesson to you late shoppers. Take a hint from Clint Coy who says: "Shop early. There are only 306 shopping days to next Christmas."

Chants are gathering up the stock of the Christmas and clearing sales may be under way. When the rush over some of the folks looked and dazed — that is those ing in stores that advertised. The rest of the folks could and make things rather easy. The law who adv. for business this was the one who got it.

We read in the papers that Norway, way up in northern Europe is suffering from a heat wave. Tabulation to date shows that about 175 of Uncle Sam's nephews and nieces lost their lives during the Christmas observance. Some of these deaths were due to Tom & Jerry back of the steering wheel.

Soon we'll have a new state treasurer and a new state superintendent of schools. This latter official, John Wieland, has offered the job of first assistant to Supt. O. F. Patterson of the Shelbyville schools.

Papers have been carrying a big story about proposed improvements for the Okaw. If Sec'y. Dorn of the War Dept. has his way, many millions will be spent on this homely, muddy stream to make it navigable from the Mississippi to Vandalia. It may be straitened to Shelbyville. Power dams are to be built and much overflow land bought. All of this is "proposed."

The week's horror story happened nearby: In Tuscola a drunken brute named Purl Ford shot and killed Mr. and Mrs. Willard Harris and their little 6 year old daughter. To finish the job, he put slug in his own alcohol-soaked brain. This happened on Christmas day.

If the government should pay the soldiers bonus, how much would come to veterans in Moultrie Co.? Approximately $250,000. would come to veterans in Moultrie Co.

Adult Ag. Classes Start Tuesday Night

The first meeting of the agricultural evening school will be held Tuesday night January first in the agriculture room at the high school. The general theme for study during the series of meetings is Farm management. The special topic for study Tuesday evening will be "Possible Adjustments in feeding dairy cows for winter milk production."

"With feed scarce and high priced how can I feed my cows to obtain a maximum yield at the lowest possible cost?" is a question many dairymen are considering. Those farmers who are interested are invited to attend the meeting. The class will start promptly at 7:15 p. m. and end at 8:30. A special feature of the series of meetings will be a judging contest such as that in which the high school teams participate. The judging work will take place during a twenty minute period immediately following the class session. Judging rings of corn, soybeans, wheat, clover, dairy cattle, beef cattle (the last two on the screen) poultry and identification of common crop and weed seeds will make up the work of the contest. The champion all-around judge will receive an appropriate trophy, the exact nature of which will be announced at the first meeting at which time also rules will be announced.

Every farmer who is interested in the evening school, the work of the agricultural classes, and who recognize the value of this type of knowledge should plan to participate and enjoy this feature of the school, as well as attending the regular class sessions.

Profanity never did any man the least good. No man is the richer, or happier, or wiser for it. It commends no one to society. For our New Year's poem for 1935, let us present John James Ingall's well known "Opportunity." Its message is especially appropriate in this day and age when Opportunity beckons, but men are too timid to heed its call.

Opportunity

MASTER of human destinies am I.
Fame, love, and fortune on my foot-steps wait,
Cities and fields I walk; I penetrate
Deserts and seas remote, and passing by
Hovel, and mart, and palace, soon or late
I knock unbidden, once at every gate!
If sleeping, wake — if feasting, rise before
I turn away. It is the hour of fate,
And they who follow me reach every state
Mortals desire, and conquer every foe
Save death; but those who doubt or hesitate,
Condemned to failure, penury and woe,
Seek me in vain and uselessly implore—
I answer not, and I return no more.

A Voice From the Past.

"A Happy New Year to all is the kindest wish of The Progress.

"If you would 'live happy and grow fat' during the coming year, subscribe for The Progress.

"The last leaf on the calendar of the old year has been reached. Month by month the leaves have been torn away, until December alone remains. Tomorrow it will be taken down, and the calendar of 1880 will be but a memory. The year, with its hopes, its anticipations and its aspirations, is knocking at the door. It is burdened with no heart-breaking disappointments, no sorrows, no griefs; it comes to us as the snow, joyous as the young. All griefs and sorrows lie behind. All sorrow belongs to the past. The new year is fresh, and young and full of promise. Each page of the new calendar is spotless. May it remain so; and may the fairest and purest anticipations of our friends be realized during this, the coming new year."

The above editorial appeared in a Progress supplement December 27, 1934—just 54 years ago. This supplement was a card 2 1/2 x 4 1/2 inches. Other news appeared in connection with the editorial. It was then 24 years old, Vol. XXIV, No. 7. On the other side of the card appeared the greeting "A Happy New Year 1881; of Smyser & Mize."

The present editor of The Progress is indebted for this information to Mrs. C. M. Cochran, who own the card above referred to.

Weather Pulls the Wanderer Home.

Monday morning when we are writing our editorial for the week, the weather does not look very promising. It is sleeting. The ground and roads are covered with sleet and snow.

The sky has that sad grey hue that seems to press down on the joyous spirit of the Christmas time. It is bad walking — bad driving. Many people who had planned Christmas parties are doubtful whether or not it is wise to attempt it.

We have made up our minds to spend Christmas day at home folks in St. Clair county. We are going, in the hope that conditions will improve.

Some years ago a friend told us: "If you want to go anywhere in Illinois, never let the weather keep you back." That was before days of hard roads, but that little bit of advice has stood us in good service many a time.

We would dislike being snowed in many miles from home for no matter what the elements of climate may decide, The Progress must go to press. We are obligated to many homes to furnish them with their favorite weekly newspaper. We have never yet failed to fulfill that obligation.

But the homeland and the firesides of youth call. We are heeding that call and ere the shades of night engulf us we hope to be with loved ones many miles away.

The Promise of a Brand New Year.

From all over the country comes the report of the big holiday business in many years.

Some people had money to spend; some who have looked forward with fore-boding and distrust and have carefully what they possessed, opened purse strings and bought strong of holiday buyers.

Others were hard put to get supplies from manufacturers and retailers had to beg and plead to get some of the goods they needed.

Will 1935 see a decided upswing in business? We hope so. If industry and finance quit bucking the "New Deal" and realize that they must meet changed conditions, there will be more people employed in manufacture and in every other line of human endeavor.

This country is rich — the richest in the world in resources and human intelligence.

The time has come to put both to use.

Because of lack of money, or lack of confidence, or perhaps both, Americans have not been doing much buying since 1929. That means that there is a wonderful and almost inexhaustible market for new things in every line. Replacements are needed. New and more modern equipment is needed. Homes need to be modernized. The country is way, way behind in its building and housing needs.

But confidence has returned. People look hopefully toward the future. Instead of letting every day be sufficient unto itself, they are visualizing the years ahead and making ambitious plans for themselves and their children.

And with this spirit America enters the year 1935.

The band-wagon of prosperity is again at your door. Get aboard. The time to standpat has passed. Join the procession.

Resolve now that for you and yours the year 1935 will be far better than the year that has passed. Get that idea firmly fixed into your conscious and subconscious mind—and then work to make it come true.

Giving Guns at Christmas Time.

Among the toys which should not be given to children for Christmas are machine guns, pistols and other implements of war and crime.

Is it necessary to say this? Anyone who has visited the shops at this season must admit that it is, for he will have observed the variety of toy weapons offered for sale to little boys and to little girls, too. Wide support in every community is due at this time to the Parent-Teacher Association, which is acting on a nation-wide scale to "take murder out of the nursery."

The Illinois branch of the Parent-Teacher Association has sponsored the move to rid children's consciousness of such destructive and unlovely thoughts as commonly are associated with guns. While the Government proposes to take the profit out of war, the parents and teachers may very properly seek to take the profit out of war games. Manufacturers of toy guns are like narcotic peddlers. They seek profit for themselves by stimulating and pandering to ignoble inclinations. Is such a motive to be condoned or supported by thoughtful citizens?

Guns are made to kill. The Christmas season, with all that it stands for, seems hardly the occasion for giving children toys that suggest murder.—Christian Science Monitor.

Real Argument for Better Homes.

One of the strongest reasons why Uncle Sam should embark upon a gigantic low-cost housing program has been supplied by the United States Public Health Service.

In a report to Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, the agency which guards the nation's health declares that overcrowding and bad living conditions in vile slums are a "real menace" to the well-being of the country.

That statement is supported by figures which tell a frightful story. For instance, in a poor section of one city 110 out of every 1,000 babies die. To gain the full import of what that means, it must be known that in richer sections of the same city the infant death rate is only 26 out of a thousand.

Likewise, deaths from tuberculosis in slums sections are 215 of each 100,000 of population, but the rate drops to 34 where people have enough money to live decently.

"The continuation of such a condition is a severe criticism of our civilization," says the Health Service.

Nevertheless, Big Business protests to high heaven at the suggestion that Uncle Sam should undertake a vast home construction program, with the double object of providing jobs for the unemployed and lifting the underprivileged out of unspeakable squalor.

Land speculators and users have the sublime gall to contend that this is the exclusive field of "private initiative" thereby giving further evidence that there is no limit to human greed.

What makes the matter worse is that there are in the New Deal administration officials who also insist that profits are of vastly greater concern than the lives and happiness of human beings.—Labor

Editorial Shorts

We note by the papers that 50% of the people of Mexico can not read. We'll venture the guess that many of these illiterates take the home town paper anyway, just to hide their ignorance. Think how glad they would be could they read it!

The courts are making good headway in clearing the Insulls—Sam and Martin—of the devilment with which they were charged. They monkeyed around with other people's money and lost it, but strange to say, in the eyes of a jury this does not seem to have been a crime. Evidently the jurors take the view that if crime was committed the negligence of the government was as much to blame as the gambling of the Insulls.

In 1936 Illinois will elect a governor. The Democrats are not saying much, but looking wise. And they are not a bit mad at the news that appears in the papers that John G. Oglesby, old-time standpat G. O. P. lieutenant governor of many years gone by may be a candidate. Mr. Oglesby is sounding out sentiment before coming out of retirement. Former Senator Otis Glenn is also said to be flirting with the idea that Illinois needs him at Springfield. The Republican party must do better than that if they want to make things interesting.

"With public money being handed out as relief, why can't able-bodied men give the public some work in return?" is a question asked wherever the relief question is discussed.

Why not? We do not know. It is a short-sighted and ruinous policy to give men who can work one dollar in relief without giving them the opportunity to earn it. Work is plentiful on the roads, the streets; other public work of a constructive nature needs doing. Give men work. Give Americans the opportunity to earn. No red-blooded American wants a hand-out. Handing out public funds without getting any thing in return for the taxpayers and the general public is dishonest. Stop it.

Treason doth never prosper: what's the reason? Why, if it prosper, none dare call it treason.—Harrington

Sunday School Lesson

by Rev. Charles E. Dunn

Tests of a Christian
Lesson for December 30th. 1 John 5:1-12.
Golden Text: 1 John 5:1.

Every Christian can determine the reality of his faith by asking three fundamental questions. The first is, "Am I a loyal follower of the Christian ideal?" Now it is not easy to precisely define this ideal. There are many churches, many points of view. Christianity has meant one type of doctrine at one time in history, and something quite different at another time.

But all Christians can agree that we come closest to the heart of our religion in the New Testament. And one of the most precious parts of this indispensable source book is the first letter of St. John from which our lesson text is taken. Here we see, in clear relief, the abiding elements of the Christian message. Take the Golden Text. "Every one who believes that Jesus is the Christ is a child of God."

Harnack, the great modern scholar, has stated this ideal differently, but with equal impressiveness. The Christian religion, he maintains, "means one thing and one thing only: Eternal life in the midst of time, by the strength and under the eyes of God."

The second question is, "Do I understand the world in which I live?" What are the underlying forces moulding and remoulding our confused, battered civilization? It is quite difficult to know these as it is to appreciate the root meaning of Christianity. No Christian can express the Christian purpose not knowing the temper of his era.

We come now to the third and final query. "Do I know how to put the Christian faith to work in my world?" This is not easy either. It is hard to make Christianity practical in such a stormy day as ours. St. Augustine at the time when the mighty empire of Rome was crumbling, wrote his famous "The City of God." We likewise can look beyond the burning towers of our contemporary scene to the everlasting splendor of God's Kingdom!

BODY WORTH $500, HEAD $2000, FARM ACCOUNTS REVEAL

Urbana, Ill., Dec. 17—A farmer's head may easily be worth four times as much as the rest of his body, when it comes to producing a net profit for his labor, according to P. E. Johnston, of the farm management division, College of Agriculture, University of Illinois. Farmers who wish to prove this for themselves can do so by enrolling during this month and next to keep simple farm accounts during the coming year, he said. Schools to help beginning farm account keepers get started will be held in all parts of the state by the farm management division of the agricultural college. Farmers can enroll through their local farm advisers.

Good farm hands can be hired for around $500 each a year, which represents the value of the physical labor that a farm operator can perform, Johnston pointed out. However, when this same amount of labor is combined in the same person with good managing ability, the farm may produce an annual net income of $2,500 or more.

This has been established by the results of farm accounts which 1,800 farmers in 89 counties of the state completed last year in cooperation with the college and their county farm advisers. In one central Illinois county, for instance, records on 36 farms indicated that there were 12 farms which had an average net income of $2,986 a farm as contrasted with 12 similar farms with an average net profit of only $313 each. At least $1,000 of this difference was the result of superior management, thus demonstrating that a farmer's head may be worth at least four times as much as the rest of his body.

After a farmer has kept a record of his operations for one year, his account book is checked, summarized and analyzed by a representative of the U. of I. College of Agriculture. The book is then returned to him so that he can note which phases of his farming operations have been the most profitable, which may have been losing propositions during the year and how improvements can be made. Reports are also prepared for various areas in the state which show each farmer how his business compares with the average of all cooperators in the area.

Achievement

A dove, on the leg of which was a metallic band bearing the inscription, Kingsville, Ontario, 1934 was recently killed by a hunter in Florida. The reporter for a Florida newspaper referred to the incident as a hunter's achievement.

Would you call that 'achievement' To kill a little bird,
That had migrated southward By the climate there was lured?

Is really that the recompense That birds may expect there,
For flying many hundreds miles To be in warmer air?

I wonder where the sport it In shooting birds like this?
How does blotting out their lives To any one bring bliss?

There must be joy in hunting Or else 'twould not be done,
But killing harmless little birds To me would not be fun.

When the hunting season's on And the hunters are all out,
I wonder if they stop to think Just what it's all about.

I see a mental picture Of birds as south they go,
Because instinct has taught them They cannot stand the snow.

I do not think these little birds Should have to fear a gun, friend From him, they should not run.

The Ladies Aid

The old church bell had long been cracked,
Its call was but a groan;
It seemed to sound a funeral knell With every broken tone.
"We need a bell," the brethren said
"But taxes must be paid;
We have no money we can spare—
Just ask the Ladies' Aid."

The shingles on the roof were old;
The rain came down in rills;
The brethren slowly shook their heads
And spoke of "monthly bills."
The chairman of the board arose
And said, "I am afraid
That we shall have to lay the case
Before the Ladies' Aid."

The carpet had been patched and patched
Till quite beyond repair,
And through the aisles and on the steps
The boards showed hard and bare.
"It is too bad," the brethren said;
"An effort must be made
To raise an interest on the part
Of members of the Aid."

The preacher's stipend was behind;
The poor man blushed to meet
The grocer and the butcher as
They passed him on the street;
But nobly spoke the brethren then:
"Pastor, you shall be paid!
We'll call upon the treasure,
Of our good Ladies' Aid."

"Ah!" said the men, "the way to heaven
Is long and hard and steep;
With slopes of care on either side,
The path 'tis hard to keep.
We can not climb the heights
alone;
Our hearts are sore dismayed;
We ne'er shall get to heaven at all
Without the Ladies' Aid!"

ESTIMATES OF PLANT LOSSES WILL HAVE HISTORIC VALUE

For nearly 20 years pathologists throughout the country have reported their estimates of losses from plant diseases in their localities to the United States Department of Agriculture. These estimates were not on dollars and cents but in reduction of yield in tons, bushels, or other units of measurement, and in percentages of the total crop.

These estimates, many of which have been shown by checking to be uncommonly accurate, will have historic interest in addition to their current value, because they show the plant diseases which were important during any period of years.

Estimating disease losses in dollars for any orchard, garden, or field crop is not a fair measurement because all losses are not of equal commercial importance. The economic losses from decay of fruits and vegetables in transit and on the market are much greater than the actual percentage of loss, for they involve the costs of harvesting, packing, and shipping, as well as frequent claims for damage, and, what is more serious, often lower the general price level of the commodity and slow up demand.

Losses from disease in the field while often large and sometimes of serious consequence, usually involve only reduction in crop, which, while serious enough to the individual grower, may not appear so to the industry as a whole.

HARVESTING THE OYSTERS

This is the season to harvest oysters, along the Gulf of Mexico and oyster packing plants along the coast of Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama will soon be in operation, by the dozens. Early in December people who follow the business in the oyster plants, begin moving toward the south and remain there until the season closes.

Louisiana oyster plants open first early in December, Mississippi is next, her greatest oyster crop coming from the reefs in Biloxi Bay, at Biloxi, and about January 1, the Alabama plants are opened to begin packing.—Exch.

CHURCH NOTES

CHRISTIAN CHURCH

C. E. Barnett, Pastor

The New Year is at hand. To us, one more opportunity for worship together in 1934. The church stands with open door to receive all who will come. Christ invites. "In the last day, that great day of the feast, Jesus stood and cried, saying, If any man thirst, let him come unto me and drink." The Christmas feasting is past. The invitation of Jesus holds true today.

The opportunities for worship in His house next Sunday are: The Sunday school at 9:30 a. m. Superintendent C. R. Hill closes the year's leadership, to be succeeded by Glen M. Kilby. Sunday's attendance should be high.

The pastor's sermons will be appropriate to the closing of the year and the beginning of the new. The regular hours of service will be observed, 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.

At 6:30 p. m. the Endeavorers will be led in thought by Wm. McKown, the subject being "How to Make Our Dreams Come True." "Did you ever see a dream walking?" You may "Wake up and Dream" if you attend Endeavor. At 6:30, please.

"The right way to begin traveling the right way is to begin right away." Go to church.

After visiting twenty-nine of thirty-six patients in a Veteran's hospital the nurse tried to shunt the Prince of Wales out an exit. The Prince said, "But I've seen but twenty-nine. I must see the other six." The nurse objected. These six are desperately disfigured. He said, "Take me to them." And to the others the Prince spoke words of comfort and cheer. Again the nurse tried to prevail upon him to leave the hospital after he'd seen only five saying, "He is so terribly disfigured." The Prince insisted. "This visit is not for my benefit, but for theirs." The Prince

Perry D. Hawkins Died Thursday

Perry D. Hawkins, brother of H. H. Hawkins of this city, died Thursday of last week at his home north of Gays. He had suffered a stroke of paralysis several weeks earlier.

Mr. Hawkins was a bachelor. He was born September 6, 1878 near Coles and was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Hawkins. He spent his lifetime in the Gays community.

Besides his brother here, he leaves two half brothers, W. E. Phipps and F. H. Phipps of near Gays.

Funeral services were held Friday afternoon in the Christian church in Gays, in charge of Rev. Ira Elythe. Burial was in Branch Side cemetery.

was reluctantly ushered into a darkened room. He saw the maimed and disfigured form. His own face paled. He reached out, put his hand on the shrapnel-torn cheek and spoke, "You country is proud of you and I'll not forget" and he kissed the forehead. The Lord Jesus came to save the most sin-sick, care-worn and crime-torn soul.

This is a good time to be in church somewhere.

Matt. 1:21 "And thou shalt call his name Jesus: for he shall save his people from their sins."

While we are giving gifts and sending greeting to those whom we call our friends, let us remember that God's gift on that first of all Christmas days, was a gift to his enemies. The world is God's enemy because Satan is the prince of this world. The world crucified this Jesus, but in doing so only completed God's plan of redemption whereby this same Jesus saves his people from their sins. I think God would like to exchange Christmas gifts with you on this Christmas day. If you are a sinner He would like to give you this same Jesus in exchange for your sins, that he might take those sins and cast them forever behind his back. If you are saved, I think God would like to exchange gifts with you. He would like to give you the Holy Spirit in all his fullness in exchange for all your doubts and fears. He would like to give you a full measure of that "Peace on earth and good will toward men." I am sure we can experience that wonderful heavenly peace in our hearts though all the world around us in in turmoil. I think God would like to reveal himself to you in a new way this Christmas time, and make it the most glorious Christmas you have ever experienced. God desires that you be happy, and he will make you happy if you will just let him. Just take every thing that makes you unhappy, bundle it up and give the whole bundle to the Lord. This will make the Lord very happy too because you trust him.

A Way to a Happy New Year
To leave the old with a burst of song,
To recall the right and forgive the wrong;
To forget the thing that binds you fast

To the vain regrets of the year that's past;
To have the strength to let go your hold

Of the not worth while of the days grown old,
To dare go forth with a purpose true

To the unknown task of the year that's new;
To help your brother along the road

To do his work and lift his load;
To add your gift to the world's good cheer,

Is to have and to give a Happy New Year.

Bethany News

Saturday afternoon proved to be a gala day for Bethany when hundreds of people thronged Main street to participate in the Xmas festivities sponsored by the Merchants. Promptly at one o'clock, turkeys, guineas, chickens and gift packages began to fly thru the air and there was a mad rush both by adults and children to be the possessor of the prizes.

Extra clerks were added, stores were jammed and each store received its share of the Christmas trade. A few years ago Bethany was considered one of the best business districts in Central Illinois. As the depression deepened the little town was hard hit but today the merchants are planning and cooperating to bring their town back to its own. Criticized by her neighboring towns as "Bone Dry," Bethany has taken the criticism without resentment and today is proud of her record.

Semitic Alphabet Mother of All Which Came Later

There was a definite third position symbol in all of the ancient alphabets. The Sinal script, of which a contention has been made that it was the first of all alphabets, had a symbol somewhat resembling a crown scepter. The Egyptian hieroglyph represented a throne. The Roman C, first of the forms for this symbol as it has come down to us bears less resemblance to the Greek and Phoenician symbols than is usual.

In music the letter C always has had third position in the scale, and it is generally considered as a fundamental note. In music says a writer in the Chicago Tribune as in alphabetical writing, the symbols representing sounds rest or ancient tradition. This tradition credited Phoenicia with having invented letters, but it also recognizes that the Egyptians had a great deal to do with the invention of the art of writing. It is generally agreed, however, that the Semitic alphabet was the great mother of all which followed.

Egyptian hieroglyphic writing was alphabetical only in a restricted sense. Ancient Egyptian writing on stone contains only a limited number of alphabetic characters, used in connection with a large number of ideographic and syllabic signs. Some authorities have maintained that the Egyptian alphabetic symbols have no relationship whatever to the characters of the Semitic and Greek alphabets. On the other hand, they assert, there is very definite relationship between the Semitic and Greek alphabet and the later alphabets influenced by them. This contention has been opposed by other authorities.

GIRL'S LAMBS WIN

When Doris Thorfinson of Goodhue County, Minn., went in for lamb raising as her 4-H project she never expected to have so much fun and, least of all to win a trip to the great annual 4-H show in Chicago. Let her tell the story of her start in club work and some of her experiences.

"During March I was very patiently waiting for my favorite ewe to lamb. One Saturday my wish was fulfilled by being the proud owner of a large healthy ewe lamb.

"Beyond doubt this lamb was going to be my purebred ewe. After a week of industrious thinking, her name became Princess Buff.

"About four years ago my brother and I had the problem of picking the kind of sheep that we wished to own and raise. We chose the Southdowns because they seemed to be quicker maturing, lower down and blockier, and of better mutton type.

"We started with two bred ewes, increasing the flock to its present size of 26.

"As Buff was the first ewe lamb from my favorite ewe, I began to make a great pet of her. During the first few weeks she made very rapid gains. She was one of the lambs that first caught on to the fact that oats tasted very good and does she like brown sugar! Buff did not need milk from the cow as her mother furnished her plenty until about the middle of August. After spending two hours trimming her for the Cannon Valley fair, even my dad had to admit that she was trimmed very well. At this fair she won one first and one grand championship in

"Dixie" Nickname First Given to Bills of Bank

There have been various explanations made for the nickname "Dixie" which is so commonly applied to the South, but the most generally believed concerns the city of New Orleans, says a writer in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The principal currency issued by a bank in that city before the war between the states consisted of bills in $10 denominations. Because New Orleans had such a large French population, these bills were engraved in English on one side and in French on the other. On the French side, the most prominent word was Dix, the French word for ten.

People throughout the Mississippi valley soon began to call these bills Dixies, and Louisiana came to be known as "the land of the dixies" or "dixie land." Then in 1859 a song writer picked up the phrase and wrote a song entitled "Dixie Land" for a New York minstrel show. This song, which was later rewritten, was responsible for giving the word Dixie its wide popularity as a pet name for the South.

Spider Spins "Stocking" Made to Line a Burrow

The Atypus spider has two very large and strong fangs, and with these she excavates a hole several inches deep. Then she digs at right angles for a few inches until she has a burrow shaped like a stocking. Now she begins weaving the "stocking"—a beautiful silken lining, which, being made to measure, fits the burrow exactly. But when she arrives at the mouth of the burrow she goes on spinning the stocking until it is about three inches longer, and this extra bit of "leg" she then seals up and leaves lying on the ground outside her nest. So there she is all snug and safe inside a stocking in which there is no opening. Inside that extra length lying on the ground she attaches a few threads which she carries right back into the "foot." There she sits holding the threads, until presently a caterpillar or some insect crawls over the part of the stocking lying outside. At once the long threads begin to vibrate—and out comes the spider.—Montreal Herald.

White Persian Cats Deaf

About 90 per cent of all white Persian cats are deaf. In fact, the same is true of other white cats which have been bred from white stock, according to an authority. Deafness and albinism are associated in all animals. Albino, from the Latin albus, white, is the biological term applied to a pigmentless individual of a pigmented species. It is the condition in which the dark pigment is absent and the yellow nearly so. The absence of pigments for some unknown reason, affects unfavorably not only the hearing of the animal, but the vision as well. Some cat fanciers say that pure-bred white Persian cats with two blue eyes are generally stone deaf, while those with one blue eye and one pink eye usually can hear.

Windsor Castle Lights

If the town of Windsor was suddenly plunged into darkness, the lights of the great gray castle would still blaze forth. For Windsor castle has its own self electric circuit, distinct and separate from the town's supply, and when the king and queen are staying at the castle there is a second "stand by" circuit, which can be brought into operation at a moment's notice. Queen Victoria introduced the first electric lights into the castle, but they were not used to any great extent until King Edward's time, when a great many improvements were made. At first there was a small generating plant at the castle, but after a short time this was given up, and the special circuits were run from the power house which supplies the town.

"Barmecide Feast"

The phrase "Barmecide feast" is taken from a story in the Arabian Nights about a prince of this family who invited a beggar to a feast and offered him only imaginary dishes, the prince himself pretending at the same time to be eating and enjoying them. The beggar falls in with the prince's humor and also makes a pretense of enjoying the non-existent food, satisfying his host, who afterwards provides a real feast. The phrase is defined by dictionaries as "any illusion of plenty."

Location of Dams

The Wilson dam at Muscle Shoals is on the Tennessee river, near Florence, Ala. The Fort Peck dam is on the head waters of the Missouri river, about 35 miles from Glasgow, Mont. The Grand Coulee dam is on the Columbia river about 65 miles west of Spokane, Wash. The Boulder dam on the Colorado river is on the Nevada-Arizona boundary.

Geo. Daugherty Writes A Christmas Letter

Lincoln School and Colony Dec. 23, 1934.

Sullivan Progress
Ed C. Brandenburger, Editor.
Sullivan, Illinois.

Dear Ed: I will not be home for Christmas, so will do the next best thing — that is write a letter home.

We had a big snow here Tuesday and there is plenty left to last through Christmas.

We are making preparations for a cheerful Christmas here at this Farm Institution. There are nine wards of patients here, each has a separate building. Each of these buildings have their own decorations and Christmas trees which are indeed beautiful. In addition they are arranging a Christmas tree on the front porch of the Administration building for the officers and employees.

These boys although some of them are grey haired men, all talk of Christmas with childish fancy. Some patients here can not remember any other home, while others have been here only a short time.

This Colony is also a "Haven of Refuge" for boys who have committed slight crimes. The Court's sentence here, because of better conditions here, than at Pontiac or Vandalia. Some of these 'convict' boys are released in a year or so; some of them become permanent charges of the state. This work of caring for these unfortunate people, requires the knowledge of a nurse and the patience and skill of a school teacher. It is needless to say, we do not, in many cases secure employees with these exemplary qualifications. However I think the employees here at Lincoln, rank as high or higher than the average institution employee.

Well for our Christmas Dinner our Commissary has provided sixty ducks and six hundred chickens for the meat feature with potatoes, beans, carrots, celery and plenty of gravy for filling. That ought to make at any rate 1 piece around. And still we hear people object to paying 2 cents on each dollar for Henry as they term it, when these unfortunate wards of the state, paying all salaries and other state expenses and doing it well, and after all other expenses are paid, we still have a goodly sum to distribute to our needy schools. "Verily Henry Horner is a great governor and his Sales Tax will live after him." I enclose a short poem, clipped from the Illinois State Register, of a recent issue on the occasion of the Governor's birthday.

So long Ed, I'll be seeing you.

STAMP COLLECTORS BUY MANY CHRISTMAS SEALS

Twenty-five dollars for a single Tuberculosis Christmas Seal!

The average person would gape in astonishment if asked to pay this amount for one of the brightly-colored stamps which are sent out each year to finance the battle against tuberculosis in this community. Yet the catalogues of stamp collectors list old and rare Christmas seals running as high as $25 for a single seal.

The science of stamp collecting, or philately, has increased considerably in recent years, according to W. P. Shahan, executive secretary of the Illinois Tuberculosis Association, who has received hundreds of letters from all parts of the state from philatelists who wish to buy certain issues to complete their collections.

With the passing of the years, the value of Christmas Seals has increased with their scarcity, until today nearly all are worth many times their original cost of one cent, Shahan said. Curiously enough, the most valuable seals is not the original one put out in 1907, but the 1911 issue that was made up in coils for use in automatic vending machines. It is this seal that is listed at $25.

Seals are printed in four widely separated cities, for the sake of economy in distribution, by separate printing establishments. Each printer places some almost-indistinguishable mark, or "key" on the lot he prints. Those distributed in Illinois were prepared in Chicago, Shahan said, and bear a tiny red dot in the lower left-hand corner of seal No. 99. Other marks are used by other printers. Stamp collectors in Salt Lake City trade sheets of seals with collectors in New York, Philadelphia and Chicago in order to get as many printers' keys as possible. Those sold here last year carried a small white "C" in the orange border under seal No. 93.

Another seal highly prized by collectors is the red and green seal of 1913, with poinsettia flowers, and green circles under red crosses at either side. Seals of this design are listed as worth $15 each, while a variation of the same design issued the same year is worth only half as much. The first seal sold in 1907 is worth 50 cents if inscribed "Merry Christmas," but if inscribed "Merry Christmas and Happy New Year," it is worth but 25 cents.

Certain designs of the years 1908 and 1918 are worth $5, a design of 1910 is worth $3, while 1912 seals are listed at $1.

One of the foremost stamp collectors of the country is President Roosevelt, who was recently presented with a valuable collection by the National Tuberculosis Association.

Snake Is Not So Speedy; Eagles Can Fly 120 M. P. H.

Snakes are deceivers in the matter of speed at which they travel. It is the general impression that they move with great rapidity, notes a writer in the New York Herald Tribune. That this is not the case was demonstrated by Dr. Walter Mosauer, zoologist at the University of California, who clocked seven types of snakes. The red racer, he found, covers most ground in the shortest time, its speed being three and a third miles an hour. The slowest, the California boa, had a top speed of only a quarter of a mile an hour. The impression of higher speeds of travel which is gained by observers is believed by Doctor Mosauer to be due to the smooth undulatory movements of the snakes.

Eagles have been known to be high speed flyers, but there are few if any records in which their flights were accurately timed over measured courses. This feat was accomplished by a Scotch weather observer, who observed several flights of a golden eagle, but over distances whose exact length was not easily determined. Finally a flight took place between two cliffs whose distance had been surveyed and was known to be exactly three and a half miles. The time of the flight was one minute and forty-five seconds, which gave a speed of 120 miles an hour.

"T" Stands for Trouble When Used in Ship Name

There is a prejudice among sailors against names beginning with "T." A New Zealand shipping company had a steamer called Taupo. She was wrecked, and they built a better ship but gave her the same name. She, too, came to grief on her second voyage.

The first Tiger, a ship of war, ran aground in the Black sea during the Crimean war and was destroyed by red-hot shot fired into her by the Russians; the fate of the second Tiger, a destroyer, may be well remembered.

So, too, will the disaster which befell the mighty Titanic, and perhaps the fate of the Tahiti—this liner sank in the Pacific several years ago.

Navy folks are equally superstitious about vessels named after reptiles and insects. Two Wasps were wrecked, the first off the Donegal coast, with a loss of 58 lives, the others in the China seas when 80 men went down. The Viper ran on the rocks off the Channel islands, the Cobra broke her back off the Lincolnshire coast, while the Serpent went ashore on the north coast of Spain and 173 gallant men were drowned.—Answers Magazine.

"Poor Houses" in Ohio

The system of "poor houses" in Ohio was adopted in 1816. Previous to this the method of caring for unfortunates was in some respects not far short of slavery, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer. Local courts appointed two citizens in each township to act as "overseers of the poor." These overseers were permitted to levy a small tax for the care of their indigent fellow men, but as this was not compulsory the appropriations were seldom made. The overseers would find out who the needy were for each year and who were likely to become needy, and the list of names was posted in a conspicuous place in the township on the first Monday in May. The care of the dependents would then be let out to the highest bidder. As their ages and physical condition were stated, it is fair to assume that in return for their keep they were forced to perform manual labor—in much the same manner as the slaves of the South.

—Mrs. Mae Woodruff went to Bethany Tuesday to be with her daughter Mrs. Homer Cole who has been sick but is now recovering.

—Mr. and Mrs. Orman Foster and Jane of Washington spent Christmas with relatives in this city.

FARM CENSUS DESIGNED FOR BENEFIT OF FARMERS

Sometime during January, 1935 a United States enumerator will call at every farm and ranch in the country in connection with the Census of Agriculture and farmers and ranchers can be of great assistance in furthering the project, which is designed primarily for their benefit, by writing to the Bureau of the Census, Washington D. C., and procuring a sample copy of the schedule.

The definition of a farm census purposes is all the land which is directly farmed by one person, either by his own labor alone or with the assistance of members of his household, or hired employees. The land operated by a partnership is likewise considered a farm. A farm may consist of a single tract of land, or a number of separate tracts, and these several tracts may be held under different tenures, as when one tract is owned by the farmer and another tract is rented by him. When a landowner has one or more tenants, renters, croppers, or managers, the land operated by each cropper is reported as a separate farm, and the land operated by the owner or manager by means of wage hands is likewise reported as a separate farm. No report is required of a farm of less than 3 acres, unless its products in 1934 were valued at $250 or more.

We are sure that this coming year you'll see bigger and better—more colossal and more stupendous pictures than ever before in your life. Also, these pictures will be cleaner—not so much white meat and wild, unrestrained loving. The stars will shine, and there'll be less mooning and ber-room spooning.

And it gives us great pleasure to announce that this coming Friday night you will have the opportunity of seeing "Great Expectations," one of Charles Dickens immortal classics. Henry Hull a great stage actor, but not so well known in pictures, heads a great cast in which are Phillips Holmes, James Wyatt, Florence Reed, Alan Hale and Valerie Hobson. See this show with great expectations and pleasant anticipations. You'll not be disappointed.

"Bachelor of Arts" is the second feature on Friday, Dec. 28th. This is a happy humorous college story with all the trimmings: Glee Clubs, etc. It's youthful cast features Tom Brown and Anita Louise and our old negro comic Stepin Fetcher plays no small part in the laugh provoking situations.

There's also a musical reel presenting a medley of songs by Gus Edwards.

Buck Jones
Saturday you'll see Buck Jones in "When a Man sees Red" also the usual good short features.

Sunday-Monday
The short features on this big program feature is a Todd-Kelly comedy; also Silly Symphony and News.

"Anne of Green Gables" is the main picture and it stars Anne Shirley in the role of "Anne." 'Tis said to be a worthy successor to "Little Women." It's one of those home-like idyllic stories that the whole family will enjoy. With Miss Shirley appear Tom Brown, Helen Westley and that fine old character actor O. P. Heggie who made a big hit in "Peck's Bad Boy." Critics say this picture is exceptionally good.

New Year's Nite
The midnight show will be something colossal to start 1935 off with in local entertainment circles. It is "Flirtation Walk" one of the big Warner Bros. productions. This is new. The Grand will be one of the first big theatres in this part of the state to show this picture. Headliners in it are Dick Powell and Ruby Keeler with an all-star cast.

The Sullivan Township High School band will participate in the presentation of the program under the personal direction of Professor Raymond Scheer. There will be lots of fun and frolic. These New Year programs are growing in popularity from year to year. It's so much nicer a place for the young folks to have their fun than in some roadside rum station.

And then on Tuesday
Realizing that some of the older folks will not want to see a midnite show, Manager Hays has arranged to carry on this "Flirtation" for Tuesday, continuous from 3 p. m.

"White Parade"
During the past year there have been some good hospital pictures, with pretty nurses and earnest hard-working doctors. So, since it has been definitely learned that the public likes this kind of stuff, here's another "one of the truly great pictures of all time" as a publicity man so lovingly and affectionately puts the matter.

John Boles and Loretta Young furnish the love and heroism theme. Let the publicity man say a word or two more: "Its laughter will keep ringing in your hearts—and its tears will stay moist on your cheek!" 'Tis the story of student nurses, "Warm of heart! Gay of spirit! Brave of soul!" With Boles and Young carrying the responsibility, we are quite sure that you will find this picture to your liking.

And in closing, this 'umble columnist, wishes Manager and Mrs. Hays and staff and all the patrons of The Grand a Happy New Year replete with a wealth of wonderful entertainment and many happy hours.

Sullivan Won Tournament By Defeating Windsor In Finals

Coach Dennis Boys With an Easy Win Over Gays, romped on to Victory by Defeating Bethany and Windsor for fourth annual county tournament victory.

The Sullivan basket ball team of the Township High school on Friday night won its fourth consecutive county tournament in as many years.

With the elimination of Gays, Dalton City and Lovington on the opening night, the semi-finals on Thursday saw Sullivan facing Bethany and Arthur meeting Windsor.

Sullivan and Windsor won and placed these two old rivals in the championship fight. Coach Dennis boys came through with flying colors, showing themselves easily the best team and a winner on merit for "Lady Luck" never failed on them.

The present the writup as prepared by our new Sports reporter.

Championship Game
The game started briskly. In the first stage of the first quarter Windsor had the ball in its possession most of the time. Windsor got off to a fast start and it took Sullivan a few minutes to get things under control. Here, briefly is the way the game looked quarter by quarter.

First Quarter
Schack let fly with a long one as an opener but this did not connect. After fast down the floor play Tull sank a nice one. Windsor still managed to keep the ball in their possession. Schack missed a free throw and Butler failed to connect with a long one. Garrett of Windsor missed a free toss. Butler tried another long. This was another miss. McLaughlin took a rebound and sank it close in. Windsor again scored and English retaliated by sinking a nice long. Schack missed two shots in quick succession. Bailey and Griffith of Windsor both missed free throws. Pifer sank a nice one for Sullivan. Windsor now attempted to keep Sullivan from scoring by employing a tight zone defense. This was continued until the end of the quarter.

Second Quarter
Windsor continued their zone defense. Schack shot but failed to connect. Fling of Windsor made a sloppy pass which Schack took and relayed to English. English being "hot" tossed it in making the score 11 to 5 in Sullivan's favor. Butler tried another of his longs and sank it. Windsor still endeavored to use their zone defense. Their efforts were fruitless because of the Sullivan players, especially English's ability to shoot over it. English sank another sensational long. Butler failed to connect. Munson went in for Garrett. Butler sank a nice set up and Tull of Windsor sank one shortly before the gun.

Third Quarter
Fling sank one or two free throws allotted to him. Windsor gave up their zone defense but still continued to concentrate on Frank Schack. Schack took a rebound and sank it. McLaughlin sank one of two free tosses. Garrett went in for Munson. McLaughlin playing his best game of the tournament, played a rebound and sank it. Bailey flung in a nice long. Fling followed suit but the basket did not count. He sank a free toss, however. English sank a free toss and Griffith of Windsor sank field goal. He was fouled by McLaughlin who was called out on fouls. He sank his free throw and Sullivan took time out. Schack moved up to center and Vandever took his place. Pifer sank one fairly close in and Windsor came back with a free toss and a set up.

Fourth Quarter
Tull fouled Schack. Schack sank the free throw. Tull came back with a nice one and Schack retaliated by sinking a field goal and a free throw. Munson replaced Bailey. Butler sank a free throw. Fling fouled Schack. Schack failed to connect. English dribbled down an open floor for a set up. Fling sank a free toss. Schack made a set up using his left hand to push it in. Tull came through with a free toss and a rebound. He then missed an easy setup. Shortly before the gun Griffith sank one for Windsor. Their efforts were useless however and the final score was: Sullivan 37, Windsor 27. Sullivan had won the championship for the fourth consecutive time.

Arthur vs. Bethany
Bethany and Arthur battled hectically over third place. Space does not permit a detailed account of the game but I'll try to point out some of the high lights. Probably the outstanding feat was the number of personal fouls committed by the members of both teams. The percentage of these made was very poor. In the first quarter Fleming, Arthur's star forward, committed one personal was fouled three times, sank one of these and two field goals. Several of the players committed two personals and Scott of Bethany ended the quarter with three personals on him. Bethany's coach probably intending to break up Scott's fouling streak sent Bohler in. The score at the quarter was 8 to 3 in Arthur's favor. Fouling continued in the second quarter and Arthur's coach jerked Kinney after he had committed his third personal. Norris went in and in three minutes had fouled Oathout three times. Oathout sank two out of four attempts. Scott went back for Bohler. Arthur then took time out. Watkins of Arthur committed his third personal and it began to look as if Arthur would have all of its first team men fouled out. Shooting was promiscuous and percentage was poor. Watkins fouled out and Kinney went in. Fouling continued and either team could have won an easy victory if they had been clicking on their free throws. Moon fouled out and Smith went in. Fleming sank one for Arthur just as the gun boomed. The score was 18 to 14 in favor of Bethany. The fourth quarter was a wild scramble on the part of both teams to pile up a lead. Arthur rallied somewhat but the final score was Bethany 22; Arthur 20.

Tourney Semi-Finals
Sullivan vs. Bethany
Sullivan early established a substantial lead Thursday night over Bethany and did not have much trouble maintaining it.

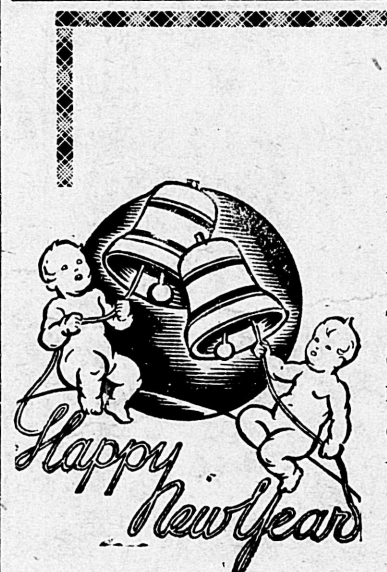

First Quarter
Weakly fouled Schack. Schack missed free throw and attempted a rebound. Scott tossed in two free throws. Butler tried a long shot but failed to connect. Pifer free tossed but missed. Scott fouled Schack and Schack made them both good. Four of the rival players got into a skirmish on the free throw line. After the jump Pifer patted the ball away from Weakly. First Sullivan, then Bethany would obtain the ball in quick succession. This resulted in a race back and forth down the floor. Schack put an end to this by tossing in one from just back of the free throw line. The score at the end of the quarter was Bethany 6; Sullivan 13.

Second Quarter
Butler shot two longs but neither connected. Moon fouled Schack and he sank it. Driving in hard to shoot, Schack fouled Weakly. English fouled Weakly and Scott played the rebound to score. Moon again fouled Schack and Smith was sent in. McLaughlin sank a free toss. Finley Pifer gave a good demonstration of floor work. Bohlen was jerked and Oathout was sent in. In all of the games played Oathout of Bethany gave a good account of himself. Sullivan 20; Bethany 11.

Third Quarter
Schack and Butler both missed free tosses. Smith of Bethany fouled Schack again and Franklin sank it. Butler fouled Scott and Scott failed to connect. Oathout was taken out and Bohlen went in. Mathias, Bethany center, gave a fairly good account of himself this quarter even though he was out-jumped by McLaughlin. Weakly fouled English, who sank the free toss. Butler took a long shot but failed to find the basket. The ball was in Bethany's possession when the gun sounded.

Fourth Quarter
As the fourth quarter got under way Sullivan was leading with a 26 to 13 score. Sullivan attempted three close in shots but failed to make these good. Scott replaced Oathout and English fouled Smith of Bethany. Bethany took lots of shots but these netted nothing. Weakly was penalized for shoving. Pifer failed on the free throw and McLaughlin missed on the rebound. Oathout and Moon and Oathout came in for Weakly and Bohlen. Moon on a hard-driving dribble, which carried him to the other end of the floor was fouled before he could shoot. He sank one of the free tosses. Schack sank a nice set up. Moon sank one but it did not count because the ball had hit the ceiling. English sank a free throw and Moon sank one as the gun boomed. The score was Sullivan 29; Bethany 18.

The Paris cable names twelve in its world-wide selection of "best dressed" women. It is estimated these twelve women each spend at least $50,000 per year on clothes. Windsor vs. Arthur
This was a fairly fast game. Perhaps from the standpoint of perfect playing it would not rate much. The teams were well matched. How well matched later became apparent when both teams battled furiously in the shooting spree at the end of the last quarter.

First Quarter
Both teams got off to a fast start. Fleming free tossed but did not connect. Taylor fouled Fling who free tossed and sank it. Fleming fouled Tull who failed to connect. Shaw, Arthur's strapping forward, careened down the floor and sank one. He was fouled as he shot but the basket counted. He also sank the free throw. Griffith, Windsor's center, passed length of the floor. It was wild and went out of bounds just the quarter ended.

Second Quarter
Griffith tried to sink one from the foul line but missed. Arthur was trailing in a 9 to 3 score. Griffith was fouled but failed to make the free throw good. He came back, however, with a field goal. Fling free-tossed but missed. Taylor of Arthur, did likewise. Fling again free tossed but missed. Fling flung a pass two thirds the length of the floor but it was wild and went out of bounds. Arthur took time out. After the time out the teams resumed play briskly but the quarter ended before either team could score. In the second quarter each team had added one point to their score. Considering the number of free throws shot this isn't so good an average. The score was Windsor 10; Arthur 4.

Third Quarter
Windsor started out by passing wild. Watkins, Arthur's speedy guard, missed a long and a set up both in quick succession. Fleming sank a nice set for his first basket of the evening. Vandever committed two personals and he was jerked. Kinney substituted, Watkins tried again and missed. Bailey fouled. Bailey fouled Fleming who sank his free tosses with the greatest of ease. Fling of Windsor sank one of two free tosses. Fleming missed a long. Watkins followed suit and then Fleming failed in another attempt to find the loop. Shaw took the rebound and sank it. Fleming sank a free toss but Tull of Windsor sank one just before the gun making the score a tie 13 to 13.

Fourth Quarter
Arthur slowly attempted to get into positions for a shot but failed to connect. Windsor players attempted two free throws and one of them connected. Fleming missed a nice set up. Griffith sank a free toss for Windsor and Tull followed suit. Watkins finally sank one of his longs. Time was called with the score Arthur 15; Windsor 16. When they came back a wild shooting spree on the part of Arthur took place but none of these found the hoop before the gun sounded. The final score was Windsor 16; Arthur 15.

A man I went to hear the great missionary, Hudson Taylor. He was dismayed when the famous missionary rose to speak. Here was a man of small stature, not remarkable in appearance, and, when he began to speak, revealing a thin, high pitched voice with little natural appeal. But before long the disappointed auditor found himself in the presence of God; the little missionary had introduced him into heavenly places."
